Washington Citizenship Seminar is sponsored by National Student YMCA and National Student YWCA

OVER

WSC-N65:8M

WHAT IS THE WASHINGTON CITIZENSHIP SEMINAR?

The Seminar gives students a firsthand introduction to the major issues facing the United States today. It helps them explore the resources of their own present faith or philosophy for dealing with the issues. It stimulates personal and political maturity.

WHO MAY APPLY?

Membership is open to students of all races and creeds who have completed at least two years of college and have a serious interest in the purpose of the Seminar.

WHAT TYPES OF EMPLOYMENT ARE AVAILABLE?

1. Internships in the offices of Congressmen or with Congressional committees. Apply directly to your Senator or Representative.

2. Civil service appointment in federal agencies. To qualify, students must take the examination for Federal Summer Employment on Saturday, February 5, 1966, when tests will be given throughout the nation. Application to take the test must be made by January 3 to the Civil Service Commission Office having jurisdiction over the place in which you wish to take the test. Obtain further information through your college or at a Post Office. Good clerical skills are required in the majority of openings.

3. Positions with non-governmental agencies and organizations. These usually require early application. Applicants should indicate special skills and interests. Consult your campus placement office about private organizations in Washington.

Acceptance into the Seminar is contingent upon placement in a job. The Seminar Placement Consultant advises applicants about applying for jobs but, since the demand far exceeds the supply, applicants should do as much as possible on their own.

WHAT IS THE PROGRAM?

All members of the Seminar enroll in a three-point course specially arranged through the Department of Agriculture Graduate School. Such courses are accepted by the Civil Service Commission on the same basis as those from an accredited college or university, although the Graduate School does not grant degrees. Seminar members who want to obtain credit toward a degree should consult with their own college in advance.

The course deals with the problems of decision-making in the federal government. Weekly conferences with public figures and government officials supplement the course. The group plans its own social activities, such as tours, outings and special events.

WHAT ARE THE LIVING ARRANGEMENTS?

An important feature of the Seminar is the group life and the informal activities. Hence, all members are required to live in the arranged housing, which is an air-conditioned dormitory of George Washington University not far from the White House.

WHAT WILL IT COST?

Fees payable to the Seminar total $110, including registration, program, insurance and student activity fee. Course tuition is $42 and books about $15. Board and room costs may be slightly higher than on most campuses - $15 weekly for room and $22 to $26 weekly for meals. Other costs will be local transportation and personal items. In most cases earnings will cover Seminar costs. Average pay for Civil Service jobs is about $75 per week before taxes.

Fact Sheet for Local Associations

VOTER EDUCATION AND REGISTRATION PROJECT
NATIONAL STUDENT YWCA
SPRING - 1966

Several Voter Registration Projects will again he held during the spring vacation period under the sponsorship of the National Student YWCA. Emphasis will be on voter education as well as the practical experience of registering prospective voters.

Projects will be in Southern States, Virginia, South Carolina, one in Mississippi and two outside the South, Cincinnati, Ohio and Denver, Colorado.

Four purposes of primary concern:

1. To help participants and local community people to realize that passage of the Voting Rights Bill is only the beginning of the struggle to enable many minority group persons to realize that their vote counts and that through it they can change the structures which impose discrimination;
2. To help people register so that they can be responsible citizens and vote in the 1966 Congressional and Gubernatorial Elections;
3. To train participants for continuing voter registration and education in their own communities;
4. In accordance with the long-standing commitment of the YWCA, to work for equal rights for all, as the first step toward the establishment of a world community based on justice and love.

Two purposes of secondary concern:

1. To provide experience in assessing community conditions and learning techniques for handling hostility, etc.;
2. To involve students personally in the revolutions of equality.

Method of operation:

The National Student YWCA will cooperate with organized local groups already at work on voter education registration to set up a project. Each project will be staffed by a director from the local group and a YWCA staff coordinator. Each Association is urged to select a team of five students who will spend some time in preparatory study before coming to the project. Some materials will be sent from the National Office for this purpose. Teams are assigned to specific locations in light of distance and the cross-sectional makeup of participants.

It is suggested that local staff or advisors assume responsibility for the selection process.

Housing:

In each city where a voter education registration project will be held the necessary local arrangements will be made by responsible staff. Wherever possible, the group will be housed together.

Cost:

Every effort is being made to keep costs at a minimum. Each student or the local Association must be able to pay transportation and living expenses at the project (including 10¢ a day for accident and sickness insurance). We are trying to secure funds for travel scholarships. Estimated cost will be sent, upon receipt of the return sheet stating your interest, the probable number in your team and your vacation dates.

Send the return sheet indicating the number from your school planning to participate - give vacation dates. Return application to Ruth Hughes, National Student YWCA, 600 Lexington Avenue, New York, New York 10022 by February 20.

TRAINING FOR TUTORIAL PROJECTS

Two tutorial training projects will be held during the spring vacation period under the sponsorship of the National Student YWCA, the main objective of which is to provide training and background understanding in how to plan and organize effective tutorial programs which will increase skills, motivation, and confidence of minority group children.

Education is a key factor in the elimination of prejudice. Yet, many children are ill-prepared to use this key. Often they are denied encouragement to develop their minds, talents, and abilities to become strong citizens of their communities. Students can give (or learn to give) aid in the development of skills but more important is the sharing of enthusiasm for learning and the building of relationships based on genuine belief in the tutee's ability.

The National Student YWCA will cooperate with local Associations already carrying on a tutorial program to set up a special training project. Each project will be staffed by at least one nonstudent director. One of the projects will be located on the West Coast - Seattle, and one in the East - Pittsburgh.

The Training Project Plan includes:

1. Lectures and discussions using specialists as resources to cover the inescapable circle of discrimination - ghetto life - inherited poverty - how the public school system has failed - the importance of education as a way of penetrating this vicious circle - Negro history and culture - and how children learn and how the learning process can be obstructed.

2. There will be workshop sessions dealing with curriculum for tutorials - organization of a tutorial (including the relationships with the public school system and the university) - basic skills and how they can be developed for conducting tutorials - and creative ways of releasing latent ability and building confidence in the disadvantaged child.

3. Laboratory sessions will consist of tutoring sessions and informal recreational and cultural activities with disadvantaged children.

4. Plans for action in home communities and evaluation of them.

Housing: In each city where a tutorial training project is to be held, the necessary local arrangements are being made by responsible staff. Wherever possible the group will be housed together.

Costs: Every effort is being made to keep costs at a minimum. Each student or local Association will have to pay transportation and living expenses at the project (including 10¢ a day for accident and sickness insurance). We are trying to secure funds for travel scholarships.

Selection of participants will be made from Associations who are already beginning a tutorial or who plan to set up a program as a result of the project. Each Association is urged to select a team of 10-15 students, who with a nonstudent will spend some time in preparatory study before the project, with two to five of the team planning to attend the workshop (material will be sent from the National Office).

Send the return sheet indicating the number on your team planning to participate, vacation dates, and location choice. Send applications to Ruth Hughes, National Student YWCA, 600 Lexington Avenue, New York, New York 10022 by February 15.

YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

PROSPECTUS

SUMMARY OF

YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES'

REQUEST FOR GRANT TO CO-ORDINATE

STATE-WIDE TUTORIAL PROGRAM

Youth Educational Services, a confederation of college students first assembled by Governor Terry Sanford, is a group united by a concern for educational and social progress in North Carolina. Governor Sanford issued a challenge to the student leaders of the predominantly Negro colleges to "turn toward civic enterprise and translate physical action into intelligible dialogue with the entire community."

The students accepted the challenge willingly and immediately planned ways in which their actions could be transformed into constructive programs. The first means found for promoting "better human relations" was the production of four 30-minute 16mm films, "A Minority Report", for television programming and for individual showings. By late Spring, 1964, the film series had progressed to the very technical stages of editing and processing. It was at this point that the students developed the idea of a program of campus-based tutorial projects.

A state-wide tutorial program was designed to aid disadvantaged Negro and white children to prepare for new opportunities in education and careers. In the fall of 1964 a conference was convened on the purposes and organization of tutoring projects. This conference was held on the campus of Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem with the co-operation of the U. S. National Student Association and the North Carolina Council on Human Relations. By inviting a number of student and adult consultants with extensive backgrounds in education and tutoring projects, the conference was able to focus on similar activities in cities outside North Carolina.

At present, Youth Educational Services has tutorial projects in Greensboro, Fayetteville, Raleigh, Charlotte, and Winston-Salem. These projects are designed to help secondary school children who are potential drop-outs and/or under-achieving because of their general cultural and educational environment and background. By June 1965, these projects involved 437 college students and 967 school children. Students can make a substantial contribution to the educational progress of the State and the development of its human resources.

The tutoring programs are of an altogether voluntary nature. The tutorial projects have been developed and refined at eight or more piedmont colleges during the past year. The projects have benefited the tutors as well as the tutees in that Youth Educational Services has provided an additional opportunity for leadership training and has provided the tutors a basis upon which to objectively view their education and the community in which they live.

While all of this effort has been helpful and effective, it needs guidance and co-ordination. Experience has suggested that the effective continuation of a state-wide tutoring program will require full-time, state-wide co-ordination in two primary areas: (1) Research of educational materials for tutorial use and instruction in their desirable use, and (2) Exchange of evaluative information from the experiences of the various projects and establishment of regular communication with community and State school officials.

It is proposed that these two full-time services be provided by Youth Educational Services during the next year. The Learning Institute of North Carolina has committed its financial support to the establishment of the first service to complement the work of a field co-ordinator through provision of a staff person to do research and conduct training, and has committed its support through the provision of offices for such a staff person and the field co-ordinator who is to be financed from other sources.

This proposal is directed specifically to the procurement of financial resources for the employment of a staff member to co-ordiante and strengthen existing projects, to encourage the establishment of additional tutorial projects, and to serve as a communicator between tutorial projects, and with related organizations. Such a staff member would require a basic salary, a travel allowance, and a general administrative support budget. It is proposed that a grant of $15,000 be made to the North Carolina Council on Human Relations, a tax exempt, non-profit, charitable organization with whom Youth Educational Services is affiliated, in trust for the use of Youth Educational Services in the following manner:

I. INTRODUCTION

Applicant: Youth Educational Services, Incorporated
121 East Third Street
Charlotte, North Carolina

Proposal: Establishment of a state-wide co-ordinating office of tutorial services for Youth Educational Services with two full-time staff members and adequate administrative support

Program:

1) To co-ordinate and strengthen the existing tutorial projects of Youth Educational Services

2) To promote additional tutorial projects in the State of North Carolina

3) To provide staff support for other programs of Youth Educational Services

Request: $15,000 for the period from September 1, 1965 to September 1, 1966

II. THE APPLICANT: YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

Youth Educational Services is a confederation of college students united by a concern for educational and social progress in North Carolina. During his first year, it developed two programs: 1. A film series on the aspirations and condition of the Negro in North Carolina; and 2. A series of tutorial projects in co-operation with the public school system.

Students from the following campuses are active in Youth Educational Services:

Atlantic Christian College
Barber-Scotia College
Bennett College
Duke University
Elizabeth City State College
Fayetteville State College
Guilford College
Johnson C. Smith University
Lenoir Rhyne College
Livingstone College
Meredith College
North Carolina A & T College
North Carolina College
North Carolina State University of UNC, at Raleigh
Shaw University
St. Augustine's College
UNC at Greensboro
Wake Forest College

The Officers for 1965-66 are:

President--Mr. Cecil Butler, North Carolina A & T College
First Vice President--Mr. Robert Holmes, North Carolina State
Second Vice President--Miss Alice Walker, Barber-Scotia College
Secretary--Miss Jeanette Johnson, Johnson C. Smith University
Treasurer--Mr. William Pollard, Shaw University
Project Director--Mr. Charles Bugg, Guilford College

The Board of Directors of Youth Educational Services is composed of the President and Treasurer of Youth Educational Services, four students elected at large and five adults, two of whom must also serve on the Executive Board of the North Carolina Council on Human Relations. The present membership of the Board is:

Mr. Cecil Butler, President, Youth Educational Services

Mr. William Pollard, Treasurer, Youth Educational Service
Mr. Charles Bugg, Director, Greensboro United Tutorial Service
Miss Janet Brown, Meredith College
Miss Deanna Green, Wake Forest College
Mr. George Langford, Fayetteville State College
Mr. John C. Brooks, Legal Counsel, The North Carolina Fund
Dr. Samuel E. Duncan, President, Livingston College
Dr. Leonard H. Robinson, Dean, North Carolina A & T College
Member, Executive Board, North Carolina Council on Human Relations
Member, Executive Board, North Carolina Council on Human Relations

Youth Educational Services is affiliated with the North Carolina Council on Human Relations.

III. HISTORY: YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

Youth Educational Services was organized in January, 1964, at the suggestion of Governor Terry Sanford who issued a challenge to the student leaders of the predominantly Negro colleges to "turn toward civic enterprise and translate physical action into intelligible dialogue with the entire community."

The students accepted the challenge willingly and immediately planned ways in which their actions could be transformed into constructive programs. The original group of eleven students was known as the Intercollegiate Steering Committee. Soon after its informal organization, the steering committee invited student leaders of various predominantly white institutions to join with them in their efforts to promote civic enterprise. This inter-racial group formally organized the North Carolina Intercollegiate Council for Human Rights with membership open to each college and university in North Carolina.

The purpose of the Intercollegiate Council, as stated in its Constitution, is: "To promote better human relations among all citizens of North Carolina through whatever media that may be at the disposal of this Council."

The first means found for promoting "better human relations" were the facilities and technical knowledge of the North Carolina Film Board. In collaboration with the Film Board, students from four colleges produced the film series, "Minority Report," consisting of four 30-minute films.[1]

[1] List of films and participating schools, in order of production:
"A Knocking at the Gate," North Carolina College
"Good-bye, Carolina," North Carolina A & T College
"We're Not Alone," Bennett College
"Vote-And The Choice Is Yours," Fayetteville State College

This film series was originally developed for television, but the 16mm films are very suitable for showings to civic, religious and educational organizations. It is now hoped that Youth Educational Services will be able to coordinate a state-wide program of public showings and discussions of these films. Such a program, experience shows, is even more effective than television showings. Local affiliates of the North Carolina Council on Human Relations and college students can co-operate in presenting the films to public gatherings.

These four films represent the Intercollegiate Council's effort to establish the "dialogue" mentioned by Governor Sanford at the first meeting of the Council in January, 1964.

At this same meeting, Governor Sanford challenged the students to "turn toward civic enterprise." By late Spring, the film series had progressed to the very technical stages of editing and processing. It was at this point that the students accepted the second challenge, "civic enterprise."

The idea of developing campus-based tutorial projects came from several Duke University coeds during one of the meetings of the Council. As Spring final exams approached, the students of the Intercollegiate Council resolved that the establishment of tutorial projects in co-operation with the public school systems would receive top priority when school re-opened in September, 1964.

In the fall of 1964 the first step was taken, the convening of a conference on the purposes and organization of tutoring projects. This conference was held on the campus of Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem with the co-operation of the U. S. National Student Association and the North Carolina Council on Human Relations.

The conference followed a seminar format, utilizing student and adult consultants with extensive backgrounds in education and/or tutorial projects. For example, Dr. David Iwamoto of the Research Division of the National Education Association and Tom Roderick of the Philadelphia Tutorial Project served as consultants.[2] Approximately 75 young people participated in the conference, representing 20 colleges and universities.

At present the Intercollegiate Council has tutorial projects in Greensboro, Fayetteville, Raleigh, Charlotte and Winston-Salem. These projects are designed to help secondary school children who are potential drop-outs and/or are underachieving because of their general cultural and educational environment and background.

One such project is the Greensboro United Tutorial Services. This project is a loosely co-ordinated effort by students from five institutions--Bennett College, Greensboro College, Guilford College, North Carolina A & T College and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. This program involved 168 tutors working with 412 children. A description of this particular project is included in the appendix.

Students can make a substantial contribution to the educational progress of the State and the development of human resources. This has been the belief of students in the Intercollegiate Council. Such projects as the Greensboro United Tutorial Services substantiate this ideal.

The most recent development in the Intercollegiate Council's brief history is its assistance to other student and adult groups in formulating tutorial projects. Council students actively assisted the Southeastern Regional YWCA in organizing the first South-wide conference on tutoring, which was held at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill in April, 1965. The Council ascertained which schools in its membership might profit from this program and co-ordinated their travel to this very helpful conference. It also selected a team of student consultants to work person-to-person with representatives from schools throughout the South during the conference as well as to serve as discussion leaders.

Most recently, the Intercollegiate Council contributed a team of student and adult consultants to the Richmond City Human Relations Council to assist it in its Tutorial Evaluation Conference.

In early May, 1965, the Intercollegiate Council voted to incorporate as Youth Educational Services and decided to request of potential benefactors the funds necessary to co-ordinate, to strengthen, and to expand its state-wide tutorial program.

IV: THE PROPOSED PROGRAM FOR 1965-1966

The tutoring program which Youth Educational Services has been promoting during the past scholastic year has been one of an almost altogether voluntary nature. Hundreds of college students from across the State have given freely of their extra-curricular time to aid and inspire disadvantaged primary and elementary grade students. Tutorial projects which are associated with Youth Educational Services have been carried on by students of the following institutions:

(1) Fayetteville State College, Fayetteville.

(2) Greensboro United Tutorial Services, Greensboro.

A co-operative effort of students from Bennett College, Greensboro College, Guilford College, North Carolina A & T College and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro.

(3) Meredith College, Raleigh.

(4) North Carolina Advancement School, Winston-Salem.

A project drawing tutors from Salem College, Wake Forest College and Winston-Salem State College.

(5) North Carolina State University, Raleigh.

(6) Shaw University, Raleigh.

(7) Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem.

(8) Johnson C. Smith University, Charlotte.

While all of this effort has been helpful and effective, it needs guidance and co-ordination. Much guidance and co-ordination has been given during the past year through conferences which were financially pieced together and through the work of persons whose employers donated their part-time assistance. Such employers were the U. S. National Student Association, the Governor's Office of North Carolina and the North Carolina Council on Human Relations. More Professional guidance and expanded co-ordination is now needed. Specifically, there are needs for two different kinds of endeavors:

1. The State requires some kind of a center for the selection, evaluation, and preparation of materials and for the development of programs which will in a short period of time train tutors as effectively as possible to do a good job in their individual work with young people.

2. There is a need for a field co-ordinator for Youth Educational Services in the State. This person would cover the State rather widely and assist groups at colleges in their contacts with public school systems and in working out the many details of administration which are necessary to make tutoring work productive and accepted by local schools.

The first of the endeavors described above will be sponsored by the Learning Institute of North Carolina through their provision of a full-time staff person, experienced in educational research and tutor training, to work co-operatively with the field co-ordinator of Youth Educational Services. (See appendix G.)

The second of these endeavors is the primary subject of this grant request. Youth Educational Services proposes to establish an Office of Tutorial Services which will:

A. CO-ORDINATE AND STRENGTHEN EXISTING PROJECTS.

B. ENCOURAGE THE ESTABLISHMENT OF ADDITIONAL TUTORIAL PROJECTS.

C. SERVE AS A MECHANISM FOR INCREASED COMMUNICATIONS BETWEEN TUTORIAL PROJECTS AND WITH RELATED ORGANIZATIONS.

A. CO-ORDINATE AND STRENGTHEN EXISTING PROJECTS.

The staff and financial resources of Youth Educational Services will provide the following services to existing tutorial projects:

1. Communicate with Projects in Other States.

2. Develop Resource Materials and Publications.

3. Assist with Tutor Orientation and Training.

4. Organize City-wide Tutorial Co-ordinating Councils.

5. Develop Evaluation Techniques and Programs.

1. Communicate with Projects in Other States.

There are projects elsewhere in the United States which have met and resolved many of the general problems now facing the present programs of North Carolina students. In addition, these older projects are putting into practice new teaching techniques and are developing original materials to be employed in tutoring.

For instance, the Western Student Movement has established community programs which involve high school students tutoring younger children from the same neighborhood. The Philadelphia Tutoring Project has instituted week-end tutor training sessions which take place outside the city at a conference center. The Student Woodlawn Area Project in Chicago has developed means by which tutees participate in evaluation sessions, both of the tutors and of the project itself.

Youth Educational Services could greatly benefit from the experiences of these older tutorial programs. Youth Educational Services proposes to provide a systematic means for ascertaining these advances in other parts of the country and for applying them in the programs affiliated with Youth Educational Services. Student volunteers who are full-time students do not have the time necessary to carry out this function.

2. Develop Resource Materials and Publications.

Educational materials gathered from educational research organizations, other tutorial projects, and those tested (where possible) in the North Carolina Advancement School[3] will become part of a reference library in the offices of Youth Educational Services. Whenever possible, the offices of Youth Educational Services will duplicate these materials for distribution and application in local programs. If cost or copyright prohibits efficient and inexpensive duplication, the staff can inform local projects where these materials can be obtained.

Materials gathered from other projects and from the more advanced programs of Youth Educational Services will serve as sources for official program publications, e.g. evaluation forms, guidelines for organization and tutor orientation manuals, and readings on disadvantaged youth.

3. Assist with Tutor Orientation and Training.

The tutor orientation sessions in projects associated with Youth Educational Services have varied widely in content and duration. In the Greensboro program tutor orientation consisted of four formal sessions which drew heavily on professional people from the city and within the State. Other projects have had little or no tutor orientation before beginning the project.

The need in this area is two-fold. First, all projects must become more conscious of the importance of tutor orientation prior to initiating the actual program. Tutor orientation serves to provide the students with additional confidence and knowledge of techniques and to strengthen their commitment to the project. Second, new projects will need direct assistance in organizing and carrying out their orientation programs.

[3] The staff will work closely with the North Carolina Advancement School. This experimental school is charged with the responsibility of developing approaches and materials for under-achieving children. Youth Educational Services has already benefited greatly from a close association with personnel at the Advancement School. In the future, the School can serve as a laboratory for testing and evaluating newly acquired materials and techniques before they are applied in the local programs associated with Youth Educational Services.

The staff will study the orientation programs employed by U.C.L.A. and other tutorials. Using the findings of these studies, the staff will develop a set of guides for organizing tutor orientation sessions. These guides will be supplemented by appropriate field work with local projects.

Tutor training and tutor orientation are two distinct operations and problems. The latter serves primarily to introduce the prospective tutor to the goals and operations of a project. Tutor training, on the other hand, should be an intensive and continuing examination of the actual problems encountered by tutors in their sessions with the children.

The materials gathered by the staff can be most effectively applied in tutor training. The gathering of materials and the development of publications should be blended with extensive field work in the area of tutor training.

For example, tutor training should make extensive use of professional people, educators, child psychiatrists, social workers and public school personnel. It must involve a thorough discussion of problems encountered in the tutoring sessions and of practices developed in other programs. Rarely do students have the opportunity to establish sufficient community contacts outside of the public school system to include other professional personnel in tutor training programs. Also, as mentioned previously, student project administrators do not have sufficient time to sift through materials from other projects on this topic.

4. Organize City-wide Tutorial Co-ordinating Councils.

A city-wide co-ordinating structure, such as that which has been employed in Greensboro, enables a state-wide office to serve and co-ordinate more effectively a state-wide program. The development of such city co-ordinating councils, through staff field work, will be promoted simultaneously with the development of the above mentioned library and publications. An effective mechanism will then be available for distribution and application of information gained from other projects and from projects presently under way in North Carolina.

Raleigh, for example, contains five colleges. One has a stable project under way. Three other colleges are struggling in the early stages of project development. The full-time students involved have neither sufficient time to communicate with other programs nor to develop a city tutorial council which would provide a mechanism for the sharing of valuable information. Youth Educational Services plans to develop city-wide tutorial co-ordinating councils in such situations.

5. Develop Evaluation Techniques and Programs.

The task of developing the early organizational form of a tutorial project and continuing its efficient administration is a full-time effort for local student leadership. Quite often the local project leaders, who are enrolled full-time in school, do not have the time to initiate systematic and regular evaluations of the program content. For example, decisions as to materials and teaching techniques are necessarily left to the individual tutors and are rarely evaluated in a comprehensive manner.

The staff of Youth Educational Services will attempt to initiate program evaluation in the following ways: a. Distribution of evaluation forms. b. "Seminars" for project directors. c. Local "conferences" of project personnel and advisers.

B. ENCOURAGE THE ESTABLISHMENT OF ADDITIONAL TUTORIALS.

1. Eastern North Carolina. The development of college and/or high school based tutorial projects in eastern North Carolina is a top priority. The following eastern towns have colleges which could serve as a basis for organization of voluntary tutoring services: Elizabeth City, Wilmington, Fayetteville, Wilson, Greenville, Rocky Mount and Buies Creek. Representatives from Atlantic Christian College in Wilson have participated in Intercollegiate Council programs, and preliminary visits have been made to that campus.

The staff of Youth Educational Services plans to expand its services to the campuses in Eastern North Carolina and to establish communications with the public school system with the aid of members of the North Carolina Council on Human Relations and other organizations who reside in Eastern North Carolina.

2. Western North Carolina. The development of college and/or high school based tutorial projects in certain areas of Western North Carolina is a second priority. In this instance, tutors would be working primarily with white school children from low income families. Such colleges as Mars Hill, Appalachian State Teachers College and Asheville-Biltmore College are considered desirable centers for organizing future efforts in Western North Carolina.

3. Piedmont North Carolina. Most of the projects initiated in 1964-65 by Youth Educational Services are located in the Piedmont Crescent, extending from Raleigh on the east to Charlotte on the west. These projects have served as catalysts. Students in other colleges in this area are already planning to initiate programs beginning next fall.

Youth Educational Services plans to provide assistance where needed to programs initiated next year in this area, especially through the utilization of present tutorial project personnel as "consultants" for new projects.

C. SERVE AS A MECHANISM FOR INCREASED COMMUNICATION BETWEEN TUTORIAL PROJECTS AND WITH RELATED ORGANIZATIONS.

The staff of Youth Educational Services will assist the officers with the regular monthly meeting of school representatives and project personnel. In addition, the staff will prepare a regular newsletter to facilitate communication among the various schools and projects and provide a sense of organizational unity. This newsletter will also be distributed to the appropriate related organizations and to individuals throughout the State.

The staff will attend appropriate meetings and conferences of other organizations in order to facilitate communication between the student organization and other state associations and institutions.

V. THE OFFICES OF YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

Location. The Youth Educational Services office will be located at the Quail Roost Conference Center, ten miles north of Durham, North Carolina, with the offices of the Learning Institute of North Carolina (LINC). LINC will furnish secretarial help, auditing services and office equipment as needed.

Staff. Persons with experience in tutoring and campus organization are available to Youth Educational Services for the coming year. The staff member selected will divide the responsibilities of office management between himself and the employee of the Learning Institute of North Carolina assigned to this program, according to their past experience and their abilities.

Formation of Policy. The staff will be free to set priorities on their own activities within the bounds set for them by the officers and directors of Youth Educational Services. In general, it will respond first and foremost to the needs of the various tutoring projects, present or new, across the State of North Carolina.

Youth Educational Services Beyond 1966. On the basis of the experience of the staff during the coming year and the evaluation by the directors of Youth Educational Services and the Learning Institute of North Carolina, Youth Educational Services will formulate plans for continuing operations. It is intended that this year's efforts will form the basis for a permanent state-wide tutorial co-ordinating operation.

A. Value of Youth Educational Services

The following paragraphs set forth the explicit and implicit values of an organization such as Youth Educational Services. They present conclusions drawn from its activities and growth.

The value of tutoring projects is apparent in terms of the substantive contribution which this type of endeavor makes to the children of minority groups and/or of low income and deprived families. The program can influence the total personality of the child, and particularly his self-confidence and his attitudes toward the learning process. The program serves to complement the public school system by assuming a responsibility which the public school system is at this time incapable of assuming. The program seeks to reach children who have long been ignored. The primary mechanism of achieving that goal is individual attention.

Through the tutor-tutee relationship, the tutee not only improves his skills, but also develops a more positive orientation towards the learning process and the school system. Recent professional research indicates that attitudes are a primary factor in determining the educational "success" of minority-group children and of children from deprived backgrounds.

Individual attention can often break through the syndrome of failure that many of these children have experienced in the school system. The tutor-child relationship cannot be provided by the present structure of the public schools. The tutor concentrates on ascertaining both the weaknesses and the strengths of the individual children. Too often, the deprived child's strengths have gone unrecognized; yet, these strengths provide the key to developing self-confidence and achievement.

The efforts of the individual tutor are directed at developing the sort of personal relationship which is a source of success, at developing techniques which enable the child to demonstrate his strengths, at stimulating the child to apply himself and pursue interests, and at developing a positive orientation towards the learning process, rather than at doing the child's homework.

The individual tutor undergoes a unique "education" during his involvement in the tutorial project. Simply put, the tutoring experience exposes the college student to the educational and social problems of the State in a very personal context. This experience makes the tutor keenly aware of community responsibility and sensitive to the social, political, and economic problems of this State and of the South. The motivations of the tutor to volunteer for such a program can best be revealed by the phrase, "I want to do something, something meaningful, and something for my community." This experience crystalizes that commitment and expands the dimensions of this sense of social responsibility.

The college student of today will be a leading citizen in some southern town tomorrow. The educated person in the South has unparalleled access to the mechanisms of community progress because of the historical role of the educated person and because of the scarcity of trained and committed people to assume positions in the increasingly urban and industrial South. The history of the civil rights movement indicates what can happen if local educated people assume leadership. Youth Educational Services, through this unique experience of tutoring, hopes to assist in the development of social-minded citizens committed to community progress.

A second important aspect of this tutorial program is the impact which such experience has upon the Negro youth involved in Youth Educational Services.

Participation in the activities of Youth Educational Services has had a visible and dramatic impact on the Negro young people involved. Many opportunities heretofore denied, are now provided by federal law and, to some extent, by community practive, e.g., fair employment. Negro youth must be given the opportunity to develop those abilities which will enable them to pursue these opportunities.

The general education of the young Negro needs no extensive examination. It has provided the young Negro with insufficient education to pursue the opportunities granted by law or to fulfill his desire to compete effectively in the society at large. It has suffered for generations and its weaknesses must be considered and judged in light of its past record.

However, the type of experience gained in Youth Educational Services has had a surprising impact upon the participating Negro youth. It has provided an experience rarely encountered in formal education in the predominantly Negro college. Negro students generally are not given the responsibility of student self-government as are white students. Negro students complain that Negro educational institutions are "non-competitive" and "paternalistic."

The responsibility of leadership and administration in Youth Educational Services is assumed by Negro and white youth. They discuss and determine directions and programs. Individuals are encouraged to develop their own ideas on matters and to articulate what they think is best. The students "compete," and they assume responsibility. This is a new experience for many of the Negro students. If one is responsible for chairing a meeting, he chairs it.

In summary, the programs and activities of Youth Educational Services exemplify three primary values:

1. An important and needed contribution to the life of the children.

2. A supplementary educational program for the public school system.
3. An experience for the students which develops young adults committed to and skilled in nurturing social change.

If past investments in the future of the southern community are to be fortified, a new investment must be made. An investment already has been made in southern youth, particularly in college students. The past investment is now beginning to appear as a "profit"--the appearance of the new southern student, committed to actively formulating the content and direction of the changing South.

Youth Educational Services is a product of that previous investment. It is a creation of the new southern student's willingness to work and to work hard at seeing his ideals take shape as reality.

Youth Educational Services has already demonstrated its potential for contributing to educational progress in North Carolina and its value as a "model" for similar organizational efforts elsewhere in the South. To invest in Youth Educational Services is to invest in constructive action for educational and community progress in both North Carolina and the South.

Minutes

The meeting was called to order by the outgoing President, Mr. William Parker of Shaw University. The first item on the agenda was the showing of a film, "When I Am Old Enough, Goodby!", which depicted the motivations of a high school drop-out and the resultant difficulties that follow dropping out of school. The reading of the minutes was dispensed with. The Treasurer, Mr. Lester Moore of North Carolina College, reported that the balance on hand in the treasury is $100.00.

The roll was taken and the following colleges were represented:

A. & T. College,
Barber-Scotia College,
Duke University,
Elizabeth City State College,
Fayetteville State College,
Johnson C. Smith University,
Meredith College,
North Carolina College,
North Carolina State,
Shaw University,
University of North Carolina at Greensboro,
Wake Forest College.

The second item on the agenda was a discussion of the proposed budget for the 1965-66 school year, and plans for the incorporation of the Council. Mr. John Brooks, of The North Carolina Fund, explained the nature of filing for incorporation. The incorporation papers drawn up by Mr. Brooks were distributed and discussed by the representatives present. After dicussing the papers, Mr. Cecil Butler, A. & T. College, moved that the Council be incorporated. The motion was properly seconded and carried by unanimous vote. Mr. Moore then moved that the new name "Youth Educational Services, Inc." be adopted as the official name of the organization in lieu of "The North Carolina Intercollegiate Council for Human Rights." The motion was seconded and the representatives voted unanimously to change the name to "Youth Educational Services, Inc." (YES). Miss Pamela Pfaff, University of North Carolina at Greensboro, moved that $20.00 be appropriated from the current treasury to pay for the filing of the incorporation papers. The motion was seconded and adopted.

The next item on the agenda was the report of the Nominating Committee. Those persons nominated by the Committee were:

President -- Mr. Cecil Butler (A. & T.),
First Vice-President -- Mr. Charles Bugg (Guilford),
Second Vice-President -- Miss Alice Walker (Barber-Scotia),
Treasurer -- Mr. William Pollard (Shaw),
Secretary -- Miss Jeanette Johnson (Johnson C. Smith).

The Officers elected to serve for the 1965-66 term are:

President -- Mr. Cecil Butler (A. & T.),
First Vice-President -- Mr. Robert Holmes (North Carolina State),
Second Vice-President -- Miss Alice Walker (Barber-Scotia),
Secretary -- Miss Jeanette Johnson (Johnson C. Smith),
Treasurer -- Mr. William Pollard (Shaw),
Project Director -- Mr. Charles Bugg (Guilford).

The four students elected to serve on the Board of Directors along with the President and Treasurer are:

Mr. Charles Bugg (Guilford),
Miss Janet Brown (Meredith),
Miss Luana Green (Wake Forest),
Mr. George Langford (Fayetteville State).

The Nominating Committee presented a list of members of the North Carolina Council on Human Relations' Board of Directors to the group for its selection of six members to recommend to the Board of Directors of the North Carolina Council on Human Relations for its election of two therefrom to sit as voting members on the Board of Directors of Youth Educational Services. In turn, the Youth Educational Services' President and Treasurer will participate as voting members on the North Carolina Council for Human Relations' Board of Directors to provide an interlocking directorate. The six persons named are:

Mrs. Chase H. Benson -- Greensboro,
Dr. McLeod Bryan -- Winston-Salem,
Mr. Ruben J. Dailey -- Asheville,
Mr. Watts Hill, Jr. -- Durham,
Dr. Howard Miller -- Raleigh,
Reverend Vernon C. Tyson -- Sanford.

The following non-student adults were elected to the Board of Directors:

Mr. John C. Brooks, Staff Legal Counsel, The North Carolina Fund, to serve three years;
Dr. Samuel E. Duncan, President of Livingstone College, to serve two years;
Dr. Leonard H. Robinson, Dean of Education at A. & T. College, to serve one year.

There being no further business upon completion of the election of officers, the meeting was adjourned.

Alice Walker, Secretary
Barber-Scotia College

VII. APPENDIX

D. Articles of Incorporation of Youth Educational Services, a non-profit Corporation.

We, the undersigned natural persons of the age of twenty-one years or more, acting as incorporators for the purpose of creating a non-profit corporation under the laws of the State of North Carolina, as contained in Chapter 55-A of the General Statutes of North Carolina, entitled "Non-Profit Corporation Act," and the several amendments thereto, do hereby set forth;

1. The name of the Corporation is Youth Educational Services.
2. The period of duration of the Corporation shall be perpetual.
3. The purposes for which the Corporation is organized are:
   - A. To establish an intercollegiate council to promote the free exchange of ideas between students.
   - B. To study the problems involved in improving the education of the people of North Carolina of all ages and in different parts of the State.
   - C. To carry on experimental and other projects toward the solution of such problems.
   - D. To encourage cooperative projects between educational institutions and communities in devising such solutions.
   - E. To encourage cooperative projects between educational institutions and philanthropic institutions in devising such solutions.
   - F. To encourage wise use of public and philanthropic funds devoted to any of these purposes.
   - G. To do all things necessary or proper to aid in improving the education of the people of North Carolina, either directly or through other private or public organizations.

H. Either directly or indirectly, and either alone or in conjunction or co-operation of other persons, institutions and organizations of any sort or nature, to do any and all lawful acts and things, and engage in any and all lawful activities which may be necessary or appropriate in connection with one or more of such purposes.

4. The Corporation is to have the following class or classes of members: Student governments or other student organizations of any college or university in the State of North Carolina.

5. Directors of the Corporation should be elected in the following manner: As provided in the bylaws.

6. The address of the initial registered office of the Corporation is as follows:

121 East Third Street, Charlotte, North Carolina.

Mecklenburg County.

The name of the initial registered agent of the Corporation at the above address is Miss Betty Jo McMakin.

Southern. The number of directors constituting the initial Board of Directors shall be eleven, and the names and addresses of the persons who are to serve as Directors until the first meeting of the Corporation or until their successors are elected and qualified are:

9. In addition to the powers granted corporations under the laws of the State of North Carolina, the Corporation shall have full power and authority to:

   A. Do all things necessary or proper in helping to improve the education of the people of North Carolina, either directly or through private or public organizations.

   B. Undertake research and studies of the problems involved in improving the education of the people of North Carolina, of all ages and in different parts of the State, and to recommend grants for such purposes.

   C. Carry on experimental and other projects which have as their purpose the solution of such problems and are intended for educational purposes.

   D. Make available professional staff services to private and public agencies, both State and local, seeking solutions to such problems.

   E. Make available staff personnel for the purpose of coordinating the educational activities of its member bodies.

   F. Encourage the wise use of public and philanthropic funds devoted to any of the purposes of the Corporation.

   G. To receive funds from contributing foundations and other sources, to hold and manage these funds solely for the purposes herein set forth.

10. (A) Upon the dissolution of the Corporation, the Board of Directors of the Corporation shall, after paying or adequately providing for the payment of all known obligations of the Corporation, distribute the remainder of the assets as follows:

1. Assets held by it in trust for specified purposes shall be applied so far as it is feasible in accordance with the terms of the trust.
2. The remaining assets not held in trust shall be applied so far as it is feasible towards carrying out the purposes stated in these articles, or payed over, for such purposes, to one or more other organizations which qualify under Section 501 (c) (3) The United States Internal Revenue Code or successive provisions thereto.

(B) In carrying out its purposes and in exercising its powers, the Corporation shall be subject to the limitations that:

1. No part of its net earnings or income shall adhere to the benefit of any private shareholder, member, or individual.
2. No substantial part of its activities shall be carrying on propaganda, or otherwise attempting, to influence legislation, or the advocacy of, or campaigning for, objectives which can only be obtained by legislation or the defeat of proposed legislation.
3. It shall not participate in, or intervene in (Including the publicizing or distribution of statements), any political campaign on behalf of any candidate for public office.
4. The Corporation shall not engage in any activities which would cause the Corporation to fail to qualify under Section 501 (c) (3) of The United States Revenue Code or successive provisions thereto.

In testimony whereof, we have hereunto set our hands, this the fourth day of May, A.D., 1965.

THE LEARNING INSTITUTE OF NORTH CAROLINA

QUAIL ROOST CONFERENCE CENTER, ROUGEMONT, N. C. DURHAM 477-2025

MEMORANDUM

May 19, 1965

TO: Executive Committee of the LINC Board of Directors

FROM: Harold Howe II

RE: Use of LINC Funds for support of a North Carolina Office of Tutoring Services.

Friends:

Because of timing problems related to decisions regarding personnel, I am asking your approval of a commitment of $5,000 of LINC funds for support of a new enterprise to coordinate, enhance, and improve tutoring activities by students in colleges and universities throughout the State.

There is currently a great deal of interest among undergraduates and some graduate students in donating a portion of personal time to tutoring work with disadvantaged youngsters. Endeavors of this kind are taking place at Duke and at the University of North Carolina as well as in a great variety of colleges throughout the State. In Winston-Salem, for example, over 100 students from Wake Forest, Salem, and Winston-Salem State College are giving their time to tutoring work at the Advancement School. While all of this effort is helpful and effective, it needs guidance and coordination. Specifically there are needs for two different kinds of endeavors:

1. The State requires some kind of a center for the selection, evaluation, and preparation of materials and for the development of programs which will in a short period of time train tutors as effectively as possible to do a good job in their individual work with young people.

2. There is a need for a field coordinator for youth education services in the State. This person would cover the State rather widely and assist groups at colleges in their contacts with public school systems and in working out the many details of administration which are necessary to make tutoring work productive and accepted by local schools.

The second of the endeavors described above is being actively pursued through the joint effort of the North Carolina Human Relations Council and through Inter-College Council made up of students. The first of these endeavors, however, needs focus and support, and I am suggesting that LINC provide this in several ways:

1. By making office facilities available at Quail Roost.

2. By providing some financial backing and helping to seek additional financial backing from other sources.

As of this writing, conversations have been opened with the North Carolina Fund about the possibility of a contribution from that source to add to the contribution that LINC might make. In addition, we have available an experienced person in Lowell Dodge, Coordinator of Tutoring Services at the North Carolina Advancement School. Our proposal would be to expand his role and to replace him at the North Carolina Advancement School with an on-the-spot person. He would move to the Chapel Hill-Durham area and occupy an office at Quail Roost. He would keep overall responsibility for policy questions related to tutoring services at the Advancement School, but would, in addition, assume a statewide responsibility in the area of materials and training.

A very tentative budget which we have worked out for a one-year operation of Lowell Dodge's office comes to a total of about $19,000. We intend to seek foundation support for this activity, but in the interim we would like to get started by having LINC and if possible the North Carolina Fund guarantee the expenditures involved in case foundation support cannot be found.

The amount of $19,000 mentioned above includes salary for a coordinator and a secretary, office expenses, transportation and conference expenses, and expenses for the purchase of materials, publications, and phone and mail communications.

I shall telephone each of you next week about your reaction, to this suggestion. In the normal course of events, I would have put this on the agenda for the LINC Board at its June 10 meeting; but because Lowell Dodge, who is the ideal person to take responsibility for this new enterprise faces some personal decisions about next year, it may be important to have a decision prior to that time. I would be happy to have you telephone me for any further interpretations you would like to have. Nothing in this memorandum should be regarded as a commitment by the North Carolina Fund. There has been no opportunity for that organization to discuss this matter at length. I have reason to believe, however, that there is some friendliness to presenting the possibility to the North Carolina Fund Board at its May 25 meeting.

VII. APPENDIX

H. Resolution of the Board of Directors, The North Carolina Fund, May 26, 1965

REQUEST FOR GRANT

Requesting Organization: LINC (The Learning Institute of North Carolina)

Amount Requested: $10,000

Type of Grant: Supplement to annual contribution to underwrite a part of a new special service

Covering Period: September 1, 1965, to August 30, 1966

Staff Officer: John C. Brooks

Harold Howe II of The Learning Institute of North Carolina has proposed that that organization establish an office for the support of a new enterprise to coordinate, enhance, and improve volunteer tutoring activities by students in colleges and universities throughout the State. LINC requests that The Fund contribute $10,000 toward the sponsorship of a center for the selection, evaluation, and preparation of materials and for the development of programs which will in a short period of time train tutors as effectively as possible to do a good job in their individual work with young people. (See attached memorandum from Harold Howe to his board.) It would be understood that LINC intends to submit a proposal to a foundation as soon as practicable to seek full financial sponsorship of this supportive program. This program would work closely with that sponsored by Youth Educational Services which is described in some detail in the attached report.

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS: The North Carolina Fund is interested in promoting the expansion and development of a responsible State-wide collegiate tutoring program, and

WHEREAS: LINC has proposed to establish an office for the selection, evaluation, and preparation of materials and for the development of programs which will in a short period of time train tutors as effectively as possible to do a good job in their individual work with young people, and

WHEREAS: It is understood that LINC will pursue foundation support for this program at the earliest practicable time;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT HEREBY RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF THE NORTH CAROLINA FUND THAT:

ARTICLE I. $10,000 be appropriated to LINC for the establishment of a center to develop materials and a training program for tutors during the year of September 1, 1965, to August 30, 1966.

ARTICLE II. LINC be encouraged to pursue foundation support for this program and that if such be secured, any balance of the appropriation be returned to the general unappropriated program monies of The Fund.

M. A Tutorial Project: Greensboro United Tutorial Service

A report submitted by Miss Pamela Pfaff Director
Greensboro United Tutorial Service, 1964-65.

The Greensboro United Tutorial Service is the co-ordinating structure for a tutorial project organized by the five colleges in Greensboro--A & T College, Bennett College, Greensboro College, Guilford College and the University of North Carolina at Greensboro. This program involves nearly 500 persons; tutors, children, adult advisers, public school personnel, and other interested adults.

The formation of this program began in mid-October at the tutorial conference sponsored by the North Carolina Intercollegiate Council for Human Rights on the campus of Wake Forest College. It was there that students from the Greater Greensboro Area first met and began formulating the tutorial project.

After the conference, the first step was to meet with officials of the city school system. Following conferences with the assistant superintendent of public schools, representatives of the project spent the next few months making presentations to school principals and PTA groups at meetings initiated by him. What were our goals? How would we work? These were only a few of the many questions which had to be satisfactorily answered.

Once having secured the confidence of the public school personnel and the parents, each campus began to set the wheels of tutor recruitment in motion. The first effort yielded one hundred and fifty tutors. Before tutoring, these students attended several orientation sessions.

In order to encourage a positive response from the children at Gillespie School, students organized a "fun" assembly at the school. The "guitar-picking" and singing was an entertaining and relaxed introduction to both the program and to some of the student tutors. Maybe the program was too good. The project staff was swamped with 345 applications by children from the fourth through ninth grades. All wanted a tutor.

On February 16, Greensboro United Tutorial Service "opened shop" for the first time. Eighty-five tutors were matched with one hundred seventy children, tutoring everything from mathematics and geography to trumpet (tutoring a tutee to toot). Each tutoring session lasted one hour, two days per week. These tutoring sessions were held in the school classrooms.

The problem of transportation was in great part resolved through the volunteer efforts of members of various city service clubs. The adult supervisor at the school and student secretarial help received stipends granted under the provisions of the Economic Opportunities Act. The larger portion of funds for supplies and transportation costs was provided by the respective student governments and campus organizations on the various campuses.

The primary goal of the project was to provide tutoring in academic subjects to "underachievers." Though gradual progress was noted by the tutors, many commented on the "problems" of working in the school atmosphere. Many tutors felt that the relationship of tutor and child was seriously inhibited by the classroom surroundings.

At this juncture another opportunity arose; it met the above problem squarely. In cooperation with the Greensboro Community Council and with the assistance of a professor from Bennett College, the program began tutoring sessions in two Negro housing developments. Each session lasted an hour and a half, one night per week. By the close of the year, this aspect of the totorial project included 49 tutors and 146 tutees, ranging from pre-school to eleventh grade. Most significant was the fact that this program worked directly with the adult community councils organized within the housing developments and the tutoring sessions were held in the homes of the children.

The college student did not have to second-guess about the home environment of the children with which he worked. Of more importance, the college student and the parents in the community joined hands to provide increased educational opportunities for the children. These factors, combined with the absence of school bells and classroom atmosphere, probably resulted in this aspect of the tutorial project being the most successful.

Time was too short to arrange any extensive field trips, but a group of Guilford College tutors did arrange a trip to the mountains for 17 sixth graders from Gillespie School. The projects in the housing developments closed with an extra-curricular event--two parties at which parents, tutors, children, and advisers got together for an informal evening of conversation and refreshments.

Since Greensboro United Tutorial Service was student inspired, staffed, and administered, most problems were those typical of student efforts--lack of funds and insufficient number of tutors. However, the goals of the program have been realized satisfactorily on an experimental basis and thanks to this relative success, a permanent and extensive tutorial program is planned for the city. Specifically, the Gillespie School and the housing developments have asked that the program be continued next year. Also, two other housing developments, one white and one Negro, have requested a similar program. The city school administration has projected an expansion of the in-school tutorial program to ten schools within two years.

What sort of judgments can be made about this project? Any, of course, are subjective and in this case somewhat fragmented. First, has the interest of the college students dwindled? Almost to a person, the tutors have expressed a strong desire to participate in the programs next year. In fact, some of the tutors became interested in the summer program of the North Carolina Volunteers because of their experience in the tutorial project.

In some cases the work of the tutor and child went beyond themselves into the family. Parents told tutors that their interest in continuing their education or at least stepping up the number of books and magazines in their home was sparked by the work of their children and the tutor. Several tutors were asked to the homes of the children for dinner.

What of the children? What do they think about the program, about their college tutors? Several children were so enthusiastic that they continued meeting with their tutors after the formal closing of the program for the year. In some cases groups of children visited the campus of their tutors. But probably the best example of the children's response to the program came from a third grade boy, who when the car of tutors drove up in front of his home one night, ran eagerly to the car, peered in, and then shouted enthusiastically to his buddies in the front yard: "yep, them's ours!"

Dear Paul:

First, I am glad we had a few minutes there at the end of the Board meeting to get some signals straight on the Charlotte meeting.

Enclosed is the final working draft of the prospectus for Youth Educational Services. Your suggestion of including an initial summary was very helpful. Any further suggestions as to how this proposal might be improved will be appreciated.

I look forward to hearing from you soon.

FIRST YES REGIONAL WORKSHOP HELD IN LAURINBURG

Adapted from a report by Pat Bagg, Chairman, Queens College Tutoring Program

Project directors and tutors from St. Andrews Presbyterian College, Johnson C. Smith University, and Queens College attended a YES workshop in Laurinburg, N. C. on January 8. The focus of the workshop was techniques of evaluation. This workshop, held in the St. Andrews Student Union overlooking the college lake, was the first in a series planned by Youth Educational Services. Eventually YES hopes to replace state-wide conferences completely with regional workshops such as the one held in Laurinburg, which are smaller and enable a higher level of participation.

The meeting covered three topics. First, delegates of each of the three colleges described in brief the structure and size of their tutoring programs. Then each of the three outlined the form of evaluation presently in use. The directors of both the Queens College project and the Johnson C. Smith project have been relying to date on discussions with tutors and supervising school personnel. The St. Andrews program is instituting a method of weekly tutor reports, to be placed on a single sheet of paper and filed with the student

YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES TUTORIAL CONFERENCE TO BE HELD IN RALEIGH, FEBRUARY 11, 12, and 13, 1966

Frank Riessman, author of THE CULTURALLY DEPRIVED CHILD and of several other items included in the YES library of resource materials, will be the principal speaker for the YES Tutorial Conference to be held February 11-13 at North Carolina State University in Raleigh. Dr. Riessman will speak at the Friday evening buffet banquet at 7:00 p.m. on the topic TUTORING THE DISADVANTAGED CHILD.

Peter, Paul and Mary Concert Friday Evening

Peter, Paul and Mary are presenting a concert at North Carolina State Friday evening, February 11. Youth Educational Services has purchased a block of tickets for the concert and delegates to the tutoring conference may obtain these tickets if they wish at the price YES paid for them. Tickets are $2.00, $2.50, and $3.00 each. The concert will follow Dr. Riessman's speech at 8:30.

Conference workshops will focus on techniques for tutoring reading, tutor training and materials, programed materials, role-playing with low-income people, and for those interested, approaches to initiating

ABOUT YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

Youth Educational Services is a confederation of North Carolina college students who are united by their concern for education and social progress in the State. YES is a new name for the former North Carolina Intercollegiate Council for Human Rights. The group adopted its new name in May, 1965 to reflect its increasing emphasis on educational programs. The main activity of Youth Educational Services at the present time is coordinating and servicing 15 tutoring projects in different parts of North Carolina. Youth Educational Services is supported by grants and services from three sources: The Fund for the Advancement of Education; The North Carolina Fund; and The Learning Institute of North Carolina. YES presently has a staff of three: Lowell Dodge, Coordinator of Tutoring Services; Michael H. Lawler, Coordinator of Field Activities; and Mrs. Ginger Stillman, Office Manager. Youth Educational Services is incorporated in the State of North Carolina as a non-profit, educational corporation.

A full description of the activities of Youth Educational Services, its officers and Board of Directors is available on request.

Youth Educational Services welcomes grants and contributions from all sources, both individual and institutional. Persons interested in supporting Youth Educational Services should contact Michael H. Lawler, YES, P. O. Box 3067, West Durham Station, Durham, N. C. 27705. (Office address: Quail Roost Conference Center, Rougemont, N. C. 27572, 13 miles north of Durham on Route 501.)

THE YES NEWSLETTER

The Youth Educational Services NEWSLETTER is published periodically by the staff of YES. The NEWSLETTER will gladly accept for publication letters and articles submitted by its readers. YES reserves the right to select portions of these items for publication. The NEWSLETTER is distributed free of charge to students and to tutoring organizations in North Carolina. Students, tutors and tutorial administrators should indicate their college and/or tutoring project affiliation when requesting a free subscription to the NEWSLETTER. Other persons and organizations may subscribe at the annual rate (approximately 5 issues for the school year) of $1.00 per subscription. ## THE PERISCOPE

Each issue of the NEWSLETTER will carry a column on an educational topic unrelated to tutoring but hopefully of interest and relevance to its readers. We have selected for this NEWSLETTER excerpts from a talk by Thomas F. Pettigrew, Associate Professor of Social Psychology at Harvard University, delivered July 20, 1965 at the Special Training Institute on Problems of School Desegregation, sponsored by the University of North Carolina at the Advancement School in Winston-Salem. Dr. Pettigrew's recent book PROFILE OF THE NEGRO AMERICAN has become a basic text in its field. Subheadings have been added.

Reflections on School Desegregation

In the Eye

"First off, I think we all recognize that American public education finds itself today in the eye of a racial revolution. It is a revolution with a difference. This revolution unlike others the world has known aims to join rather than to uproot the society it confronts. This significant difference I am afraid is often overlooked, not just in the South but in the North also. Public education is necessarily the prime vehicle for this process of joining the main stream which the Negro American Revolution very clearly is aiming to do. Just as I think education is the prime vehicle for the assimilation of 20 million immigrants to the United States years earlier....

"...When can you remember in your lifetime that public education was ever so much in the public view. This is certainly one of the great benefits of the Negro American Revolution. Public education is now of great public concern. Some of the concern may, from the point of view of educators, be a rather negative concern but at least we are in the headlines. In the early '50's, before the American Negro Revolution, before Sputnik, and I think the Negro Revolution is much more important in this instance than Sputnik, public education was considered a given of American life with very little attention and I might add that it received far less money than it now receives from the public coffers. For this concern we are indebted to the Revolution, and I agree with Keppel* that it offers us a unique opportunity to exploit the Revolution for achieving educational excellence not just for Negroes but for all American children....

On the Motivation of Negro Youth

"One claim maintains that formal instruction is simply powerless to overcome the enormous deficits which many Negro children bring the school situation. And they always belabor the same points: lower motivation, poor speech pattern, broken family life, etc. I might add that we have good evidence to show now that they [Negro children] come to school with high motivation; the lowered motivation comes after they have faced school, which would seem to be largely the responsibility of the school, not the kids. Anyway, this claim, too, is called into serious question as soon as one accepts the astonishing improvements in Negro performance made by truly imaginative school systems whose Negro students have all of these deficits....

"In summary, we have asked public education in America to be instrumental in solving most of our major social problems in the United States and our request has been answered in a very positive way. This is, at least to me, the glory of public education in the United States and suddenly at least some educators...are sounding like public education isn't there to help solve America's social problems. It's been doing exactly that for a hundred years--this is no new request of public education...."

*Francis Keppel, U. S. Commissioner of Education

TUTORING AT THE NORTH CAROLINA ADVANCEMENT SCHOOL

There are two kinds of tutoring in progress at the Advancement School: the volunteer student tutoring which involves college students tutoring the eighth grade boys at the Advancement School, and "Junior Tutoring" in which eighth grade boys tutor 4th to 6th grade boys from a nearby elementary school and a housing project. For further information on the "Junior Tutoring", see page 5.

About the Advancement School

The Advancement School is a residential school in Winston-Salem, N.C. designed to help 8th grade boys with good academic potential but poor achievement. It opened in the fall of 1964, and operates on a year-round basis. Students enroll for periods of 11 weeks during the regular school year or in summer session. Approximately 300 boys are enrolled each session. About 25 teachers are brought to the School from across the state for in-service training.

Tutoring at the Advancement School

Tutoring began during the pilot session of the School in November and December, 1964, and was based on the ideas that: (1) individual attention would be beneficial because a tutor could tailor the pace and materials to the interests and abilities of a student; (2) college students might provide an effective model for the younger students; and (3) tutors can improve the self-concept and motivation of students by making tutoring a success-experience.

Initially, 50 volunteers from Winston-Salem State College and Salem College tutored in subject areas: math, social studies, science and language arts. After an evaluation of the tutoring, several changes in the program developed, including a shift in the content of tutoring from a subject area orientation to the basic skills common to all subject areas (dictionary skills, spelling, outlining, etc.). A Tutoring Center was established to provide a focal point for tutor discussions and distribution of tutoring materials.

Until January, 1966, the tutoring program operated without any essential changes. This fall, 180 students from Wake Forest College, Winston-Salem State College and Salem College participated in the tutoring program. The Coordinator of Tutoring is Oscar Carter. He is assisted by one Antioch College work-study student. Eileen Nitzberg is assisting this term.

Beginning in February, 1966, the program will institute several experimental changes. Tutors will be provided with sample lesson plans which they may use as guides in deciding how to approach tutoring various subjects and basic skills. Tutors will work much more closely with the Advancement School staff, and, in particular will have the benefit of the teachers' recommendations regarding specific needs for students in tutoring. All tutors will be volunteers; the program in which students from Salem College tutored as part of a course requirement in psychology has been dropped.

8th-Graders Teach Younger Students

By Arlene Edwards
Staff Reporter

Remember the tongue-twisting limerick about the tutor who tooted the flute trying to tutor two tooters to toot?

The North Carolina Advancement School started a tutoring project this week that takes just about as many "T's" to describe.

It's a project in which the boys who came to the Advancement School because they needed some extra tutoring are tutoring younger boys who are in the same predicament.

Advancement School boys, eighth-graders, are tutoring 31 fourth-, fifth- and sixth-grade boys from Skyland and Columbia Heights Elementary schools two or three afternoons a week.

And many of the Advancement School tutors are themselves being tutored at night by students from Wake Forest, Salem and Winston-Salem State colleges.

One Teaches One

The project is called "Each one teach one." Through it Advancement School officials are saying to the boys, "We know you've got it and we want you to teach somebody else."

It's based on the theory that "you learn something better by teaching it," explained Dr. Gordon McAndrew, director of the Advancement School.

Lowell Dodge, who has supervised the more than 100 college students who have tutored at the school since it opened in November, said: "When you have a tutoring situation, there is always the question of who gets more out of the tutoring—the tutor or the student?"

Dodge said that Advancement School officials "thought it might give our students more of an idea of the importance of education if they were put in the same position as their teachers."

Originated Project

John Cleveland, who thought up the project between his duties as language arts instructor, explained that the Skyland and Columbia Heights boys are boys like those attending the Advancement School—"of high potential but low achievement."

Most of the boys have IQs of more than 100 as do the Advancement School boys, said Cleveland, "but they aren't producing." They were carefully screened for the program.

The Advancement School tutors weren't screened quite as carefully. Dodge said that boys who signed up for the tutoring elective were accepted as "confident enough" to do it.

The junior tutors, as they are called to eliminate confusion, have had several training sessions and have been given a six-page manual that stresses "sincere interest" and "friendship" as the keys to helping the younger students.

The manual lists three goals for the junior tutors:

—To teach the student the skills which are important to almost all learning, such as spelling, using the dictionary, outlining, and using the library (but not to do his homework for him).

—To help boost the student's confidence in himself, both in his school work and with his friends.

—To widen the horizons of the elementary student through friendship and new ideas. He will "look up" to the tutor and learn from his experience.

Sessions are held in the Advancement School boys' dormitory rooms, and the Advancement School boys have been encouraged to show their charges around the school when the studying gets too nerve-wracking. Some boys being tutored probably will want to enroll in the Advancement School, but if the program works they won't need to.

tutoring programs. The workshops will be conducted by consultants in some cases, and by staff of Youth Educational Services and project directors in other cases.

The conference is open to project directors and other interested persons. There will be no registration fee for delegates from North Carolina tutoring projects. Delegates from tutoring projects outside of North Carolina and persons who are not directly involved in tutoring projects are welcome, but are required to pay a $3.00 registration fee. Meals will be provided for all free of charge. YES will arrange housing for those who need it, free of charge where possible. If you would like further information or registration forms for the Conference, please contact Lowell Dodge, YES, P. O. Box 3067, West Durham Station, Durham, N. C. 27705. Phone: 477-7397. Registration closes Tuesday, February 8. The Conference will be limited in size to the first persons who register.

coordinator in charge at each tutoring session. A discussion followed on the problems in transferring the St. Andrews system of center coordination and tutor reporting, which all present agreed was ideal, to other tutoring projects.

St. Andrews is able to have such an evaluation procedure because of four factors:

(1) One student has been appointed center coordinator and will tutor only in the absence of an expected tutor. Otherwise she will handle the administrative end of tutoring each session.
(2) All tutoring takes place at the same location.
(3) All tutoring takes place on Tuesdays and Thursdays.
(4) All tutoring takes place on Tuesdays and Thursdays between the hours of 3:00 and 5:00.

Other projects, it was decided, would have difficulty in instituting the St. Andrews arrangements, since their projects were not as concentrated as the St. Andrews project both in space and time.

Finally, the workshop turned to a discussion of the YES manual entitled HOW TO EVALUATE YOUR TUTORING PROJECT and a single page sheet prepared by YES for the workshop entitled BASIC EVALUATION DATA. Lowell Dodge, of YES, explained the various sections of these two items, making recommendations to the leaders of the three projects present on the basis of their contents. (These documents are available on request from the YES office.)

Attending from St. Andrews College were: Martha D. James, tutoring project coordinator; Patsy Pence, center coordinator; and Cheryl Barlup, a tutor. Dr. David Hawke, faculty adviser, attended briefly. Jeanette Johnson, project director, and William Gaither, center coordinator, attended from Johnson C. Smith University. Queens College was represented by Pat Bagg, project director; Charlie Kubricht, tutor; and Karen Clayton, tutor. Lowell Dodge of YES conducted the workshop.

OFFICIAL OF THE FUND FOR THE ADVANCEMENT OF EDUCATION VISITS YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

Mr. John Scanlon, Secretary-Treasurer of The Fund for the Advancement of Education, established by the Ford Foundation, visited Youth Educational Services on Thursday, December 9. The Fund is the largest single grantor of the activities of Youth Educational Services. The purpose of Mr. Scanlon's visit was to learn about YES and to take a reading on the extent of our progress to date. Mr. Scanlon visited with the project director and a center coordinator from the Greensboro tutoring project, G.U.T.S. Representatives from Fayetteville State College Tutoring Project and from the North Carolina State Tutorial Commission were invited but were unable to attend the meeting.

Mr. Scanlon had several suggestions to offer Youth Educational Services. The most significant of these was the need to establish a strong program of evaluation.

Mr. Scanlon was interested in many of the dimensions of the YES program. In particular, he asked questions regarding how tutoring projects in North Carolina select the students they will tutor, how they select the location of tutoring, and the materials they use during the tutoring session. He expressed great interest in the "one-to-one" or "head-to-head" approach to tutoring. In general, Mr. Scanlon seemed enthusiastic about the overall YES program.

LAWLER AND BUGG ATTEND O.E.O. NATIONAL TUTORING SEMINAR IN WASHINGTON

Mike Lawler, Coordinator of Field Activities for YES and Charlie Bugg, director of Greensboro United Tutorial Services, were among representatives of tutoring projects across the nation who attended a two-day meeting in Washington on January 8 and 9, sponsored by the Office of Economic Opportunity. OEO's Community Action Program Division called the meeting to look into the national tutoring picture and to map out possible approaches to supporting the tutoring projects across the country.

Among those attending were representatives from the U.S. Office of Education; the Council on the Southern Mountains; the Student Woodlawn Area Project in Chicago; the U.C.L.A. Tutorial Project; the Office of Tutoring Services in Washington, D. C.; and Pratt Institute in New York City. At the meeting, Youth Educational Services represented the only state-wide tutorial coordinating body in the country. As such, Youth Educational Services was able to contribute ideas on approaches for an organization attempting to serve a large number of tutoring projects over a wide area. Although no actual plans for a national coordinating or servicing body developed directly from the meeting, the prospects for the formation of such a body in the future remained as a definite possibility. The group expressed the hope that they might be able to reconvene in the future. According to Mike Lawler, "The meeting was very helpful to YES. It provided information and personal contacts on enrichment activities, such as arts and crafts, and on involvement of parents in the tutoring program."

De Facto Segregation

"Ironically, however, as de jure segregation of schools slowly recedes, de facto segregation is rapidly increasing. In virtually every standard metropolitan area in the United States, which means any metropolitan area of a quarter of a million people or more, racial segregation of housing increased from 1940 to 1960...Still I might add the most desegregated city in the whole country in housing, only in housing, is Charleston, South Carolina.

"...Many Southern cities as you know and many of your cities and towns I am sure are presently openly striving to simulate the Northern de facto segregation pattern. I call this imitating the Northern plan. The Northern plan as you know is very simple, it is very clever....All you have to do is to make sure that you have residential segregation -- the North caught on tothis fifty years ago.--- and then everything else is automatically segregated. And then of course you have death-row belief in neighborhood schools; that's an essential. You have to believe, though there is no evidence whatsoever to prove it, that the neighborhood schools are the only way to educate children. Believe in that; make sure the

NORTH CAROLINA AND THE NEGRO

Youth Educational Services has a limited number of copies of NORTH CAROLINA AND THE NEGRO, edited by Capus M. Waynick, Special Consultant to the Governor on Race Relations; John C. Brooks, Administrator, North Carolina Mayors' Co-operating Committee; and Elsie W. Pitts, Recording Secretary, North Carolina Mayors' Co-operating Committee; on sale at $1.00 per copy. The book reports the experience of cities and towns in North Carolina when they were confronted with the organized revolt of Negroes against segregation. Published in 1964, the book contains a Foreword by former Governor Terry Sanford, a short description of the Negro protest movement in North Carolina and major sections on the response of many cities in North Carolina to the protest; the official municipal declarations on human rights; and a section on laws relating to civil rights in North Carolina. Persons wishing to have a copy of NORTH CAROLINA AND THE NEGRO should send $1.00 or a check payable to Youth Educational Services to P. O. Box 3067, West Durham Station, Durham, North Carolina, 27705.

The tutoring program at the Advancement School serves as a laboratory for Youth Educational Services. Lowell Dodge, Coordinator of Tutoring Services for Youth Educational Services, maintains close contact with the tutoring program at the Advancement School. The Advancement School tests and evaluates for YES both tutoring materials and techniques for training tutors.

PROJECT SHARE: ENRICHMENT ACTIVITIES FOR TUTEES IN DURHAM

by Sara Evans and Mical Heyman

(Note: This article was written by two student leaders at Duke University who have developed an interesting array of enrichment activities for students being tutored through several different tutoring programs in the Durham area. We hope these ideas will serve as an example for project directors across the state. -Ed.)

SHARE began over two bowls of cornflakes. From the beginning, the individual letters did not mean a thing--it was the whole word that counted. SHARE, as we see it, is an attempt to extend the cultural events at Duke University to the children in the tutoring programs of Edgemont Center, Operation Breakthrough, and Project Opportunity. Each month tutors receive calendars of plays, movies, concerts, and sports events on campus which children would enjoy. By going to these attractions together, we have hoped that both the Duke students and underprivileged children will grow to new ways of thinking about their two different but equally valuable worlds.

Through the cooperation of the Methodist Center at Duke we have been able to have our bulletins published at no cost each month. Mr. William Griffith of the University has helped us to realize programs through the athletic, music, and drama departments. About twenty-five children saw the Duke-Wake Forest football game. Nearly twice that number attended the performance of Olatunji and his Drums of Passion. We now have forty-five aspiring African dancers on our hands.

Later this semester about twenty-five children attended a kiddie concert here at Duke, while others have seen Finnian's Rainbow and movies at the Quad Flicks. The recent reduction of prices at the dining halls for these children has been an added incentive for tutors to bring their tutees out to Duke.

Next term, the YWCA plans to lend more substantial aid to this cultural enrichment program. As a centralizing agent, the "Y" hopes to coordinate the publishing, distribution, and publicity of the program, enlisting students from both campuses who do not tutor to be "hosts" for an evening to several children.

The original impetus for this program came from a desire to see cultural enrichment programs, practiced over the summer at other schools, established here at Duke. We hoped that SHARE would serve two purposes: First, we wanted to do something of an impromptu but immediate nature to bridge the gap between a university opportunity and the substandard education of many basically bright children in Durham. We also wanted at the same time to bridge the gap felt by both children and students of the isolation of the university from the town community. Second, in long range terms, we hoped that SHARE would reinforce to the university the pressing need for programs now, not in five years, for underprivileged but talented children. We would like to see Duke take the lead in initiating a series of experimental programs in this area. We hoped that SHARE could be a spark to light a larger fire.

BUGG ELECTED CHAIRMAN OF THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS OF YES

At the first meeting of the Board of Directors of Youth Educational Services held at the Institute of Government, University of North Carolina in Chapel Hill, November 21, 1965, Charlie Bugg III was elected Chairman of the Board of Directors of Youth Educational Services. The Board also elected George Langford, Student Body President at Fayetteville State College, as its Vice President, and John C. Brooks, Secretary-Treasurer. Mr. Brooks is presently the Executive Director of the Maryland Constitutional Convention Commission.

The balance of the meeting concerned itself primarily with an extensive report from the staff of Youth Educational Services on various aspects of its operation and thorough discussion of many of these major aspects.

AIDS YES PROVIDES TO TUTORIAL PROJECTS

YES is able to aid prospective or established tutoring projects in the following ways:

1. Help establish the administration of the project
2. Help in formulating goals of the project
3. Assist in recruiting tutors
4. Assist in tutor orientation sessions
5. Assist in training volunteer tutors
6. Devise appropriate tutoring materials
7. Distribute to projects materials from YES resource library
8. Evaluation of the project.

Persons wishing assistance from YES should contact either Lowell Dodge or Michael Lawler at YES, P.O. Box 3067, West Durham Station, Durham, N. C. 27705. Phone: 477-7397

RESOURCE MATERIALS AVAILABLE FROM YES LIBRARY

YES has developed an extensive library of resource materials for tutoring projects. The library includes a wide range of tutoring manuals, a selective list of short background readings for tutors, materials to assist in project organization and funding, guides on tutoring reading, tutoring materials in the basic skills, and bibliographies of tutoring materials from projects across the country.

Most of the materials listed are free of charge to tutoring projects in North Carolina. YES will fill all requests for materials insofar as possible. To request a "Bibliography of Available Tutoring Materials" write YES, P. O. Box 3067, West Durham Station, Durham, N. C. 27705.

Correction

The article on page 11, "Local Students Aid Others to Study" incorrectly states that Youth Educational Services is "a division of the Learning Institute of North Carolina." YES is an independent organization, legally constituted as a non-profit educational corporation in North Carolina. Youth Educational Services receives part of its financial support from LINC and has offices at the same location.

Local Students Aid Others To Study

BY DOUGLAS M. YOUNG
Daily News Staff Writer

Charlie Bugg has gone to Washington.

Who is Charlie Bugg?

Charlie Bugg is the coordinator for GUTS.

What is GUTS?

GUTS is the Greensboro United Tutorial Service, a student commitment to service, to children who are having a difficult time in school, who may have limited advantages at home and who may have a hard time in life unless somebody helps them.

Somebody is. Approximately 150 students from the five colleges in the Greensboro area are offering their knowledge and themselves to Greensboro children, who, for varying reasons, may not have the normal opportunities for growth.

But why has Charlie Bugg gone to Washington? He has gone there this weekend at the invitation of the Office of Economic Opportunity to give his views on specific needs for a possible national tutorial program under the sponsorship of the OEO.

Bugg was chosen to go because the Greensboro tutorial program is the largest and the best in the state, according to Mike Lawler, coordinator for Youth Educational Service (YES), a division of the Learning Institute of North Carolina. Lawler travels about the state in an effort to encourage similar programs.

THE IDEA for GUTS came out of a meeting of the Intercollegiate Council for Human Rights at Wake Forest College in November of 1964.

Charlie Bugg of Guilford College, Pam Pfaff of the University of North Carolina at Greensboro (now a Fulbright Scholar at the University of London), and Ralph Lee of A&T College (now with JOIN, a teenage rehabilitation center in Brooklyn, N. Y.), spearheaded the drive for a tutorial program in Greensboro.

"All of us from Greensboro decided to work together as one unit," Bugg said.

The first thing the group did was appear before the Greensboro Board of Education, which referred him to Dr. H. C. Allison, assistant superintendent in charge of curriculum with the city schools.

According to Bugg, Dr. Allison liked the idea in theory, but was obligated to make sure that the students would carry through with the program. He attended one of the group's orientation meetings and that convinced him.

"WE ARE pleased with the spirit of cooperation they have shown," Dr. Allison said last week. "Where we have things they can use, we make them available. But of course nothing has been budgeted and there is very little we can do now. We hope to be able to do a lot more with their program if we can qualify under the Elementary and Secondary Education Act."

Dr. Allison's enthusiasm was echoed in early 1965 when about two-thirds of the Gillespie Park School children indicated an interest in the tutoring program following an assembly presented by the college students at the school.

The program began with about 60 college tutors teaching at the Gillespie school (usually on a one to two basis), and 30 in the redevelopment housing projects.

Teaching in the homes at the redevelopment projects was an innovation that many of the students may not have expected. Much of the credit for starting that program goes to Van S. Allen of the redevelopment commission.

"Mr. Allen knew the people in the community," Bugg said. "He gave us the contacts and helped us in every way possible."

BASICALLY, the purpose of GUTS is to improve the academic standing of those tutored. This is done in two ways, through the study of the subject matter and through encouragement.

"Mainly we help them on an emotional level," Bugg said. "It gives them a kind of encouragement to know that somebody cares about them. You've got to believe in those kids."

Tutoring also means being a friend to the student, talking to him, introducing him to a different kind of language and different way of thinking—"broadening the horizons," as Bugg put it.

Tutors and their students take trips together, too. With the help of the Unitarian Church's young people's group, about 25 of them took a trip to Hanging Rock recently.

"Only two or three had ever seen the mountains," Bugg said.

BUT WHILE the tutors are "broadening the horizons" for the students, they are also broadening their own.

"Sometimes it's like a cultural exchange when all the parents and students and tutors get together at the housing development," Bugg said. "You have discussions in the homes which you wouldn't have in the schools."

At present, the college students are tutoring two afternoons a week at Price and Central schools, and one night a week in the housing projects.

HOW EFFECTIVE has the work of GUTS been?

Bugg said the rate of dropout has been about 15 per cent. He can report numerous instances of improvement in attitude and work—the girl who was being tutored in English who not only improved her English grade, but also brought her math grade from a D to an A.

One of the most important facets of the work has been the acceptance by the students' parents. Last Friday night the parents gave the tutors an appreciation dinner at the Pearson Street YWCA.

"Negroes are all ghettoized and then you can talk about the most liberal high-sounding principles in the American Constitution you want to talk about....

"They are going to try to separate us as we were never separated before---as a matter of fact---residentially. They will try to separate us and reproduce a Harlem, try to reproduce a Southside Chicago, and I think we ought to look twice at Southside Chicago and Harlem to see if that is what we really want in the South. They are going to try to do this in Raleigh, Winston-Salem, Greensboro, Charlotte. They are going to do it in Atlanta; Atlanta has already had a housing crisis....

Devices for Ending Segregation

"...These devices include first, the district-wide redrawing of school lines to maximize racial desegregation balance -- what I would call positive gerry-mander. This isn't the first time we ever gerry-mandered school districts. Let's face it, we have been gerry-mandering them all over the country for the purpose of minimizing desegregation. We could gerry-mander districts with another principle in mind, to maximize desegregation....

"...A second device is the pairing of predominantly white and Negro schools along the borders of the Negro ghetto or the Negro community -- the so-called Princeton plan....Third, the alteration of f feeder arrangements, particularly in cities but to some extent in rural areas and in small towns. Feeder arrangements from elementary schools to junior high and from junior high to senior high might be planned in order to maximize racial balance....Fourth, the rebuilding plan provides for careful placement of new and typically larger schools, near but not within, the Negro ghetto...."Fifth, we could convert more schools into district-wide specialized institutions for the handicapped, for the gifted, for the arts, sciences, etc. Obviously this is too expensive for rural areas, but certainly within the domain of urban areas..."The sixth plan is often called Campus Parks...the establishment of broad educational centers covering many levels and many programs all in one place. Usually you put it outside of town--bus all kids to it--white and Negro, then it is nobody's school; it is everybody's school. Seventh, the subsidized transportation of students--bussing....By the way, most Negro parents in the United States, as polls show us, do not like bussing any more than the white parents. It's hard on the kids."

Dear Al,

We are happy to invite you to attend the upcoming Tutoring Conference sponsored by YES, February 11-13, 1966 at North Carolina State University in Raleigh. We really hope that you will plan to attend, and bring along several delegates from your tutoring project.

The Conference will provide you with specific and detailed information particularly with regard to tutoring remedial reading and math, and new types of tutoring materials.

We have tried our best to make the Conference cost as little as possible for you. There will be no registration fee, except for out-of-state and non-tutorial delegates. YES will cover the cost of meals for everyone, and we are doing our best to locate free housing for all delegates who need a place to stay in Raleigh.

Dr. Frank Riessman, author of THE CULTURALLY DEPRIVED CHILD, perhaps the best book published for persons teaching and tutoring poor children, will deliver the main address on Friday evening. Later on the same evening, Peter, Paul and Mary will perform at the Reynolds Coliseum. Sat. Morning the Baltimore Colts play the Packers on the front lawn. Be sure and come early

With this letter we are enclosing four other items:

1. Registration forms;
2. A tentative Conference schedule, including a description of the workshop choices;
3. A Tutoring Conference information sheet; and
4. A map of routes to the Conference site.

Please register as soon as possible. We have room only for about 125 delegates. Looking forward to seeing you at the Conference.

Sincerely,

Lowell Dodge + Mike Lawler

LOCATION: North Carolina State University in Raleigh. Registration will take place in the Erdahl-Cloyd Student Union Building on the North Carolina State campus. Workshops and general sessions will also be held in the Student Union building.

TIME:
1. Registration will begin at 11:00 a.m. Friday, February 11 and conclude at 1:30 p.m.
2. The first general session is scheduled for 2:00 p.m. on the 11th.
3. The first workshop will begin at 3:00 p.m.
4. A buffet banquet will be served beginning at 5:30 in the Harris Dining Hall.
5. The conference will end at 5:00 p.m. on Sunday, the 13th.

COST: There will be no registration fee for delegates from tutoring projects within North Carolina. Delegates from out-of-state and from in-state groups not involved in tutoring will pay a $3.00 registration fee. Meals will be provided to all delegates free of charge, including buffet banquets both Friday night and Saturday night. Persons who can afford lodging on their own are urged to make their own arrangements. YES is attempting to secure lodging in student dormitories for delegates who are unable to arrange their own lodging.

LODGING: YES, in cooperation with the Meredith College Tutoring Project and the North Carolina State University Tutorial Commission, is attempting to arrange overnight dormitory accommodations for delegates to the conference. It is hoped that arrangements can be made for female delegates to stay either at Meredith College or with female students at North Carolina State.

GUEST SPEAKERS AND CONSULTANTS: (Others to be announced)

Keynote speaker, Dr. Frank Riessman, Associate Professor, Albert Einstein College of Medicine, Yeshiva University, New York City. Author of The Culturally Deprived Child.

Friday, February 11

11:00 a.m. - 1:30 p.m. Registration in the lobby of the Erdahl-Cloyd Student Union, North Carolina State Univ. at Raleigh. (Entrance faces Hillsboro Street)

2:00 p.m. General Session, Theatre, 2nd floor Erdahl-Cloyd Student Union

3:00 p.m. - 5:00 p.m. Workshop I

Note: Each delegate is urged to select one of the three workshop tracks and attend each of the workshops in that track. Since there is likely to be some overlap among the three tracks, switching will result in repetition of discussion. We suggest each tutoring project assign its delegates to the track it wishes to cover.

Track A: Project Organization. Intended for delegates either planning or just starting a tutoring project. Workshops will focus on: starting your project (one-to-one? where? what type of tutee? scheduling? etc.); background information on the culture of the tutees (why have the schools failed them?); recruiting and orienting tutors; program evaluation.

Track B: Tutoring Materials and Tutor-Training. For delegates from established projects wishing to learn about new tutoring materials and training tutors in their use. Workshop topics are: how to set up tutor orientation and training; programed materials and their use; training tutors in the use of role-playing; non-programed tutoring materials.

Track C: Techniques of Tutoring. For delegates from established projects interested in refining their approaches to tutoring reading, math, and other subjects. Workshop subjects:
- general techniques of tutoring
- techniques of tutoring remedial reading
- techniques of tutoring remedial math
- tutoring in subject areas and in basic skills (spelling, outlining, dictionary use, etc.)

5:30 p.m. Buffet - Banquet Dinner. Harris Dining Hall

7:00 p.m. Address: Dr. Frank Riessman, followed by question and answer session

N. C. FUND DELEGATES TO Y.E.S. ITS SUMMER VOLUNTEER PROGRAM FOR COLLEGE STUDENTS

The North Carolina Fund has transferred to Youth Educational Services the responsibility for conducting a summer volunteer program for college students in North Carolina communities. For the past three summers this program has been known as the North Carolina Volunteers. George Esser, Executive Director of The North Carolina Fund, announced this change at a press conference February 7, 1966.

Y.E.S. Summer Program

The Y.E.S. Summer Program for 1966 represents a new approach to summer volunteer programs for college students. Y.E.S. plans to send small groups of college students who are experienced in tutoring and community development to six North Carolina communities: Boone, Charlotte, Greensboro, Raleigh, Laurinburg, and Fayetteville; and to one rural eastern county, Bertie. The primary responsibility of the tutoring staff in each of these seven locations will be to organize summer tutorials drawing on the volunteer efforts of the people in the community for tutors. In four of the seven communities (Boone, Charlotte,

ABOUT YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES

Youth Educational Services is a confederation of North Carolina college students who are united by their concern for educational and social progress in the State. Y.E.S. is a new name for the former North Carolina Intercollegiate Council for Human Rights. The group adopted its name in May, 1965, to reflect its increasing emphases on educational programs. The main activity of Youth Educational Services at the present time is coordinating and servicing twenty tutoring projects in different parts of North Carolina.

Youth Educational Services is supported by grants and services from three sources: The Fund for Advancement of Education, The North Carolina Fund, and The Learning Institute of North Carolina. Y.E.S. presently has a staff of twelve. Michael H. Lawler is the Director of the Summer Program, and Lowell Dodge is the Coordinator of the Academic Year Program. Youth Educational Services is incorporated in the State of North Carolina as a non-profit educational corporation.

A full description of the activities of Youth Educational Services and a listing of its officers and Board of Directors is available on request.

Youth Educational Services welcomes contributions and grants from all sources both individual and institutional. Persons interested in supporting Youth Educational Services should contact Michael H. Lawler or Lowell Dodge, Youth Educational Services, P. O. Box 1168, Durham, N.C. 27702, or phone 919-688-3035, (office address: 107 1/2 East Parrish Street, Durham, N.C. 27701).

THE Y.E.S. NEWSLETTER

The Youth Educational Services NEWSLETTER is published periodically by the staff of Y.E.S. The NEWSLETTER will gladly accept for publication letters and articles submitted by its readers. Y.E.S. reserves the right to select portions of these items for publication. The NEWSLETTER is distributed free of charge to students and tutoring organizations in North Carolina. Students, tutors, and tutorial administrators should indicate their college and/or tutoring project affiliation when requesting a free subscription to the NEWSLETTER. Other persons and organizations may subscribe at the annual rate (approximately 5 issues for the school year) of $1.00 per subscription.

THE PERISCOPE

Each issue of the NEWSLETTER carries a column on an educational topic unrelated to tutoring, but hopefully of interest and relevance to its readers. We have selected for this NEWSLETTER excerpts from an article published in the April 5, 1966, Wall Street Journal, by Frank J. Prial, Staff Reporter for the Journal, entitled "Classless U.: Colleges Add Programs for Independent Study to Avoid Academic Rut." (Reprinted with the permission of the Wall Street Journal).

Classless U.

Hamilton, N.Y. --A few weeks ago, when most college students were worrying about semester exams and fighting post-holiday blues, Colgate University junior Bill Arendt was getting tanned in the Florida Keys.

His classmate, Tom Honeyman, was in the Caribbean, too--at Ocho Rios, on Jamaica.

Well-heeled truants? Not quite. Bill, from West Bend, Wis., was studying marine ecology. Tom, from Somerville, N.J., was studying tropical plant and animal life at the Caribbean Biological Center. Both boys were working on projects as part of Colgate's popular January special studies program: A month of independent work in the middle of the academic year, free of routine college pressures.

Leaving the Rut

The Colgate program--people here call it the Jan-Plan--is one example of a campus trend to independent study programs that free the student from classrooms, schedules, grades and credits, and encourage him to take a more individual and resourceful approach to his work. Among other things, the programs are designed to lift the student out of his academic rut.

Greensboro, and Fayetteville) students with experience in community work will attempt to organize the parents of tutees into groups interested in bringing about educational reform and improvement in their respective communities. The booklet, "Youth Educational Services: A Proposed Summer Program", contains full details. Copies are available upon request from Y.E.S.

N. C. Fund Grant

The Board of The North Carolina Fund has approved a grant to Y.E.S. in excess of $10,000 for the purpose of planning and developing its Summer Program. Y.E.S. is employing these funds primarily to support a planning and development staff. This staff is described further on page 6 of this NEWSLETTER. Y.E.S. will utilize these funds from The North Carolina Fund and hopefully from other sources until the funds for Y.E.S. arrive from the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity.

Request for OEO Grant

For the purpose of administering its summer community service programs, Youth Educational Services has applied to the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity in Washington, D.C. for a grant in excess of $100,000. Youth Educational Services expects to hear within three weeks whether or not its request for funds has been approved.

Persons wishing to have further information on the Y.E.S. Summer Program should write to Michael H. Lawler, Director, Summer Program, Youth Educational Services, P. O. Box 1168, Durham, N.C. 27702.

Y.E.S. recently received a new shipment from Chicago of "Tutoring Reading at After-School Study Centers". Copies are again available on request from Y.E.S. inception in 1964. He came to the school from Oakland, California, where he was the Director of The Educational Component of a large Ford Foundation Gray Area Program. In addition to his position at the Advancement School, McAndrew is also an Associate Director of the Learning Institute of North Carolina in Rougemont. McAndrew resides in Winston-Salem, is married and has two children.

Other Board Decisions

The Board of Youth Educational Services also decided at the same meeting to approve the employment of new members of the Planning Staff and the Administrative Staff; to proceed with the matter of submitting to the Learning Institute of North Carolina a request for interim support to assist Y.E.S. during the period before receipt of the OEO grant; to work toward the further strengthening of the Board of Directors of Youth Educational Services; and, to initiate a program for developing a general membership of Youth Educational Services.

AIDS YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES CAN PROVIDE TO TUTORING PROJECTS

Y.E.S. is able to aid prospective or established tutoring projects in the following ways:

1. Help establish the administration of the project.
2. Help in formulating the goals of the project.
3. Assisting in recruiting tutors.
4. Assist in tutor orientation sessions.
5. Assist in training volunteer tutors.
6. Devise appropriate tutoring materials.
7. Distribute to projects materials from the Y.E.S. resource library
8. Evaluate the project.

Projects needing assistance may contact Lowell Dodge, P. O. Box 1168, Durham, N.C. 27702; phone 688-3035.

NATIONAL "TUTORIAL ASSISTANCE CENTER" LAUNCHED BY THE U.S. NATIONAL STUDENT ASSOCIATION ON CONTRACT WITH THE U.S. OFFICE OF ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY

Walt Senterfitt (formerly the Director of Community Involvement Desk of the United States National Student Association) has recently put into operation the TUTORIAL ASSISTANCE CENTER for the purpose of providing consultation, materials, a newsletter, a national conference, and other services for tutoring programs across the country.

To Insure The Independence Of Tutoring Programs

The Tutorial Assistance Center (TAC) intends to provide its assistance in a manner which will insure the independence of tutoring programs particularly with regard to solving administrative and organizational problems in their own ways. Many projects, NSA asserts, have been "forced to trade control of their projects for the support of other agencies, and have lost the freedom and initiative necessary to develop programs according to their own perspectives."

TAC Programs

Among the programs and operations which TAC plans to undertake in its first year of existence are:

1. To collect and distribute tutoring materials such as: project descriptions, prospecti, reports, tutoring manuals, booklets on how to establish and administer tutoring programs, bibliographies of background readings for tutors, readings for tutees, etc.;
2. To produce guides called "Problem Papers" on topics such as: how tutoring projects may develop their own materials, how tutoring projects may solve funding problems, how to develop and administer tutoring programs, how to tutor effectively, how to involve parents and tutees in program-planning, etc.;
3. To put together a national directory of tutoring projects;
4. To produce 20 case studies of selected tutoring programs around the country;
5. To collect and distribute in a usable fashion information on how federal programs such as the Work Study Program and the National Teacher Corps can be helpful to tutoring programs;
6. To investigate the possibility of a summer training institute for tutorial leaders;
7. Conduct a nation-wide conference for tutorial leaders; and, develop workshops on tutoring to be conducted at national conferences of other organizations such as the National Education Association.

TAC Staff

TAC will have a staff of ten with five working on program and five administrative. Two of the staff will be field coordinators who will be responsible for conducting a survey of tutoring nationally, producing case studies of selected tutoring programs, and providing assistance to programs requesting it.

National Policy Advisory Board

TAC will assist in selecting 12 individuals to serve as a National Policy Advisory Board to the Office of Economic Opportunity and through that office to the U.S. National Students Association and the Project Director for the operation of TAC. The Board will be representative of the present diversity of tutorial projects nationally.

Y.E.S. HIRES FOUR NEW STAFF MEMBERS FOR DEVELOPING SUMMER PROGRAMS

Within the last month, Youth Educational Services has expanded its program staff from two to six to enable Y.E.S. to make all the necessary plans in preparation for its summer program.

The four new program staff members:

1. Juanita Clarke, from Brooklyn, N.Y. Juanita graduated from Barnard College in June 1965, having majored in Government. Before coming to Y.E.S. Juanita was a counselor-interne with the phase of the New York City Poverty Program know as JOIN, (Job Orientation In the Neighborhood). Juanita tutored in the Harlem Education Project and was a participant during the summer of 1963 on Operation Crossroads Africa in which she lived and worked in Ivory Coast, West Africa.

2. Nan Mumma, a student at Antioch College, Ohio. Nan comes to Y.E.S. through the Cooperative Program at Antioch, which enables Antioch students to spend roughly half of each school year working in different parts of the world. Her previous assignments under the Cooperative Program include: serving as a research assistant in the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D.C.; work with the Institute of Developmental Studies in New York City also as a research assistant; assistant teacher at the Crotched Mountain Rehabilitation Center in New Hampshire; and an assignment with the Institute for Policy Studies, Washington, D.C. as a recorder for the Institute Seminars. Nan has also served as a tutor in the Harlem Education Project.

3. Penny Puckett, a graduate of Cornell University in June 1961. Penny has previously worked with The North Carolina Fund as a personnel assistant; with the Securities and Exchange Commission in Washington, D.C. as a personnel management trainee; and as a teacher for two years in Elementary and High School in Fairfax County, Virginia. Penny serves as the Administrative Assistant to the Director of the Summer Program.

4. Mike Russell, from San Francisco. Before coming with Y.E.S., Mike was a VISTA volunteer in New Bern, N.C. While serving as a VISTA volunteer, Mike organized and directed a new tutoring program in New Bern, dubbed Educational Growth Opportunities (EGO).

NEW OFFICE AND ADMINISTRATIVE STAFF ORGANIZED FOR SUMMER PROGRAM

In late March, Youth Educational Services moved into its new quarters at 107 1/2 East Parrish St. in downtown Durham. The need for additional space made necessary the move to this new location from the Quail Roost Conference Center.

The new administrative staff of Y.E.S. occupies a good portion of this new office space. Mrs. Shirley Morgan is the new Office Manager for Y.E.S. replacing Ginger Stillman who resigned to take a position with the training division of The North Carolina Fund. Mrs. Morgan has wide experience as a secretary, payroll clerk, cashier, bookkeeper, and as a purchasing agent.

Mrs. Judith McLamb serves as the bookkeeper. Mrs. McLamb is a graduate of Hardbarger's Business College in Raleigh, North Carolina and has worked as a bookkeeper-office manager for an auto supply firm and as a bookkeeper and payroll clerk for a CPA firm.

The Y.E.S. secretarial staff of 4 includes: Mrs. Sara Banks of Chapel Hill, N.C., who has served as a secretary to the City Manager of Savannah, Ga., to the manager of a hotel in Georgia and to a judge in the recorders court also in Savannah, Ga.; Mrs. Linda Currin from Durham, previously a legal secretary; Miss Carrie Harris from Oxford, N.C., a graduate of Durham Business College (secretary trainee); and Miss LeEtta Smith who has completed three years at North Carolina College.

Techniques of Tutoring Disadvantaged Children", answered questions and later conducted a seminar for interested delegates. He focused particularly on the use of role playing and dance as action approaches to tutoring poor youngsters.

Workshops

Consultants with experience in remedial reading, program materials, the new math, and other areas held workshops for the delegates. A central aim of the conference was to provide ideas, information and materials to assist project personnel in improving their projects. One series of workshops dealt with projects in the earliest stages of development, aimed to assist persons from new programs or potential programs; others focused on specific techniques for more advanced programs.

Conference Papers Available

Working papers for the conference, outlines for workshop discussions, listings for the delegates, listings of consultants, and conference schedules are available from Y.E.S. for any interested persons. Write to Lowell Dodge, Youth Educational Services, P. O. Box 1168, Durham, North Carolina 27702.

"One of the great burdens under which American education labors," says Colgate president Vincent M. Barnett, Jr., "is the routinized superstructure we have imposed on the student. The paraphernalia of education easily can snuff out his enthusiasm, his initiative, his spark of intellectual curiosity. "In the January program, we say to the boy: 'For 15 years you've worried about credits and grades. Forget it -- do something you want to do." Although an increasing number of colleges are joining the trend, acceptance of it still is far from unanimous. Some educators, in fact, are out-spoken against it.....

Where the plans have been tried, they generally are praised by faculty and students alike. At Lake Forest College in Illinois, where 25 students are enrolled in a four-year program that has no grades or required courses and that has tests only twice during the four years, president William Cole says independent study is helping to penetrate the "sheepskin curtain" -- the tension that often exists between student and teacher. The Ford Foundation pays for the costs beyond the normal educational expenses of the experimental Lake Forest plan, which will be used at five campuses by next fall.....

A New Yale Program

At Yale this fall, 12 boys who now are sophomores will launch a new program by spending a year in some contrasting culture -- India, Latin America or Africa -- preferably working for a local company.

automobiles. Yet, a combination of strong community leadership and cooperation from the Bertie County public school system (both administrators and teachers) have enabled the establishment of a strong tutorial in this community. Of the 52 families in Woodard, 30 are involved in the program.

Mr. Timothy Bazemore is the director of this program. He is a leader in many other areas of community action as well as tutoring. Youth Educational Services has made three organizational visits to Bertie County and four trips for the purpose of tutor-training. Communities around Woodard are now considering the establishment of their own projects based on the model of Mr. Bazemore's project.

Bertie County is to be the site of a major summer effort by Youth Educational Services.

The East Carolina Volunteers Club: Fifteen East Carolina College students are now involved in community tutoring through the Volunteers Club. This project began in March of this year, and takes place in a housing project near the campus. The student coordinator of the tutoring project is Jean Allen. Youth Educational Services has completed three visits to this Greenville project; two for organizing, one for training tutors.

Elkin-Jonesville Program: Ernie Wells, a VISTA volunteer, is conducting a small tutoring program in the Elkin-Jonesville area. About ten tutors, mostly high school students, are tutoring a dozen or so 5th and 6th grade youngsters once a week at their school. The tutoring is mainly in the areas of reading and arithmetic. Youth Educational Services' staff has made two visits to this project and, in addition, has sent extensive materials.

Adult Literacy Training in Franklin, N.C.: The Macon Program for Progress, a project of the North Carolina Fund, has initiated an adult literacy tutoring program for residents of the mountainous area around Franklin, N.C.

This program is under the direction of Miss Virginia Miller, and utilizes the materials entitled "Reading in High Gear". Approximately 20 tutors, primarily adults, work one-to-one with other adults, most of whom are essentially illiterate. Some tutors meet their tutees once a week, others twice a week. Since this is a relatively new program, the results have as yet been difficult to gage. Youth Educational Services has completed one two-day visit to this project and plans another toward the end of April.

North Wilkesboro - McGrady VISTA Tutoring Program: Two VISTA volunteers in McGrady, N.C., Miss Carol Mims and Miss Patti Tallon, have launched a new tutoring program in McGrady. Tutors for the project are primarily students from Wilkesboro Central High School. The eleven tutors commute ten miles north to McGrady for each tutoring session. The tutees are primarily fourth through seventh graders from a rural mountain background.

Y.E.S.'s coordinator of tutoring services has conducted one tutor training session for this project.

VISTA Volunteer Runs Project In The Salisbury Area: VISTA volunteer, Jeff Bakely, who is assigned to the Salisbury-Orwan Community Services Council has initiated a small tutoring program in East Spencer, N.C., near Salisbury. Tutors in the program come both from Catawba College and Livingstone College. There are approximately six tutors now involved. Each tutor works with one student.

See NEW PROJECTS; Page 9

NEW PROJECTS ctd. from Page 8

Youth Educational Services has made two visits to this project; one for organizational purposes and the other for tutor training.

New Project in Williamston, N.C.: Within the last month, Youth Educational Services has been instrumental in assisting Mr. Haywood Harris, Director of the neighborhood Youth Corp in Williamston, N.C., to launch a program in which older neighborhood Youth Corp participants are tutoring younger ones as well as students from the local schools. Y.E.S. has assisted in the training of 45 of these tutors. These tutors each meet one tutee twice per week after school. Each tutor is paid at the rate of $1.25 per hour. Most of the tutors are girls. Mr. Harris hopes to continue the program into the summer. To date, Youth Educational Services' staff has made three visits to Williamston in assisting to establish this program.

Wilmington, N.C.: Tutoring started April 18th in a new program in Wilmington, N.C. This program is sponsored jointly by the Wilmington Human Relations Council and the Wilmington Y.W.C.A. Coordinator of the program is Annette Moore, a senior at New Hanover High School.

Mr. Lisbon C. Berry, a Wilmington attorney, has been instrumental in launching this program. The New Hanover County Schools have offered their support to the effort. The tutors are both Negro and white.

Youth Educational Services has made five trips to Wilmington; three for the purposes of organization, two for tutor training. There are approximately 25 tutors in this program.

NORTH CAROLINA AND THE NEGRO

Youth Educational Services has a limited number of copies of NORTH CAROLINA AND THE NEGRO, edited by Capus M. Waynick, Special Consultant to the Governor on Race Relations; John C. Brooks, Administrator, North Carolina Mayors' Co-operating Committee; and Elsie W. Pitts, Recording Secretary, North Carolina Mayors' Co-operating Committee. The book sells at $1.00 per copy. It reports the experience of cities and towns in North Carolina when they were confronted with the organized revolt of Negroes against segregation. Published in 1964, the book contains a forward by former Governor Terry Sanford, a short description of the Negro Protest Movement in North Carolina, and major sections on a response of many cities in North Carolina to the protest; the official municiple declarations on human rights; and a section on laws relating to civil rights in North Carolina. Persons wishing to have a copy of NORTH CAROLINA AND THE NEGRO should send $1.00, cash or check, payable to Youth Educational Services, P.O. Box 1168, Durham, N.C. 27702.

Further details on the Tutorial Assistance Center are contained in, "A Proposal for a Tutorial Assistance Center of U.S. National Student Association; Contracted with the U.S. Office of Economic Opportunity from March 1, 1966, through February 28, 1967", submitted February 24, 1966, by J. Walton Senterfitt, III; Rachelle Diener, and Michael P. Wood. A limited number of copies of the proposal are available from USNSA, 2115 S. St. N.W., Washington, D.C. 20008.

THE NORTH STAR

One of the new additions to the Y.E.S. Bibliography of Available Tutoring Materials is The North Star. This is a collection of creative writings by the tutees of the Harlem Education Project. Tutoring projects interested in starting tutee magazines may wish to order copies of The North Star.

REPORTS ON 20 ESTABLISHED PROJECTS SERVED BY Y.E.S.

(Reports on New Projects are listed beginning on Page 3 of the NEWSLETTER)

Y.E.S. encourages project directors to write their own reports for this NEWSLETTER. The only report in this issue written by a director is the report on the Davidson College project. Target date for publication of next NEWSLETTER: May 15.

(1) Appalachian State Teachers College: The North Carolina Volunteers Club at Appalachian State Teachers College has carried on a strong tutorial since December of 1965. A graduate student, Rae Worthington, administers this program. Assisting Rae are the elementary program coordinator Miss Becky Laws, and the high school coordinator Burlene Leonhardt. There are roughly 50 tutors in this program.

Youth Educational Services summer staff member Mike Russell has been working with this program in laying groundwork for a Y.E.S. summer program to take place in Boone, N.C. Earlier in the year, Youth Educational Services assisted with training tutors in this program.

(2) Brevard, N.C.: Approximately one out of every ten students at Brevard College is now tutoring in a program very closely coordinated with the public schools in Brevard. The tutees come from the Brevard Junior High School, a mile away from the college. Student coordinators for the program are Richard Gauley and Gretchen Kirzinger.

Overall coordinator for the program, Mrs. Mary Whitmire, is the guidance counselor at the junior high school. Mrs. Whitmire has matched tutors and tutees and arranged for the parents of the tutees to provide transportation for the tutors.

There is a strong emphasis on cultural tutoring in which tutors make an effort to involve their students in a wider range of activities. Many tutors, for instance, have undertaken the following activity: They tell their tutee to pretend that they have $50.00 to spend. Tutor and tutee then walk into town with the tutee free to spend the money in any way he wishes. The tutor tags along learning much about the interests and values of the tutee in the process. Curiously enough, they have found that many tutees prefer to save their imaginary $50.00 rather than spend it. The Brevard program is one of the best organized served by Y.E.S. Y.E.S. has made three visits to this project.

(3) Campbell College Tutoring Program in Buies Creek, N.C.: The tutoring at Campbell combines both academic and enrichment elements in its program. Linn Campbell, coordinator of the effort, reports that there are presently five tutors involved and that she plans in the near future to add five more tutors to the program. The academic phase of the program takes place in the Buies Creek Elementary School twice a week. The enrichment phase shifts location with each meeting. Thus far tutors have invited their students to the Campbell College campus, (Linn reports that it was fascinating to see the reactions of the tutees to an exhibit of Modern Art at the college) and plans for future enrichment activities including a trip to Raleigh.

Y.E.S. staff made two visits to Campbell College assisting its project to organize.

(4) Chapel Hill Program: The Chapel Hill tutorial is a joint undertaking of the Interfaith Council and the YM-YWCA of The University of North Carolina. Overall coordinator of the project is Mrs. Nancy Elkins of the YM-YWCA. Mr. and Mrs. Doug McCallum are student coordinators for the operation. There are 130 in all tutoring in the program.

There are several phases of the Chapel Hill project:

A. The elementary phase coordinated by Mrs. Catherine Adams which operates in four Chapel Hill elementary schools. Most of the 50 or so tutors in this phase are adults primarily faculty wives.
B. A high school and remedial reading phase takes place on the university campus. Mrs. Joan Lipsitz and Mrs. Marie Matthews have organized training for 30 tutors, recruited tutees and coordinated this aspect of the program.
C. Out-of-town tutoring is in progress in Hillsboro, Cedar Grove, and Eflin. Roughly 30 tutors travel from Chapel Hill to these towns once a week to tutor junior high and high school students in the school primarily during the evening.
D. The community tutoring phase involves roughly six or seven coeds who venture into the homes of Negroes and into community centers for direct communication not only with the tutees, but with the parents of the tutees. Nancy Ehle has spearheaded this phase.

(5) The Davidson YMCA Tutorial Program by Mike Norris, Assistant Director: We here at Davidson are proud of the stride our program has made in making available educational assistance to the young people of the area. Immediately following the beginning of second semester this year, a study hall was initiated at the local Negro Elementary - Junior High School. It has proved successful and now approximately twenty children attend each session. Guidance for these children is offered by five students from Davidson and several faculty members from the college. Some women from town also help. At the present time, we are only able to conduct two hour long study hall sessions a week. These sessions are held in classrooms after regular school hours. Besides helping the children with their homework, math games and spelling bees are organized. These sessions are very informal with one tutor helping four or five children.

Our big hope is that one day we will be able to provide a much more adequate tutorial program for the children. We would like to be able to plan trips to Charlotte for the youngsters and to take them on a regular basis to our own library here on campus. Our local Negro Methodist minister is helping us organize such a program. However, he is new in the community and has not yet gained the trust of the adult citizens. Most parents feel that we are trying to move too fast and they tend to distrust our motives. It will be a long time before we can organize such a tutorial program on a round basis.

In addition to the study hall program, which is directed by Georges Nzongola, we are currently conducting some tutoring service for Negro and white high school students. These sessions are held here on the campus one evening a week. This phase of our program has been running for most of the school year, but attendance has been light.

Tutoring is a relatively new activity here on campus, but many students have found that besides being a worthwhile endeavor, it is also fun and exciting to help youngsters become involved in the "learning game".

University. The coordinator of this program is Mrs. June Ingram.

Youth Educational Services has assisted this program both through tutor training and through supplying extensive sets of tutoring materials. Tutors work at Edgemont two nights a week. Some of the tutors are utilizing sets of programed reading instruction materials.

(7) The Experiment in Self-Reliance Winston-Salem, N.C.: Eighty tutors from Wake Forest College, Salem College, Winston-Salem State College, and from three Winston-Salem high schools are now tutoring through the Experiment in Self-Reliance Program run by Mrs. Cecile Rocz, a VISA-US volunteer. This program, which started in January, emphasizes heavily the use of Science Research Associates Reading Labs, Pilot Libraries, and Reading for Understanding kits. Training in the use of these materials is provided by Irving C. Noyes of the Durham Education Skill Center. Combined with the tutorial is a snack program, funds for milk, crackers, and cookies are included in the budget for the ESR tutorial.

A highly select group of ten of the high school students tutoring in the program are tutoring on a paid basis. Mrs. Rocz reports that this phase of the program is perhaps the most successful.

The program is being run on a demonstration basis through June. ESR hopes to start a full program lasting for one year in June utilizing funds from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

(8) The Fayetteville State College Tutorial Project: The only project to our knowledge serviced by Y.E.S. which has produced a marriage is the Fayetteville State Tutorial Project. The Director, Miss Judy Wilkins, is engaged to one of the leading tutors in the project, Mr. Cecil Ramsey.

There are about 25 tutors in the project whose efforts are coordinated by Gilbert Ross, a junior at Fayetteville State. Most of the tutees come from Washington Drive Junior High School. Tutoring takes place on the Fayetteville State campus. All tutors fill out weekly report forms on their activities during their tutoring session. Student body president and Y.E.S. Board member, George Langford, also tutors in the program. This project began in October and has continued with 20 tutors quite strongly ever since that time. Fayetteville is one of the seven sites selected for an extensive Youth Educational Services summer operation.

(9) Greensboro United Tutorial Service (GUTS): GUTS continues to work primarily in the community. It has recently expanded from three housing project tutoring sites into a fourth, the Smith Housing Project which is integrated. Tutoring at this location was developed primarily by Allen Toothaker, a student at Guilford College.

A & T students are now tutoring in full force through GUTS, the coordinator on the A & T campus is Wayne Peterson. The tutors recruited by Peterson will start at the Apache Homes Housing Project. Students from Guilford College, Greensboro College, Bennett College and UNC-G continue their work through GUTS. There are now a total of 140 tutors in the program.

(10) Hawthorne Junior High School Tutoring Program, Charlotte, N.C.: The guidance counselor at Hawthorne Junior High, Lydia Moody, and the Principal, Mr. Pinkney Stowe, have initiated a program at Hawthorne Junior High in which 19 adults from St. Martin's Episcopal Church in Charlotte, tutor 25 students during

Youth Educational Services has supplied this project with extensive sets of tutoring materials, tutoring manuals, and background readings for tutors.

Mrs. Moody reports that she is extremely happy with the program. She indicated that almost all of the tutees have made progress and cited in particular one case in which a youngster being tutored three times a week by a doctor has increased his reading level two years during two months of tutoring.

(11) High Point Tutorial: A former North Carolina Volunteer, Sarah Greene, has started tutoring in High Point. For the moment, Sarah is the only tutor. She is working with illiterates utilizing the materials entitled Reading In High Gear. Sarah is planning to extend her efforts into the summer. She intends next year to enlist many more tutors and many more persons who would like to take advantage of literacy training.

The tutoring in High Point was initially a project of the North Carolina Volunteers. Those being tutored have for the most part been persons involved in the North Carolina Fund's Mobility Program.

(12) Johnson C. Smith University Tutorial: Director of the Johnson C. Smith University tutorial, Jeanette Johnson, and Assistant Director, Tyler Millner, have developed a new phase to the Johnson C. Smith tutorial. The on campus phase, which promises to become the strongest aspect of the program. In the on campus phase, junior high students from the Irwin Avenue School visit the Johnson C. Smith campus two afternoons per week for tutoring. Johnson and Millner have found that on campus tutoring solves the problem of tutoring transportation and is also a more exciting location for the tutees.

Other dominions of the Johnson C. Smith project are continuing strongly. They are the Woodlawn Community dominion in a rural area outside of Charlotte, and a third center at Our Lady of Consultation Church where Johnson C. Smith tutors are working one-to-one with 5th graders. There are now roughly 80 tutors at work at the Johnson C. Smith tutorial. It is hoped that the work being done in this program will serve as the basis for the Y.E.S. summer operation to be located in this Charlotte area.

(13) The Laurinburg Tutorial Program: Roughly 30 students from St. Andrews Presbyterian College in Laurinburg are involved in community tutoring under the authoress of the St. Andrews Presbyterian College Peace Corp. Martha James, coordinator of the tutorial program, has had extensive assistance by Patsy Pence, center coordinator at the tutoring site, and Cheryl Barlup. Although the Peach Corp's tutoring program has been in existence for more than a year, it was not organized on a one tutor, one tutee basis. A new phase started in February is based on the one-to-one approach and shows high promise for the future.

Youth Educational Services summer staff member Nan Mumma is making preparations in Laurinburg which will be one of Y.E.S.'s summer project sites.

(14) Meredith College: An on-campus tutorial program has been in progress at Meredith College now for a year and a half. Coordinator for the first half of this year was Ann Freeman. Readers who attended the Y.E.S. tutorial conference will remember Ann as the provider of housing for all women delegates. The new coordinator for the Meredith College program is Ann Rollings. Roughly 30 tutors work with an equal number of tutees from a nearby elementary school. These tutees come to Meredith College for their tutoring.

Reverend Bud Walker, chaplain at Meredith College, has been extremely helpful to Y.E.S. in its attempt to plan for a summer project in the Capitol City.

New Bern - Educational Growth Opportunities: After roughly three months of operation, the EGO project has gone under. VISTA volunteer Mike Russell coordinated EGO until the sudden death of the VISTA program in New Bern. Following Mike's departure from New Bern EGO struggled three weeks for its existence, but finally died through lack of leadership.

At its height, the EGO project could count nine tutors and an equal number of tutees, plus a burgeoning library of resource materials. A dim hope remains that perhaps community people, having been sparked by the idea of EGO, will in the future bring it back to life.

(15) Tutoring at The North Carolina Advancement School: There are two programs in progress at the Advancement School. Both are somewhat altered versions of programs during the preceding sessions of the Advancement School.

There are now 16 tutors at work in the junior tutoring program in which the 8th grade students at the Advancement School tutor 4th and 5th graders from a nearby public elementary school. All of the junior tutors are students from Hayes Junior High School in Williamston, N.C. They tutor spelling, arithmetic, writing, and a bit of reading. A 5th grade teacher at the elementary school reports that all five of her students who are participating in the program show remarkable improvement in their classroom work.

Students from Wake Forest College continue to work at the Advancement School in the senior tutoring program. These students, 12 in all, work within the mathematics department under the supervision of Mr. Tom Mikula working specifically on skilled efficiencies which teachers have indicated that individual students need to work on with the tutor. The Wake Forest students are at the Advancement School as a part of an educational psychology course taught by Dr. Keith Pritchard at Wake Forest College.

(16) The North Carolina State Tutorial Commission at the University of North Carolina at Ral Raleigh: "Shrimp" Goetherd and Lynn Spees run a tightly coordinated tutoring effort involving roughly 15 tutors at North Carolina State University at Raleigh. The tutoring is cultural as well as academic. Tutors often take their students on cultural enrichment trips both to the university campus and to places of interest in Raleigh.

Youth Educational Services' summer staff member Juanita Clarke has been active in Raleigh and with the North Carolina State Tutorial Commission in laying plans for a Youth Educational Summer Project in Raleigh.

(17) Operation Breakthrough Tutorial, Durham, N.C.: The tutoring program in Durham is perhaps the largest in the State with 230 tutors. It is organized as a part of the overall anti-poverty effort of Operation Breakthrough in Durham. It has a sizeable budget which it has used to purchase extensive tutoring materials.

There is now tutoring in all three of the major target areas of Operation Breakthrough:

Target Area A (covers the Hayti Area) has two coordinators. Mrs. Bessie McLaurin is the coordinator at St. Joseph's AME Church. She supervises 75 tutors. Also in A is the Children's House where tutoring is supervised by Mrs. Lucia Tanford.

Target Area B (covers East End and Edgemont) has VISTA volunteers as coordinators. Miss Merle Hughes coordinates both at the East End School and at the Union Baptist Church. Sue Finer supervises at the Edgemont School.

Target Area C (covers Bragtown) has tutoring supervised by Jan Burch, another VISTA volunteer. Jan is assisted by an indigenous worker, Mrs. Flossie Evans. Tutoring in Target Area C takes place at the Lakeview Elementary School.

Mrs. Jewel John is the overall coordinator of tutor recruitment for Breakthrough. Most of the tutors come from Duke and North Carolina College.

Irving C. Noyes serves as consultant to the program. Mr. Noyes has trained most of the tutors in the use of The Science Research Associates materials which the program is using.

The Operation Breakthrough program has a tutorial advisory committee whose members include the following: Mr. Howard Fitts, North Carolina College; Dr. John Artley, Department of English, Duke; Mrs. Jano Bogdonoff; Rev. J. W. Barnes, principal of Hillside High School; Mr. Frank Burnett, principal of Pearson School; Rev. Phillip Cousin, Minister of St. Joseph's AME Church; Rev. Hank Elkins, Chaplain North Carolina College; Mrs. June Ingram, Director, Edgemont Community; Mr. F. D. Marshall, principal, East End School; Mr. E. W. Madgette; Mrs. Pauline Newton; Mrs. Ann Rowe; and Mr. William Woody.

RESOURCE MATERIALS AVAILABLE FROM THE Y.E.S. LIBRARY

Y.E.S. has developed an extensive library of resource materials for tutoring projects. The library includes a wide range of tutoring manuals, a selective list of short background readings for tutors, materials to assist in project organization and funding, guides on tutoring reading, tutoring manuals in the basic skills, and bibliographies of tutoring materials from projects across the country.

Most of the materials listed are free of charge to tutoring projects of North Carolina. Y.E.S. will fill all requests for materials as far as possible. To request a copy of "List of Materials Available From the Y.E.S. Tutoring Resource Library", write to Y.E.S. Post Office Box 1168, Durham, North Carolina 27702.

To Project Directors who have borrowed published tutoring materials from Y.E.S.:

As the academic year comes to an end we would appreciate it very much if you could return to Y.E.S. all published tutoring materials for which you no longer have a need. We will have a pressing demand for these materials this summer.

Y.E.S. PROJECT DIRECTORS AND STAFF MEET WITH GRANTORS, March 8, 1966, AT THE INSTITUTE OF GOVERNMENT IN CHAPEL HILL, N. C.

Representatives from Youth Educational Services and its grantors, The North Carolina Fund, and The Fund for Advancement of Education (established by the Ford Foundation), met to discuss the future of Y.E.S. March 8th in Chapel Hill. The Learning Institute of North Carolina, which also supports Youth Educational Services, was unable to send a representative.

Representing Y.E.S. at the meeting were: Cecil Ramsey, a tutor from Fayetteville; Jeanette Johnson, project director at Johnson C. Smith University; Joan Lipsitz, a project director in Chapel Hill; John Brooks, Secretary Treasurer of the Board of Directors; Charlie Bugg, Chairman of the Board and project director in Greensboro; and Y.E.S. staff members Lowell Dodge and Mike Lawler. John Scanlon attended from the Fund for Advancement of Education. Representing the North Carolina Fund were George Esser, Executive Director, and Tom Hartmann, (18) The Queens College Tutorial: Leadership of the Queens College tutoring project shifted recently from one student group to another. The original group under the leadership of Miss Pat Bagg tutored in a downtown YWCA. The new group under the supervision of Mrs. Elizabeth Wright is working with both tutoring and recreation at the Morgan School in Charlotte.

Several delegates of the Morgan School group attended the Youth Educational Services tutoring conference in February.

(19) Wake Forest College Tutorial: Five tutors continue the work of the tutorial program at Wake Forest College in Winston-Salem. These tutors work at a junior high school. Earlier in the year there were 13 tutors involved, but the program was significantly reduced at the time when the Winston-Salem--Forsyth County School System decided to undertake a large tutorial of its own.

One Wake Forest student, Diane Hyde, tutored a student on her own at a different school. Other tutors originally in the program have undertaken a new and adventitious enterprise, establishing off campus residence in the Negro neighborhood of Winston-Salem to carry on work related to tutoring directly in the neighborhood. The off campus project is under the direction of Lu Green, a member of the Board of Directors of Y.E.S.

(20) W.A.M.Y. Work Study Tutorial In Boone, N.C.: Roughly twenty work study students from Appalachian State Teachers College travel twice and sometimes three times weekly to remote areas in the Watauga, Avery, Mitchell, and Yancy County area. These towns carry names like: Gragg, Meat Camp, Elk Park, and others.

Barbara Doub supervises those work study students who are tutoring. Many are engaged both in tutoring and in recreational activities. They find that recreation and evening study halls are a good way to attract the students to a location where they may then be tutored.

Y.E.S. WANTS YOU..... to write for the NEWSLETTER

We know there is action in your tutoring program which would be worth sharing with others in the State. So tell us like it is. It's impossible for us to keep up with all these things, cause you're what's happening.

ADDITIONS TO THE "LIST OF MATERIALS AVAILABLE FROM THE YOUTH EDUCATIONAL SERVICES TUTORING RESOURCE LIBRARY"
April, 1966

Items listed in Bibliography of November, 1965, now available in quantity

1. A Neglected Resource--Cross Age Relationships, ten-page mimeo, Peggy Lippitt and John Lohman, Center for Research on Utilization of Scientific Knowledge, University of Michigan, P.O. Box 1248, Ann Arbor, Michigan 48106. How a successful project was organized in which 6th graders tutor 1st to 4th graders.
2. Tutoring Reading At After-School Study Centers, excellent pamphlet. Write: Governor's Committee on Literacy and Learning, Room 1417, 19 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill. 60603 (Youth Educational Services only has a limited number of copies of this pamphlet.)
3. Northern Student Movement, Prospectus for Educational Projects, 1963-1964. A four-page summary. NSM's plans for tutoring projects in six Northern cities beginning in June, 1963, including budget.
4. Prospectus, Philadelphia Tutorial Project, Inc., 1964 through 1967. Fourteen pages with detailed budgetary breakdowns, including diverse supplementary programs.
5. A Prospectus, Western Student Movement, April 10, 1964. A proposal for a large community-based summer tutorial in Los Angeles, carried out in the summer of 1964.
6. The North Star (Harlem Education Project), thirteen pages. Creative writings by the tutees of the Harlem Education Project; an example of how your tutoring program can start a tutee magazine.

Additions to the Youth Educational Services tutoring resource library

A. NEW TUTORING MANUALS

1. UCLA Tutorial Project, Your First Day As A Tutor, and How to Survive It. Four pages on what to do during your first tutoring session with brief notes on the following sessions. For projects working closely with the schools.
2. Detroit Public Schools, A Guide for Volunteer Tutors. Please write to Aileen Selick, Program Administrator, Detroit Public Schools, 5057 Woodward, Detroit, Michigan 48202. Mimeo with tips for the first session, reading and writing.
3. Bloomington (Indiana) Christian Centre, Tutor Guide Book (for tutors from the University of Indiana) Seven pages. Includes keeping a record of your work and field trips.
4. So You Want To Help People.....Forget It! Unless..... by Opal C. Jones, Executive Director, Avalon-Carver Community Center, 4272 Avalon Blvd., Los Angeles, Calif. 90011. The complete guide on how to avoid pitfalls in the helping relationship, particularly in working with poor people. An excellent four-page summary.

B. NEW BACKGROUND READING FOR TUTORS

1. Claire Schmais, Dance As a Part of The Pre-School and Elementary School Curriculum. An eleven-page mimeo with a brief introduction by Dr. Frank Riessman in which he states, "this article presents an important new approach for the education of disadvantaged children".

C. NEW MATERIALS TO ASSIST WITH PROJECT ORGANIZATION AND FUNDING

1. United States National Student Association, Establishing A Volunteer Tutorial Project (working draft only) by J. Walton Senterfitt and Thomas W. Roderick; includes suggestions for goals, and setting up the project (recruiting tutors and tutees, matching, supervision, training, and contact with the schools.) Nineteen pages.
2. Sample Forms for use in project administration.
   a) Interest inventory sheet (used by tutorial at the University of Indiana). A listing of 23 questions which you can use during your first tutoring session to learn about the interests of your tutees.
   b) A sample tutor application form (used at the North Carolina Advancement School)
   c) For Your First Session, a form to break the ice. Includes tips for the first session and blanks to be filled in.
3. Joyce Bolinger, How to Organize a Volunteer Study Center, Governor's Committee on Literacy and Learning, Room 1417, 19 South LaSalle Street, Chicago, Ill. 60603. With sections on contact with parents, building volunteer esprit de corps, materials, and evaluation.
4. Gayle Janowitz, Helping Hands, paperback -- 125 pages ($1.75) contains chapters on the organization of a study center, programs and activities, results, and effectiveness. A conventional approach to the organization of a tutorial.
5. North Carolina Advancement School, Tutoring Program Design, a philosophy of tutoring at The Advancement School. Includes materials used in the Advancement School Tutoring Program.
6. Eighth Graders Teach Younger Students, an article from the Winston-Salem Journal by Arlene Edwards on The Junior Tutoring Program at The North Carolina Advancement School. Includes goals and organization.
7. Youth Educational Services, A Proposed Summer Program, the philosophy and organizational details of the Y.E.S. Summer Program of 1966.
8. Youth Educational Services, A Proposed Academic Year Program, preliminary draft. Plans of Youth Educational Services for the 1966-67 academic year.

D. NEW GUIDES ON TUTORING READING

1. Guide Book for Reading Instructions by Helen A. Lundblad. For tutors. Includes sections on reading games and word games for different reading skills levels.
2. Guide Book for The Volunteer Reading Teacher by Lenore Sleisenger, Teachers College Press, Columbia University. ($1.25) Please write to: Miss Nancy Stiefel, Teachers College Press, Columbia University, New York, New York 10027. A 51-page guide including the first meeting, getting acquainted, tutoring one child, tutoring small groups, methods and materials, helping children to read with understanding, appropriate books for remedial teaching, and evaluation.
3. Reading Improvement Program Recommendations. Eight-page mimeo for tutors working with students who have mastered the basics of reading. Includes improving speed, accuracy, and eye movement.

The 12 are taking special course work now to prepare themselves and will take more when they return. "Then," says Henry Chauncey, Jr., assistant to Yale president Kingman Brewster, "for 10 years after they graduate, they can come back to Yale, stay as long as they like, and brush up or widen what knowledge they acquired the first time around." The educational expenses of the students when they come back after graduation will be paid by grants from foundations.

The goals of the program, says Mr. Chauncey, are two: Achieving student maturity, and making the Bachelor of Arts a terminal degree (82% of Yale's graduates now go on to further schooling).

"The intensity of the educational experience, the long plod through elementary grades, high school and the rest, tends to lock students into a rut," Mr. Chauncey says. The year in India or Africa, he adds, is intended to get them out of that rut. "President Brewster would like to go even further. He'd like to have enough money for a deferred acceptance program--to give every boy we accept a year off to do whatever he wants before he comes here," says Mr. Chauncey.

Letting a student "do whatever he wants" sometimes leads to projects that are a bit off-beat--though, professors say, usually educational in one way or another. During Colgate's two-year-old Jan-Plan, for instance, students have built medieval musical instruments, written papers on "the sociology of surfing" and dug for Indian artifacts around Lake Okeechobee in Florida, along with more routine projects such as studying the theater or the financial community and doing social work in big cities.

Last year, one Colgate student was one of the last persons to interview Malcolm X, the slain Black Muslim. Another studied glaciology, becoming so interested that he has signed up for an 18-month tour at the South Pole after his graduation this June.....

Actually, some schools with January plans concede, even if a student gets a minimum of knowledge in his January study it's more than he normally would get during the month. Although spring generally is considered the time when a student's mind wanders from the books, January's weather is so miserable in the North, these students traditionally just hole up and do as little as possible during the month. (Even now, says a member of the Colgate faculty, the local movie houses are filled with Colgate students during January. "It's January, man," they told him when he asked why.)...

GUTS Undertakes "Way-Out" Activities for Tutors and Tutees

Last week a group of tutors and tutees from the GUTS program in Greensboro, which is under the direction of Charlie Bugg, attended an address by Wayne Morse, a ranking member of the Foreign Relations Committee, United States Senate, at Guilford College. The tutees are 9th graders who are tutored in a group by Kaky Sowers, Ina Rominger, and Beth Kirsch, tutors in GUTS from UNC-G. Their trip to hear Senator Morse was a part of their continuing discussion on current events. After the speech, the tutors answered many questions which the 9th graders had on their minds.

Gym-Fest at A & T: Wayne Peterson, coordinator of tutoring at A & T College for GUTS, organized for tutees in GUTS an all-day visit to A & T College. Transported by buses supplied through Greensboro's Community Action Program, a large group of tutees from several housing projects in Greensboro took over the A & T campus. They were free to use all of the gym facilities, to tour the campus, and to talk with students. A group of A & T tutors served as guides for the tutees.

FUTURE OF Y.E.S. ctd. from Page 16

The Y.E.S. project directors asserted that their projects could definitely take advantage of increased services from Y.E.S., if these services could be made available by means of a larger budget. Y.E.S. staff made clear that it would like to be able to devote more effort to relations with school officials, relations with community action programs, the use of audio visual aids and programmed tutoring materials, and the development of cultural enrichment activities for the various Y.E.S. tutoring projects. The grantors expressed the thought that the basic goals and operations to date of Y.E.S. were successful and valuable and that Y.E.S. should be very cautious in undertaking any large new tasks which divert Y.E.S from its primary enterprise.

The grantors expressed the feeling that the proposed evaluation program of Youth Educational Services not be so extensive as to place an excessive burden on the organization. Mr. Scanlon felt that the primary purposes of evaluation were to learn how we might do better what we set out to do and to leave tracks for others who wish to duplicate the Y.E.S. model.

Mr. Scanlon finally suggested a very brief report which would enable others to profit from our experience. The report might answer the questions: how did Y.E.S. get started? what have we learned? what have we accomplished? Mr. Esser agreed with this idea. It was concluded that this short pamphlet should be written toward the end of the first year of operation of Youth Educational Services, perhaps in August.

Y.E.S. welcomes from its readers reactions to this discussion on the future of the organization.

Y.E.S. SEEKS STAFF FOR 1966-67

Youth Educational Services needs top tutorial talent for several positions open this September, including an Executive Director; and two persons in tutor-training and materials. Experience in tutoring and/or project administration is the primary qualification. For further information, contact Lowell Dodge, Youth Educational Services, Post Office Box 1168, Durham, North Carolina 27702 or call 919-688-3035.

INTRODUCTION

Tutors everywhere are fed up with conventional tutoring materials. The materials being used in many tutoring programs fail to make a connection with the tutee. Materials which tutors have judged inadequate in this respect include school textbooks, SRA materials, published workbooks (even those with pictures), and with some students anything that appears on a printed page.

This paper attempts to suggest some fresh alternatives. Some of the approaches listed on the following pages have already been tried with some success by tutors in North Carolina. Maybe none of the approaches will work with your particular situation, but perhaps some of them will suggest to you ways in which you may be creative with your student.

We hope that this list will expand during the summer as you develop approaches which you feel are creative. We would appreciate it very much if you could pass on to us ideas for inclusion in revised versions of this paper. Attached to the end of this paper are sheets you can use for this purpose.

I. CRAZY THINGS TO DO DURING A TUTORING SESSION

A. Plugging into your tutee's interests

Students at Brevard College have had excellent luck with this activity. At the beginning of the tutoring session, tell your tutee that he has $50.00 to spend during the tutoring session. Tell him he can spend it on anything he wants. Then take a walk into town or into a shopping area where there are reasonable alternatives, and see what he spends his money on. Have him keep track with a pad and pencil how much money he has left after each purchase. Since this is a fairly good way to learn about your tutee's interests, it may be an activity which you might undertake during one of the first sessions with your tutee. It also provides a chance to discuss with your tutee things such as the difference between necessities and luxuries, techniques of comparative shopping, and the difference between durable goods such as a fishing rod, and perishable goods such as an ice cream cone. Curiously enough some tutors in Brevard found that their students decided to save a portion of their hypothetical $50.00.

B. Imagination Walk

Take a walk with your tutee and make something out of it. Tutors have used casual walks to sharpen the powers of expression and observation of their tutees. Examples:

1. You spot a lonely piece of grass coming up out of a crack in the sidewalk, and you ask your student, "How do you think that blade of grass feels?"

2. You spot an individual in a group or walking along the sidewalk, and ask the tutee to make a guess as to what kind of character the person is. This approach can get interesting if once in a while you can spot a person on the other side of the street whom you know, then ask your student why they think the person is the way they have described.

3. Get your student to use his senses effectively and to put into words what these senses mean, such as by having your student compare the difference in moods created first by the smell of a furniture store and second by the smell of a bakery.

4. Some tutors use walks for tutoring reading more effectively than they use workbooks. Reading signs and getting at the meaning behind signs which one encounters in any city has much more immediate pay-off for many students than reading in workbooks.

5. The exchange game. Have your tutee take you to a place he thinks you have never been and then have him tell you why he selected the place. Then you take him to a place you think he has never been and let him know why it is an important place for you.

C. Tutee Map-Making

A good way to learn of your student's concept of his world, and to get him to practice symbolizing on paper something he has in his mind, is to get him to draw a map of things important to him in his neighborhood. You might start, for instance, by having him chart the route from his home to the place where he is being tutored, and to point out things along the way that are important, such as a candy machine, where the cops hang out, location of a friend's house, etc. If need be, you can start out with a grid pattern of the streets or make a project out of filling in a map or extending a map by actually footing it about town. Tutors who wish to extend their students' concept of the world about them can then work with their student on showing how other points of interest outside of the immediate neighborhood in the city relate to the part the student knows best. Then expand from city to state, etc. One tutor went so far as to take a far away place which had aroused the interest of the student, locate it on the map, and plan the details of a trip to the place including going to a travel agent and picking up brochures, investigating plane fares, boat fares, and even visiting stores to shop for clothing which would be appropriate for the location.

D. Make Deals With Your Tutee

Examples:

1. "You bring some magazine or book about something you think I know nothing about, and I'll bring in something you know nothing about." One tutor who tried this brought in something about whales only to find out that her tutee had brought in a book about snakes. They both learned from each other during that session.

2. Have your tutee bring to the tutoring session five words which he thinks you will not know in exchange for five words you select which you think the tutee might not know. You may be surprised at the outcome.

The general theory behind making deals is that it involves both you and your student on an equal footing in an activity which enables you both to learn more about each other.

II. IDEAS FOR NEW MATERIALS AND NEW TECHNIQUES FOR TUTORING SESSIONS

A. Use Comic Books

The following story illustrates the point behind using comics:

A group of ninth-grade boys refused to read in English class. When asked why, they unanimously concurred that the books they were reading were "phoney". What follows is a dialogue between a teacher and a class on this point.[1]

Teacher: What do you mean "phoney"?
Class: Corny.
Teacher: What does "corny" mean?
Class: (no response)
Teacher: Can you give me an example of what isn't "corny"? Say in a T.V. program perhaps?
Class: "Naked City".
Teacher: Why isn't "Naked City" corny or phoney?
Class: Well, one Sunday you see a kid with his mother walking to church, and the next day he gets into trouble.
Teacher: Why isn't that phoney?
Class: Because he isn't all bad or all good. He isn't one-way.
Teacher: Are you saying then, that a one-way character is phoney?
Class: Yeah!.....If you'd give the kids in this school the choice, they'd all read comic books.
Teacher: Why?
Class: They're a lot more fun.
Teacher: But I thought you said one-way characters were "phoney". I never heard of Batman doing anything nasty.
Class: The big difference is we know the comic books are going to be phoney, and that's why they're fun. But the stuff you give us in school you tell us isn't phoney and it always is.

B. Have your tutees create their own materials. The SWAP Approach:

The Student Woodlawn Area Project in Chicago has its tutees talk in a more or less unsupervised atmosphere into a tape recorder, asking them to describe interesting incidents in their lives. SWAP then types up the stories and mimeographs them. These materials are on topics of interest to the tutees, but most important they are in the language of the tutees. Youth Educational Services has a series of these SWAP stories available to all projects to serve as an example of the way in which this approach can work.

C. The Dear Abby Gimmick

If you are working with a girl or a group of girls, try this: Take letters written into the love-lorn experts, such as Ann Landers, Dear Abby, and the rest, from frustrated teenagers. Give only the letters themselves to the tutees, then have them compose their own answers. This is often the way to get girls into the mood for some expository writing. Many times the girls will outdo the experts with their answers. You might have different girls compete with each other for the best answer, or compare the answers of the girls to the answers provided by the experts. If the answers your girls give are not perfect, that is fine. Then you can work on expression, punctuation, grammar, spelling, etc.

D. The Hiptionary

Your tutoring efforts should be an attempt to add to, rather than replace the language your tutee uses. There is a major movement afoot in American education to respect the dialects of American minority groups and to build on them rather than condemning them as incorrect.

A simple project which tutors can undertake in line with this thinking, suggested by Frank Riessman, is setting up a hiptionary in a systematic fashion. Everytime your tutee uses one of his "rich and colorful words" put it on a card, then work with him in discovering in the dictionary synonyms from formal English. The effects are several. First of all, the process of putting together the hiptionary attaches a new importance to the tutee's own language. Second of all, it is a subtle way of exposing your tutee to a great many new "English" word definitions for the "hip" words your tutee may have been using for quite a while. Tutors who have used this approach find that their students have a lot of fun using their new-found "big words".

E. Develop Your Own Vignettes

The vignette must zero in on the language and experience of your tutee. You might even illustrate it with drawings or photographs. Here is an example:[2]

[2]From English Journal, Volumn 54, No. 4, April 1965, "Phoney Literature" by Gerald Weinstein and Mario Fantini

THE DANCE

Jimmy had spent about an hour in front of the mirror getting ready for this dance. He was wearing his best suit, a smart three-buttoned slim job. Even so, he still didn't feel right. He was kind of jumpy.

The auditorium wasn't too crowded, but Mary Ann was there. She looked real great with that pink lace dress and those pink high-heels.

All of the boys were standing together at one end and the girls were at the other.

"Hey, Jimmy!" Frank shouted, "You're looking pretty cool. Why don't you grab a chick and start swinging?"

"I would, man, but I don't want to wear out my dancin' shoes."

"Well, why do you have dancin' shoes if you're not going to use them?"

"Look who's talking. I don't see you spinning around the floor with anyone."

"Oh, man, I wouldn't waste my time with any of these babes. They're from nowhere."

"Sure, sure, I know."

All the while he was talking, Jimmy kept watching Mary Ann out of the corner of his eyes. She was dancing with another girl. The boys were still gathered in one corner, laughing and shouting wise remarks to the girls across the floor. Not one was dancing with a girl.

"If only I had enough guts to ask her to dance," Jimmy said to himself. "But it would be real rough. I'd have to walk across that big floor with everybody looking bug-eyed at me. The guys would sure make some fuss about it. And then suppose she didn't want to dance with me after I asked her? I'd feel so low-down I'd have to crawl out of here. Darn, I don't know what to do!"

He thought of himself dancing with her.....holding her real close in his arms. He became more shaky than ever.

"Maybe," he thought, "if I just walked over real cool and said, 'Let's dance, baby,' she wouldn't have a chance to say no."

Before he had a chance to move, Tommy and Neil grabbed him by the arms. They pulled him over to the rest of the boys.

"C'mon, Jimmy, we're all going over to Marshall Street..... This thing here is just too square, man."

Jimmy found himself strolling out of the school with the boys. "Whew," he told himself, "where am I going? I didn't get all dressed up just to hang on the corner. But.....I guess I can't go back now. Mary Ann,.....you're a doll. Well.....maybe next time."

Questions for discussion

Why didn't Jimmy dance with Mary Ann? If Jimmy wanted to stay at the dance, why did he leave with the boys? Do you believe that Frank really didn't want to waste his time with the girls? Where do you think this dance took place? In an elementary, junior high, senior high, or college? Why? Do you think Jimmy will dance with Mary Ann next time? Why?

Vocabulary development

Several words in this story might form the basis of a hiptionary such as cool, square, bug-eyed, "from nowhere", etc.

F. Role-Playing

Role-playing connects with the "physical learning style" of poor children. When these children translate into action something that is written in a story or included in a discussion it takes on much more meaning for them. They become much more articulate about a situation after it has been translated into a series of physical acts. The beauty of role-playing is that you don't have to be any kind of a professional to pull it off; the benefits of role-playing stem primarily from the discussion which follows the role-play, and one aspect of that discussion usually centers around ways in which the role-play might have been more authentic or more skillfully done. If you feel just a bit uneasy about undertaking a role-play, as many of us do, just dive into one head first. You will be amazed how much fun it is.

G. Educational Games: Role-Playing Real Life

Youth Educational Services is presently working with a series of life-games developed by James Coleman, a Johns Hopkins University sociologist. Four of these games are Career, High School, The Great Game of Legislature, and Consumer. The games, which are in use at the North Carolina Advancement School, tend to captivate the students for long periods of time. They thrust the students into real-life situations such as deciding what kind of college to go to (in the "Career" game). Points are assigned for various alternatives, and students who select the alternatives which are the most appropriate for their own situation get the most points.

Tutors interested in exploring the possibility of using these games should contact Lowell Dodge. Difficulties we will have to overcome in using these games in tutoring are:

1. The games will carry over a series of from five to fifteen tutoring sessions,and, therefore, assume a consistency in tutor and tutee attendance.
2. The games work most effectively with groups. Therefore, tutors having just one student will have to join with other tutors to make the games work well.
3. The games are still in the experimental stage. Tutors planning to use them will need to spend considerable time in advance mastering the ideas behind the games and plotting the specific techniques of applying the games to their particular situation.

H. Reading Games and Math Games

Youth Educational Services now has available short compendiums of both reading and math games designed to make these subjects more interesting to tutor. Please write to the Y.E.S. office in Durham for these materials. Also available is a series of reading tests (short word-recognition tests) which will help you in determining the reading level of your student, if you must use tests.

I. Pittsburg Action-Housing Tutor Guide

Y.E.S. now has available an ingenious guide for tutors devised in Pittsburg which outlines close to 100 techniques for learning from everyday situations. Write Y.E.S. if you would like examples of this approach. One example is as follows:

Purpose: Teaching Children to Stop to Think

Talk with students about the function of a radio aside from playing records by groups like The Rolling Stones. Have students realize the radio is helpful during an emergency. Was there ever an emergency that caused them to think and act quickly? Have them tell you what they would do in the following emergencies:

1. If you discovered a fire in school.
2. If you were washing dishes in a restaurant and dropped a plate on the floor.
3. If you saw a car parked on a hill beginning to move slightly because the brake was loose.
4. If your best friend asked to copy your answers on an arithmetic test.
5. If you found a pocketbook containing a $10 bill.

J. Books with Negroes in them

Youth Educational Services has collected a cross-section of the newer books available written about Negroes, Negro History, or containing pictures of Negroes. There are not enough copies to go around for every project, but Y.E.S. plans to loan its present supply out on a first-come first-served basis. Many of these materials are very inexpensive. We suggest that you have anybody wishing to contribute to the Summer Program assist by purchasing some of these materials. A two-page summary listing titles, publishers, publishers' addresses, and prices is available on request from Youth Educational Services.

K. Frank Riessman

Writings by Frank Riessman available from the Y.E.S. office are full of ideas for activities in tutoring. Some of these are mentioned in this paper, but there are many more. If you are interested, write to Y.E.S. and request Riessman's "Tutoring the Disadvantaged Child" and "The Culturally Deprived Child, A New View".

CREATIVE TUTORING TECHNIQUES

You can help Y.E.S. add to the ideas in this paper by writing up new techniques which have worked well for you in tutoring:

1. What new technique or approach did you try?

2. Why do you think it worked well?

3. Do you have any special recommendations for other tutors who might wish to try it out?

CREATIVE TUTORING TECHNIQUES

You can help Y.E.S. add to the ideas in this paper by writing up new techniques which have worked well for you in tutoring:

1. What new technique or approach did you try?

2. Why do you think it worked well?

3. Do you have any special recommendations for other tutors who might wish to try it out?

JOB OPPORTUNITIES IN TUTORING IN NORTH CAROLINA

June 14, 1966

There are at the present time three excellent opportunities--full time paid positions--in the State of North Carolina for people with experience in tutoring. Two of these positions are with tutoring programs. The third is with Youth Educational Services which coordinates a large number of programs across the State.

(1) Operation Breakthrough Tutoring Program, Durham, North Carolina. Contact Scott Puckett, Program Planner, Operation Breakthrough, Post Office Box 1470, Durham, North Carolina, 27702. Telephone 919 682-2184.

Operation Breakthrough, the Community Action Program of Durham, is seeking a person who will be concerned mainly with the content (both techniques of tutoring and materials) of tutoring in the Operation Breakthrough program. This program covers most of Durham and involves more than 200 tutors, most of whom come from Duke University and North Carolina College. The job pays up to $9,000 or even more depending on experience. Qualifications: experience with tutoring techniques and with tutoring materials; ability to deal with school superintendents and other public school officials; public school teaching experience (preferred, but not required); administrative ability; an interest in working with people from diverse racial backgrounds. The job will entail working with VISTA volunteers and work-study students in addition to neighborhood staff. Position ~~open now~~ proposed for August. Apply immediately if interested.

(2) Experiment in Self-Reliance Tutorial (ESR), Winston-Salem, North Carolina. Contact Mrs. Cecile Rocz, 1229 North Highland Avenue, Winston-Salem, North Carolina, 27101. Telephone 919 723-8831.

ESR needs a person to handle the administrative side of their tutoring program. This means working with the people who are already involved to keep the program running smoothly. There are two separate tutoring centers. SRA materials are used extensively. The position will pay $5,000 for the nine-month period beginning in September, 1966. The prime qualification is an interest in working with large numbers of people and in assisting in the effort to create an orderly tutoring program. Mrs. Rocz will be responsible for the content of the tutoring. Experiment in Self-Reliance is the Community Action Program of Winston-Salem.

(3) Coordinator of Tutoring Services, Youth Educational Services, Durham, North Carolina. Contact Lowell Dodge, Coordinator of Tutoring Services, Youth Educational Services, Post Office Box 1168, Durham, North Carolina. Telephone 919 688-3035.

Y.E.S. wants a person to assist tutoring programs in North Carolina to improve the quality of their efforts. The person will have a fairly free hand in determining ways in which to help projects in this regard. Travel around North Carolina for tutor training, working with project administrators, and developing new and fresh approaches to tutoring techniques and to materials will be involved. The job will pay in the neighborhood of $6,000 to $7,000 depending on experience. The qualifications are experience in tutoring and preferably in the administration of tutoring programs, experience with tutoring materials, imagination, resourcefulness, and energy. Job available September, 1966.

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL BULLETIN

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS, INC.
2809 GOVERNORS DRIVE, WEST
HUNTSVILLE, ALABAMA 35805

J. Edwin Stanfield
Executive Director

December 1, 1964

NEW STATE OFFICE ...

Yes, office space has been found and the headquarters of the Alabama Council on Human Relations have been moved to Huntsville at the above address.

Due to circumstances beyond our control it took a little longer than expected. So if you have not been getting your copies of the ACHR Newsletter, it isn't because they got lost in the mails. They didn't get sent!

The Board of Directors voted in late August to make this move. This was at the same time that the new executive director was hired. (See the story below.) In order to get a very desirable location, we chose to wait a little more than a month while it was being fixed up for us. We expected to move about October 15. But the landlord-to-be changed his mind (perhaps we should say "its mind"--corporations are so impersonal), and it took us nearly another month to find a different place.

But now at last we do have a nice office in another new building. Things are not fully sorted out yet, but the office and crew of one are at your service!

NEW EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR ...

Almost everyone concerned has probably heard by now that the Reverend Norman C. Jimerson resigned in August in order to accept a position as Director of the Career-in-service program of Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Michigan. He and his family moved to Kalamazoo during the first week of September and report themselves very happy in their new home and work. Their address is 116 Monroe Street, Kalamazoo.

The Reverend J. Edwin Stanfield was chosen by the Board of Directors to succeed Mr. Jimerson. Mr. Stanfield is a Presbyterian minister. He was born in Warren, Arkansas, and grew up in northern Louisiana and Arkansas. He attended Arkansas College and was graduated from Hampden-Sydney College in Virginia. He holds B.D. and Th.M. degrees from Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Virginia. He pastored churches in West Virginia for seven years. He comes to Alabama Council after a summer of training with Southern Regional Council in Atlanta.

Mrs. Stanfield is the former Joyce Pauley of South Charleston, West Virginia. They have one son, Mark, age four.

ESSAY CONTEST DELAYED ...

We are sorry to report that the essay contest which we had planned to repeat this year has been postponed, by order of the Executive Committee, due primarily to the unsettled state of affairs resulting from the difficulty in locating an office. This turn of events is the more unfortunate in that Mr. Harry Golden, Editor of the NORTH CAROLINA ISRAELITE, had graciously consented to judge the finalists' entries. We hope to have another go at this program in the not-too-distant future.

DON'T FORGET THE ANNUAL MEETING. FEBRUARY 6. IN BIRMINGHAM. MARK THE DATE NOW.

NEW POLICY FOR "NEW SOUTH"

After Years and years of holding the line at $2.00 the Southern Regional Council magazine, NEW SOUTH, finally had to yield to inflation and raise the subscription price to $2.50. It would still be the best literary bargain in the South at twice that price, of course. More important for everyone to remember is another action taken simultaneously.

For some time the office staff at SRC have wrestled with the problems and confusion resulting from handling subscriptions at second hand, i.e. through the offices of the several state councils on human relations. Therefore, in order to simplify handling, and in order to avoid raising the membership fees of state councils, it was decided that ALL SUBSCRIPTIONS AND RENEWALS FOR NEW SOUTH WILL BE HANDLED DIRECTLY FROM THE SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL OFFICE.

In other words, you can still be a member of ACHR for $5.00 (single) or $8.00 (man and wife), but -- we hate to tell you! -- NEW SOUTH is not included in the deal. Please take comfort in the thought that you will be helping your organization and its purposes a little bit more. And send your name and address along with $2.50 for a year's subscription to: NEW SOUTH...SOUTHERN REGIONAL COUNCIL...5 FORSYTH ST. ...ATLANTA, GEORGIA 30303. (If you already get NEW SOUTH, wait until they send you a renewal notice -- then wait no longer.)

DR PITTS DOING BETTER

While we are passing along bad news, we should note the illness of our president, Dr. Lucius Pitts, who is also president of Miles College. Perhaps you already know about this, for it really is not "news" now. On September 30 Dr. Pitts suffered a mild heart attack. He was in the hospital for several weeks. We are happy to report that he is at home now and that his health is steadily improving. By late November he was able to get out briefly for the long-awaited ground-breaking ceremony for Miles' new science building.

MACON COUNTY PROGRESS

Turning to more pleasant happenings, congratulations are in order for the political pathfinders in Tuskegee and Macon County. The Reverend K. L. Buford and Dr. Stanley Hugh Smith, recently elected to the Tuskegee City Council, were the first two Negroes elected to public office against white opponenets in Alabama in almost a century. Dr. C. G. Gomillion was elected to the Macon County Board of Education and The REverend V. A. Edwards to the county commission. Both Dr. Gomillion and Mr. Edwards are members of the ACHR Board of Directors.

WHAT HAPPENED IN THE SOUTH?

Speaking of politics,the Southern Regional Council released on November 15 a very interesting analysis of the results in the South of the November 3rd national election. Here are a few of SRC's conclusions:

Of the six southern states carried by the Democratic Party in 1964 four, and possibly five, would have gone Republiaan had it not been for the Negro vote.

The southern states which Johnson carried have the highest Negro registration. Georgia, Louisiana, and South Carolina -- where Negro voter-registration efforts have had some success ---voted 54%, 57%, and 59% for Goldwater. Mississippi and Alabama gave Goldwater 87% and 69% respectively. Both states are notoriosa for intimidation and other blocks to Negro voting rights, with the result that Negro voter registration is abnormally low.

"The other issues of the campaign," says the report, "undoubtedly entered into the outcome in the Deep South, but the fact that they did not have the same effect on white voters as in the entire rest of the nation leads (along with other compelling evidence) to the conclusion that race was the controlling factor in this area where it has always assumed grotesquely disproportionate importance."

The report also made the point that "effective Negro registration and participation in elections is the best assurance that race will be eliminated as a politically profitable issue...." The so-called "Negro bloc vote" does not exist unless racism dominates the election. Because the race issue dominated this election in the South, we saw the rejection by white voters of strongly conservative Democratic candidates who had tenure and presumably could have served more effectively the purposes of the voters who rejected them -- for example, George Huddleston, Jr., of Birmingham. On the other hand, Negroes so intensely rejected the Republican Party that Negro voting clearly accounted for the election of some strongly conservative Democrats, e. g., Robert Casey of Houston.

HAPPY BIRTHDAY TO AHAC

The Association of Huntsville Area Contractors recently celebrated their first anniversary. Speaker for the occasion was Hobart Taylor, Jr., associate special counsel to President Johnson. Mr. Taylor, one of the highest ranking Negro officials in federal government, commended the associatinn and "the fine sense of dedication... which has made this community one of the first in the country where industry has combined to accomplish manpower utilization of minorities."

Outgoing president Milton Cummings explained that AHAC was formed after Huntsville industries, responding to President Kennedy's executive order on fair employment practices for government contractors, found that local schools were not turning out technically qualified Negroes -- and that qualified Negroes from other parts of the country were reluctant to move to Huntsville because of discrimination in h housing, the poor educational facilities generally, and policies of segregation in public accomodations. AHAC seeks to help Negroes to qualify for better jobs through refresher courses, tutoring, and advice on job interviews through their Technical Advisory Committee. The association also works to improve housing and public education.

Executive Director of AHAC is Mr. L. C. McMillan. The new president is A. V. Pilling, Vice President of Hayes International Corporation, who was installed at the anniversary celebration.

IF YOU DID NOT RECEIVE THIS COPY OF THE ALABAMA COUNCIL BULLETIN THROUGH THE MAIL, BUT WOULD LIKE TO RECEIVE IT REGULARLY, PLEASE WRITE TO US. THE ENCOURAGEMENT -- BY COLLECTION AND DISEMINATION OF INFORMATION, BY PERSUASION, AND BY MORAL SUPPORT -- OF PRACTICES AND POLICIES WHICH HOLD FORTH THE PROMISE OF A JUST REWARD FOR ANY MAN'S LABOR OR STUDY. On July 2, 1965, the section of the 1964 Civil Rights Act on equal employment opportunity will take effect. Unless the matter is given creative thought and advance preparation there may be more reaction than response to the law. Many industries and businesses, in Alabama and elsewhere, have already taken noteworthy steps and adopted constructive policies with regard to the employment of minority-group applicants. In 1965 the Alabama Council purposes to sponsor at least one seminar, and possibly more, for business and industrial leaders and labor leaders to promote understanding of the law and its purposes and to share ideas for constructive responses.

THE ENCOURAGEMENT -- BY COLLECTION AND DISSEMINATION OF INFORMATION, BY PERSUASION, AND BY MORAL SUPPORT -- OF BETTER USE OF AVAILABLE EDUCATIONAL OPPORTUNITIES BY ALL CITIZENS, AND OF IMPROVEMENT OF EDUCATIONAL FACILITIES NOW EXISTING. The Alabama Council supports every effort at improving public schools and democratic instruction in Alabama. One of our goals for 1965 is the development, in cooperation with the National Student Association, of an active student organization to participate in tutorial programs and school readiness programs for disadvantaged children. Also, in 1965, our local councils will be asked to support a democratic system of education by encouraging Negro students who would like to enroll in technically integrated schools, but are hesitant.

1964, it was announced by the office of Economic Opportunity that 120 community projects in the nation had already been approved under the anti-poverty program. These projects will cost a total of 35 million dollars. Atlanta, for instance, has already received approval for a one million dollar plan. So far Alabama has received a grant of $30,000 "to determine how -- or if -- Alabama would make use of the anti-poverty campaign." Governor Wallace has appointed Mr. Claude Kirk of Montgomery to make this preliminary survey and report to him. In announcing this grant and Kirk's appointment, Governor Wallace's press secretary emphasized that Kirk was only to conduct the study and report to the governor, "who has veto power on the program within the state.")

THE ENCOURAGEMENT -- BY COLLECTION AND DISSEMINATION OF INFORMATION, BY PERSUASION, AND BY MORAL SUPPORT ---OF HONEST, CREATIVE EFFORTS BY CIVIC LEADERS AND ORDINARY CITIZENS TO WORK OUT INTER-GROUP RELATIONS PROBLEMS IN THEIR COMMUNITY. In 1965 the Alabama Council plans to sponsor in as many communities as possible meetings through which Negro leaders in education, religion, business and industry, and community affairs could convey to members of the Community Relations Service, municipal officials, and other appropriate persons and agencies the problems they perceive in housing, education, employment, and use of public facilities.

THE ENCOURAGEMENT -- BY COLLECTION AND DISSEMINATION OF INFORMATION, BY PERSUASION, AND BY MORAL SUPPORT -- OF EVERY DESIRE FOR JUSTICE AND OPENNESS TOWARD ALL PERSONS. To this end, in 1965, a major effort of the ACHR will be the organization of new local councils on human relations and the enrollment of many more members. There are many people who are looking for some way to express creatively their concern for wholesome human relations. Now is the time.

A NOTE FROM THE DIRECTOR

Dear friends:

I believe that the goals set forth in the preceeding statement constitute a constructive program which will appeal to you.

We are attaching a sheet on which there are three membership applications. I hope that you will use one for yourself and the others to enlist friends.

And do it now! Under our new policy all membership renewals are due January 1. This is in order that we may plan more meaningfully at the beginning of each year. All new memberships or renewals received after October 1 are valid for the following year.

The Alabama Council needs your support. Your membership does more than you may realize. Our finding resources with which to carry out our proposed program depends in large measure on the response to it from within Alabama -- and from concerned friends elsewhere.

But -- more important -- you need the Alabama Council. Something can be done about the unhealthy climate of human relations in Alabama. The stunning and thrilling setting-forth of a national consensus against bigotry and racism in 1964 has given creative people, even in Alabama, a chance to take the initiative. It is a chance that may pass quickly. Not to seize this opportunity would be stark tragedy, not only for our state, but also for the negligent persons. For, as Justice Holmes once said, "A man should share the action and passion of his times at peril of being judged not to have lived."

Cordially,

J. Edwin Stanfield

ON SATURDAY, JANUARY 30TH
LEROY COLLINS TO BE ANNUAL MEET SPEAKER
AT DINKLER-TUTWILER IN BIRMINGHAM

For members of the Alabama Council on Human Relations and their guests all roads lead to Birmingham on Saturday, January 30th. LeRoy Collins, Director of the Community Relations Service, U.S. Department of Commerce will be the featured speaker at our annual meeting on that date.

The meeting will be held in the Dinkler Room of the Dinkler-Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham. It begins at 10:00 A.M. Luncheon will be served in the Ballroom at 12:30 ($3.00 per person). Governor Collins will deliver his address at 1:30.

Collins, who was governor of Florida from 1955 until 1960, is well known as a dynamic speaker and an effective administrator. A native Floridian, he was elected governor of Florida after serving for twenty years in the legislature of that state. From 1961 to 1964 he was President of the National Association of Broadcasters, a position he resigned to accept President Johnson's appointment to his present post.

The Community Relations Service was set up by the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to help secure a constructive response to the new law and to help solve any problems arising because of its requirements. Under Collins' leadership the new agency aims at more than "compliance" and purposes more than trouble-shooting. Governor Collins has pointed out that the new civil rights law will not by itself stop racial strife. The problem of civil rights is "almost invariably" bound up with that of poverty, he has said. Militant demonstrations "could even get worse" unless something is done about "conditions...under which people are penalized."

"It is not our job just to go into a town," Collins said in a recent TV interview, "and settle a dispute about a theater or a restaurant. We go prepared, beyond putting out the dispute, to tell the people what programs are available to help eradicate the causes."

"We don't do much if we just bring peace at any price. We must develop sound compliance with the law."

Governor Collins has served as chairman of both the National Governors" Conference and the Southern Governors' Conference. He is a member of the Honor Corps of the National Conference of Christians and Jews. He has been Chairman of the Southern Regional Education Board and a member of the Commission on Goals for Higher Education in the South.

Members and friends of ACHR are urged to fill out the registration form on the last page of this Bulletin and mail it in or hand it to the president or secretary of their local council. This will help us to know how many lunches to order! Bring a guest!

A STUDENT HUMAN RELATIONS GROUP ?

(EDITOR'S NOTE: As indicated in last month's "Bulletin," one of the program--goals of ACHR for 1965 is the formation, in cooperation with the National Student Association, of a student council on human relations. The following article was written by M. Hayes Mizell, director of the Southern Human Relations Project of the United States National Student Association. Mr. Mizell, whose headquarters are in Atlanta, has been instrumental in the formation of intercollegiate councils on human relations in North Carolina, South Carolina, and Georgia. Of the Georgia student group, which, like the other two, is affiliated with the state council on human relations, the Atlanta Constitution editorialized, "Georgia Students for Human Rights is a group that proves not all of the old idealism is dead....It is a worthy organization with worthy goals." Mr. Mizell has already been in touch with students and members of ACHR in several academic communities of the state.)

Why Alabama Needs
AN INTERCOLLEGIATE COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
by M. Hayes Mizell

Now, more than every before, Alabama college students are needed to work for the development and prosperity of their state. For those who are sincerely interested in the future of Alabama, the issues of poverty, unemployment, education, state government, racial discrimination, and civic responsibility await discussion and action. If Alabama students are to assume positions of leadership in the development of their communities and state, they must have an opportunity to learn the problems of all major groups and races who constitute the population. Unfortunately, there is presently no program or organization in Alabama which can bring together students from all of the colleges so that they can relate to each other and deal with the problems of their state. To this end, we believe that a state-wide college human relations group can provide the necessary structure for students representing all of Alabama's colleges to meet together in pursuit of a more prosperous and open Alabama society.

1. Who is interested in creating this Alabama Intercollegiate Council on Human Relations? .... Many students and faculty members of colleges throughout the state, the Alabama Council on Human Relations, and the Southern Student Human Relations Project.

2. What would be the structure of the Council? .... Initially, it would be a state organization designed to sponsor a state conference in which students representing as many Alabama colleges as possible would participate. It is hoped that students would then be able to form informal student "chapters" on their campuses in order to deal with problems on the local level. The Council would be affiliated with the Alabama Council on Human Relations.

3. What would be the students' role in the Council? .... It would be entirely student run, with student officers and student committees.

4. What is the anticipated response to the Council? .... Hopefully, a great number of students will recognize the need for this organization and will respond enthusiastically. In the light of the climate of opinion still prevalent in Alabama, the initial response may not be large -- but a beginning is necessary to Alabama's future.

5. Would this be a permanent organization? .... Yes. It will exist as long as there is a need for it. It will operate from school year to school year, and the Alabama Council on Human Relations will provide the necessary stability and continuity for its long range operation.

6. Are there such organizations in other Southern states? ..... Yes. In 1960 the South Carolina Student Council on Human Relations was organized and has held two state conferences each year since that time, as well as initiating many other programs. The North Carolina Intercollegiate Council on Human Rights was formed in the spring of 1964, and it is engaged in a dynamic tutorial project. The Georgia Students for Human Rights was organized in the fall of 1964 and held their first state conference in October 1964. Each of these student groups is affiliated with their own state human relations council.

7. What can the Alabama Intercollegiate Council on Human Relations actually do? .... The nature and direction of the Council program will be determined entirely by

MEMBERS, FUNDS DRIVE

Our 1965 campaign for members and funds is well under way! Begun in mid-December, it is to be completed before the annual meeting in Birmingham. Hopefully, the annual meeting thus will be the crowning achievement, not just the good beginning, of our efforts to enlist people for ACHR's year-round work to improve human relations in Alabama.

Our goal for this year is to enlist at least 800 members and to secure at least $12,500 (including membership fees) from within Alabama. A plan of campaign has been drawn up, quotas have been set for each local chapter, and local campaign committees have been organized.

"Challenge meetings" -- special meetings of each chapter to "kick-off" the general membership-funds solicitation-- have been scheduled. In many instances these will be dinner or luncheon meetings. The Mobile and Montgomery councils will both be having their challenge meetings on Wednesday, January 13. The Talladega district council will have a luncheon meeting on Saturday the 16th. Lee-Macon Council will meet at Tuskegee on Monday, January 18. The Tuscaloosa meeting is to be on Thursday the 21st. Dates have not yet been set for Huntsville, Birmingham, and the Tri-cities, but their committees are at work.

At each challenge meeting members and friends will be given opportunity to renew their membership and make a pledge (or a statement of intent) for the financial undergirding of ACHR. Following each meeting a team of visitors will receive instructions and, within the next two or three days, will call upon every old member or prospective member whose membership application and/or pledge was not received at the Challenge Meeting.

The executive director reports excellent cooperation all over the state. Many local-council leaders are working hard, even though the effort had to be started at a time that was inconvenient -- especially for those in the academic communities. Mrs. Peggy Fuller is heading up the drive in Birmingham. In Florence it is Father Brice Joyce and Phillip Huckaby. In Huntsville, Dr. Ralph Lee, who is also the new president of the group, is the drive chairman. Mr. Jerry Roden and the Rev. J. C. Wilson are jointly leading the Lee-Macon effort. Mr. Gordon Decoudres chairs a strong committee in Talladega. Mrs. James Wood in Mobile, Mr. Moreland Smith and Mrs. A. W. West in Montgomery, and Dr. Ray Fowler in Tuscaloosa complete the roster local campaign leaders. Meanwhile, Mr. Nat Welch, our treasurer, is hard at work on special gifts.

LOCAL COUNCILS NOTES

At their November and December meetings the Birmingham chapter had approximate attendances of 35 and 60, respectively. Mr. Alfred Cowles, Executive Director of the Grand Rapids, Michigan, Human Relations Commission spoke at the November meeting, giving suggestions for council activities. He emphasized the importance of fact-finding about school dropouts, housing situations, employment practices, police practices and the like. In December Dr. Herman Long, President of Talladega College, spoke on psychological aspects of racism.

The Muscle Shoals council gave their annual Christmas party for children on December 17. About 50 persons attended the party, held at Our Lady of Grace Catholic Church. There were songs, stories, food, and gifts for the children.

Approximately 35 persons attended the Annual Dinner of the Huntsville group. After an address by Attorney David Vann of Birmingham, new officers were elected.

At their October 26 meeting the Mobile council had 50 in attendance to hear an address by Mr. John McConnell, a local attorney and a member of the state Democratic Executive Committee. A meeting planned for early December fell through when the expected speaker (whose familiar name we won't mention!) "stood them up."

JOB CORP RECRUITS WANTED ...

The Economic Opportunity Act provided for the formation of a Job Corps. The Corpshas now been started and the recruiting process is underway. About 40,000 young men and women can be enrolled in the first year and 100,000 in the second year.

The recruiting of Job Corpsmen will depend largely on referrals by interested individuals and agencies. This is where ACHR comes in -- and this is where you come in!

Plans are being made to set up in several communities, through our local councils and in cooperation with some other groups, speakers bureaus on the Job Corps. We hope thus to show a filmstrip about the Job Corps and to provide information on it to churches, schools, civic groups and the like

But after all is said and done, the youngsters who most need and will benefit most from the Job Corps will be reached by an alert, informed, and interested friend, perhaps a teacher or school principal, minister, social worker, club leader, or simply a thoughtful and responsible citizen like you. So, while ACHR and other agencies and groups are getting organized, here some basic facts. If you know youngsters who would be helped by the Job Corps, tell them about it.

What is the Job Corps?

The Job Corps is a national voluntary program that will give disadvantaged youngsters a new chance to help themselves.

Young people from the ages of 16 through 21 who are largely unemployable because they lack education and job skills to move ahead will be placed in Job Corps Centers where they can develop skills and self-confidence. The youngsters are carefully screened and must be willing to work hard to improve themselves.

Some centers will be located on public lands operated by conservation agencies such as the Departments of Agriculture add Interior. Other larger centers will be in unused federal government facilities near metropolitan areas. They will provide a new educational approach.

This approach offers a residential environment and a total learning experience tailored to develop new habits and attitudes. Young men and women will receive basic education, skill training, and sound work experience.

The purpose is to enable youngsters to obtain and keep jobs in which they can advance, return to school, or join the military service.

Who may join the Corps?

The Job Corps is aimed specifically at one million young people who have not completed secondary education, who have been unable to find a satisfactory job, and whose reading and arithmetic skills range from the 4th to the 7th grade levels. Some high school graduates will be enrolled in exceptional cases.

The Corps will include members of different religious, racial and ethnic groups. Criminals, addicts, and others with serious emotional or psychological disorders will not be eligible for the Job Corps

In general, the Job Corps is for young people who have normal intelligence but whose achievement is stifled by poor environment and poor habits.

What will the Job Corps Centers be like?

Centers in rural areas will be composed of 100 to 200 corpsment and will perform needed conservation work on the nation's forests, parks, and national resources. There will be about 21 staff persons, including administrative personnel, for every 100 corpsmen. Skills learned will be those appropriate to conservation work--such as surveying, forestry, weed and pest control, carpentry, masonry, maintenance and operation of equipment -- and those which can be learned in operating the center -- such as cooking and typing. There will also be basic education (the three R's) and instruction on how to get and hold a job, good work habits and attitudes, etc.

Near urban areas, centers of 1000 to 2000 will be housed in unused government facilities and operation will be contracted to colleges and universities. Here the training will include office machine operation, accounting, filing, and data processing. Youngsters can train as cooks, waiters, appliance or automotive repairmen, meat cutters, and so on.

Is the Job Corps for young women, too?

Yes, centers for women will be similar to those for men. But there will be special training in family responsibilities. They will be taught how to establish a stable home atmosphere and to rear emotionally and physically healthy children. They will learn many money-management skills, good purchasing practices, and good personal and family health practices.

Will Corpsmen be paid?

Normally a young person will spend about a year in the Job Corps. Whenever he leaves the Corps he will be paid a "terminal allowance" of $50.00 for every month spent in the Corps. If he chooses, he may allot up to $25.00 per month to a dependent, and the government will match such allotments with an equal amount. In addition, the trainee will receive $30.00 per month in daily pocket money and his room, board, clothing, and medical and dental care.

What about job placement?

The Corps cannot guarantee a job, but employment chances will be greatly increased. The placement effort begins at the time an enrollee enters the Corps. The Job Corps works closely with industry and private agencies to develop job-opportunities specifically for corps graduates.

Will there be any free time?

Corpsment and staff will receive periodic home leave. Supervised recreation will include participation sports, hobby activities, and other projects. Job Corps sports teams may be developed to compete with local teams. Men will be allowed time to attend religious services, to take special courses, and to work as volunteers in local community projects.

How can a young man or woman find out more about the Job Corps?

Just write to JOB CORPS, WASHINGTON, D.C. 20506.

the students. However, programs initiated by the student groups in other Southern states show that they can successfully do the following:

A. Develop local chapters on college campuses to help solve local problems.

B. Work with the program of the local adult human relations council where such groups exist.

C. Initiate and operate tutorial programs and programs aimed at correcting cultural deprivation.

D. Publish a newsletter to inform students about programs and problems on other campuses in the state.

E. Encourage interested students who are active in human relations work to become involved in summer human relations programs and volunteer services.

F. Present educational programs to inform students about the complex problems confronting their campuses and state; encourage discussion of these problems; find ways in which students can help to solve these problems.

G. Present programs to encourage and assist Negro high school students in enrolling in recently desegregated colleges in the area.

H. Give students of both races the opportunity to relate to one another and to discover that they have a common heritage and common problems.

I. Give students who tend to be isolated on their campus because of their views an opportunity to meet other students of like mind, so that they can band together to solve problems.

J. Provide an opportunity for students to boraden their horizons by holding state conferences where they can discover new ideas and new personalities, as well as learn new dimensions of old problems.

8. What can I do to facilitate the development of the Alabama Intercollegiate Council on Human Relations?

A. Discuss the proposal with your friends and faculty members.

B. Send us the names and addresses of other students who you think would be interested in this organization.

C. Communicate your ideas, suggestions, and questions about this proposal to either:

DEGEMBER DINNER MEETING

In our december meeting, we were fortunate to have as our guest speaker Mr. David Vann, noted attorney from Birmingham. Mr. Vann discussed the accomplishments that have been made in Birmingham in the past year in the area of race relations, and helped to give us faith in the proposition that seemingly insurmountable tasks can be accomplished by men of good will who are willing to work at it.

Also, the following business was conducted: The by-laws were amended to the effect that our business year will now coincide with the calendar year. The following new officers were elected for 1965:

Pres.....Ralph H. Lee
Vice Pres.....John Norwood
Corr. Sec'y...Jane Reed
Rec. Sec'y....Gloria Penn
Treasurer.....Mary Pandow
Rep. to State Board....
...Joan Cashin and Jane Reed

NEXT MEETING: THE CHALLENGE

To new members, inactive members, interested friends, curious people, and even old members:

*If you would like to find out about the past, present, and future (1965, at least) activities and purposes of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, *if you are interested in working constructively with other people who care about improving the condition of race relations and economic conditions in Alabama,

*if you have constructive ideas as to how we can work to improve the social and economic conditions in our state,

*if you would like to meet others with similar concern about the maintaining of human dignity among all men, *or, if you are just plain curious about what we are doing and can do,

THEN YOU ARE INVITED TO ATTE OUR NEXT MEETING, which will be held at 8:00 p.m. Monday, Jan. 25 in the Fellowship Hall of Trinity Methodist Church, 607 Airport Road.

Our main speaker will be J. Edwin Stanfield, Executive Director of the Alabama Council on Human Relations.

THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

CIVIL RIGHTS UNDER FEDERAL PROGRAMS

An Analysis of Title VI

January 1965

"As far as the writ of Federal law will run, we must abolish not some but all racial discrimination . . . All members of the public should be equally eligible for Federal benefits financed by the public."

State of the Union Message of
President Lyndon B. Johnson
January 8, 1964

The Civil Rights Act of 1957, as amended in 1960 and 1964, authorizes the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights to review Federal laws and policies with respect to denials of equal protection of the laws under the Constitution. The 1964 Civil Rights Act directs the Commission to serve as a national clearinghouse for civil rights information. Pursuant to these directives, this Commission publication is designed to explain Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act which requires non-discrimination in federally assisted programs, including:

* the kinds of discrimination prohibited
* the Federal programs covered
* compliance procedures under Title VI

U.S. Commission on Civil Rights
Washington, D.C. 20425

SUMMARY OF RIGHTS GUARANTEED BY TITLE VI

All persons in the United States shall have the right to receive any service, financial aid or other benefit under the federally-aided program regardless of their race, color or national origin.

Specific discriminatory practices prohibited include:

* Any difference in quality, quantity or the manner in which the benefit is provided
* Segregation or separate treatment in any part of the program
* Restriction in the enjoyment of any advantages, privileges or other benefits provided to others
* Different standards or requirements for participation
* Methods of administration which would defeat or substantially impair the accomplishment of the program objectives
* Discrimination in any activity conducted in a facility built in whole or part with Federal funds
* Discrimination in any employment resulting from a program established primarily to provide employment

All Federal offices responsible for federally-assisted programs must implement Title VI by issuing regulations approved by the President.

Any persons who believe discrimination because of race, color or national origin exists in a federally-aided program have the right to challenge such discrimination by making a complaint to the officials responsible for that program.

* Prompt investigations will be made of complaints received.
* If discrimination is found, negotiation and persuasion will first be used in an effort to eliminate the prohibited practices.
* Should these efforts fail, Federal assistance may be terminated or discontinued after a fair hearing.
* Other means authorized by law, including court action, may also be used to enforce nondiscrimination.

(For a complete text of Title VI, see page 15)

"... SIMPLE JUSTICE ..."

President Lyndon B. Johnson, explaining the basic reasons underlying the principle of equality under Federal programs, stated on December 10, 1964:

> "It is simple justice that all should share in programs financed by all, and directed by the government of all the people."

Simple justice has not always governed the operation of Federal aid programs. As has been amply documented by the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, many of our citizens, because of their race, color, or national origin, have not been free to participate equally in programs supported by Federal funds. For example, the Commission has found that in some circumstances:

* Libraries receiving Federal aid either have not allowed Negroes to use the facilities or have subjected them to segregation or discrimination.
* Elementary schools built and operated with Federal aid have discriminated in the admission and treatment of students.
* Hospitals constructed with Federal funds either have refused to admit patients because of their race or have discriminated in their placement after admission; they also have refused to allow Negro physicians to practice there.
* Vocational training programs established with Federal funds have not been available to all students.
* Employment offices financed entirely by Federal funds have refused to refer all job applicants to available openings on a nondiscriminatory basis.
* Agricultural Extension Service offices operating with Federal funds have been established on a segregated basis and have provided unequal service to Negroes.
* Dormitories have been built with Federal grants in colleges that have discriminatory admission policies.
* Employers receiving business loans from the Federal Government, designed to increase employment opportunities, have discriminated in their hiring policies.

In addition to the legal and moral grounds for correcting such discriminatory practices, there are very practical reasons for moving promptly to eliminate them from Federal programs.

A Federal grant program which is enacted for the general welfare fails in its objectives if some citizens are intentionally excluded or provided inferior service. If a program is designed to promote better health standards, it will not achieve its purpose by allowing only white persons to benefit while Negro families are denied needed medical services.

In addition to frustrating the basic objectives of a given program, discrimination denies to those who are excluded an opportunity to improve themselves. For instance, both the Negro family and the economy suffer when the family's breadwinner is denied equal opportunity to participate in a federally supported job training program.

Federal payments to State and local governments, to private institutions and businesses play an important role in financing the many educational, health, welfare and economic programs required for our continued growth and development. When any person is denied the benefits of these programs because of race, color, or national origin, the fabric of our democratic society is weakened and our progress as a Nation is retarded.

EVOLUTION OF FEDERAL POLICY

The principle of equality under Federal programs was reflected in presidential actions long before the Civil Rights Act of 1964 became law. In the past twenty years, every President of the United States has directed the elimination of discrimination in a number of Federal programs and activities. Areas covered by presidential orders include: equality of treatment in the Armed Forces; employment by the Federal Government, by Government contractors and on construction projects financed with Federal funds; and equality of opportunity in federally-aided housing.

Other actions taken through departmental regulations have prohibited discrimination in particular programs. These include the Manpower Development Training activities, teacher-training institutes, mental health and mental retardation projects, apprenticeship programs, and employment in State agencies administering certain Federal programs.

Prior to the passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, all of these orders and regulations depended on executive initiative which was supported by a growing body of judicial decisions. These court rulings, based on constitutional requirements, held that no person, because of race or color, could be denied the benefits of a program receiving Federal assistance. However, these presidential orders, departmental regulations, and court rulings were limited to particular Federal activities or to only parts of Federal programs. In addition, in recent years attempts made in Congress to amend specific Federal aid proposals in order to prohibit discrimination have been unsuccessful.

By adopting Title VI of the Civil Rights Act, Congress has now written into law the right of all persons to participate in and receive the benefits of any federally-aided program or activity without discrimination on account of race, color, or national origin. The application of Title VI to federally-assisted programs is uniform and all-inclusive.

SCOPE OF FEDERAL ASSISTANCE

Congress has enacted many programs providing Federal funds to support public and private activities in such areas as health, education, employment, individual welfare, and the economic well-being of the general society.

Many citizens are not fully aware of the nature or extent of Federal assistance provided State and local governments, private institutions, businesses and individuals. The average citizen is likely to know about Social Security, veterans benefits, and a few other programs involving direct Federal administration. However, many significant Federal aid programs are administered at the local level by the States, localities and private institutions which share in their costs. As a result the degree of Federal support is not usually apparent.

Federal financial assistance includes grants and loans of Federal funds, donations of equipment and property, detail of Federal personnel, proceeds from Federal property, and any other arrangement by which Federal benefits are provided.

In all, more than 190 aid programs are sponsored in whole or in part by the Federal Government and there are many 'sub-programs' within these. Major areas of Federal involvement include:

Aids to Education

- College Facilities Construction
- College Dormitory Construction
- Research Grants and Equipment
- Surplus Materials Distribution
- National Defense Education Activities
- Impacted Areas School Construction and Assistance
- School Lunch and School Milk Programs
- Vocational Education Activities
- Economic Opportunity (Anti-Poverty) Programs
- Loans to College Students

Aids to Communities

- Accelerated Public Works
- Urban Renewal Projects
- Public Housing Projects
- Airport Construction
- Library Services and Construction
- Economic Opportunity (Anti-Poverty) Programs

Aids to Health

- Vocational Rehabilitation Grants
- Hill-Burton Hospital Construction
- Research Grants
- Nurses Training Programs
- Loans to Medical Students
- Mental Health and Retardation Programs
- Public Health Programs

Aids to Employment

State Employment Offices
Manpower Training Activities
Area Redevelopment Grants and Training
Loans to Small Businessmen
Highway Construction Projects
Public Works Acceleration Projects
Other Construction (Schools, Hospitals, etc.)
Economic Opportunity (Anti-Poverty) Programs

Aids to Welfare

Old-age Assistance Programs
Services to the Blind and Permanently Disabled
Maternity and Infant Care Projects
Child Welfare Services
Other Public Welfare Programs
Economic Opportunity (Anti-Poverty) Programs

Aids to Agriculture

Extension Services
Watershed/Flood Control
Conservation Projects
Rural Electrification
Forest Protection

In short, citizens in all walks of life derive benefits directly or indirectly, from the services and assistance provided by the Federal Government.

During the fiscal year 1963, payments by the Federal Government to public and private recipients totaled nearly $11 billion or ten percent of all Federal expenditures. Federal payments average 14% of the total revenues collected by States and localities; in some States these payments reach as high as 32% of all revenues.

TYPES OF DISCRIMINATION PROHIBITED BY TITLE VI

The effective administration of Federal programs depends on the cooperative efforts of both the Federal Government and the recipients of Federal aid. The aims of these programs cannot be fully achieved until they are equally available to all citizens. Thus it is vitally important that aid recipients and the Federal Government work closely together to eliminate segregation and discrimination in the programs for which they share responsibility.

In drafting the Civil Rights Act of 1964, Congress attempted to provide every possible means for voluntary compliance with the Act. Regulations, issued pursuant to Title VI, reflect this congressional intent by directing Federal officials to seek the cooperation of recipients and to provide guidance and assistance to help them comply voluntarily with the Act.

As a first step in the process of voluntary implementation of Title VI, all concerned should fully understand the types of discrimination which must now be eliminated.

In order to be eligible for assistance under Federal programs, a recipient must give assurances that

NO PERSON SHALL BE EXCLUDED FROM PARTICIPATION, DENIED ANY BENEFITS, OR SUBJECTED TO DISCRIMINATION ON THE BASIS OF RACE, COLOR, OR NATIONAL ORIGIN.

Type of discrimination prohibited by Title VI are best illustrated by specific examples.

A recipient of Federal financial assistance violates his assurance to comply with Title VI if, because of race, color, or national origin, the recipient:

(1) denies an individual any service, financial aid or other benefit under the program;

EXAMPLES: A federally-supported State Employment Office refuses to place a qualified job applicant because of his race.

A redeveloper of land in an urban renewal project area denies an apartment or office space to an applicant because of his race, color or national origin.

(2) provides an individual with a service, financial aid or other benefit which is different, or is provided in a different manner from that which is provided to others under the program;

EXAMPLES: An Agricultural Extension Agent encourages and teaches white farmers, but not Negro farmers, to grow a variety of crops to increase their income.

A library receiving Federal aid requires some readers, because of race, to request books through a branch librarian rather than allowing the direct access available to others.

(3) subjects an individual to segregation or separate treatment in any matter related to his receipt of any service, financial aid, or other benefit under the program;

EXAMPLES: A federally-aided State Employment Office, Agricultural Extension Service Office, or airport maintains racially separate waiting rooms.

The aided program assigns employees of a certain race or color to serve only persons of the same race or color or to process job applications only from such persons.

(4) restricts an individual in any way in the enjoyment of services, facilities, or any other advantage, privilege, or benefit provided to others under the program;

EXAMPLES: A federally-aided college admits students of a particular race but discourages their attendance at sports events and other college gatherings.

An aided hospital admits all patients but discourages use of the recreation room or specifies certain hours for use to patients of one race.

(5) treats an individual differently in determining whether he satisfies any admission, enrollment, quota, eligibility, membership, or other requirement or condition which is a prerequisite to the service, financial aid or other benefit provided under the program;

EXAMPLES: A federally-aided hospital refuses to permit doctors of a particular race to practice in the hospital because such doctors are not members of a medical association which discriminates.

A State Employment Office refuses to send a Negro applicant to fill a job request because he is not enrolled in an apprenticeship program which discriminates against Negroes.

(6) uses any criteria or methods of administration which would defeat or substantially impair accomplishment of the program's objectives for individuals of a particular race, color, or national origin, or which would subject such individuals to discrimination;

EXAMPLES: In selecting or approving projects or sites for the construction of public libraries which will receive Federal assistance, a State agency uses standards which will have the effect of limiting use of the facilities by members of a particular race.

In a district where students are assigned to schools on the basis of their race, free and reduced-price lunches are not provided on an equitable basis.

(7) discriminates against an individual in any program or activity which is conducted in a facility constructed in whole or in part with Federal funds;

EXAMPLES: A hospital constructed or improved with Federal funds segregates patients by race or discriminates in the selection of interns or student nurses. A hospital caring for indigent patients under contract with a welfare agency that receives Federal funds discriminates in like manner.

A federally-aided public housing authority either excludes tenants from a project or segregates them within a project because of their race, color, or national origin.

(8) subjects an individual to discriminatory employment practices under any Federal program or activity whose primary objective is to provide employment:

EXAMPLE: Employers receiving Area Redevelopment loans hire on a discriminatory basis.

The above illustrations do not reflect the full scope of possible discriminatory practices. Nor do they include all the programs which are subject to Title VI. Whatever the federally-aided programs may be and whatever form the discrimination may take, the language of Title VI and the intent of Congress is to assure to every individual equal opportunity and access to Federal benefits.

It should be noted that if the final Federal payment for a project was made to a recipient before applicable Title VI regulations went into effect, the recipient is not covered by Title VI for that particular project. On the other hand, after applicable Title VI regulations went into effect, all Federal aid recipients had to agree to comply with these regulations in order to receive or to continue to receive Federal assistance.

EXAMPLE: A hospital received approval in 1963 for Federal funds to pay part of the cost of a new addition and Federal installment payments were still forthcoming when Title VI regulations became effective. As a condition to receipt of these additional installment payments, the hospital must agree to administer the entire facility in accordance with Title VI nondiscriminatory requirements.

COMPLIANCE UNDER TITLE VI

Title VI regulations provide the necessary framework for protecting the rights guaranteed to the recipients and to the ultimate beneficiaries under federally-aided programs. Compliance will first be sought by affirmative and voluntary means whenever possible. But in addition, provision is made for complaints, field reviews, investigations, informal adjustments, and, when necessary, more formal proceedings.

1. AFFIRMATIVE MEASURES

Recipients of Federal aid are to be given guidance and assistance to help them comply voluntarily with Title VI regulations. In public and private meetings and in instructions which accompany required nondiscrimination agreements, Federal aid recipients are to be assisted in making the changes necessary to bring their operations into compliance with Title VI.

2. COMPLIANCE REPORTS

Records and other information designed to show the extent of compliance with Title VI agreements must be maintained by recipients and reports sent to program administrators on a regular basis. A recipient is also required to inform the ultimate beneficiaries, participants and other interested persons of the provisions of Title VI regulations and of their applicability to the aid program.

3. PERIODIC FIELD REVIEWS

Reviews by designated officials are to be conducted on a scheduled basis to ensure compliance by aid recipients. Compliance reports, books, and other records may be reviewed during these regular field visits.

4. COMPLAINTS

An individual or organization may challenge any unlawful discriminatory practice in a Federal program or activity. All complaints must be filed with the appropriate Federal agency and should include sufficient information to serve as the basis for an investigation.

5. INVESTIGATION AND ADJUSTMENT

When a field review, complaint, or any other information indicates a possible violation of Title VI, an investigation is ordered. If any violation of the regulations is found, informal persuasion and conciliation will be used to secure the elimination of the prohibited discriminatory practices. During this entire process, names of complainants will be kept confidential to the extent possible.

No recipient or other person may intimidate, threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any individual because he has made a complaint, testified, or assisted in a Title VI investigation, proceeding or hearing.

6. FORMAL ENFORCEMENT PROCEEDINGS

If informal efforts at persuasion have failed to correct the situation, formal means for resolving violations of Title VI regulations are available.

a. Termination of Funds

Title VI authorizes "the termination of or refusal to grant or continue assistance" under any Federal program in which there has been a violation of nondiscrimination requirements. This action may be taken only after:

(1) the recipient has been given an opportunity for a fair hearing and a finding is made that Title VI has been violated, and

(2) appropriate congressional committees have been notified 30 days before any termination of assistance.

A recipient may seek judicial review of the final order issued by the agency.

b. Other Formal Actions Authorized by Law

Rather than follow internal administrative proceedings, an agency may take other formal actions authorized by law, including:

(1) Referral to the Department of Justice for appropriate legal action.

If there is a formal contract with a nondiscrimination agreement between the Government and the recipient, the appropriate legal action may be a civil suit to enforce the agreement or to invoke any other contractual remedies.

If the recipient is a public institution, such as a public hospital or a public school, the appropriate legal action may be a civil rights suit to secure a court order barring the unlawful practices under Title III or IV, respectively, of the 1964 Civil Rights Act.

(2) Referral to State or local authorities responsible for enforcing similar nondiscrimination standards.

When a recipient's violation of Title VI involves discriminatory employment practices, the case may be referred to a State or local Fair Employment Practices Commission or comparable body.

7. LIMITATIONS ON COMPLIANCE PROCEEDINGS

Compliance proceedings may only be directed against 'recipients' of Federal aid who are conducting a program for the benefit of others. A 'recipient' does not include the individual who ultimately receives the service, financial aid or other benefit under the program.

A farmer receiving Federal aid is not required to adopt nondiscriminatory policies in the operation of his farm.

An individual receiving unemployment insurance is likewise not a recipient. However, the State unemployment insurance office is a 'recipient' of Federal aid and must not discriminate against applicants for assistance.

In addition, any compliance activities must be limited to:

a. the particular recipient found to be in violation of Title VI; and

b. the particular program or activity in which noncompliance is found.

WHEN TITLE VI DOES NOT APPLY

The statutory language in Title VI specifically excludes programs involving "a contract of insurance or guaranty." Activities such as the FHA home mortgage insurance program are thereby excluded. However, Executive Order 11063, which prohibits discrimination in all Federal housing programs, continues in full force and effect.

CONCLUSION

The administration of Federal grant-in-aid programs over the years has been marked by a high degree of cooperation among the Federal, State and local agencies and private institutions involved.

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 affords an additional opportunity for these agencies and institutions to improve the administration and efficiency of cooperative programs. The President expressed confidence in the future when he signed the first set of Title VI regulations on December 4, 1964:

> "The broad and encouraging compliance with the Public Accommodations Title of the Civil Rights Act has demonstrated the overwhelming desire of the people of this Nation to accept and to comply with the law of the land. I am confident that the provisions of the Civil Rights Act to be implemented by these regulations will be received in the same spirit of acceptance and cooperation."

U.S. COMMISSION ON CIVIL RIGHTS

John A. Hannah, Chairman
Eugene Patterson, Vice Chairman
Frankie M. Freeman
Erwin N. Griswold
Theodore M. Hesburgh, C.S.C.
Robert S. Rankin

The 1964 Civil Rights Act directs the Commission on Civil Rights to serve as a national clearinghouse for civil rights information. Accordingly, Commission resources are available to assist interested persons seeking information on Federal laws and programs and applicable civil rights policies.

The Commission is collecting data on successful patterns of compliance with Title VI. It is also developing information on major Federal programs operating in particular cities and localities. Recipients of Federal aid, State and local officials, private citizens and other groups may all benefit from this information and assistance.

Interested persons may also obtain information from Federal, State and local officials and from other recipients of Federal aid responsible for the administration of particular programs.

TITLE VI—NONDISCRIMINATION IN FEDERALLY ASSISTED PROGRAMS

Sec. 601. No person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.

Sec. 602. Each Federal department and agency which is empowered to extend Federal financial assistance to any program or activity, by way of grant, loan, or contract other than a contract of insurance or guaranty, is authorized and directed to effectuate the provisions of section 601 with respect to such program or activity by issuing rules, regulations, or orders of general applicability which shall be consistent with achievement of the objectives of the statute authorizing the financial assistance in connection with which the action is taken. No such rule, regulation, or order shall become effective unless and until approved by the President. Compliance with any requirement adopted pursuant to this section may be effected (1) by the termination of or refusal to grant or to continue assistance under such program or activity to any recipient as to whom there has been an express finding on the record, after opportunity for hearing, of a failure to comply with such requirement, but such termination or refusal shall be limited to the particular political entity, or part thereof, or other recipient as to whom such a finding has been made and, shall be limited in its effect to the particular program, or part thereof, in which such noncompliance has been so found, or (2) by any other means authorized by law: Provided, however, That no such action shall be taken until the department or agency concerned has advised the appropriate person or persons of the failure to comply with the requirement and has determined that compliance cannot be secured by voluntary means. In the case of any action terminating, or refusing to grant or continue, assistance because of failure to comply with a requirement imposed pursuant to this section, the head of the Federal department or agency shall file with the committees of the House and Senate having legislative jurisdiction over the program or activity involved a full written report of the circumstances and the grounds for such action. No such action shall become effective until thirty days have elapsed after the filing of such report.

Sec. 603. Any department or agency action taken pursuant to section 602 shall be subject to such judicial review as may otherwise be provided by law for similar action taken by such department or agency on other grounds. In the case of action, not otherwise subject to judicial review, terminating or refusing to grant or to continue financial assistance upon a finding of failure to comply with any requirement imposed pursuant to section 602, any person aggrieved (including any State or political subdivision thereof and any agency of either) may obtain judicial review of such action in accordance with section 10 of the Administrative Procedure Act, and such action shall not be deemed committed to unreviewable agency discretion within the meaning of that section.

Sec. 604. Nothing contained in this title shall be construed to authorize action under this title by any department or agency with respect to any employment practice of any employer, employment agency, or labor organization except where a primary objective of the Federal financial assistance is to provide employment.

Sec. 605. Nothing in this title shall add to or detract from any existing authority with respect to any program or activity under which Federal financial assistance is extended by way of a contract of insurance or guaranty.

COLLINS GIVES PRINCIPAL ADDRESS

The featured speaker at the annual meeting of the Alabama Council on Human Relations was the Honorable LeRoy Collins, Director of the Community Relations Service of the United States Department of Commerce. As many of you know the Community Relations Service was established by the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to help communities with civil rights problems and seek creative compliance with the law. The agency seeks peaceful solutions to social problems by negotiation and conciliation. We are certain everyone who heard the former Florida Governor felt that he was a superb choice for this position.

Mr. Collins was governor of Florida from 1955 until 1960. He was elected Governor after 20 years of service in the two houses of the Florida Legislature. Throughout his entire career in public office in Florida Mr. Collins was a segregationist, and he shared the views of the majority of his fellow southerners. The past few years have been a period of re-examination for Mr. Collins and his description of his gradual change in philosophy, expressed in highly personal terms, was both moving and deeply encouraging. Mr. Collins stated, and we are paraphrasing him, "throughout my entire life I have tried to do right. I have not changed in this respect but I have changed in my view of what is right."

ANNUAL MEETING

The annual meeting of the Alabama Council on Human Relations was held in Birmingham on Saturday, January 30th. This 10th annual meeting was held at the Dinkler-Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham. For many members, this meeting represented the fulfillment of a goal. Long accustomed to searching for "safe" places to meet the organization was, by virtue of the changed social and legal climate in Alabama, able to meet publically without incident.

The attendance at the meeting was considerably above expectations. It ranged from 300 in the morning to approximately 500 in the afternoon. The morning session featured reports from treasurer on the current status on the membership and fund drive (doing well) and reports from the individual chapters in the state. The state goal is to double the membership. Tuscaloosa is doing its part; we would like to do even better.

Mr. Albert Ulmer, an intern in the Field Services Department of the Southern Regional Council in Atlanta, described the activities in other councils in the southeast. He had a number of excellent suggestions for activities of our task forces. Some of these will be discussed at the next meeting (February 18th).

Mr. Hayes Mizell, Director of the Southern Human Relations Project of the National Students Association, discussed his progress in setting up human relation councils on college campuses. He plans to visit Tuscaloosa soon.

Mr. Nat Welch of Auburn, former Treasurer, was elected President of the Alabama Human Relations Council. Dr. Lucius Pitts, out-going President, is now First Vice-President.

Mr. Ed Stanfield, whom many of us met at the January meeting, did an excellent job in planning the annual meeting, and performed feats of wizardry in obtaining our outstanding speaker.

THE LION TURNS

At a meeting of the Tuscaloosa Council shortly after the period of racial disturbances in Birmingham, Dr. Lucius Pitts described racism as a "lion in the streets" and a discussion followed of ways to control the "lion". One of the listeners asked if the newspapers in Birmingham could not help control the lion and Dr. Pitts replied, "Those are the lion-est newspapers I ever saw." The following editorial from the Birmingham News, Monday, February 1st, 1965, may suggest that the newspapers are ready to help.

COLLINS VISIT

Governor LeRoy Collins, director of the Community Relations Service, has paid Birmingham a visit. While here he made an address to a human relations group and had a meeting with several Birmingham business and professional men, this arranged through the mayor's office. The session was held at the Chamber of Commerce building.

While here, Governor Collins, former Florida chief executive and president of the National Association of Broadcasters, spoke in simple terms about some facts of the Civil Rights Act, and about the challenge before all people to live in justice and under law.

It was a speech written from deep feelings on the subject of relations each of us with the others. All who might wish a copy can get it from the Community Relations Service, Department of Commerce, Washington. Though several hundred were present for the address, more might profitably know what is in it, in detail.

The governor is a native Southerner, understands the region and its people and indeed is one of them. We are glad to know a number of Birmingham people have had the opportunity to see and hear him firsthand. It can be of continuing value that this has been so.

ATTENTION TASK FORCES

At the January meeting a group of task forces were organized to study major problem areas in the community. These task forces have shown signs of considerable activity during the last three weeks, and we shall devote most of the February 18th meeting to discussing their recommendations. Each task force will report on its meetings and we shall discuss the actions recommended to the membership.

REPORT FROM TASK FORCE I: EDUCATION

The school board of Tuscaloosa is presently considering the Federal Intent to Comply forms they have been asked to sign. These forms indicate that the school board will obey the laws of the land in administering the schools. Essentially this means a desegregation of school facilities. If these forms are not signed, the Tuscaloosa schools will lose all their present federal support which amounts to several hundred thousand dollars a year.

There is reason to believe that the school boards will sign these forms. But they have not done so yet. They need your encouragement and support. A personal letter from you to any or all of the men listed below would be a tremendous factor in their decision. Do not underestimate the influence of personal letters. The Human Relations Committee is asking 100 people to write letters.

Your letter or letters should be addressed to:

Mr. Harry H. Fritchett
520 Queen City Avenue
Tuscaloosa, Alabama

In your letter, you might make the following points:

(1) You support signing the Federal Intent to Comply forms because our schools cannot afford to lose federal support.

(2) These men can count on you to support their signing of the forms.

(3) You appreciate the work and effort of the school board and of the school superintendents.

(4) You will continue to support all efforts by the school board and the superintendents to improve the educational facilities for all the children of Tuscaloosa.

Please write now. The deadline for signing these forms is March 1.

CALLING ALL EXPATRIATES

Do you know any distinguished (or just successful) Alabamians living outside of Alabama? Mr. Nat Welch, President of the Alabama Council on Human Relations would like to have their names. He plans to write to them to aquaint them with the progress which is being made in human relations in Alabama and to request their support of the activities of ACHR. If you think of some such people (surely you know one!) drop a line to Mr. Nat Welch, Box 1192, Auburn, Alabama.

VOLUNTEER NEEDED

Mr. Ed Stanfield needs volunteers to provide a clipping service for the Human Relations Council. Since newspapers reflect the attitudes and directions of their communities, it is important that the Executive Director be in close touch with news items, letters and editorials relating to racial relations. If you are an inveterate cover to cover newspaper reader please volunteer your services at the February 18th meeting.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

It is our impression that community feeling is markedly improved in Tuscaloosa. In recent weeks people have come to believe that Tuscaloosa will be more mature than some of its sister cities around the state. Individuals in responsible positions in Tuscaloosa do not want to see this community receive the nationwide notoriety that other communities have received. It is our feeling that most Tuscaloosans would rather that we be viewed as a mature city where people can reasonably negotiate with each other. For this reason, the time appears ripe for groups to present the issues to the community and through various means, appeal to the community to behave in an acceptable manner although we may face some periods of emotional stress. We hear much about the danger of "moving too quickly" but we must consider the danger of moving too slowly or not at all. It may be better at this time to take some decisive actions than to simply deliberate. People in Tuscaloosa seem ready to accept change at this time and are more open to reasonable negotiation.

MEMBERSHIP-FUNDING CAMPAIGN PROGRESS REPORT!

RESPONSE TO CAMPAIGN "OVERWHELMING"

"Overwhelming" is almost the right word! The big bottleneck in our membership-funding campaign has been the state office, which simply was not set up to handle the unexpectedly large response to the drive. (Maybe we are like the old lady who prayed for rain, but carried no umbrella.) At any rate, we found an efficient, full-time secretary, Mrs. Lili L. Rogers, who started work on February 22, so here--a bit belatedly--is a report on the results of our campaign to date:

> 302 single memberships, 227 joint memberships, and 29 student memberships give us a total of 785 members. (This compares with a total 1964 membership of 336.) On the financial side, a total of $16,052 in cash and pledges has been raised. Of this amount, only $1832 came from outside Alabama. (Our annual grant-in-aid from the Southern Regional Council is not included, of course.)

EAST ALABAMA SETS THE PACE, BIRMINGHAM STRONG SECOND

Under the vigorous leadership of Jerry Roden, Lois Reeves, Rev. J. C. Wilson, and Nat Welch, the East Alabama Council had the most successful drive. They were given a goal of 150 members and $1,500. They set for themselves a goal of 200 members. To date, they have exactly 300 members and have raised a total of $3,468! How's that for quota-bursting?

Birmingham was a strong second. They have 140 members and a total of $3,439 raised. Their goal was 150 members and $1500.

TUSCALOOSA COMES ON STRONG

Because the Tuscaloosa Chapter had been "in the doldrums" for a couple of years, they were given a quota of only 75 members and $750. They now have 103 members (all but nine of them dues-paid), and raised $1079 ($789 of it in cash)! A lot of credit goes to Dr. Ray Fowler, temporary chairman of the group. But, as with East Alabama and Birmingham, the secret was good organization--plus enthusiasm.

OTHER CHAPTERS WEAK ON MEMBERSHIP

The other chapters did well raising money, but "poor to middlin'" at enlisting people. Here are the figures:

Huntsville: 28 members, $1,569.
Mobile: 59 members, $1,196.
Montgomery: 48 members, $1,176.
Muscle Shoals: 42 members, $1,142
Talladega: 24 members, $622.

Each chapter reached or exceeded the figure listed in the campaign plan as "Financial Goal (over-and-above membership fees)." But some chapters, if you should subtract the amount of the membership fees not obtained, would be short of their financial goal.

We have done well. But we should not consider the job completed--especially on membership. We cannot rest on our laurels. In most cases, it is a matter of finding the people who "are with you but just never have joined"--and signing them up!

ANNUAL MEETING A SUCCESS

Two-hundred fifty-one (251) members and friends of ACHR attended the luncheon at the annual meeting in the Dinkler-Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham on January 30. Only 210 meals had been ordered, and some of our old-timers surrendered their places to guest, and dined in the coffee shop.

After the luncheon, more than 400 heard the featured address by LeRoy Collins, Director of the Community Relations Service, U. S. Department of Commerce. Collins was interrupted fourteen (14) times by applause, and the audience gave him a standing ovation at the conclusion of his speech.

Mr. Nat Welch, Auburn, was elected President of the Alabama Council. Mr. Welch, a native of Selma, is the President's Representative to the Southern States Nuclear Board. He is one of twelve Alabama members of the National Citizens Committee of the Community Relations Service. For many years, he has served outstandingly as Treasurer of the Alabama Council on Human Relations. He is also a member of the Board of Directors of the Southern Regional Council.

Other officers elected were: Vice Presidents, Dr. Lucius Pitts, Rev. J. C. Wilson, and Father Brice Joyce; Secretary, Mrs. Lois Reeves; and Treasurer, Mrs. Moreland Smith.

Other speakers were: Mr. Hayes Mizell, Director of the Southern Human Relations Project of the National Student Association; and Mr. Albert Ulmer, Eleanor Roosevelt Intern with the Southern Regional Council. Mizell talked about plans for an Alabama Inter-collegiate Council on Human Relations. Ulmer outlined a number of projects being carried out by local councils in other states. (We shall go into more detail about both of these matters in another bulletin, to be issued soon.)

EXCERPTS FROM COLLINS' ADDRESS

. . . . As I am sure you are aware, there is hardly anything more useless, and sometimes even harmful, than a human relations group, or a community relations agency, which is off on the wrong foot or which--to be blunt about it--is no more than a sham.

To succeed, a community relations group must represent the entire population and thus merit the confidence and support of all groups in that community. Otherwise, it becomes either an ineffectual pleader for a worthy cause, or an all-too-effective defender of the status quo. A community is better off with no agency than with one of this type.

A human relations committee's aims must be to bring about change--peaceful, constructive and lawful change, but change nonetheless.

. . . . Somewhere along the line as I was growing up in the small southern town of Tallahassee some people who took an interest in me as a little boy--my parents, teachers, a lot of people--somehow instilled in me a strong feeling that, to state it in its simplest terms, the right thing to do was to do the "right" thing.

. . . . Now there is nothing so special about this. Most southerners are brought up this way, just as are most Americans everywhere I suppose.

. . . . Yet, I am the first to admit that over the span of my life I have been quite inconsistent in positions I have taken, both public and private, concerning civil rights and the place of the place of the Negro in our American society.

. . . . I admit that I have looked at segregation through the eyes of a man who was raised from a boy on the privileged side of a racially segregated social system. In the past I have even rationalized that Negroes actually preferred it that way. And I have embraced other comforting justifications which the segregated society has held out to salve the consciences of its worried white participants.

I am not ashamed to admit that my thinking has changed over the years as I have been able to see this question more from the other man's point of view.

. . . . But with all the change I tried to remain steadfast in my determination to do what was "right." I keep emphasizing this because I know there have always been many, many others who have felt exactly the same way.

PICTURES FROM ANNUAL MEETING

UPPER RIGHT: LEROY COLLINS, THE FEATURES SPEAKER.

RIGHT: GOVERNOR COLLINS PAUSES FOR A CHAT WITH PRESIDENT PITTS AND OTHER MEMBERS OF ACHR.

BELOW: PART OF THE CROWD OF 250 WHO ATTENDED THE LUNCHEON IN THE BALLROOM.

This is the point I want to get across to my fellow southern whites:

No one is asking us to abandon our moral values, to give up principles of "right" and "wrong" which we and our families and our neighbors have cherished for generations.

What is being asked of all of us as Americans these days concerning civil rights is to be faithful to our obligation continually to renew our assessment of what is "right"--to look about us and ask, in quiet and personal candor, is it really "right" that some people in our land should be treated as belonging to a separate caste, and relegated to second-class status, because of their appearance, or who their parents were, or where they came from? Can the denial to millions of our citizens of their right to be judged on merit alone be reconciled with our American ideals?

. . . . To many white southerners, it is still not wrong for white persons to occupy superior positions in our society solely because of their color, and to use this advantage to the disadvantage of the Negro in many, many ways.

And yet, when you come right down to it, for the Negro the differences between the ordinary manifestations of this attitude and brutality must really seem one of degree only.

For to be relegated to a second-class school, to find only second-rate jobs available, to be restricted to a slum or a second-class neighborhoos, to be excluded from so very much of the main current of the life of your community and nation, to be reminded in countless big and little ways every waking hour that one is considered "inferior"--in short, to be a Negro in such a society--must really be like being lynched a little bit over and over again every day of a lifetime.

And this is just what segregation and discrimination do to these fellow Americans of ours who happen to be Negroes. And I come back to my basic contention that this simply is not "right."

Our problem here in the South, I think, has not been that we have lacked a proper commitment to do what is "right," or not to do what is "wrong," as much as it has been that we have failed to see how the realities of being a Negro in a racially segregated society relate to "right" and "wrong."

. . . . Finally, I made my last payment. I never will forget it. I got my deed, took it to the courthouse and had it recorded.

And then I went back out there to my real estate. I never have had such a feeling of exhilaration in all my life. I sat down, right in the middle of that lot, and I got my hands down as deep in the dirt as I could dig them. And with tears streaming down my face, I cried in great joy, "It's mine! It's mine!"

Friends, we have many millions of Americans in this country who have been paying and paying on the installment plan to achieve the full rights of American citizenship, and I say it is time for them to get their deed.

Before I was introduced you were singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Let us all help Americans to get their deed to full participation in American citizenship.

Then can everyone feel "it's mine!"

Then can all sing:

"Glory, glory hallelujah . . .
His truth is marching on."

*(Mr. Collins related how, as a boy in Florida, he "accidently" found himself top bidder on two plots of ground sold at auction. Over a period of months, he paid on his mortgage.)

LOCAL COUNCIL PROJECT IDEAS

For more reasons than one, it is practically impossible for an "outsider" to tell a local human relations council exactly what they should do and how they should do it. The most important of such reasons is the fact that local folks are more apt than anyone else to know the ins and outs, the needs and problems, the resources and opportunities of their community.

But right now, three areas of concern stand out as needing some earnest attention in every community in Alabama.

First, there is education. In Alabama's public schools, there are 549,543 white students, 293,476 Negro students. Of 118 school districts, only 8 are desegregated. Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act provides a lot of leverage for desegregation. But even where there is technical desegregation, there is little of it in fact. Only 94 Negro students are in formerly all-white schools in all of Alabama.

Second, there is employment. On July 2, the section of the Civil Rights Act having to do with equal employment opportunity goes into effect. Ultimately every company employing as many as 25 people will come under the provisions of this law. It is important that preparation be made to take advantage of this opportunity.

And then, of course, there is voter education. It now appears that new Federal legislation will soon be passed to pave the way for all citizens to vote. But having a right to vote is one thing, exercising it is often something else, and exercising it well may be still a third.

Accordingly, listed below are "pump-primer ideas" for local council projects in each of these three areas of concern. These are adapted from a list prepared by Albert Ulmer of Southern Regional Council. Al gave us some of these ideas at our annual meeting. We hope that some of them will fire your imagination--and that you will fire your local council with enthusiasm!

EDUCATION

Tutorials

As the name suggests, a tutorial project involves arranging for volunteers who have competence in some academic field, such as math or English, to give regular coaching to one or two students who need it in that field. The student may be planning to enter college next year or he may simply be having difficulty with his school work. The basic purpose is to help students overcome an educational disadvantage, whatever the cause.

A tutorial is not a one-way street, however. Both tutor and tutee gain a better awareness of their community, history, culture, and opportunities.

A tutorial project requires very careful planning. There are some pitfalls you would want to avoid. Be sure to get as much information as you can. An excellent handbook may be obtained from Southern Student Human Relations Project, Room 701, 41 Exchange Place, Atlanta, Georgia 30303. (Continued on Page 2)

Extra academic classes

These differ from tutorials in that a special course is offered to 15-20 students. This project requires a qualified teacher in a subject specialty. Classes may be offered one or two nights per week.

Pre-school nursery

This one is a big undertaking. Ordinarily a nursery school would be a half-day program. Not a kindergarten, it need not operate five days a week, but should operate three days per week. It can be staffed with volunteers, provided they are tops, but a professional director is desirable. (You could charge a modest tuition, then ask business men and various groups to provide "scholarships.") Someone may have a suitable basement room, or a church might make an arrangement with the council. (Note: Under some circumstances, government funds are available for such a program--but the program should be started and going strong before you think about this possibility.)

A supervised study hall

This is the easiest of all academic aids to operate. Its purpose is to provide a comfortable, well-lighted place to study for students whose homes may be crowded or noisy. In addition to the place, the council would need to provide volunteer supervisors. They would need to know or learn a little about good study habits.

Field trips

Often school pupils have surprisingly little acquaintance with facilities of great educational value within their own city or nearby. Trips to local points of interest--museums, libraries, the court house, the capitol--can be arranged, using rented buses or cars. Perhaps arrangements can be made for a brief meeting with certain officials.

A cultural enrichment program

Our East Alabama Council (Auburn-Tuskegee) has such a program operating under the leadership of Mrs. Grace Hooks. People who have some talent, or a portable phonograph and suitable records, or a worthwhile hobby are enlisted to "perform" for school children and church groups. One group of council members are getting a short play together. This program is helpful particularly--but not only--in rural areas. Its purpose, of course, is to help close the "culture-gap" of disadvantaged children.

A survey of local educational facilities

Gather and bring to light information on textbooks (Are they up-to-date? Do they have an obvious bias?), library materials and facilities, school buildings and equipment, the size of classes, etc. Plans should be made to report the facts obtained to school administrators, PTA groups, etc. A comparison of white and Negro schools might be interesting.

Recruiting

This project is especially needed at this time and in Alabama. Be sure that the appropriate committee of your council is keeping up with the provisions of your district's desegregation plan (which it must have to receive federal funds). Find out why Negro students do not transfer to formerly all-white schools, if they do not. (Fear of physical or economic reprisal? Fear of academic competition?) Encourage transfers and provide friendly support. For further information on school desegregation procedures, write to Miss Constance Curry, American Friends Service Committee, Room 502, 41 Exchange Place, S. E., Atlanta, Georgia 30303.

E M P L O Y M E N T

Surveys

Find out which businesses in your community have government contracts or are sub-contractors for government contractors. Or conduct a survey to find out which businesses cater largely to Negroes. Then, inquire as to how many Negroes they hire and at what levels. (Continued on Page 3)

Employment readiness program

This is a "crash" program aimed at preparing individuals for job applications and interviews. Such a program would require careful thought and planning. Don't undertake it unless you mean business! But as July 2 approaches, its potential benefits are so great that we want to go into some detail about it.

People are sometimes thought to be apathetic when they are really only suffering from disappointment and hopelessness. Frequently these individuals are skilled, personable men and women whose failure in job application can be traced to two sources: testing and personal interviews.

Following is an outline for an eight-session course. It can be adapted to meet varied needs. You would need to make imaginative use of the resource-persons available in your community.

SESSION ONE: OPPORTUNITIES. New opportunities are rapidly becoming available for victims of poverty and for members of the minority group. This is especially true for young high school graduates. This first class can be used to point out academic and employment opportunities in the area.

SESSION TWO: PERSONAL APPEARANCE. This session would concern itself with the minimum requirements for the all-important job interview. Proper dress, general physical appearance, eye contact, alertness, and speech could be dealt with.

SESSIONS THREE AND FOUR: TESTING. Many persons applying for jobs have never endured a testing situation before. They may be unfamiliar in following written instructions and unused to thinking in a timed situation. These two classes would provide instruction on test-taking and actual practice in taking sample tests.

SESSION FIVE: INTERVIEWS. Local businessmen and personnel managers could be asked to give "practice" interviews under as nearly actual conditions as possible. Interviews could be tape-recorded and played back later.

SESSION SIX: REVIEW. This session is for review and concentrated work on areas needing more attention.

SESSIONS SEVEN AND EIGHT: TRIAL RUNS. Trainees could actually select a job possibility and go through a complete trial run. This will probably take two sessions, depending upon the number of persons involved. Dress, attitude, speech, testing, and interview should be evaluated at this time and general ratings given.

VOTER EDUCATION

Registration effort

When the new federal voting law is passed, there will still be need for a continuing effort to get every potential voter registered. Committees responsible for specific geographical sections can report monthly progress. Follow-up phone calls and house calls before local elections are needed.

Voter education

Your council might provide a one-session course on the use of a voting machine and other basic mechanical techniques.

Much better would be a course on citizenship, two hours per night, one night a week, taught by a political science instructor from the nearest college. Sessions might go somewhat as follows: (1) Short history of the development of the Constitution in our American Democracy. (2) The Bill of Rights and rights of each citizen. (3) Federal government, executive branch. (4) Federal government, legislative branch. (5) and (6) The state government. (7) County government. (The probate judge or chairman of the county commission might be asked to be guest lecturer.) (8) City government. (The mayor or a councilman might be guest speaker.)

TUSCALOOSA COUNCIL MAKES NEW START

We have mentioned before the "revival" of the Tuscaloosa Council on Human Relations. In less than three months, the Tuscaloosa Council has changed from a rather disorganized handful of members to a working organization of well over 100 members! It is such an interesting story that we want to tell you more about it.

In December, when plans for our membership-funding drive went out, Dr. Ray Fowler, who was temporary chairman for the group (they had no regular organization, executive committee, etc.), convened a nucleus of workers and they began calling on people they thought would be interested. At their "Challenge Meeting" on January 21, about 50 people were present--the largest attendance in the memory of those present.

Nothing was planned for this meeting except the speeches and the offering of an opportunity to join and make contributions to the work of ACHR. Organization would come later. But the folks there were in a different mood. After the speeches, they started talking about the things that concerned them--not even token desegregation of the public schools, the absence of a surplus food program in Tuscaloosa, lack of Negroes on the police force and in other city jobs, hospital desegregation, etc.

Finally, someone suggested that sheets of paper be prepared, each with a "task force" name--such as "Education" or "Federal Programs"--written at the top. Then those present could sign up to work on one or more of the "task force," according to their interests. Thus, the task forces or committees set up simply represented each of the concerns that had been expressed that evening. Here were the task forces they came up with:

|---|---|---|
| Federal Programs | Law Enforcement | Surplus Food |
| Education | Health | Newsletter |
| Voter Registration | Employment Opportunities | |

At the next meeting, on February 18, there were about 70 people present. There was an informative program featuring a review of Charles Silberman's book, Crisis in Black and White. Mrs. Esther LaMarr of the USVA, who is investigating employment practices at federal installations, also spoke briefly. Then there were reports from the various "task forces." The task force on education asked members to encourage the school board to comply with Title VI and sign the required compliance forms. (We note that Tuscaloosa city and county were among the first school systems to sign the forms required by The Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Who knows? Maybe the letters and phone calls helped.) The group concentrating on employment outlined plans for a skill bank. Another possibility is tutoring for those who have failed civil service examinations.

At the March meeting, about 55 people were present to hear a speech by local attorney Charles Wilson on urban redevelopment needs and plans in Tuscaloosa. Among other things, he urged support for a stringent building code. Again, there were progress reports from the task forces.

It remains to be seen, of course, just how effective the Tuscaloosa Council will be. But we think they are off to a good start and provide us all with a worthy example of sensible organization and an orderly approach to a community human relations problems.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

The secret is organization.

Improved organization is a must for all of our local councils. Despite the shocking actions of desperate men now being reported in our newspapers, we are convinced that a new day is fast approaching for Alabama and the Alabama Council on Human Relations. The question is, Can we "change gears"? We have been accustomed to operating as a very small, very beleaguered group of dissenters from the prevailing opinions and customs. We were too busy defending to be creative. We were fighting for opportunities, and had no time or need to organize for anything but struggle. There was little use talking about organization: frequently you wouldn't have had more than one or two good-sized committees in the whole council! We don't say times have changed. But we do say times are changing. And one thing that change brings to us is the necessity of more effective organization.

Over the years, we have fallen--perhaps of necessity--into the committee-of-the-whole method of operation. That is, we go to our monthly meetings, somebody brings up a human relations problem, and the whole group proceeds to try to hammer out a way of approaching it. As we said, this was not so very bad when the whole group made one good committee--of people who knew each other very well!

But when there are 40 or 50 people at a meeting, things get chaotic unless a committee has wrestled with the problem, ferreted out the facts, studied and argued about it, and come up with a clear recommendation for the approval or rejection of the whole group. For one thing, such meetings are usually ineffective: the matter will likely have to be referred to an ad hoc committee anyway--because some information will be needed before a decision is reached. For another thing, such meetings are apt to be boring for the majority there, since only the most interested and knowledgeable can participate actively. (If it is exciting, it usually is so in an undesirable way!) In the third place, things can get downright embarrassing if there is no way to say things that have to be said except to say them in public.

On the other hand, consider the benefits of good organization. (1) It distributes the satisfaction of accomplishment--and the blame for failure. We have seen too many overworked, harassed local council presidents! (2) It provides an outlet for the urge of every member to be doing something useful to improve human relations. If every new member can be immediately assigned, on the basis of his interests, to a needed committee that is meeting and reporting regularly, his talents and energy are used most constructively. (3) An ongoing responsibility helps concentration. One person can look for and spot materials and ideas on housing, for example, but he can't be an expert on everything. (4) Effective organization makes it possible for the state office and local members to channel information to the right person--instead of swamping the president or secretary with everything. (5) It is a means of "indirect recruiting." A lot of people who see no need for joining the human relations council will be quite willing to help instruct a voter education class or to give a trial job interview or to help conduct a survey by the education committee.

The genius of a human relations council is the utilization of the human resources available in a given community--the peculiar interests, talents, and energies of whatever people happen to be concerned about human relations--to meet the peculiar needs of that community. The kind of things that we shall need to be doing more and more are not such as can be accomplished by sudden inspiration and spontaneous leadership. They will require careful planning and steady, continual work. And that means careful organization.

We hope that the suggestions for organization and program contained in this issue of the Bulletin will encourage local officers to review their organizational structure and to look closely at the corporate habits of their group. And, we hope they will help make "ordinary" members aware of the need and receptive to organizational efforts and requests for help from the officers.

THE FEBRUARY 18th MEETING

The second meeting of the Tuscaloosa Council on Human Relations was exceptionally well attended. Some 70-75 people were present, some for the first time. Also, during this meeting, Mrs. Esther LaMarr attended as a visitor, representing the Equal Opportunities Program of the Federal Government. Mrs. LaMarr was in Tuscaloosa investigating equal employment opportunities, especially in federal installations. She responded quite favorably to what was going on in Tuscaloosa and reported to the Council that for the most part Tuscaloosa was making some progress in terms of equitable employment.

During the meeting each of the several task forces reported. Task Force I, Education, reported about the Federal Compliance Form that the local school system has to sign in order to get federal subsidy. The members of the TCHR were asked to write to members of the Board of Education urging their signing. Additionally, they were asked to assure the members of the Board of Education that they would have their support if they signed. It was also requested that the members who did write to the Board state that they would continue to support improved educational facilities for all children within this school system. The committee reported that there were University students who were willing to spend time with high school students who wanted to go to college and would give them some time each week for tutoring. This is a meaningful program and should be expanded. Emphasis was placed upon preparing students for integration within the total community at the elementary, high school, university, and trade school levels.

Task Force Number II, which had been involved with a study of the Surplus Food programs, report that there was very little hope for reviving this program. It was felt that this was unfortunate since within our community there were many people of both races who could profit from this program.

Task Force III, interested in the study of Federal Programs available to communities, had no report.

Task Force IV, which was studying Employment Opportunities, reported that they were considering establishing an index where they could record potential employees for known and available jobs in the community. Particular skills and training would be sought out and a detailed catalogue of these people would be established so that when a position was available a candidate could be found. Test batteries that have been administered to these people would need to be available to make sure that a person was a candidate for a particular position. Essentially this is an attempt to coordinate available employees with available positions. It was commented that tutoring might be made available to people who have failed Civil Service Exams. Since the federal government has displayed its leadership in the attainment of equal opportunities through executive order on several occasions, it is believed that this would be a good avenue to begin seeking a more balanced employment picture in Tuscaloosa. It was felt that we need to know the details of the Civil Service Procedure for evaluating discrimination in federal agencies. Our visitor, Mrs. LaMarr, indicated that the President's committee on Equal Employment Opportunities could help but that the most adequate procedure was dealing directly with the central office of the agency involved.

Task Force V, interested in the study of Health Programs within Tuscaloosa, reported principally about mental health programs. They felt that discrimination was occuring in some of these programs although it was very difficult to determine at what level. Their report was principally focused on their plans for the future in terms of investigating discriminatory practices. It was their intention to meet with representatives of each of these agencies to discuss their findings after considerable study and careful weighing of their data.

Task Force VI, the task force interested in Law Enforcement activities, was organized at the meeting. A number of people joined, and the group will have an initial meeting this week.

Task Force VII, the Newsletter task force, requested additional help for the Newsletter. It is felt that we need people to bring in information and a request was made for people who receive literature that is not widely circulated in Tuscaloosa to cut out or duplicate a part of these materials and forward it to the Newsletter staff. Requests were made for local reporters. Another request was made for people to start a clipping service from the local Tuscaloosa paper to forward to the State Human Relationships Council who have little opportunity to survey the local newspapers.

REMINDER!

ALL TASK FORCES ARE EXPECTED TO REPORT AT THE NEXT MEETING (MARCH 18). If you have not met at least once since the last monthly meeting, please call a meeting as soon as possible. Two meetings are highly desirable. Leaders: If you cannot be present at the March 18th meeting be sure to designate someone to present your report.

LOCAL SCHOOL SYSTEM SIGNS COMPLIANCE FORMS

It is felt that in signing the Federal Compliance Forms, the Tuscaloosa school system made a big step forward to insure reasonable progress in integration of local schools. We are pleased and proud that Tuscaloosa signed. It is felt that the members of our organization should contact the local Board and approve of their action and assure them their continued support. It is felt that communities who did not sign these compliance forms made a tragic mistake in that funds may not be available to them for future expansion of schools, purchases of educational materials, and certainly would handicap the federal school lunch programs. While it may be resented by many, there is no doubt that the federal government is deeply involved and invested in community school systems and will continue to be. For this reason, compliance is mandatory.

NEXT MEETING

Please note that the next meeting is at 7:30 on Thursday, March 18, 1965, at the Alabama Power Company auditorium. (How about that!) As was requested last meeting, please bring all friends and interested parties to these meetings. Actually there is no need to bring only people who think as we do, but we should begin to think about involving people from within the community who do not think exactly like the members of this Council. If this Council is to serve the purpose of sharing views, then it seems wise to exchange views with other people in the community.

The focus of our March meeting will be on housing. Instead of a book review, we have a speaker on the topic of urban revewal and slum clearance, and we will encourage open discussion on the problems associated with housing in Tuscaloosa.

For what it's worth, this Newsletter is firmly opposed to the investigation of the Klan by the House Un-American Activities Committee. As a matter of fact, we do not believe this Un-American Committee should investigate anyone. We are not impressed or moved by the sudden willingness of HUAC to investigate our neighbors in the Alston Building. We are not of the opinion that leopards cannot change their spots—maybe they can, but if you were chosing a reliable protector, would you choose a leopard?

We believe that the HUAC invades the privacy and rights and self-respect of all of us when it appropriates the powers of the U. S. Congress to make a quasi-judicial investigation of any private organization. If an organization is dangerous, the Justice Department and the Federal Court system exists to indict, and to establish guilt or innocence. Even if no crime has been established, the Justice Department is vested with investigative powers. We submit that the HUAC is no investigative body. Rather, it is an agency designed to slander and discredit. The Klan long been discredited—and perhaps it thrives on discredit since it draws to itself a segment of the population with few feelings of self-worth.

If we applaud the improper use of congressional powers to discredit our enemies, can we complain when they are next used to discredit our friends?

ON THIN SKINS AND HARD HEADS

From time to time we hear complaints from our friends in the Council on Human Relations. These complaints are usually associated with hurt feelings — another Council member has said something in a tone or manner that offends our friend.

We are not unsympathetic with our friend. Most of us have sensitive spots and when they are prodded or stepped on, they hurt!

We would like to suggest two ways to deal with this problem.

First, we must communicate our sensitivities so that others can know where not to prod.

Second, we must all be alert to words, phrases and pronounciations which may hurt or embarass others.

White people who are trying to help may feel hurt and isolated when they find themselves classified indiscriminately as "Southern whites" or "so-called white liberals", or regarded as people who cannot understand since they are "outside".

Negros may sometimes resent the rejecting phrases such as "your people" and the various mispronounciations of Negro.

What we are calling for is some delay of judgement. Lets don't be too thin skinned when we are referred to in ways that make us uncomfortable. But lets also avoid being to hard headed and insensitive about the other fellows sore spots. We can avoid using those phrases which hurt, isolate or disparage.

We have enough problems with the people who are not with us. We must be careful not to alienate each other.

A DAY IN SELMA

Several white Tuscaloosans participated in the march by Concerned White Citizens in Selma on Saturday, March 6. One of the participants has described his experience and his feelings in the following report for the Newsletter.

Eleven Tuscaloosians drove in two cars to Selma on Saturday March 6, to participate in a "walk" by a group calling themselves "Concerned White Citizens of Alabama." We arrived at the Reformed Presbyterian Church about 11:00 and registered by city. Besides our group, there were people from Birmingham, Huntsville, Montgomery and Auburn; 70 persons in all.

The idea had originated in Birmingham, with Rev. Ellwanger as leader. We were deliberately demonstrating as an all-white group in order to emphasize our message to those who would dismiss out of hand any integrated demonstrations. Thus, our Negro hosts were much in the background at this point, as we waited nervously and talked and wondered what the afternoon would bring. Rev. Ellwanger called the group to order, made introductory explanations while a TV camera whirred, and announced that leaders and "marshals" would meet to make final plans while the rest of us ate the lunches we had brought. Around noon the plans were complete and the leaders emerged to inform us. We would walk in groups of four (that is, two and two) separated by 30 feet. Local officials had agreed that this would not constitute a "parade" (there had not been enough time to obtain a parade permit).

Once assembled in a long line on the sidewalk in front of the Dallas County Courthouse, we would be handed our signs and Rev. Ellwanger would read our statement through a hand megaphone. Meantime, our "leafleteers" would distribute their wares from the two neighboring corners. At all times our seven marshals (identified by a patch of yellow cloth pinned to their lapel) would direct the movement in the march and be on hand in case of crisis.

An SCLC field worker explained in great detail exactly how we would carry out our demonstration. His calm manner did much to prepare the nervous demonstrators for their task. The pace was now quickening. We read out loud the ten points of the "Non Violent Disciplines for Concerned White Citizens of Alabama", (1. Don't strike back or curse if abused. ...), sang two stanzas of "America" again and bowed our heads for a final blessing.

My wife and I were near the end of the column. After going several blocks, waiting for lights, etc., we approached the courthouse. With surprise we saw smoke coming from a car in the intersection. The crowd was shouting. What was happening? Our marshals appeared and guided us through the crowd (which elbowed us as we passed). We crossed the street, took up our position and were handed our signs. The courthouse steps were filled with sherrif's deputies. The crowd shouted and jeered. One fellow came walking along pointing at each of us and saying, "You're a communist". He was hustled off by a deputy. Rev. Ellwanger read our statement (sans megaphone, which had not been allowed). We sang all four stanzas of "America", trying to be heard above the crowd. Then as we turned to march back with our signs, a most wonderful thing happened. Just when we felt most alone, frightened and undignified, from across the street, many strong voices began "We Shall Overcome". . ."we are not alone". . ."hand in hand together.

Back in the church, with its congregation now sitting among us, we assessed our activity. Various members of our group spoke of incidents that had occured, the "burning" car, the harassments, the SNCC photographer being attacked. Several persons in the Movement spoke to us, including Rev. T. Y. Rogers, about the history of the demonstrations, and the turning point our own demonstration represented. For the first time we began to see the magnitude of the march. We had chosen to make our stand on ground hallowed by the courage of many Selma Negroes before us, and thus to give our testimony to be understood throughout the country that their struggle is our struggle, and that struggle is for a nation in which justice and opportunity would truly exist for all.

Our final business was to formalize our group, with leadership rested in the original Birmingham leadership, plus one person representing each city with members in our group. The leadership will evaluate the suggestions made by our members and plan future activities.

ACTIONS OF EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

At a meeting held at Miles College on March 27, the executive committee of ACHR took several important steps. Among them were the following:

1. Authorized the executive director to apply to the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials for an Eleanor Roosevelt Intern for a period of one year. "Eleanor Roosevelt Interns" are young men and women who have finished their college work and are interested in intergroup relations as a career field.

2. Approved the employment of Mrs. Lili L. Rogers as secretary in the office of the executive director.

3. Adopted a recommendation of the executive director that ACHR follow the policy of refunding to local councils $1.00 for each paid single membership and $1.50 for each paid joint membership. The purpose of this move is to provide local councils with some money for postage and other small needs without requiring officers and other individuals to bear this cost.

4. Adopted a recommendation "that the executive committee call the attention of all local councils to the provisions of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, and recommend strongly that securing compliance to its provisions be a major program activity throughout 1965, with particular attention to desegregation of schools and hospitals and the employment practices of federal agencies, contractors, and installations." (See article below.)

5. Strongly recommend that local councils appoint at least the following committees or their equivalents and send the names and addresses of the committee chairmen to the ACHR office: EDUCATION, HOUSING, FEDERAL PROGRAMS, VOTER REGISTRATION AND EDUCATION, EMPLOYMENT, HEALTH, MEMBERSHIP, AND FINANCE. The purpose of this action was to establish some interested and likely person in each chapter who would concentrate on one particular area of concern and, with the aid of the committee, recommend actions to the entire local group. Not the least of benefits of such a system is that the state office would then have someone in each chapter to whom some splendid materials could be sent without "swamping" the president or any other one person.

"ONE GREAT MONTH OF PROGRESS"

A.C.H.R. APPEALS TO STATE LEADERS

On Thursday, April 22, the executive committee released for publication a statement which called for "one great month of progress" in Alabama. The committee stated that they believed "the great majority of white citizens of Alabama are now ready to accept and facilitate change" (love "hopeth all things"!) and suggested simultaneous action by leaders in industry, business, labor, government, the churches, the professions, the press, and all civic groups, so that fair-minded people could speak and act for change in Alabama with some hope of mutual support.

By coincidence, the statement was in the process of preparation simultaneously with the statement released one week earlier by the Alabama Chamber of Commerce and its affiliates. It is hoped the momentum of this "movement for improvement" will increase.

The committee made the following specific recommendations:

(1) That within the next thirty days the appropriate executive officers at all levels of government--state, county, and municipal--take appropriate action to remind all law-enforcement officers that officers of the law are the impartial servants of all citizens under the law, that firm law enforcement is not incompatible with courtesy, and that abuse of any citizen will not be tolerated.

(2) That legislative and administrative leaders of the state take cognizance of the urgency of the current situation in Alabama and act within the next thirty days in response to those complaints about our voting laws and the administration thereof which may seem to them, on earnest consideration, to be justified.

(3) That within the next thirty days all city and county governments publicly commit themselves to definite plans to employ and/or upgrade minority-group citizens in law enforcement and other community services, and to appoint to official planning commissions, zoning commission, housing boards, and the like, Negro citizens accepted as leaders by the Negro communities.

(4) That within the next thirty days all church judicatories, ministerial associations, clergymen, and local church boards declare themselves anew, by endorsement of this resolution or a similar one, in support of those laws, governmental policies and social customs which affirm the worth of every person; and that they affirm or reaffirm that their houses of worship and church programs are open to all.

(5) That within the next thirty days businessmen, industrial leaders, and labor leaders take steps both jointly and severally to eliminate discrimination in employment in response to the spirit of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, mindful that Title VII takes effect on July 2, 1965.

(6) That within the next thirty days owners and managers of business establishments of the same category, such as department stores or bowling alleys, meet to arrange simultaneous changes of policy designed to remove discriminatory practices in employment and service.

(7) That within the next thirty days chambers of commerce, bar associations and other professional organizations, civic clubs, and women's groups endorse this or a similar resolution and, in order to facilitate inter-group communication, open their organizations to members of minority groups.

(8) That within the next thirty days biracial groups be formed, either as municipal commissions or voluntary associations, through which Negro and white citizens may work together as peers on community problems; and that such groups seek the guidance of the Community Relations Service, U. S. Department of Commerce.

(9) That within the next thirty days all communications media begin or continue to facilitate orderly transition in Alabama by means of constructive editorials and thoughtful review and correction of any prejudicial policies.

The committee's statement concluded, "Our concern is for better human relations. The Alabama Council on Human Relations seeks for all persons that human understanding and sympathy without which any life is blighted indeed, and which lie beyond all that good laws can require. Convinced that Alabama is shortly to be compelled to go the mile of justice under the law, our concern prompts us to offer so ambitious a program and to ask of our fellow citizens thoughtful consideration of it. Let us go the second mile."

ANOTHER GOOD LOCAL COUNCIL PROJECT IDEA

Start a "Human Relations Library." Many people have not had opportunity to read the excellent books available. They are often expensive. With the help of someone who knows a little about libraries, start collecting books in the field. Some members might wish to buy one or more as a memorial for a relative or friend. Books could be displayed at one monthly meeting and loaned until the next. You might consider a small fee, perhaps 50¢ for the month, to help buy new books. Occasionally you might wish to give a book award to an outstanding contributor to local human relations; this would enable you to invite prominent progressive citizens to your meetings and get them to come.

IMPORTANT: TITLE VI

Yes, indeed, money talks! And from now on it is going to have a lot to say to agencies and institutions which want to use public funds but are not inclined to serve all of the public alike.

You have probably begun to hear a lot about "Title VI" recently. You will hear a lot more. The reference is to Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. It went into effect on January 3, 1965. It is a powerful weapon in the struggle against the system of segregation. As you have noted, the ACHR executive committee has urged local councils to concentrate on securing compliance to Title VI throughout this year.

Mr. James M. Quigley, assistant secretary of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, told attendants at a conference on Title VI in Atlanta on April 14, that it means "the elimination of discrimination in all federally assisted programs." He added: "That's it. It's flat out and it's all-inclusive. You cannot interpret it any other way, and you're wasting your time if you try."

The federal government means business on the provisions of Title VI. President Johnson has said, "As far as the writ of Federal law will run, we must abolish not some but all racial discrimination . . . All members of the public should be equally eligible for Federal benefits financed by the public."

WHAT IS TITLE VI?

Briefly, Title VI says that no one may be denied participation or be subjected to discrimination while participating in any program which receives federal money or other federal assistance. If any recipient of federal funds or assistance is found to be discriminating on the basis of race, color, or national origin, the funds will be cut off unless the practice is changed. And no funds for new programs will be provided unless non-discriminatory use is guaranteed. One hundred ninety federal programs are covered by the provisions of Title VI.

Libraries receiving Federal aid may not refuse to allow Negroes to use the facilities or subject them to segregation or discrimination while using them. Schools built and operated with Federal aid may not discriminate in the admission or treatment of students. Hospitals constructed with Federal funds may not refuse to admit patients because of race; neither may they discriminate in placing them after admission; neither may they refuse to allow Negro physicians to practice there. Vocational training programs established with Federal funds must be available to all students. Employment offices financed wholly or partly by Federal funds may not discriminate in referring job applicants to available openings. Dormitories may not be built with Federal grants if the receiving college has a discriminatory admission policy. Employers receiving business loans from the Federal Government, if the loan is designed to increase employment opportunities, may not discriminate in their hiring practices.

These are only a few examples. They give us a general idea of the provisions and purpose of the law. Fuller information has been sent to the president of your local council and to members of the ACHR Board of Directors.

WHAT TO DO ABOUT NONCOMPLIANCE

Detailed information on how to secure compliance with the law has been sent to your local council president in the form of a booklet titled "The Federal Dollar and Nondiscrimination." It tells what programs are covered, how to conduct a survey in a community, who to write to about violations, etc. Copies may be obtained from our office or from the publisher, The Potomac Institute, Inc., 1501 Eighteenth Street, N. W., Washington, D. C.

Exact procedures for complaints vary from department to department of the Federal Government. It is obvious that complaints must be soundly based and reflect a legitimate and well-documented case. The most useful complaints are those that establish a pattern of discrimination. In preparing a complaint, remember the following points:

1. The complaint must be in written form. This could be a simple telling of the act or pattern of discrimination: what happened, when, where, by whom, and to whom. The complaint should be signed, of course, (Names of complainants will be kept confidential to the extent possible. The Civil Rights Commission says, "No recipient or other person may intimidate, threaten, coerce, or discriminate against any individual because he has made a complaint, testified, or assisted in a Title VI investigation, proceeding or hearing.")

2. The complaint may be submitted not only by the person who feels he has been discriminated against, but also by someone who knows about the discrimination, or someone (including an organization) who is an authorized representative of either.

3. The complaint must be filed not later than 90 days after the act of discrimination occurred, unless the time is extended.

4. As the most direct, and likely most effective approach, it is suggested that the complaint be sent to the chief officer of the federal department or agency administering the particular program--the Secretary of Agriculture, the Administrator of Veterans Affairs, etc. In most cases, you would write to the Secretary of (Agriculture; Commerce; Defense; Health, Education and Welfare; Interior; Labor; State; Treasury) Washington, D. C. Exceptions, as well as a list of what-program-comes-under-what-Secretary, are in the booklet mentioned above.

You will probably wish to send a copy of the complaint to the local or state official in charge of the program. It is also recommended that a copy of each complaint be sent to the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, which will follow through with inquiries about its progress.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU FILE A COMPLAINT?

An investigation of the complaint is conducted ("promptly," says the regulation) by the concerned federal agency. If it fails to substantiate the complaint, the complainant must be notified in writing. If it substantiates the complaint, efforts are made informally to end the discrimination. If that fails, there is a process (rather lengthy) of hearings and appeal which will finally end either in proof that the complaint is not well-founded, in cessation of the discriminatory practice, or in a cut-off of Federal funds.

The complaint procedure was established to enable private citizens and organizations to start this administrative process of enforcement. In many cases, perhaps most, it will not get started until a private citizen or group files a complaint. This local initiative is very important. The government will welcome your cooperation.

HOW NEGRO TOWN IN ALABAMA FIGHTS POVERTY

Here is the story of Hobson City, Alabama – a town caught up in poverty – and how the Urban League is helping the citizens of that community to lift themselves out of despair. Hobson City is one of ninety-seven communities in which the Urban League is giving professional guidance and direction in attacking the massive problems of poverty. The National Urban League is grateful to the editors of JET for permission to reprint this article.

The Urban League's goal is to eliminate racial segregation and discrimination in American life; and to give guidance and help to Negroes and other similarly disadvantaged groups so that they may share equally the responsibilities and rewards of citizenship.

HOW NEGRO TOWN IN ALABAMA FIGHTS POVERTY

LIVING BELOW POVERTY LEVEL:

If federal anti-poverty and allied program funds for reclaiming communities and individuals are for depressed areas, without a doubt all-Negro Hobson City, Ala., should head the list of areas earmarked for such aid.

Born of frustration and bigotry, nurtured in despair, and denied even the hand of fellowship from its neighboring cities (or even aid from the state or federal governments), the 66-year-old community is a city without kith or kin. It is a city showing the signs of death but with a hardy crop of pioneer-types determined to beat back that specter—if it can garner the badly needed financial and professional assistance it needs to do the job.

In the heated battles for civil rights in Selma, Montgomery and in other large Alabama communities, Hobson City, with a population of 1,500 persons in 250 families, has gained few headlines. But they are there. All one needs to do is but glance in that community's direction.

Massive illiteracy, sub-standard housing, and unemployment are problems, and nearly 50 per cent of the families are fatherless. One industry (for making ladies' underwear) exist in the city (only 15 local citizens are employed among the crew of about 50).

The town has two grocery stores, two gas stations, one garage, one washateria with 12 washing machines, one barber shop, one beauty shop, one cafe and six churches.

"If it weren't for the churches," City Clerk Margaret Ball told JET, "we wouldn't have any place in the world to go."

There is no movie house (in neighboring communities,

Main link with outside world is letters from friends, relatives. Town has no local paper and is snubbed by white radio, press.

Caught up in throes of poverty, small business, Hobson City style, seeks special anti-poverty loan to effect improvements.

Negroes still must enter through side entrances, cannot use YMCA facilities in Anniston); the town has a swimming pool which "most of the time hasn't enough water in it for swimming."

Result: The youths have only one place to recreate themselves—at a local skating rink which is inadequate.

Last year, "at least" 25 young girls gave birth to babies out of wedlock. The annual average is quite similar, a city official told JET. "The youths simply have no place to go and just hang around the streets."

One dubious distinction which the city has is that the only school in Calhoun County for Negroes is situated there. There are between 900 and 1,000 Negro students overcrowded at Calhoun County Training School. There are 30 teachers. Many of the children are bused and, in the winter, they leave home before day and return home after dark.

The people "do what they can but the battle is hopeless unless wide-scale assistance is forthcoming. For many of the men there is nothing but the idleness of sitting around town and waiting, perhaps for fulfillment of dreams which are surely slipping even farther away.

Some of the men work in foundries in Anniston and some work at the military installations at Bynum or at Ft. McClellan. Some women work as domestics in white homes outside the community.

Hobson City Mayor Joseph R. Striplin indicated that he needs help from the anti-poverty program to attack his city's massive problems.

Accompanied by his national and regional aides, Whitney M. Young Jr., executive director of the National Urban League, recently held anti-poverty workshops in the Anniston-Hobson City area and, following the sessions, he declared that if the people of these communities were given the "tools," they could rehabilitate themselves.

Young called on the federal government to establish a special demonstration project out of the poverty conditions existing in Hobson City. Median per family income in the city is $1,128.20 annually. Less than ten per cent of the population have any high school training, and more than 50 per cent are unemployed, according to Frank L. Stanley Jr. of the National Urban League.

The Anniston-Hobson City workshop sessions of the League were attended by 200 persons. It was one of a series which the League has held across the South. More are scheduled. A total of 88 per cent of those attending the Anniston-Hobson City workshop earn less than $3,000 a year, the present poverty-level definition.

Hobson City was founded by several Negroes in 1899 after officials of nearby Oxford reportedly said they did not want "colored people there." The several Negroes obtained a charter, City Clerk Ball explained, and started the city.

The town has some 240 buildings, including housing units and the few small businesses. Three years ago, Clerk Ball asserted, "city officials forced the residents to hook onto the sewage system. About 90 per cent of the homes now have proper sanitation.

Clerk Ball declared that the city gets no financial assistance from Calhoun County or from the federal government but reported that "twice a year, we get a $200 check from the ABC (state liquor authority). And that is about the sum and substance of any aid we get," she ended.

Mayor Striplin gets no invitations to join meetings of the state's mayors, is asked no advice either by neighboring community officials or those at the state or federal levels. The same goes for city councilmen and other town leaders.

Sixty-six years is a long time for any community to survive. But then add the elements of being treated by other officials and areas as non-existent, as Hobson City. In the fact of current living conditions, the solution lies in the programs which have been made possible by the federal anti-poverty program, to rehabilitate the individuals, and such additional programs as the Appalachia program to raise the physical condition of the city.

Otherwise, the hull of Hobson City, and its people, may disintegrate into a memory of another tragedy of segregation.

STUDENT CONFAB

Attorney Charles (Chuck) Morgan told sixty-five students at a human relations conference in Birmingham that the injustice and prejudice which dominate Alabama leave them with only three choices: "(1) You can live here and do nothing--and accept full responsibility. (2) You can live here and fight it as much as you can for as long as you can. (3) You can move." He cited several examples of gross miscarriages of justice and told the students that they were probably unaware of the number of times they had been denied the privilege of seeing "controversial" television programs and reading accurate accounts of events in Alabama.

Morgan's subject was "Politics, Race and Irrationality." Three things, he said, will change the present state of affairs: (1) the achievement of voting rights by Negroes; (2) the achievement of justice; and (3) "constant, constant, constant pressure."

Morgan was speaking to an Alabama Student Human Relations Conference at the Bankhead Hotel in Birmingham. The one-day affair was held May 15, 1965. Called by an eleven-student committee of sponsors, it was sponsored jointly by the Southern Human Relations Project of the National Student Association and the Alabama Council on Human Relations. At least eleven colleges and universities were represented.

Other speakers were Dr. L. H. Pitts, President of Miles College, whose subject was "Education's Challenge to Alabama," and Mr. Kenneth Dean, Executive Director of the Mississippi Council on Human Relations. Mr. Dean, a Southern Baptist minister, spoke on "The Relevancy of the Church in the South's Revolution and Reconciliation." (The speech was not as bad as the title!)

The students engaged in seminars on the poverty program, Alabama politics, the 1964 Civil Rights Act (emphasis on Titles VI and VII), and Alabama education. Resource persons in the seminar groups, in addition to the speakers, were Dr. Stanley H. Smith, Professor of Social Science at Tuskegee Institute; Mr. Erskine Smith, Birmingham attorney and chairman of the Birmingham Area Committee for the Development of Economic Opportunity; and Mr. Louis L. Mitchell of the U. S. Civil Rights Commission.

The conference was planned at the urging of a considerable number of seniors from various campuses who were eager to "see something started" toward an intercollegiate council on human relations before they were graduated. Two non-seniors from each campus represented at this conference will form a steering committee to plan an organizational meeting for early fall.

LOCAL COUNCIL NOTES

REV. OLIVER LEAVING BIRMINGHAM

Rev. C. Herbert Oliver, president of the Birmingham Council, will leave Birmingham in early June, having accepted a call to serve as Pastor of the Bedford Central Presbyterian Church in Brooklyn, New York. He is to be honored by the Birmingham Council at a dinner on Tuesday, May 25. Mr. Oliver is also president of the Inter-Citizens Committee, and in that capacity has worked extensively against police brutality in Alabama.

FOR STUDY GROUPS

An excellent and inexpensive text titled The Negro In American History has recently been published by the Board of Education, City of New York. It would be good for use by study groups. Shows that the contribution of Negroes to this country is something to command the respect of whites and the pride of Negroes. Price: $1.00 per copy. Order The Negro In American History, Curriculum Bulletin, 1964-65 Series, No. 4. From: Board of Education of the City of New York, Publications Sales Office, 110 Livingston Street, Brooklyn 1, New York. Make checks payable to "Auditor, Board of Education."

DISCRIMINATION IN FEDERAL COURTS

Southern Regional Council has recently issued a report titled "Racial Discrimination in the Southern Federal Courts." The report notes that the federal court system in the South, "guided by the Supreme Court and the Courts of Appeals, has slowly demonstrated the ability of a frankly white-dominated institution to deal justly with the broad, crucial questions of race." But it observes that it is necessary to look at the racial composition of the courts themselves when you turn from matters of principle to the administration of justice to individuals.

According to this report, there are two Negro deputy U. S. Marshals in Alabama. There are no other Negroes appointed to or employed by any Federal judicatory having jurisdiction in Alabama, except in custodial, clerical and similar roles.

Here are the statistics for the whole South:

RACIAL DISTRIBUTION OF OFFICERS AND PERSONNEL IN SOUTHERN FEDERAL COURTS

| | TOTAL | WHITE | NEGRO |
|---|---|---|---|
| Circuit Court Judges | 12* | 12 | 0 |
| District Court Judges | 65 | 65 | 0 |
| Referees in Bankruptcy | 55 | 55 | 0 |
| U. S. Commissioners | 253 | 253 | 0 |
| U. S. Clerks | 28 | 28 | 0 |
| Deputy U. S. Clerks | 321 | 321 | 0 |
| U. S. Attorneys | 29 | 29 | 0 |
| Assistant U. S. Attorneys | 158 | 153 | 5 |
| Jury Commissioners | 109 | 109 | 0 |
| U. S. Marshals | 29 | 29 | 0 |
| Deputy U. S. Marshals | 165 | 156 | 9 |
| Secretarial and Clerical | 364 | ** | ** |

*This is the number of judges of southern residence now serving on the 4th, 5th, 6th and 8th Circuits. The numbers respectively are 3, 7, 1 and 1.

Exact number of Negroes not ascertainable. The number from observation is quite small.

SRC's concern about this problem had already been expressed in a resolution adopted by the Board of Directors at their annual meeting, and conveyed to the President. The resolution said in part:

> It is our strong conviction that only men of the highest professional competence and the fullest devotion to the declared principles of the Constitution should be charged with the judicial responsibility of enforcing Federal laws in the South. It is our further conviction that no appointment contrary to these qualifications however strongly urged by state or Congressional spokesmen, can satisfy the new politics of the South. In a situation where plain talk is desirable, we would report as plainly as we can that the progressive leadership of the South, both Negro and white, would find the appointment or promotion of any judge of well-authenticated segregationist views to be a severe blow to regional, national and democratic interests.

SCHOOL DESEGREGATION PLANS

During the past month the Department of Health, Education and Welfare published a statement of policies for desegregation of schools under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. In order to continue to receive federal money, school systems must desegregate at least four grades this fall, and must desegregate entirely by the fall of 1967. If a school system is not now desegregated, so that an Assurance of Compliance form could be given HEW (and no Alabama system is) and if it is not under a court approved desegregation plan, then a satisfactory plan of desegregation must be submitted to HEW by about June 30.

Three types of desegregation plans are being accepted: (1) geographic attendance areas, drawn without racial discrimination, with all children in a given area required to attend a designated school; (2) freedom of choice granted to and exercised by the pupil and his parents; (3) a combination of the two. At this writing twelve systems in Alabama have had their plans approved: Huntsville, Colbert County, Florence, Enterprise, Russellville, Tuscumbia, Muscle Shoals, Lauderdale County, Selma, Alexander City, Dothan and Tallassee.

All of the Alabama plans approved thus far (other than court-ordered ones) have been "freedom of choice" plans. The reason for this is probably that, under this plan, subtle (or not-so-subtle) community pressures and the force of habit will keep the number of Negroes choosing to attend formerly all-white schools to a minimum. However, the following from the HEW statement should be noted:

> The responsibility to eliminate segregation rests with the school authorities and is not satisfied by rules and practices which shift the burden of removing discrimination to the class or classes of persons previously discriminated against.

This seems to mean that, while a school system may use "freedom of choice" as a means by which to try to satisfy the requirements of the Civil Rights Act, the means must be effective. In 1967 and thereafter, it will be up to the local school board to satisfy HEW that they are not operating a dual school system. It is not up to parents to make them stop operating a dual school system.

Here are some of the cardinal points of HEW's policy with which all ACHRers should be familiar:

Requirements which all desegregation plans must satisfy.

(1) Provision must be made for desegregation of faculty and staff. Race of the pupils may not be a factor in determining assignments of teachers.

(2) Every plan must provide for the elimination of segregation in affiliated facilities, services, activities and programs--such as school buses and their routing.

(3) All plans must contain proposals for preparing pupils, teachers, staff personnel and the community for the changes.

(4) All plans shall provide for their publication "in a conspicuous manner in a newspaper having general circulation in the geographic area . . . reasonably in advance of the time for any action which may be taken by the pupils under the plan. All pupils and their parents must be given sufficient notice in time to enable them to take advantage of their rights to initial assignment, reassignment or transfer for the coming year.

Additional requirements in "freedom of choice" plans.

(1) "If overcrowding will result at a particular school from the choices made, initial assignment shall be made either by giving preference to the pupils residing closest to the school or on the basis of non-racial attendance zones. If no choice is made, they shall be assigned to the school nearest their homes or on the basis of non-racial attendance zones." Similarly, if a pupil asks for reassignment (for example, to a previously all-white school), and crowding of the school results, he is to be given preference over pupils who live farther from the school than he does.

(2) New residents shall be assigned to schools without regard to race, color or national origin.

(3) "The exercise of free choice shall not be restricted by transportation practices."

MUSCLE SHOALS COUNCIL SUCCESSFUL IN HOSPITAL DESEGREGATION

More than 100 persons attended the April meeting of the Muscle Shoals Council. Interest is at a high pitch because of a three-or-four-month effort to secure desegregation of local hospitals. Committees were appointed to confer with administrators and board members at Colbert County and Coffee Memorial Hospitals. Letters were written to the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, and the Civil Rights Commission. As a result, Coffee Memorial has completely desegregated: what was the Negro ward has been converted to a pediatrics section, and the staff integrated in composition and assignments. Work on the Colbert Hospital situation continues.

A committee chosen to work on school desegregation has conferred with the superintendents of schools in all area cities and the two counties. It was discovered (before the announcement) that "freedom of choice" plans of desegregation were to be used. Groups of visitors have already toured Negro neighborhoods to explain to parents how their children may take advantage of their local desegregation plan.

EAST ALABAMA'S CULTURAL ENRICHMENT COMMITTEE ACTIVE

The "Cultural Enrichment Committee" of the East Alabama Council on Human Relations has staged a little theatre production of "Cinderella" in at least four schools in the area. They have also held art exhibits at four schools. Members of the committee, of which Mrs. Grace Hooks is chairman, have also been going to the various schools for story-telling sessions and after-school instruction in arts and crafts.

The council's "Literature Review Committee," of which Mr. Daniel T. Williams is chairman, has published an attractively mimeographed eleven-page booklet containing quotations on human relations and a bibliography of recent publications.

ABOUT "NEW SOUTH"

Members of ACHR are reminded that subscriptions to New South, the Southern Regional Council magazine, are no longer included in membership dues. This policy was adopted by the Board of Directors last October, at the request of the Southern Regional Council. If you wish to receive New South, you should send the subscription price of $2.50 to that publication, c/o Southern Regional Council, 5 Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Georgia 30303. (NOTE: Unfortunately, issues of New South have not been coming out on time. The January and February issues were not mailed until early May. If you did not receive them, your subscription has expired.)

(4) All notices respecting initial assignment, reassignment or transfer to or within schools shall (a) state simply and clearly what the pupil is entitled to do, (b) give the times, dates, and places at which parents may exercise their rights under the desegregation plan, (c) include an assurance that school personnel will neither favor nor penalize any pupil because of the choice he makes.

Please be advised that this brief article contains only some of the more important points of the policy set forth by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. Copies of the full text have been ordered by ACHR and will be sent to the president and the chairman of the education committee in each local council. (The May issue of Southern School News also contains the full text.) Before filing any complaints you should study the full text.

The next two months are crucial in school desegregation. Keep informed. Be sure you know what your local school board's desegregation plan provides (if one is submitted). Be sure that there is a committee of your local council at work to check for compliance with the law, to inform the parents of pupils of desegregation provisions, to encourage transfers to closer or better schools, and to prepare the public for the changes to be made.

Here is another simple (?) project for your local council. Schedule members to "monitor" all meetings of your city council and school board (especially important right now). These meetings are normally open to the public, but frequently without observers. Why not schedule one volunteer couple for each body each month and have them report at the next council meeting? The same could be done for Recorder's Court.

ACHR APPLIES FOR "HEAD START" CENTERS

The Alabama Council on Human Relations has applied for a "Project Head Start" grant to operate nine child development centers in Lee and Colbert counties. The eight-week program of pre-school education, medical care, nutrition and social services will cost approximately $97,000. Our application is for about $83,000--the balance to be paid in contributed space and volunteer services.

If the application is approved, four of the centers will be sponsored by the East Alabama Council on Human Relations in two rural areas of Lee County. These will be located at Wacoochee Consolidated School, Smiths Grade School, Sandford High School, and Loochapoka School. Five centers will be sponsored by the Muscle Shoals Council on Human Relations. Two will be in Tuscumbia and three in Sheffield.

Plans are being made for 565 children. A total of 53 full-time professionals will be employed, including 47 teachers. There will be approximately 28 part-time employees. In addition, we shall need to recruit 75 volunteers. Employees and volunteers will be sought to the fullest extent possible among parents and other residents of the locales. But many will be needed from members and friends of the two councils.

DEVELOPMENT CENTERS ARE DESIGNED FOR CHILDREN FROM IMPOVERISHED FAMILIES

Project Head Start is a "crash" program of the Office of Economic Opportunity to accelerate the development of children from under-privileged homes who will enter the first grade next year. (No others are eligible.) Through play, story-telling, art activities, field trips conversation, and many other activities efforts will be made to increase verbal skills, social skills, manual dexterity, and to provide many of the ordinary experiences which our middle-class schools take for granted, but which many children have never had.

The program also emphasizes medical attention--including a thorough physical and dental examination for each child, a nutritional program which will include at least one good meal each day, and social services. The centers will be "in session for twenty hours each week. But teachers and other employees will use the remainder of the time in work with the families of the children.

Location of the centers was determined after investigation showed that applications had been made for comprehensive Head Start programs in all other places where we have local councils. Because ours was a "last minute" application, made to keep children in the two areas from missing the benefits of the project, it could not be processed in time to be approved with others from the state. We hope to receive approval soon.

WRITE YOUR LEGISLATOR--RIGHT

With more than 300 bills already in the hoppers of the state legislature, this is a good time to remind our members of the value of expressing to their senators and representatives their opinion on the bills which interest them. Believe it or not, on many issues of vital importance very little mail or other expression of opinion is received by representatives in the state or national legislatures. If your opinion is not that of the majority, that is all the more reason to communicate with your senator or representative. Even if you are very sure that your man has a mind-set on a given issue, it may be possible to modify his position. Few politicians are impervious to thoughtful, well-informed expressions from their constituents. Below are a few pointers to use in writing letters or (in the case of state senators and representatives) calling or visiting.

1. Be sure you are well-informed. Then, write a reasoned letter, stating why you advocate your particular position. If you have personal experience on the matter, write about that. Acknowledge any problems or shortcomings in the legislation and state why you favor it anyway, or make suggestions for correction.

2. The best times to write are while a bill is being considered by a house or senate committee and immediately after it is reported to the floor.

3. The letter should be brief and should deal with only one issue. If possible, refer to the accurate title and number of the bill.

4. Whenever possible, be positive. It might be difficult, but compliment the legislator on some recent action, vote, speech, etc. whenever you can. In fact, one of the most effective things you can do is to write letters of support, appreciation, and encouragement whenever a legislator or public officer makes a move in the right direction (whichever way you think that is). "Thank-you" letters are sort of rare, and therefore make an impression.

5. You can sometimes establish a regular correspondence with your senator or representatives (state or national). If you would like a personal response, ask a thoughtful question about the issue. You might conclude, "I am concerned to know what your present opinion is on this bill" or "Can I count on your support regarding this vital matter?"

Letters to U. S. Senators or Congressmen should use the following forms of address:

The Honorable _____ __. _____
United States Senate
Washington, D. C. 20002

Dear Senator _____:

The Honorable _____ __. _____
House of Representatives
Washington, D. C. 20003

Dear Mr. _____:

State senators and representatives may be addressed in similar fashion and the letters sent to State Capitol, Montgomery, Alabama, or to the home address or office of the legislator. (We will send local address of any legislator on request.) Listed below are the names of state senators and representatives from counties in which most ACHR members reside.

ANNOUNCEMENT

The next meeting of the Tuscaloosa Council on Human Relations will be June 17, at the Alabama Power Company Auditorium at 7:30.

Many organizations disband in the summer because of the difficulty in getting people to attend meetings. We are not that kind of organization. In the summer many sacrifice time, money, safety and even more.

Come -- and bring at least one person who has not come before.

THE MAY MEETING

The May meeting of the Tuscaloosa Council on Human Relations was the best attended meeting to date: almost 100 people attended. The guest speaker was to be Rev. C. T. Vivian who could not attend however because of other duties which came up unexpectedly. However, in his place Rev. T. Y. Rogers of Tuscaloosa came and discussed a proposed tutorial program for Tuscaloosa. More about this at the June meeting.

Ed Stanfield, the state director of ACHR came to the meeting to tell us about the statewide HEADSTART project. This is a cultural enrichment program. Seventy-five per cent of the families participating are impoverished based on a federal definition. The Alabama Council on Human Relations was asked to participate in these programs where a county could not demonstrate compliance with the civil rights act and allow its participation in further headstart. Principally, Headstart attempts to focus on medical care and cultural enrichment of youngsters before they attend school. Additionally, a large scale nutritional program is arranged. The vast majority of the time is, however, spent in an enrichment program to prepare the youngster for school. Many social service agencies are essential to this program.

In Tuscaloosa, it was reported by another speaker, the city schools are trying to establish a Headstart program for 280 children. Additionally, the university Headstart training program has been approved to train people who in turn will train volunteers starting June 14. This program at the university will last one week and then the people will return to their home towns all over the Southeast to start the project.

The Task Force on Federal Programs reported on various actions that it might take. It suggested for example that it become a clearing house for complaints in the community and secondly, that it would investigate complaints. The point was made by members of the audience that the complaints should be of significance and not minor points.

VISION

Our guest speaker, Rev. T. Y. Rogers, spoke of the tutorial program entitled, VISION. It is an attempt to prepare high school students for college entrance, to bring them up to their age levels in terms of intellectual functioning, to make them aware of the advantages of learning, and to prepare them for education in general. This is being sponsored by the St. Louis Council on Religion and Race through the SCLC chapters in Alabama. Students who are in grades 9 through 12 who desire a college education are able to participate in this program. Tutors will be provided in Tuscaloosa under the supervision of capable professors and teachers. There will be a one week orientation program for the staff, which will be integrated. The curriculum is to be established by the professor but will be taught by the tutors. Additionally, it was brought up at this meeting that it would be good if people from the University and Stillman College participated in this program in an effort to show community support.

HISTORIC FIRST

At the commencement of the University of Alabama, Miss Vivian Malone was awarded her Bachelor's degree. This was done quietly and in the best of academic spirits. It should be noted that Miss Malone has compiled a distinguished academic record and has become an accepted figure on campus. She has managed herself well and has been a source of inspiration for members of her own race and to the general student body at the University of Alabama. Our very best wishes go to this young woman for a very fine future.

SOCIAL SERVICE CLUB

On May 6, members of the Steering Committee of the Tuscaloosa Council on Human Relations presented a program to the monthly meeting of the Social Club. The Social Service Club includes the directors of most of the education, health, recreation and Social Service Agencies in Tuscaloosa. By unanimous agreement the club invited several Negro agency personnel to become members, and invited them to attend the May 6 meeting. The new members attended, as did the largest number of old members ever seen at one of the monthly luncheon meetings. We should congratulate the Social Service Club for their quiet lowering of old barriers.

THE NEXT MEETING OF THE TUSCALOOSA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS WILL BE JUNE 17, AT THE ALABAMA POWER COMPANY AT 7:30

ENTERPRISE-COFFEE COUNTY GROUP FORMING

About two dozen citizens of Enterprise, Alabama, have had their first meeting in preparation for formal organization of a council on human relations in Enterprise and Coffee County. This initial meeting was held in the Enterprise city hall on June 9th.

Temporary officers were elected and were asked to serve as the constitution committee to draw up a formal statement of purpose and a set of by-laws. The Rev. J. L. Nutt, Rector of the Episcopal Church, was elected temporary chairman. Mr. Bernest Brooks was elected temporary vice-chairman. Mrs. Schuyler L. Mathews was elected temporary secretary, and Mrs. Brooks, temporary treasurer.

Following brief remarks by Rev. Nutt, Mr. Brooks, and Ed Stanfield, those present discussed the purposes of the proposed organization and also the specific objectives. The promotion of inter-racial understanding and the promotion of equal job opportunity were the two objectives most often mentioned. Some members of the group had already had a meeting with Miss Jean Fairfax of the American Friends Service Committee to familiarize themselves with the nuances of the local school desegregation plan.

Several of those attending expressed the feeling that just the existence of a council on human relations in Coffee County would go a long way toward promoting understanding. Except on the post at Fort Rucker, there is little opportunity for two-way communication in the area.

In an effort to establish from the start a good working relationship with city officials, both the Mayor and the Chief of Police were invited. Neither was able to attend, but a meeting room in the city hall was made available to the group. Four members of the police force did attend briefly at the start of the meeting.

HEAD START PROGRAM AMENDED

Plans to operate five Head Start centers under the sponsorship of the Muscle Shoals Council have had to be scrapped, but the East Alabama Council is to open four centers in Lee County at the end of this month. This will reduce the net grant to the Alabama Council on Human Relations for Head Start centers from $83,000 to approximately $38,000.

Mrs. William D. Spears of Auburn is the superintendent for the Lee County centers, which will be located at Smiths Grade School, Sandford High, Loachapoka, and Wacoochee. Governor Wallace has waived the thirty-day period during which he may veto the proposal under the law. The teachers are to begin a week of training at Tuskegee on June 21, and the centers will open the following week.

About 200 children are expected to be enrolled. All will be in the first grade this fall. There will be buses to transport them to and from the centers. Each will receive a medical examination. There will be a nutrition program. And lots of individual attention from some 15 teachers and 30 paid and volunteer assistants.

Plans for the five centers in Sheffield and Tuscumbia had to be abandoned when it proved impossible to obtain the cooperation of the two school boards. ACHR's application for centers in these two cities was made just before the deadline when it was discovered that the two school boards had made no provision for Project Head Start. It was hoped that they would at least allow use of some of the school buildings. This proved not to be the case, however.

In addition, it was Governor Wallace's policy to approve Head Start programs for which the applicant agency could secure the approval of the probate judge of the county in which they were to be located. Judge Hale of Colbert County took the position that he could not approve a program unless the appropriate school superintendent okayed it. Since Superintendent Brewster opposed our use of the school buildings, it became very doubtful that he would have approved our operating centers elsewhere. At any rate, the matter had become so involved and the time so short that the executive director thought it best to cancel that part of the program.

MEMBERSHIP TOPS 900

As of June 15, the dues-paid membership of the Alabama Council on Human Relations had grown to 931!! This represents an increase of nearly 200% over last year!! And there is a significant number of friends who, we are sure, intend to be members and think of themselves as members (some of them--oh, horror!--are even on the board of directors!), but who for reasons shrouded in inscrutable mystery have neglected to pay their dues. Yet.

With just a little effort, we could exceed 1,000 members for the first time in the history of ACHR! Besides the thrill of it all, it could win us SRC's George Mitchell Award for the state council having the largest percentage increase in membership for the year. The award amounts to $1,000.

So use the application form on the last page, if your renewal is overdue. And enlist a friend.

LOCAL COUNCIL NOTES

EAST ALABAMA HEARS RICHMOND FLOWERS

At the meeting of the East Alabama Council on Human Relations on June 3, about 200 persons heard Attorney General Richmond Flowers speak on civil rights problems and politics in Alabama. The large number of people attended the meeting, which was held at the Episcopal Church in Tuskegee, despite a last-minute change in date to accommodate the speaker. The next meeting is scheduled for September. Many of the members will be hard at work on Project Head Start during the summer, of course.

MOBILE COUNCIL ELECTS NEW OFFICERS

The Mobile Council on Human Relations has elected new officers as follows: Mrs. Roberta Williams, President; Rev. Powers McLeod, Vice President, Rev. A. S. Foley, S. J., Secretary; Mr. Arthur Whitfield, Treasurer.

In addition, chairmen have been appointed for all of the areas of concern (employment, housing, voting, etc.) as requested by the ACHR executive committee.

VOLUNTEER WORKER AT MOBILE

Mr. Will Turner, a veteran of the Peace Corps, is working with the Mobile Council for five weeks as a volunteer. Will was with the Peace Corps for two years, stationed in Togo, West Africa. He is a native of North Carolina and a graduate student (mathematics) at the University of North Carolina.

WOMEN'S CONFERENCE

"Women of both races now are making history which will stand out later as great. The old myth that woman's place is only in the home has been exploded. The home has burst its bonds. It has become the city, the state, the world. Woman's place today is every place."

The speaker was Mrs. Esther Peterson, Assistant Secretary of Labor for Labor Standards. The occasion was a conference for women at Tuskegee Institute, sponsored jointly by the Southern Regional Council, the Alabama Council on Human Relations, and the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

The conference was held on May 22, and had as its theme, "Communication and Community--Building the New Alabama Image." It was attended by 150 women and a few men (who were not discriminated against).

Mrs. Peterson, who is also special assistant to the president for consumer affairs, told her audience that the new Alabama will come about through the efforts of educated, committed citizens who "keep their eyes on the good old ballot box." The answer, she said, is through men and women of both races who will involve themselves in American life and commit themselves to one another as human being. People must be educated and informed of their power as voters, purchasers, and human beings, she said.

Mrs. Peterson emphasized consumer education as well as political education. "The poor do pay more," she said. "The people who have least must pay most for their purchases. Silver-tongued, glib people take advantage of them."

Other speakers included Mrs. Velma Strode of the Community Relations Service and Miss Mary Grice of the Office of Economic Opportunity, who told the conferees of the government resources available through their agencies for anyone working to improve inter-group relations and economic conditions. A panel on the role of the churches was composed of Rabbi Irving Bloom, Dr. Powers McLeod, and Bishop William M. Smith, all of Mobile.

There were workshops on "The Synagogue and Church," "Education," "Civic and Professional Organizations," and "Politics."

Most of the planning for the conference was done by Mrs. M. E. Tilly of the Southern Regional Council, who is familiar to many women throughout the South as the moving spirit of "The Fellowship of the Concerned," and by Mrs. Luther H. Foster, who represented the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom and presided at the sessions.

The new members attended, as did the largest number of the old members ever seen at one of the monthly luncheon meetings.

At the May meeting of the Tuscaloosa Council, Rev. T. Y. Rogers told nearly 100 members about "VISION"--a tutorial project being conducted by the Southern Christian Leadership Conference in ten Alabama cities this summer. Sponsored jointly with the St. Louis Council on Religion and Race, VISION will bring ten professors to Alabama to supervise one hundred college students in tutoring Negro high school students who desire to go to college.

WELCH TO MOVE TO ATLANTA

Nat Welch, president of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, has announced that he will move his office and family from Auburn to Atlanta in late August. Nat tendered his resignation to the executive committee, but he was asked to continue as president until the annual meeting in February and he agreed to do so.

Nat is Federal Representative to the Southern Interstate Nuclear Board, which has offices in Atlanta. (Much of his travel is between Atlanta and Washington, which is a major reason for his move.) He is also a member of the National Citizens Committee for Community Relations.

Nat's association precedes the formal organization of ACHR in 1955. In 1951, he served as a member of the Executive Committee, Alabama Division of the Southern Regional Council, predecessor of ACHR. He has served on our Board of Directors since 1959. He was Treasurer from 1960 through 1963, and became a Vice President in 1964. It was only last January that he was elected President.

Mrs. Welch ("Gloria") is no mean citizen herself. She is a charter member of the Auburn League of Women Voters. She has served as president of the local League and is now on the board of the state organization.

On July 4, 1965, The Birmingham News editorialized:

> The Lee County Bulletin has reported an impending loss of one of Auburn's good citizens. Nat Welch . . . will become an Atlanta resident late in the summer . . . .
> Mr. Welch has been a useful citizen in many ways, some reported, some not. He . . . is a member of the National Citizens Committee for Community Relations; as such he has been a very useful contributor to federal understanding in Southern meeting of civil rights problems. He is also president of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, which similarly has worked for better understanding of some very tough problems.
> Mr. Welch has also been a worker for better state-federal relations, a chore which he performed well and in tangible benefit to Alabama. He is the kind of citizen a state suffers from losing.

ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR NAMED

We are happy to announce that Mr. Robert S. Valder has been employed as our Associate Director for a period of one year. He reports for duty August 1.

Bob comes to us as an "Eleanor Roosevelt Intern in Human Relations" under a program designed to develop professional leadership in the field. Financed by the Eleanor Roosevelt Foundation, the program is administered by the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials (NAIRO), which will pay half of Bob's salary.

Valder was born in South Dakota but considers himself an Iowan. For the past five years he has lived and worked in New Orleans. He is married to the former Janice Fox ("--as in clever," says Bob) and they have two children, Stephen, 2, and Patrick, 10 months.

A LETTER FROM THE PRESIDENT

Dear friends:

This has been a great year for the Alabama Council . . . our greatest, I think. Two tangible yardsticks are our record membership and our all-time-high budget. We are fortunate in having an able Executive Director, Ed Stanfield. And now--for the first time--we have a second man on the staff. We welcome Robert Valder, an Eleanor Roosevelt human relations intern, as Ed's full time associate for a year.

Our organization has emerged as one we can all be proud of. In years past ACHR has been a small organization of kindred spirits who met together to console each other. My greatest exhiliration has been to see us this year break out of this small shell into a vibrant and dynamic group. This "break-out" has resulted in the involvement of many bright and dedicated people. We old-timers welcome you virile and able newcomers. No longer is ACHR an underground organization. We are an organization of public record, one which outstanding leaders like Governor Collins, Attorney General Flowers, and Assistant Secretary of Labor Esther Peterson are willing to speak to with reporters welcomed. This is a source of great satisfaction to each one of us, I am sure.

ACHR has become a working organization. Recently from our able staff have come these important projects . . . an intercollegiate conference in Birmingham, the Conference for Women in Tuskegee, effective mailings to hundreds of leaders in Alabama, and our "30 Days of Great Progress" appeal carried by the state press in April.

We have become "doers" at the local level . . . 200 kids in four Project Head Start schools in Lee County, the Tri-Cities chapter leading the way for hospital and school desegregation in their area, the desegregation and presentation of the first integrated program for the Tuscaloosa Social Service Club, and the Cultural Enrichment Program in the Macon County rural schools.

One of my tenets is this. When you get up and start leading on a moral issue where you are right . . . people will willingly and enthusiastically follow. You have shown such leadership. I congratulate you!

Sincerely,
Nat Welch

Bob arrives with an impressive record. He received his B. A. degree from Loras College, Dubuque, Iowa, in 1960. He has a major in American History and minors in English, Education and Philosophy. He has attended night school at Tulane University and Loyola University and summer school at the University of Minnesota. Altogether he has 14 post-graduate hours in law and 12 in sociology.

He taught for two years at Xavier University Preparatory School and three years at St. Augustine High School, both in New Orleans. His "summer job experience" includes laborer in a cheese factory, maintenance man in a high school, two summers as a carpenter, one as a cookware salesman, and two as a taxi driver.

Valder is experienced in the human relations field. In college he served as National Vice President of Social Action Affairs (National Federation of Catholic College Students). His duties included the writing of two booklets concerning the "Sit-ins" and "Social Action," and direction of the writing of five other booklets, all titled Discrimination Today in the U. S. A. As a senior he received the annual "Catholic Action Award" and was in Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

His activities in New Orleans included: Chairmanship of the Committee on Interracial Justice of the New Orleans Adult Sodality; work with the Coordinating Council on Human Relations on various projects, including voter registration; coordinator of the Home Visit Program for two years--by which whites and Negroes were brought together in homes for frank discussions; and chairmanship of the committee of the Community Relations Council of Greater New Orleans which worked for desegregation of hospitals and other institutions under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

DISCRIMINATION IN "HEAD START" INVESTIGATED

Results of a survey of 14 Head Start programs in Alabama show that racial discrimination in the government-sponsored anti-poverty effort is widespread. A 12-page report issued by the Alabama Council's executive director on July 13 indicated that racial considerations particularly affected the ways in which teachers and other staff members were selected and assigned to centers.

The inquiry was directed to 14 programs being operated by city and county school systems in Alabama. Only seven of the 14 have a biracial staff at any of their centers; only two of those seven have Negroes on the staff of a "white" center; and those two have a total of four Negro "aides" working in white centers. The other five of the seven programs which had any sort of biracial staff at any center accomplished this by assigning two or three white teachers and aides to Negro centers.

Project Head Start regulations clearly stated, "Both professional and non-professional staff must also be recruited, selected, and assigned without regard to race, color, creed or national origin."

All of the approximately 60 centers covered by the 14 programs were technically "open" to children of either race, but only six actually had Negro children enrolled with white children.

Huntsville, Madison County, Opelika, and Russellville have no Negro children enrolled with whites and no biracial staff at any center. Decatur, Muscle Shoals, and Russell County have some Negro children in white centers, but no biracial staff. Enterprise, Lauderdale County, Phenix City and Tuscaloosa have some integration of staff, but none among the children. (In Tuscaloosa and Enterprise centers were located in Negro schools only and ho whites enrolled.) Auburn, Florence and Colbert County have the least discrimination. Each of these systems has at least a few Negro children enrolled in white centers and at least one biracial staff.

The report points out that the school boards whose programs were canvassed may be considered "among the least recalcitrant in Alabama in the matter of school desegregation." All but three of them are among the 35 school boards in the state which have had desegregation plans approved by the U. S. Office of Education.

Attempts by school officials in Tuscaloosa and Huntsville to discredit this report by the Alabama Council on Human Relations were widely reported in the press. The only inaccuracy discovered so far, however, was a misunderstanding of the enrollment figures in Tuscaloosa.

LOCAL COUNCIL NOTES

WORK ON EMPLOYMENT IN MOBILE

Mr. Wilfred Turner, a graduate student at the University of North Carolina and a Peace Corps veteran, donated his services for five weeks to help the Mobile Council begin a project on employment. Will left to return to school on July 13.

With the help of members of the Mobile Council, Will mimeographed a summary of Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 and a list of Mobile companies which employ 100 persons or more (compiled from Industrial Alabama, Alabama Chamber of Commerce). A list of Negro substitute teachers was obtained, on the theory that this is a likely source of qualified applicants for jobs in categories just being opened to Negroes under Title VII. Will then visited the substitute teachers to discuss the possibility with them. The Mobile Council plans a follow-up and continuation of this project. (Which seems like a good one for other councils, too.)

ACTIONS OF THE EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

The executive committee of ACHR's Board of Directors met at the Bankhead Hotel in Birmingham on June 26. In addition to the actions already reported elsewhere in this issue of the bulletin, relative to Nat Welch's moving and the employment of Mr. Valder, the committee took the following actions:

(1) Adopted a quarterly report which told of ACHR's growth in membership (954 as of the end of June) and program activity (see Nat Welch's letter to the membership, page 2).

(2) Adopted the following policy concerning membership dues: "On and after June 1 of each year, new members (only) may join the Alabama Council on Human Relations for the remainder of the calendar year for one-half the annual membership dues. Refunds to local councils shall be reduced proportionately. On and after October 1 of each year, annual dues paid shall be good for the following calendar year."

(3) Urged local councils to try to organize carefully and immediately in their respective communities, in cooperation with other groups, to secure maximum utilization of the provisions of local school desegregation plans this fall. The committee also urged that local council members offer their assistance to Negro leaders in surrounding counties and towns and recommended use of a "School Desegregation Kit" (how-to-do-it) obtainable from the Southern Regional Council, 5 Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Georgia or the ACHR office.

The executive committee also took several other actions of a somewhat confidential nature. There will be a meeting of the full Board of Directors on Saturday, September 25.

TUSCALOOSA COUNCIL WORKING ON SCHOOL DESEGREGATION

There were about 50 members present for the June meeting of the Tuscaloosa Council on the 17th. Dr. Al Nelson, a sociologist who has been active in local civil rights work, gave a talk on "What to Do When the Demonstrations Are Over."

During the past month, the Tuscaloosa group's education committee has been working with the school board on plans for school desegregation this fall. The group also did some work on Project Head Start, attempting to find white children to enroll in the centers (both of which are located in Negro schools).

MEETING

|---|---|
| 7:30, July 27 | Mt. Olive Baptist Church409 Lexington Avenue |
| Topic: | Equal Employment under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 |
| Speaker: | Mr. Earl Jackson, field worker for the NAACP Legal Defense Fund |

"WE DON'T HAVE TO ARGUE ANYMORE: NOW WE HAVE A LAW"

This comment summarized the feeling of Board members at the July Board meeting. Title Seven of the Civil Rights Act was under discussion. Contributing to community efforts to give meaning to these words is a most obvious and important direction for Council activities. The government has given us a tool to use in obtaining equal employment opportunity but, like any other tool, it won't work by itself -- we must work to make it work.

We have a wonderful start as a result of the work of Mr. Will Turner, a graduate student at the University of North Carolina who contributed a month of his vacation to the Mobile Council. Mr. Turner first compiled a list of all the companies in Mobile County hiring 100 or more employees. These businesses are now covered under Title VII and they should be the primary targets for those seeking employment at this time. 500 copies of this list have been mimeographed and distributed.

With the help of Mr. Will Franklin, Mr. Turner then made a list of Negro substitute teachers. This list represented a group of trained, educated men and women who might be interested in full-time employment, perhaps in areas other then teaching. 129 people were interviewed by Mr. Turner, informed of the provisions of Title VII, and given a copy of the list of companies hiring 100 or more people. From these interviews Mr. Turner made a card catalog showing the names, addresses and qualifications of each person interviewed. The Mobile Council can now provide a list of qualified people to employers seeking to comply with the new law.

WHAT NEXT? Our next step will be a survey of the businesses on our list. We need to learn from each company:

1. Which jobs have the highest employment turnover and therefore where job openings are most apt to occur;

2. What are the qualifications for these jobs.

WHAT CAN YOU DO? There are 53 firms on our list. Each one must be visited during regular business hours by a team of two or three Council members. This is a large project for the Mobile Council and we need your help. If you have any free time during the day which you would be willing to contribute please call our Employment Chairman, Dr. R. W. Gilliard, at 433-3104 or 473-6035.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR

From now on Council meetings will be held on the fourth Tuesday of every month. Through the kindness and cooperation of Dr. A.J. Stokes and his congregation we also have a regular meeting place -- the Mt. Olive Baptist Church. Plan now to reserve the fourth Tuesday each month for the Council.

INFORMATION WANTED

If you have information at any time concerning local discriminatory practices, you are asked to pass this information on to the chairman of the appropriate committee. Equally important, you are also asked to report any information you may have on new non-discriminatory practices so that we may keep our members informed of the good that is happening as well as taking action against the bad.

CHAMBER OF COMMERCE

Although it no longer rates as real news, perhaps some Council members have not heard that the Mobile Chamber of Commerce is now accepting Negro memberships. We congratulate the Chamber for this.

"SOUTHERN COURIER" BEGUN

The Southern Courier, a weekly newspaper primarily for Alabama and concentrating on the civil rights struggle, began publication in Atlanta, July 15.

A six-page newspaper with one full page of photographs, the Courier will be distributed mostly in Alabama by newsboys going door-to-door and through news stand sales. Subscriptions are $6 per year. Single copies are ten cents.

The paper is staffed by a competent staff of young journalists and is strictly professional in quality (if we may be permitted an un-journalistic subjectivism!). Most are from Harvard, but some are from other schools. The editor is Mr. Michael Lottman, who was graduated from Harvard in 1962, and has worked for three years as a reporter for the Chicago Daily News. He is on a six-month leave of absence from the Daily News.

Much of the credit for starting The Southern Courier goes to Pete Cummings, a Harvard senior who is taking a year out from his studies to work for the Courier. Cummings was a reporter for The Harvard Crimson in Mississippi last summer. Some of the civil rights workers urged him to "start a little paper in the Mississippi Delta this fall that will be fair to us." He didn't. But the beginning of the Courier this summer is the result.

The paper was started with the active help of Dean John U. Monro and Professor Mark De Wolfe Howe, both of the Harvard Law School.

The staff conscientiously follow instructions to interview members of the "white power structure" as well as civil rights workers in reporting racial difficulties. The prospectus for the paper said, "it is our hope that we can have more thorough coverage and wider circulation than the few Southern newspapers which now report racial news accurately."

All on the staff of seventeen persons are between the ages of 19 and 23. Nine reporters are assigned to Alabama, and there are two "regional correspondents." The paper also has several "stringer" correspondents. Everyone on the staff gets just $20 weekly subsistence.

We urge all who wish to be better informed about what is going on in Alabama to send $6 with a name and address to The Southern Courier, 68 Electric Avenue, N. W., Atlanta, Georgia 30314. It's really good! (There we go . . . editorializing again!)

ACHR MEMBERSHIP PASSES 1000!

Shortly after the first of this month, we enrolled our 1000th dues-paid member for this year! This is the largest membership in the history of the Alabama Council and is triple that of last year.

The largest local council by far is East Alabama, with 335. Second is Greater Birmingham, 152. Third is Tuscaloosa, 124. Mobile and Muscle Shoals are fourth and fifth, respectively. Both are crowding 100.

All who have worked in our membership drive last winter and subsequently are due the thanks of the officers and staff--and the satisfaction of a job well done.

ANTHONY TO DIRECT S.R.C.

Paul Anthony has been named by the Southern Regional Council to succeed Leslie W. Dunbar as executive director of the organization. Mr. Anthony is presently director of the field activities of the Council. Mr. Dunbar has resigned to become executive director of the Field Foundation in New York City. The staff chanve will occur September 30.

The announcement was made by John H. Wheeler of Durham, North Carolina, president of the Southern Regional Council, which is the parent organization of the Alabama Council on Human Relations.

Mr. Dunbar, 44, a native of Lewisburg, West Virginia, became executive director in March, 1961. He was previously director of research. Under his direction, the Council staff developed an expanded publications program on problems and developments in southern race relations, and administered the Voter Education Project, a south-wide effort to register Negro voters and study Negro enfranchisement.

Mr. Anthony, 37, a native Virginian, has been with the Council since 1956. He has worked in its research department and as an administrator, and since December, 1962, has coordinated activities with the state Councils on Human Relations and other field concerns of the Council. He is a graduate of the University of Miami, and worked previously as a school teacher in Virginia, and on the staff of the Wall Street Journal.

Mr. Wheeler said, "I believe that Paul Anthony will give distinguished leadership to our work in this crucial period of continuing change and great challenge in the South. He is widely known and esteemed all over the country by other workers and leaders in civil rights and human relations work. He also has the respect of government offices and officials. Best of all, he knows the South and its people, and he has friendships among our supporters throughout the region."

DID YOU KNOW?

As of July 1, no Federal office or installation may permit the solicitation of employees or military personnel on the job on behalf of any voluntary health or welfare agency which has not satisfied nondiscrimination requirements. Among other things, this means that if your local United Fund solicits through a Federal agency or installation, every agency supported by the Fund must be desegregated--YMCA, YWCA, Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts, etc. Write us for further information.

EFFORT TO REPEAL RIGHTS ACT?

The John Birch Society will soon launch a massive drive to repeal the Civil Rights Act of 1964, according to a memorandum of the Institute of Human Relations, American Jewish Committee. The memorandum, dated July, 1965, quotes Robert Welch, head of the Birch Society, as saying that the most important facet of this campaign will be "the setting up throughout the country of hundreds of local or regional ad-hoc committees" to be known as Truth About Civil Turmoil Committee (TACT) "for the specific purpose of telling truth about the civil turmoil which is now being made so unusual and unhappy a part of the whole American scene."

The purpose of the TACT committees, working under the guidance of the Birch Society, will be to pour into communities "a veritable flood of material consisting of books, pamphlets, tapes and films explaining the 'civil rights fraud'." According to the AJC memorandum, Welch believes that edposure of the "civil rights fraud" will break the back of the Communist conspiracy.

"The Communists," declares Welch, "have laid out their plans for the Negro revolutionary movement so fully, in print, and so continuously right up to the present time that no good American . . . can fail to be convinced that 'civil rights' is a communist slogan and a communist program for communist purposes."

The AJC memorandum observes that this concentration on one specific target at a time, instead of simultaneously engaging in such projects as "Support Your Local Police," and "Get U. S. Out of the U. N.," represents a "significant and fundamental change in Birch Society tactics.

(Any of our readers who know of any activity of the Birch Society or its TACT committees in Alabama are asked to keep the ACHR office informed. Samples of any literature like that mentioned will be appreciated.)

THE VOTING RIGHTS ACT

by Robert S. Valder

On August 7, 1965, President Johnson signed the Voting Rights Act of 1965. Since the Act can get confusing, we believe it will be helpful to summarize those provisions of particular interest to us in Alabama.

LITERACY TESTS AND FEDERAL EXAMINERS

Literacy test or other devices to determine voter qualifications in local, state or national elections are automatically suspended in any state or county which was using them on November 1, 1964 (the day of the Presidential election) if (1) less than 50% of the voting age population was registered on that date, or (2) if less than 50% of the voting age population voted on that date. This is called the "automatic trigger" provision since there is no need for court orders or complaints to determine where literacy tests cannot be used.

The entire state of Alabama is covered by this provision. This means that anyone in the state who meets the three objective requirements of age, residence and absence of a criminal record must be registered and allowed to vote. If the person is illiterate, the registrar, or Federal examiner, if there is one, will interview the applicant orally and fill out the registration form for him.

Federal examiners can be sent by the Attorney General to any state or county covered by the "trigger" for one of two reasons. (1) If the Attorney General believes that examiners are necessary to enforce the 15th Amendment guarantee of Negro voting rights or (2) if he has received 20 bona fide complaints from persons who, because of race or color, have been denied the right to vote. Apparently the Attorney General will decide what "bona fide" means.

The examiners will mail the names of those qualified to the local registrar who must place the names on the official voting rolls, and who must also make them available for public inspection. Where there are examiners, the Civil Service Commission, which appoints the examiners, can also appoint poll watchers to insure that the names of those who have been listed are allowed to vote and that their vote is recorded. If they are not allowed to vote, the Federal District Court can hold up the results of the election until their votes are cast and counted.

POLL TAXES

The Act directs the Attorney General to file suits attacking the constitutionality of poll taxes as prerequisites to voting in state or local elections. Texas, Alabama, Mississippi and Virginia have such laws. The Attorney General has filed these suits.

COURT JURISDICTIONS AND PROCEDURAL ASPECTS

This law transfers some court questions out of Southern courts and places them into the hands of Federal judges in the District of Columbia. If a state which is presently covered by the "trigger" wishes to come out from under that coverage, or if a state which is covered wants to add a new voter qualification, it can do so only with the consent of District of Columbia judges.

INTIMIDATION AND PENALTIES

Any person convicted of depriving or conspiring to deprive a person of his right to vote may be fined up to $5,000 or imprisoned for up to five years. The same penalties apply to anyone convicted of intimidating a person seeking to register or vote, or intimidating anyone urging another to register and vote.

The above are the provisions of the Voting Right Act of particular interest to us. What implications does this law have for Alabama and the South? Dr. Martin Luther King estimates that by the end of August there will be 900,000 additional Southern Negroes registered--a million by August of 1966. Studies of the 1964 Presidential election have shown that Negro voters definitely supplied the margin of victory for the Democratic party in four Southern states and were of great significance in two others.

A clear majority of Negro voters is not necessary to influence an election. All that is needed is enough Negro and liberal white voters to be a factor to be reckoned with--to provide the margin of victory. Probably no single interest group, such as labor, farmers or home owners, has a majority of all votes, but they are taken into account simply because they cannot be ignored. Thus, increased Negro registration of whatever proportion will at least have a moderating effect upon campaigns and policies. And as Negro registration increases political recognition will go up correspondingly. Nor is it simply a question of voting for or against a given candidate; obviously many issues such as poverty, schools, police, jobs, representation on public policy making boards, paved streets and others are intricately bound up in all of this.

LECTURES IN EAST ALABAMA

The East Alabama Council on Human Relations has been sponsoring, jointly with the American Ethical Union, a series of lectures during July and August. The lectures have been held in the Westminister House, next to the Presbyterian Church in Auburn. Lecturers have included Mr. Robert Stein of the American Ethical Union Public Affairs Committee, speaking on "Separation of Church and State"; Richard Wasserstrom, Dean of Arts and Sciences at Tuskegee Institute, on "Civil Rights Legislation"; Dr. John Lovell, Education Department at Auburn, leading a panel discussion on "Anticipated Problems Occasioned by Public School Desegregation"; and Mr. Charles Morgan, southern regional director of the American Civil Liberties Union, who spoke on "Equal Justice Behind the Cotton Curtain." The lectures have been well-attended.

YOU ARE INVITED
ACHR TO HOST VOTING CONFAB

The Alabama Council on Human Relations is sponsoring a statewide conference on the Voting Rights Act of 1965, at the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery, on Saturday, October 2, 1965. The conference will convene in the Davis Room at 10:00 a.m., and will end at 4:30 p.m.

The purpose of the conference is two-fold: (1) to clarify the provisions of the Voting Rights Act, answering questions which participants may have; (2) to obtain from those attending information concerning compliance (or lack of compliance) in the several counties, problems and difficulties which have risen, information on the response among minority-group citizens or reasons for the lack of response, any reports of intimidation or reprisal, etc. We contemplate making a full report on the basis of the data gathered at the conference.

Among the speakers at the conference will be Mr. Wiley Branton, Executive Secretary of the President's Council on Equal Opportunity. Mr. Branton is an outstanding attorney, and was the Director of the Voter Education Project of the Southern Regional Council, 1962-1964.

Another participant will be Mr. William T. Atkinson, Director of the U. S. Civil Service Commission's federal registrars in Alabama.

Staff attorneys from the U. S. Civil Rights Commission and a battery of Alabama lawyers will serve as resource persons.

Please do not wait for further invitation. Any member of ACHR or anyone interested in this conference will certainly be welcome to attend. Invite friends and associates if you wish. There is no registration charge, but lunch will be "Dutch Treat."

HOSPITAL SURVEYS

The local Health and Hospital Committee chairman or the local council president where such chairmen have not yet been designated recently received some material from the state office concerning hospital desegregation under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Title VI forbids all discrimination in any program which, in whole or part, receives Federal financial assistance. And nearly every hospital in the country is covered under one of the innumerable Federal programs. HOW THEY DID IT:

BIRMINGHAM COUNCIL SPEARHEADS DRIVE FOR JEFFCO SCHOOL TRANSFERS

by Paul Berliner

(EDITOR'S NOTE: Paul Berliner, a student at Antioch College, worked extensively with the Birmingham Council this summer. He was in Birmingham under the auspices of the Lutheran Church. We are running his detailed account of the local school desegregation effort in the hope that it will be informative and suggestive to other local groups. Particularly do we hope that his concluding sentence will be taken to heart: "It is important to begin talking about next year's school desegregation now.")

In mid-July, shortly after the court approved Jefferson County's school desegregation plan, a special meeting of the Birmingham Council on Human Relations was called to organize a desegregation effort. Miss Jean Fairfax, National Representative for Southern Programs of the American Friends Service Committee, spoke and provided suggestions and guidance.

As a result of that session, a Coordinating Committee for the Acceleration of School Desegregation in Jefferson County was organized. Rev. Joseph Ellwanger was elected chairman. Members of the Alabama Christian Movement for Human Rights, the Birmingham Council on Human Relations, Concerned White Citizens of Alabama, and the NAACP represented their organizations in the coordinating committee. At their first meeting, the committee divided into three subcommittees.

The first subcommittee concerned itself with publicity. From studying the "freedom of choice" plans of the several school boards in the county, it was apparent that the school boards were not taking the initiative in desegregating the schools. The plans allowed a student to transfer to another school, but the responsibility for initiating any change rested on the shoulders of the Negro students or their parents. They had to be informed of the provisions of the plans and the procedures for transfer.

Steps were taken to disseminate the needed information and to encourage parents to take advantage of rights under the plans. Individual information sheets were printed for the four Jefferson County school systems, all of which were complying with court orders to desegregate: Bessemer, Birmingham, Fairfield, and Jefferson County. (Tarrant City's board refused to submit a plan to the Office of Education; the Mountain Brook system was not under court order and claimed that they had not accepted Federal money for years.) These information sheets included the school boards's desegregation plan, transfer procedures, and the names and phone numbers of individuals who could be contacted for assistance. The sheets were distributed at churches on a given Sunday.

Also included in the desegregation information sheets were the names of 37 community leaders and civic groups endorsing a statement of the importance of integrated education and urging parents to exercise their rights.

Local news media were contacted to further advertise the desegregation opportunities: The Catholic Week and the Birmingham World ran advertisements. Radio stations WENN and WJLD offered to announce the desegregation plans.

Members of the subcommittee spoke at Negro churches, mass movement rallies, and held desegregation workshops to arouse interest in the community. Mrs. Oscar Adams, one of the contact persons, spent many long hours encouraging parents to let their children transfer to better schools.

The second subcommittee was set up to select three Negro communities especially close to white schools for canvassing. The communities chosen were those in the vicinity of Elyton Elementary School, Graymont Elementary School and Ensley High School. These schools were chosen because they were known to have room for transfering students. Miss Eve McAlister and her group worked from Miles College canvassing each selected community, block-by-block, speaking to parents about school desegregation and offering any assistance needed.

The third subcommittee was set up to approach the boards of education for copies of the transfer application blanks in order to distribute them in the Negro community and to ask for better publicity for the plans. The boards insisted that each parent had individually to obtain a transfer application blank. Moreover, except for the Jefferson County board, which ran large ads in three editions of Birmingham dailies, the boards were negligent in publicizing the desegregation plans.

DID YOU SEE IN THE PAPER ....?

(IT'S STILL ALABAMA, AIN'T IT?)

The Black Belt legislators are not at all worried about the increase of Negro voters under the new law, according to Hugh Sparrow, a Birmingham News writer (8/15/65). They point out that most of the land on which Negroes live is owned by white landlords. In fact, Sparrow says, these landlords are urging their tenants to register. "In other words, there is nothing in the law to prevent a white land owner from urging his Negro tenants to vote for a certain candidate or for a certain issue to be decided in an election . . . In such cases bread and butter probably would have the stronger appeal."

* * * *

Just two days before an Episcopal minister was killed and a Roman Catholic priest gunned down by a "special deputy sheriff" in Hayneville, Alabama Public Safety Director Al Lingo had urged every sheriff and police chief in the state to form "sizeable reserves" of auxiliary police, firemen and deputies to combat "scheduled riots" which "will probably be in Montgomery, Mobile, Huntsville, Birmingham, and other major Alabama cities," and are "an outgrowth of civil disobedience taught by leaders of the Negro civil rights movement." (Birmingham Post-Herald, 8/18/65)

The Alabama State Sovereignty Commission contributed $49,000 of our tax money to "Fundamental Freedoms, Inc.", which was a Washington-based outfit seeking to defeat the Civil Rights Act. The funds were contributed between January and May of 1964. Fundamental Freedoms, Inc. advertised heavily, attacking the civil rights bill, in newspapers in Wisconsin, Indiana, and Maryland during Gov. George Wallace's campaigns in presidential primaries in those states. The Alabama legislature, having appropriated $50,000 for each of the two years that the Sovereignty Commission has been in existence, voted recently to up the appropriation to $100,000 for each of the next two years. (Birmingham News, 8/29/65)

* * * * * * * * * *

A full-page ad in the Birmingham News (8/29), paid for by 95 alleged chapters of the John Birch Society in the greater Birmingham area, claimed that the whole civil rights movement is a Communist conspiracy. The ad asserts that the average American Negro's "security of person and assurance of honorable treatment by his fellow citizens in all of the utilitarian relationships of living, have been exactly on a par with those of his white neighbors," and avers that the American Negro is more fortunate than "at least ninety per cent of the earth's population."

If Wallace signs a resolution passed by the Legislature on August 26, the administration building of each of the new junior colleges except one will be named "George Corley Wallace Hall." The exception is the college at Gadsden, where it will be "James B. Allen Hall"--for the Lieutenant Governor. However, the fine arts building at Gadsden will be Wallace Hall. (Birmingham News, 8/29/65)

* * * * * * * * * *

Governor Wallace, in his role as chairman of the State Board of Education, has announced the names of the 22 new trade schools and junior colleges. Six will bear the names of Confederate heroes. Two are named for Confederate statesmen. The school at Decatur was named for John C. Calhoun, famous champion of Southern interests in the early days of the republic. Three Negro schools were named for prominent Negroes: J. F. Drake (long-time president of A&M at Huntsville), George Washington Carver, and Booker T. Washington. (Birmingham Post-Herald, 9/1/65)

Representative William Dickinson has received from the office of Sheriff Jim Clark of Dallas County affidavits sworn by a one-armed Negro woman saying that she was promised $100 per month to participate in the Selma-Montgomery March, but got only three payments. Dickinson charged that many Alabama Negroes who participated in the march were misled and were "victimized by members of their own race for selfish purposes." Dickinson added that the Government Printing Office has received more requests for reprints of his speeches alleging widespread drunkenness and sexual irregularities in the Selma-Montgomery March than any other speech ever appearing in

"OPERATION RECLAIM"

The New York City Board of Education is sponsoring a program called Operation Reclaim which is directed at the problem faced by Southern Negro teachers who have been dismissed because of school desegregation problems. Under this program, the Board of Education will be equipped to place up to 500 such persons in teaching positions from pre-kindergarten through high school in the New York City school system (which has an attractive pay scale). If a teacher needs additional courses to get certified under state law, he will be sent to school at the Board's expense and, if time permits, work as a substitute teacher in his free time.

The plans of Operation Reclaim are to: (1) interview interested teachers in the teacher's own city or home, (2) pay the moving expenses of the teacher's family to New York City, (3) send the teacher to school or find him a full-time job depending upon his certification status , and (4) make every effort to find housing in accordance with the family's needs.

The ACHR has been asked to help by attempting to locate teachers who have lost their jobs due to school desegregation problems. If anyone knows of such a person you might explain the program to him, and if he is interested have him contact the state office or write to Dr. John King, New York City Board of Education, 110 Livingston Street, Brooklyn, New York, expressing his interest in Operation Reclaim and asking for additional information. Applications will be confidential and no supervisor will be contacted without the written consent of the teacher.

to hospitals, is very eager for citizens groups and private organizations to take a survey of hospitals and make their findings known to HEW, if there are evidences of discrimination, which HEW must investigate. So we mailed some HEW checklists, a memorandum, two newspaper articles about HEW, Title VI and hospitals, and a copy of HEW's regulations to the above mentioned people suggesting that it would be relatively simple to carry out a program such as this. We also emphasized that the results could easily be far greater than any efforts expended.

Anyone interested in taking part in this might contact his Health and Hospital Committee chairman or his local council president.

One of our greatest problems was lack of time. The period of time between the court's order and the school board's deadline for transfer applications was a little as two weeks, and in no case more than five.

In spite of this, the results of our work, together with the pressure exerted by the courts, were encouraging. In 1964 there were only seven Negro students in school with white children in Birmingham, none in Bessemer, Fairfield or Jefferson County. At the start of school this year, there are 13 in Bessemer, 54 in Birmingham, 28 in Fairfield, and 26 in Jefferson County--total of 121. Considered absolutely this is only tokenism, of course. But relatively this is significant progress.

At present, we are reorganizing the school desegregation project. Plans are to continue to work through the winter, spring and summer in preparation for next fall. As Miss Fairfax emphasized, the decision on the part of a Negro parent to send his child to a white school is not an easy one. There is understandably much fear and much apprehension. The parent's decision is one which can hardly be made in a day or even a week. For this reason, it is necessary to begin organizing a community toward desegregation well in advance of the coming school year. It is important to begin talking about next year's school desegregation now.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS

Members of the Board of Directors of the Alabama Council are to meet at the Dinkler-Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham at 10:00 a.m., on Saturday, September 25. This will be a full meeting of the Board, and we hope to have all members present.

CIVIL RIGHTS COMMISSION, MEMPHIS OFFICE

The U. S. Commission on Civil Rights recently opened a new field office in Memphis, Tennessee.

In announcing the opening of the office, William Taylor, staff director of the Comission, said that the office will serve nine states--Alabama, Arkansas, Kentucky,

ABOUT KOINONIA FARM

Your attention is called to the price list from "Koinonia Farm" of Americus, Georgia, which is enclosed with your bulletin this month.

Koinonia Farm is a Christian community which has sought over a period of 23 years to reach beyond its borders to witness to the brotherhood of man in difficult surroundings. For example, they have conducted bi-racial Vacation Bible Schools; a bi-racial children's camp was closed in 1956 by court injunction; and in many other ways.

Until the Supreme Court Decision of 1954, the community was on friendly terms with neighboring citizens, but after that things became difficult. Negro members of the community found it necessary to leave because of threats to them and their relatives. Koinonia Farm had to close its roadside stand and now depends almost entirely on their mail-order business.

Many members of the Alabama Council are friends and acquaintances of the Reverend Al Henry, former pastor of Pilgrim Congregational Church, Birmingham, who with his family is now a part of the Koinonia Farm community.

Louisiana, Mississippi, Missouri, Oklahoma, Tennessee and Texas.

Jacques E. Wilmore, a former Peace Corps official, will head the office and John Spence, a former newspaper reporter and editorial writer, will be the deputy director.

Information on Federal civil rights policies and programs will be available to persons in the nine-state region. The Memphis staff will also assist in carrying out the responsibility of the National office to collect and disseminate civil rights information, and to appraise the effectiveness of present civil rights laws.

Governor Wallace signed the bill, passed by the legislature, which authorizes payment of up to $185 per year from state funds toward tuition in a private, non-sectarian school for any pupil whose parents feel that attendance at public schools would be detrimental to the child's "physical or mental health." $1,750,000 was appropriated for the first year of the program, $2,000,000 the following year. (Huntsville Times, 9/2/65) (The segregationist Citizen's Councils are sponsoring private schools in many cities in Alabama.)

* * * * * * * * *

The Alabama Board of Education, Gov. George Wallace, Chairman, adopted a resolution urging local school systems to go no further than the minimum required by federal laws and courts in school desegregation. Anything more, they said, "could jeopardize the continued support by the public of public education." After the meeting, a telegram was sent to Superintendent R. A. Thornton of Lauderdale County charging that more Negroes were enrolled with whites there than in Montgomery or Birmingham. The proposed eventual elimination of Negro schools in Lauderdale County, they said, "could do more to destroy the public educational system in Alabama than any action since the infamous 1954 decision of the U. S. Supreme Court." They called on Thornton to "align your policies with the minimum requirements of the law and of court orders." (Huntsville Times, 9/3/65; Birmingham Post-Herald, 9/4/65)

Addressing the state legislature at the opening of their special session on reapportionment, Governor Wallace attacked the Supreme Court, the Justice Department and the Federal Government in general. "The court," he said, "has sanctioned, authorized, condoned and encouraged the occupation of small communities and now large ones by thousands of our of state riff-raff, Communists and fellow travelers, crooks, beatniks, prostitutes and bums and has handcuffed local law enforcement personnel who seek to prevent depredations against the peace and order." And the pot said of the kettle, "it has pampered and encouraged the criminal to believe that he can commit any crime with little likelihood of conviction." (Birmingham Post Herald, 9/10/65)

HEATED CHARGES AT VOTING MEET

Well over 200 people from more than three dozen different organizations attended the conference on the Voting Rights Act of 1965, sponsored by ACHR, in Montgomery on Saturday, October 2.

The acquittal of Tom Coleman, charged with manslaughter in the slaying of Jonathan Daniels, by a jury in Hayneville just two days before seemed to create an almost-tangible tension among the participants. The announcement, on the day before the conference, that Federal examiners would be sent to Montgomery mitigated the strain only somewhat.

The conferees, assembled in the Davis Room of the Jefferson Davis Hotel, heard representatives of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and other groups charge bitterly that the 1965 Act's provision of fines and imprisonment for those who intimidate prospective voters is practically meaningless. "Thousands of complaints have been properly written and properly placed," said one woman, "and nothing is done."

Others said that they could not encourage Negroes to go and register, knowing that they might be fired--if not shot--and knowing that there would be no recourse. "We certainly cannot look to local or state law enforcement officers. And if the Justice Department and the F.B.I. cannot do more than they have been doing, the protective provision of the law does not mean a thing."

Other participants replied that the charge that "nothing is done" is an unfair exaggeration--and cited the sending of Federal examiners to Montgomery.

The three principle speakers at the conference were Mr. Wiley Branton, Executive Secretary of the President's Council on Equal Opportunity; Mr. Harold

AN ALABAMA COUNCIL "SPECIAL REPORT" SAYS--

SCHOOL DESEGREGATION PLAN INEFFECTIVE

"Freedom-of-choice plans (for school desegregation) show little promise of effecting in Alabama the purpose and intent of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964."

This is the major conclusion of a 17-page "special report" which has been sent to the U. S. Office of Education and to school superintendents in Alabama by the Alabama Council on Human Relations. Prepared by the staff, the report was adopted by ACHR's Board of Directors on September 25.

The report does not suggest possible revisions or alternatives.

Title VI of the Civil Rights Act forbids racial discrimination in any program or activity receiving Federal financial assistance.

The Alabama Council report points out that, according to the Office of Education's statement of policies, this part of the law "prohibits the extension of Glickstein, General Counsel of the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights; and Mr. William T. Atkinson, State Voting Examiner of the U. S. Civil Service Commission. Mrs. Martha Witt Smith, Public Relations Chairman of the Alabama Board of Registrars Association, was scheduled but did not appear. The ABRA was represented, however.

Among the organizations represented were the Alabama Federation of Civil Leagues and several affiliates, the Alabama Democratic Conference and affiliates, the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (plus several local affiliates of the latter two), the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee, Alabama State Teachers' Association, League of Women Voters, Montgomery Central Council and Tri-Cities Labor Union (AFL-CIO), Montgomery Federation of Women's Clubs, the Anti-Defamation League, the Alabama Citizen's Advisory Committee to the U. S. Civil Rights Commissions and many others.

WHY THE VOTING RIGHTS ACT?

The subject of Mr. Branton's speech was "The Rationale of the Voting Rights Act." "It is rather ludicrous to discuss the reasons for the Voting Act of 1965 with you people gathered here," he said, "because your state and its officials have contributed more to its passage than any other in the U. S."

Branton said he knows from personal experience that the failure of America to live up to its own doctrine of liberty and human dignity is of astonishing interest in Europe and other parts of the world. He cited a trip to Europe which was supposed to last two weeks, but kept him there for five weeks because of the great interest in civil rights and the Voter Education Project. This, he said, is another reason for the Voting Rights Act.

Commenting on avowals by registrars in Southern states that they were complying with the law, Branton said that this does not do away with the need for Federal examiners. "You can't expect people to believe registrars who have discriminated for twenty years when they say that they are not going to discriminate now."

"This Act was necessary," Branton concluded, "because 100 years after the Civil War . . .there is still difficulty in getting the Southern states back into the Union."

WHAT THE VOTING RIGHTS ACT PROVIDES

Mr. Harold Glickstein outlined the provisions of the Act. In answer to the claim that the Voting Rights Act discriminates against certain states and is therefore vindicative, he pointed out that the law provides that any state which can prove in the Federal district court in Washington that it has not discriminated within the past five years can get Federal examiners withdrawn.

The affected states were not chosen arbitrarily, he said. The provision to do away with literacy tests in states where less than 50% of the eligible voters are registered or where less than 50% voted in the 1964 national election was not whimsical. In the last national election, he said, only nine states had less than 50% turnout of voters. Of these nine, seven had literacy tests. And six of these seven had large numbers of unregistered Negroes.

Mr. Glickstein said that these words of President Johnson need to be heard over and over again: "There is no Negro problem. There is no Southern problem. There is no Northern problem. There is only an American problem."

THE FEDERAL EXAMINERS

Mr. Atkinson, who had been given the subject, "The Role of the Federal Registrars," emphasized that there are no Federal registrars. They should be called "Federal examiners." They only determine the eligibility of voters under the new law. The county registrars must register those declared eligible.

Atkinson said that 21,000 persons have been listed by Federal examiners in Alabama since passage of the Act. "But business is down," he added. In some counties Federal examiners are now open only one day per week--Saturday--because of the reduced demand. He said that there were no applicants at all on the last day that examiners worked in Lowndes and Hale counties. (There was a murmur in the audience at this point.)

"RUMP SESSION"

After the conference ended some civil rights workers huddled with conference leaders for about an hour and a half. One man was heard to remark that while he would never advocate violence of any kind, he thought the Federal government was foolish to ignore the brutal murder of non-violent Negroes in Alabama and then go all-out to find out what was wrong when there is a riot in Los Angeles.

ACHR GETS BACK-PAT

President Nat Welch read the following self-explanatory letter to the Board of Directors at their meeting on September 25. It was addressed to Mr. Welch by Paul Anthony, Executive Director Designate of the Southern Regional Council:

"This is to express my regret at not being able to attend the board meeting of the Alabama Council on Saturday.

"I would like for you to know how pleased we are with ACHR and how impressed we are with the phenomenal progress of the past year.

"Statistically, that progress speaks for itself: the greatest percentage increase in membership and next to largest amount of funds raised from within the state.

"Equally significant though has been the extent to which the ACHR has become its membership. A large number of people do things, which is I think, the ideal of any council.

"These factors all mean to us that the officers, board and staff deserve our highest commendation. Please consider this as my effort to do that."

THE "IT'S STILL ALABAMA" DEPARTMENT—

The Reverend Otis Kirby reports that he and his wife, motoring through Lawrence County en route to Tuscumbia on the Saturday before Labor Day, were stopped twice by "road blocks" set up for the purpose of soliciting donations.

So what's new about that? This collection was for the Ku Klux Klan!!!

Mr. Kirby, formerly of Tuscumbia and now living in Decatur, is a retired Methodist minister and a member of ACHR's Board of Directors. Good man that he is, he customarily gives something whenever asked. "Did I contribute anything? Yes!!!" he reports. "I gave tham an irritated, disgusted glare."

In the fine Wesleyan tradition, we'll bet!

Federal financial assistance to any dual or segregated system of schools based on race." In order to continue to receive such assistance, "school officials must eliminate all practices characteristic of such dual or segregated systems."

Freedom-of-choice desegregation plans are not likely to attain this purpose, the Council's paper says, because "as long as certain schools can be understood by a community to be 'the Negro schools' Negro students are being discriminated against no matter if they are allowed to transfer to 'the white schools'."

The report interprets the results of the first year of school desegregation under Title VI as tending to confirm the widely-expressed fear that freedom-of-choice plans leave too much responsibility for school desegregation up to Negro parents who may be vulnerable to social and economic pressures and reprisals. "Under the conditions prevailing in Alabama," the report states, "a freedom-of-choice plan would say in effect, 'This school system will now make an exception to the rule for all Negro children whose parents insist upon it'."

The Office of Education's regulations, although allowing freedom-of-choice plans state: "The responsibility to eliminate segregation rests with the school authorities and is not satisfied by rules and practices which shift the burden of removing discrimination to the class or classes of persons previously discriminated against."

After pointing out that freedom-of-choice plans are basically similar to plans allowed by the courts, the report finds that Alabama's four largest cities, all under court-ordered plans for at least the third year, had few Negro students in school with white this fall--despite the added impetus of Title Vi requirements. Birmingham had 53; Mobile, 39; and Montgomery, 32. Figures were not available from Huntsville, but last year there were only 31.

The school system with the largest number of transfers, the report said, was Florence, with 142.

The report estimates the total number of Negroes enrolled in formerly white schools in the state at between 1,000 and 1,200. (That may be a generous estimate.) 1,000 would be only about one-third of one per cent of the total Negro school population of approximately 300,000. This is not a good start, the paper points out, when there are only three years to complete elimination of the dual school system--especially in view of the fact that about half of the districts desegregated all twelve grades this year.

Compared to the number of Negroes in school with whites in other Southern cities, "the cities of Alabama have managed only a token of tokenism," the report says.

YES! NOW IS THE TIME TO HOP ON THE BAND WAGON!

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS HAS JUST CLOSED ITS 1965 MEMBERSHIP YEAR WITH THE LARGEST ROLL OF MEMBERS IN THE ORGANIZATION'S HISTORY. AND IF YOU HAVE BEEN READING YOUR "BULLETIN" YOU KNOW HOW MANY GOOD THINGS ACHR AND THE LOCAL COUNCILS HAVE BEEN DOING.

MEMBERSHIP FEES PAID NOW WILL BE GOOD THROUGH 1966. ALL MEMBERSHIPS ARE DUE FOR RENEWAL ON JANUARY FIRST.

NOTE: WE MUST PRUNE OUR MAILING LIST. IF YOU HAVE NOT RENEWED YOUR MEMBERSHIP SINCE OCTOBER 1, 1964, YOU WILL NO LONGER RECEIVE THE "BULLETIN" AFTER THIS ISSUE UNLESS WE GET YOUR RENEWAL THIS MONTH. WE'LL BE GLAD TO BILL YOU, IF YOU DON'T HAVE THE MONEY RIGHT NOW! (WE DO SEND THE "BULLETIN" FREE TO A FEW V.I.P.'S. BUT WHY TAKE A CHANCE?--OR BE CONCEITED?

LET'S DO IT AGAIN IN SIXTY-SIX--AND THEN SOME!

COME TO MONTGOMERY FEBRUARY 5

BRING A FRIEND!

The most informative and stimulating Annual Meeting yet! That's what's in store in Montgomery on February 5, 1966, at the Jefferson Davis Hotel. We hope to see everyone there--plan now to attend.

As announced previously, Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman, member of the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, will be our featured speaker. And John Doar, Assistant Attorney General and head of the Civil Rights Division of the Justice Department, will be present to receive a certificate of appreciation from ACHR.

Although the agenda is not yet complete in every detail, it will take this form. Registration will be at 9:00 a.m., in the Civic Room. From 9:30 a.m. to 12:00 Noon, we will have seven "workshops" on Community Organization ( a definition and explanation, its purpose and methods); Education (school desegregation methods); Employment (Title VII, government contractors, job training programs); Federal Programs (an explanation of the provisions and meaning of the anti-poverty program, U. S. Department of Agriculture programs, the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965, the Housing and Urban Development Act of 1965 and others); Health and Hospitals (methods of desegregation under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964); Housing (fair housing and open occupancy, Federal legislation and executive orders); Voter Registration and Education (the provisions, results and enforcement of the Voting Rights Act, political education programs, political action programs).

Each workshop will have two or three knowledgeable resource persons with whom the participants will discuss ideas to be used at home, problems, opportunities, and so forth.

The luncheon will be in the Davis Room at 12:00 Noon, and Mrs. Freeman will deliver her address at 1:00 p.m.

A business session consisting of the introduction of the new Director of the Rural Advancement Project (see article pages 1-2), a report of the 1966 membership and financial campaign, reports from local chapters, 1966 budgetary considerations, the report of the nominating committee, the election of new officers and board members, and other items will be followed by adjournment at about 3:30 or 4:00 p.m.

Please do not miss this important meeting. We believe its main value will be: (1) the discussion and explanation of significant action programs which local chapters should be working on during 1966; (2) the valuable information and insights offered by both our featured speaker and honored guest. Certainly every officer and committee chairman of the local chapters should make a special effort to attend.

DIRECTOR OF RURAL ADVANCEMENT PROJECT

We are delighted to announce that Mr. Louis W. Black was unanimously approved at an ACHR executive committee meeting in Birmingham on January 12 as Director of the Rural Advancement Project (see November bulletin for an explanation of this project). (Continued on page 2)

Mr. Black, a native of Beatrice, Alabama, who has lived in Greensboro, Alabama for some years, comes to us with an impressive and enviable record.

He was raised on a farm and has managed the family farm; he is a product of the Monroe County Training School and of Alabama State College where he received his B. S. degree in 1950 with a major in Music and a minor in Mathematics. In the past few years, Black has organized three high school bands, conducted 15 high school and church choirs, and instructed over 1500 pupils for various musical instruments.

In 1960, Black helped organize and was elected President of the Hale County Progressive Association. The Progressive Association founded the Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union of which he is the Secretary-Treasurer and Manager (this credit union has since September 1961 made loans to its members of over $400,000!!). As Vice-President of the Hale County Improvement Association, Black was active in a voter registration drive last summer which resulted in over 4,000 Negroes registered to vote. Mr. Black is currently serving as Chairman of the Alabama Rural Areas Council.

Currently a farmer and school teacher in Greensboro, he will begin work as RAP Director on February 4, 1966. We are looking forward to working with him.

MUSCLE SHOALS MEMBER NAMED

Congratulations to Mr. Allen Black, Jr., an officer of the Muscle Shoals chapter and a member of ACHR's State Board of Directors. Allen has recently accepted a position with the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, Inc., as Associate Director of the Division of Legal Information and Services.

He will work out of Florence, covering Alabama and Mississippi for sure, and probably more. Allen's immediate concern will be working with local organizations and local people on school desegregation programs and fair employment practices.

BOARD OF DIRECTORS WILL MEET

The regular semi-annual meeting of ACHR's State Board of Directors will meet in the Pine Room of the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery, at 6:30 p.m., on February 4, 1966.

ACHR SPONSORS STUDENT CONFERENCE

The Alabama Council on Human Relations will sponsor a statewide student conference at the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery, Alabama, on February 4, 1966.

This conference, made possible through a modest grant from the Southern Regional Council, is intended to bring together students and faculty and administrators from Alabama's colleges and universities so they might be further acquainted with and involved in the issues and problems facing the academic community.

During the Alabama Student Human Relations Conference on May 15, 1965, which was co-sponsored by the Southern Human Relations Project of the U. S. National Student Association and ACHR, the participants named a steering committee to plan an organizational meeting in the fall of 1965. This meeting was not held. Hence our plans to hold such a meeting in conjunction with ACHR's annual meeting.

The purpose of holding a conference immediately prior to our annual meeting is three fold: (1) to insure maximum student participation in the annual meeting itself--students will be encouraged to participate in this meeting; (2) to use the annual meeting as an added incentive for students to attend the student conference; (3) to avoid duplication of effort--many issues and problems about which students are concerned are identical to those which will be examined in the annual meeting itself.

The conference will begin with a Registration and Get-Acquainted Session at 6:00 p.m., in the Civic Room. A 7:00 to 8:00 p.m. session in the Civic Room will feature a talk by a speaker who has not yet been finally selected. He will talk about those issues which will be examined in greater detail in the seminars. The talk will be followed by a question and answer period. (Continued on page 5)

1966 MEMBERSHIP AND FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN NEARS COMPLETION

At this writing things look hopeful, perhaps encouraging, but not yet overwhelming. Begun in Mid-December, the 1966 campaign for members and funds is to be completed before the annual meeting. Hopefully, we will have a "Victory Statement," and not just an "indication of good intention statement," at the annual meeting, of our efforts to enlist people and obtain finances for ACHR's 1966 programs and efforts to make 1967 a little better place for all Alabamians to live and work and learn and play.

Our goal for this year is 1,250 members and at least $28,000 (including membership fees). A campaign plan has been drawn up, quotas set for each local chapter and local campaign committees are hard at work.

"Challenge meetings"--special meetings of each chapter to "kick-off" the general membership-funds solicitation--have either already been held or are scheduled. The East Alabama and Muscle Shoals chapters had their meetings on January 6, the Talladega District chapter on January 8, and the Tuscaloosa chapter on January 11. People of Mobile will be challenged on January 18, of Huntsville on January 19, of Birmingham on January 25, and of Montgomery on January 29.

The idea of a challenge meeting is to give members and friends an opportunity to advance the cause of justice and dignity by renewing their membership and making a pledge (or a statement of intent) for the financial undergirding of ACHR. The purpose of increased membership is to have more people available to work on significant programs at the local level; the primary purpose of increased finances is to help to get more significant programs available at the local level). Following each challenge meeting, personal visits are made to all who have not yet taken advantage of this opportunity.

So far we've had excellent cooperation all over the state. Many local chapters are working hard; others are now shifting into high. Mr. Max Baer is heading up the drive in Birmingham. The Muscle Shoals campaign is led by Mrs. T. W. Mullins. In Huntsville, it's Dr. Mary Pandow. Dr. C. G. Gomillion and Mr. Neil Davis are jointly leading the East Alabama effort. Mr. D. C. Clark chairs the committee for the Talladega District. Mr. James Wood in Mobile, Mrs. A. W. West in Montgomery, Mr. Bernest Brooks in Enterprise and Dr. Joe Bettis in Tuscaloosa complete the roster of local campaign leaders.

With something more than three weeks before the "Victory Statement" here is how things stand (figures below are as of January 11, but don't include Tuscaloosa's challenge meeting). Sorry, but we have not yet computed the number of new or renewed members. (Continued on Page 4)

Members and friends of ACHR are urged to fill out the registration form on the last page of this bulletin and mail it in or hand it to the president or secretary of their local council. This will help us to know how many lunches to order and how to set up the workshops. Bring a guest!

See you in the Cradle of the Confederacy!

As the above figures indicate, we're on the way but we haven't arrived--yet. Our "At Large" friends might note that since there is no "Total Goal" figure for them, they will probably determine whether or not we pass the minimum figure (and that's what it is) of $28,000. *So if you live where there is no organized chapter, or if you live outside Alabama, or if for any reason you have not yet given us your help, please let us have your membership, contribution or pledge at your earliest convenience (if you make a contribution or pledge, you automatically become a member.) ACHR SPONSORS STUDENT CONFERENCE (Continued)

Three seminars, held simultaneously from 8:00 to 9:45 p.m., will focus upon Student Issues (academic freedom, student newspapers, students and policy making, curriculum reform and student government), Current Student Activities on College Campuses (the background, composition, activities, problems and plans of various student organizations), and Programs for Student Involvement in the Community (tutorials, voter registration and education, public and private "anti-poverty" programs, work with local chapters of ACHR and community organization). Each seminar will have two or three knowledgeable resource persons with whom the participants will examine and discuss the above issues, activities and programs.

A General Session from 9:45 to about 10:30 p.m. will consist of: (1) brief reports from each seminar and (2) a discussion of the feasibility and desirability of an Alabama Intercollegiate Council on Human Relations or some like named student organization. In the event that the participants should like to examine or make plans for such an organization at greater length, a room has been reserved for this purpose at 2:00 p.m., on February 5 (it should be noted that this meeting would coincide with the business session of ACHR's annual meeting).

There will be no registration fee. Students are strongly urged to make every effort to secure accommodations for themselves with friends and relatives living in Montgomery so they might attend the annual meeting the next day. If a student cannot secure such accommodations, we will, if so instructed, make hotel reservations for him. A double room for one night costs $8.50 ($4.25 per person) at the hotel. And if a student cannot afford $4.25, we will be able to pay part of the room expenses for some of those students.

We strongly urge every interested student and every interested faculty member and college administrator to put this date on their calendar and to fill out and mail in the registration form below. We hope that all the participants at the student conference will make plans to attend the annual meeting the next day. That's February 4, 1966, at 6:00 p.m., at the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery.

EXTRA! EXTRA! EXTRA! EXTRA! EXTRA!

FINAL PLANS FOR ANNUAL MEETING

This "extra" edition of the ACHR monthly bulletin is prompted by our hope that knowledge of the final plans for our Annual Meeting will encourage everyone to attend it. So we have listed below the complete plans for the meeting with special emphasis on the "workshops." We think the workshops will be of particular value because (1) of the type of resource persons who will be present and (2) these workshops are not intended to be simply a discussion of theoretical issues since their aim is to bring practical information to the workshop participants about how to approach and attempt to influence those issues presented.

LET'S MAKE IT A HOWLING SUCCESS

Therefore, if you believe you could profit from the information provided by the workshops, or by any one workshop, please do come. You can also plan on an informative and stimulating talk by Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman--our keynoter. If any of your friends and associates are interested bring them along. And, finally, it should be made clear that this meeting is not only for ACHR members; if you are not a member of ACHR don't let that worry you--anyone interested is welcome. Nor is it necessary for you to pre-register through the mail. In short--if you want to come, then come.

AGENDA FOR ACHR'S ANNUAL MEETING IN MONTGOMERY
JEFFERSON DAVIS HOTEL
SATURDAY, FEBRUARY 5, 1966

9:00 a.m. REGISTRATION Civic Room
There will be no registration fee. NOTE: All resource persons and moderators will meet at 9:00 a.m. in the Civic Room.

9:30 to 12:00 Noon Seven simultaneous workshops--take your choice

COMMUNITY ORGANIZATION Capital Room

Resource persons:
Julian Hall, Field Director, Alabama NAACP, Birmingham.
Al Ulmer, Director of Community Organization project, Southern Regional, Council, Atlanta.

Topic:
Community organization will be defined and explained; its purpose, methods and objectives will be discussed. The main idea here will be "how-to-do-it." (Continued on page 3).

LAST CALL FOR STUDENT CONFERENCE

As previously announced the ACHR will sponsor a statewide student conference at the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery beginning at 6:00 p.m. on February 4, 1966. Every interested student, faculty and administration member from any junior college, college and university in Alabama is invited and welcome. So--spread the word and bring a friend!! There will be no registration fee. Participants in this conference are invited to attend the annual meeting the next day. We hope the following agenda is sufficiently promising to attract a large crowd. We are expecting over 100 persons from nearly every college in the state. If you haven't pre-registered that's O.K. Come anyway!!

AGENDA FOR STUDENT CONFERENCE
FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 4, 1966

Resource persons: Cortland Cox; Joretha McCall, TREC; Al Ulmer; students as of yet unsecured from Miles College and the Birmingham student group.

9:45 p.m. GENERAL SESSION Civic Room
This session will consist of: (1) brief reports from each seminar, and (2) a discussion of the feasibility and desirability of an Alabama Intercollegiate Council on Human Relations or some like named organization. In the event that the participants should like to examine or make plans for such an organization at greater length, a room has been reserved for such a purpose at 2:00 p.m. on Saturday, February 5, 1966.

NOTICE AN IMPORTANT ANNOUNCEMENT!! NOTICE

We will have a SOCIAL HOUR in the Civic Room beginning immediately after the student conference (about 10:00 or 10:30). So if you arrive early for the Annual Meeting, or if you attend the student conference or if you are a member of ACHR's Board of Directors or if you just plain want to meet some folks we'll be looking for you.

EDUCATION Davis Room

Resource persons:

Mrs. Winifred Falls, School Desegregation Consultant, Southern Regional Council, Atlanta.

We will also have members of local chapters of ACHR who have worked on school desegregation projects in their areas.

Topic:

The entire session will be spent on school desegregation methods. How to organize a community-wide program of information to Negro parents and students concerning the transfer process will be the only topic.

EMPLOYMENT Civic Room

Resource persons:

Charles Brandon, Director of the Pulaski-Calvary Rehabilitation Center, Huntsville.

We hope to have a staff member of the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights.

Topics:

Mr. Brandon will discuss vocational guidance programs and job training programs. MDTA, OJT, the role of Employment Service offices and of private industry, grants and programs available and how to get them will be his major topics.

The other half of this workshop will be devoted to Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (the fair employment title), the responsibilities of government contractors, the nature and role of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the complaint process and other matters dealing with fair employment regulations and how to use them.

FEDERAL PROGRAMS Civic Room

Resource persons:

Louis Black, Director of ACHR's Rural Advancement Project, Greensboro.

William Zierden and William May both of the Community Action Program, Office of Economic Opportunity, Southern Regional Office, Atlanta.

We hope to have two other persons. One will discuss Federal housing programs and the other Federal and State education programs.

Topics:

The above persons will explain and answer questions about the provisions and meaning of the anti-poverty program in general and its status in Alabama, U. S. Department of Agriculture programs, the various education acts and programs, the Department of Housing and Urban Development and the various housing acts and programs.

HEALTH AND HOSPITALS Senate Room

Resource persons:

Mrs. Sherry Arnstein, Special Assistant to the Assistant Secretary, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington

We will also have members of local chapters of ACHR who have worked with community-wide programs on Title VI compliance.

Topic:

The entire session will be devoted to methods of desegregation under Title VI. The meaning and intent of Title VI will be explained; suggestions on how to organize a community-wide program on Title VI will be made; the role of private individuals and groups and the complaint process will be defined as will the responsibilities of HEW. Hospitals, welfare offices, rehabilitation centers and other similar agencies will be the focal points.

HOUSING Pine Room

Resource persons:

At this writing, we're sorry to say, we have not definitely secured anyone. However, we are confident of doing so by February 5. (Continued on page 4).

Topics:

Programs on fair housing and open occupancy will be presented; provisions of various Federal housing programs will be explained. The nature, meaning and role of the Department of Housing and Urban Development, the President's Committee on Equal Opportunity in Housing and presidential executive orders will also be presented.

VOTER REGISTRATION AND EDUCATION Jefferson Room

Resource persons:

Cortland Cox, Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.
C. G. Gomillion, Alabama Council on Human Relations.
Rufus Lewis, Alabama Democratic Conference, Inc.
William Mintz, Committee on Political Education, AFL-CIO.

Topics:

The Voting Rights Act--its provisions, results and enforcement--will be discussed as will political action groups. The techniques of political organization will be explained. The organization and objectives of and the need for political education programs will be presented.

12:00 Noon to 2:00 P.M. LUNCHEON Davis Room

Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman, one of six members of the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, will be our featured speaker. An attorney, Mrs. Freeman is presently Associate General Counsel of the St. Louis Housing and Land Clearance Authorities.

Mr. John Doar, head of the Civil Rights Division of the U. S. Department of Justice, will be present to receive an award from ACHR.

AGENDA FOR STUDENT CONFERENCE

Friday, February 4, 1966

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 6:00 - 7:00 p.m. | Registration and Get-Acquainted | Civic Room of the Jefferson Davis Hotel |
| 7:00 - 8:00 p.m. | Mr. Courtland Cox, Field Secretary for the Student Non-Violent Co-ordinating Committee | Civic Room. A speech by Mr. Cox will be followed by a question and answer period. |

8:00 - 9:45 p.m. Three Simultaneous Seminars

Student Issues
Issues discussed here will include academic freedom, student newspapers, students and policy making, curriculum reform and the role and function of student government.

Current Student Activities on College Campuses
The background, composition, activities, problems and plans of various student organizations will be presented by students representing those organizations.

Programs for Student Involvement in the Community
Issues discussed here will include tutorials, voter registration and political education, public and private "anti-poverty" programs, community organization and work with local chapters of the Alabama Council on Human Relations.

Each seminar will have resource persons, most of whom will be students. These persons will bring information and ideas and suggested activities which persons attending the conference might put to use. We expect up to 100 persons from nearly every school in the state to be at this conference.

9:45 - 10:30 p.m. General Session Civic Room

This session will consist of: (1) brief reports from each seminar , and (2) a discussion of the feasibility and desirability of an Alabama Intercollegiate Council on Human Relations or some like named student organization. In the event that the participants should like to examine or make plans for such an organization at greater length, a room has been reserved for this purpose at 2:00 p.m., on February 5 (it should be noted that this meeting would coincide with the business session of ACHR's annual meeting).

NOTE: The Civic Room has been reserved for after 10:30 p.m., so plan to stay and get acquainted with everyone at that time.

ACHR SPONSORS STUDENT CONFERENCE

The Alabama Council on Human Relations will sponsor a statewide student conference at the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery, Alabama, on February 4, 166.

This conference, made possible through a modest grant from the Southern Regional Council, is intended to bring together students and faculty and administrators from Alabama's colleges and universities so they might be further acquainted with and involved in the issues and problems facing the academic community.

During the Alabama Student Human Relations Conference on May 15, 1965, which was co-sponsored by the Southern Human Relations Project of the U. S. National Student Association and ACHR, the participants named a steering committee to plan an organizational meeting in the fall of 1965. This meeting was not held. Hence our plans to hold such a meeting in conjunction with ACHR's annual meeting.

The purpose of holding a conference immediately prior to our annual meeting is threefold: (1) to insure maximum student participation in the annual meeting itself--students will be encouraged to participate in this meeting; (2) to use the annual meeting as an added incentive for students to attend the student conference; (3) to avoid duplication of effort--many issues and problems about which students are concerned are identical to those which will be examined in the annual meeting itself.

There will be no registration fee. Students are strongly urged to make every effort to secure accommodations for themselves with friends and relatives living in Montgomery so they might attend the annual meeting the next day. If a student cannot secure such accommodations, we will, if so instructed, make hotel reservations for him. A double room for one night costs $8.50 ($4.25 per person) at the hotel. And if a student cannot afford $4.25, we will be able to pay part of the room expenses for some of those students.

The agendas for both the student conference and the annual meeting will be found on the following pages. Please examine them and then decide whether or not you are interested in attending both meetings.

We strongly urge every interested student and every interested faculty member and college administrator to put this date on their calendar and to fill out and mail in the registration form below. (If you fail to send the form in, please feel free to attend anyway.) BRING A FRIEND. We hope that all the participants at the student conference will make plans to attend the annual meeting the next day. That's February 4, 1966, at 6:00 p.m., at the Jefferson Davis Hotel in Montgomery.

1966 CAMPAIGN NEARS COMPLETION

As the 1966 membership and financial campaign enters its final stage, it is apparent that one final "push" will be necessary. As indicated below (these figures include all memberships, contributions and pledges received as of Wednesday, February 23), the membership campaign is coming along nicely; therefore, since we have only reached about 54% of our financial quota, the final push will have to concentrate upon contributions and pledges.

SCHOOL DESEGREGATION PROJECTS ORGANIZED

From all indications, many local chapters are in the midst of making careful plans to conduct as their number one priority item, intensive school desegregation projects this year.

The following items may be of interest to all local chapters. (1) Mrs. Kathy Wood from Mobile reports, "We had a pleasant surprise in our school desegregation program. The mother of a child who transferred this year arranged a meeting for us in her neighborhood with about 18 interested mothers in attendance. It was so successful that we hope we can get other mothers like her to do the same. This method of approach seems so obvious . . . but I mention it because other councils may also have overlooked this possibility." (2) East Alabama has already asked for 10 students to work on school desegregation this summer (see article on page 4). (3) Huntsville's chapter is sponsoring with the local NAACP and the Community Service Committee a "Committee on School Desegregation." They are now getting endorsements from churches, individuals, civic groups, PTA's, Teachers Associations, and other similar groups. (4) A State Leadership Conference on School Desegregation, co-sponsored by ACHR, will be held March 12, in Montgomery (see story on page 2 for details). (5) Chapters and other groups planning school desegregation projects must recognize the need to organize now (at least one school system has already had its transfer period!).

The first thing you need to know is the transfer date for your area. You might consider requesting from your superintendent or school board the transfer date and other pertinent information such as their transfer policy this year, who must authorise the transfer (one or both parents, the child himself), who can obtain an application form for transfer, where and when may you get it, what job protection will be afforded Negro teachers, and other similar information.

If you live where there is no organized chapter, or if you live outside Alabama, or if for any other reason you have not yet given us your help, please let us have your membership, contribution or pledge at your earliest convenience (if you make a contribution or pledge, you automatically become a member). Use the application on Page 4.

Medicare's $3 per month voluntary doctor insurance plan must be applied for by March 31. This is very cheap coverage, but it is not automatic.

If you are interested in helping with this program, call at once your Social Security office to find out: (1) what has been done, (2) exactly what the rules are concerning election of this coverage, and (3) whether or not the local office will provide lists of eligible people. Ask your OEO if you can cooperate with "Medicare Alert," which is a government program to recruit signatures for Medicare.

ANNUAL MEET REPORT: GOMILLION NAMED

The Annual Meeting of the Alabama Council on Human Relations attracted over 200 persons representing 35 different organizations from about 40 cities and towns. Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman, a member of the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, delivered a thoughtful analysis of where we are and where we should be going. John Doar, Assistant Attorney General, was also present to receive a statement of appreciation from ACHR which said, "In appreciation for your effectively rendered service to the cause of justice in Alabama and throughout the South."

New officers for 1966 are: President, Dr. C. G. Gomillion, Tuskegee Institute; Vice Presidents, Dr. Ray Fowler, Tuscaloosa; Dr. Lucius Pitts, Birmingham; and Father Brice Joyce, Sheffield; Secretary, Mrs. Paul McCoy, Birmingham. "At Large" members of the 1966 Executive Committee include: Rev. V. A. Edwards, Tuskegee Institute; Mr. James Kidd, Birmingham; Rev. Powers McLeod, Mobile; Mr. Jerry Roden, Auburn.

The Student Conference sponsored by ACHR was attended by about 80 students and faculty members representing 18 different organizations from 12 colleges and universities. There was no final decision about the need for or feasibility of some kind of student human relations organization. Since the meeting, many students have said they believe a meeting to examine this idea should be held later in the school year.

Don't forget--the membership and financial campaign is drawing to a close. Be sure to avail yourself of the opportunity to contribute to a better Alabama. And tell your friends about this--that's what friends are for.

STANFIELD AND WELCH HONORED

The following two resolutions were unanimously approved at ACHR;s annual meeting:

WHEREAS the Alabama Council on Human Relations has won the 1965 George Mitchell Award for the largest percentage increase in membership of any state council on human relations in the South;

WHEREAS (in the opinion of the Board of Directors) this has been by far the most important year in the history of the organization in program improvement and execution;

WHEREAS the person most responsible for these accomplishments has been the Executive Director, J. Edwin Stanfield, who has shown great dedication, loyalty, intelligence, compassion, diplomacy, integrity, and high ideals in the execution of his duties; therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED that the Board of Directors take this means of expressing to Mr. Stanfield our great appreciation and thanks for a job "well done" and our best wishes for success as he undertakes his important new assignment as Field Director of the Southern Regional Council.

WHEREAS the Alabama Council on Human Relations in the past year has had unprecedented progress in program, membership and finance;

WHEREAS as a result of this significant recognition has come to us statewide and regionally;

WHEREAS one member of the Board of Directors has given unstintingly of his time in the promotion of membership and fund-raising;

WHEREAS he has now transferred to another state to a position of more responsibility; therefore,

BE IT RESOLVED that we express our appreciation to Nat Welch, our dynamic, energetic and retiring President;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED that we offer him our support in his new efforts and bid him: "Call us when he wills for our continued help."

REV. J. C. WILSON

It is with regret and sadness that we note the death of Rev. J. C. Wilson on Sunday, February 6.

Rev. Wilson, a resident of Tuskegee and a long time participant in ACHR, was Vice President of ACHR in 1965, and had been elected at our Annual Meeting on February 5 as Treasurer for 1966.

Alabama has lost a good man. We have all lost a warm friend.

ACHR SPONSORS DESEGREGATION MEET

To help inform citizens of the new possibilities in school desegregation and to aid them in organizing communities, a State Leadership Conference on School Desegregation will be held on March 12, in Montgomery, Alabama.

The Conference is being sponsored by the Alabama Council on Human Relations, the Alabama State Conference of Branches--NAACP, the American Friends Service Committee, the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

The meeting will be from 9:30 a.m. to 5:00 p.m., on Saturday, March 12. It will be held at the First CME Church, corner of Holt and Glass Streets in Montgomery, and is open to everyone.

The program will include speakers from the Equal Educational Opportunities Program of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare, the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, the U. S. Department of Justice, SCLC, and the American Friends Service Committee. Most of the afternoon session will be devoted to workshops explaining how to organize a community-wide effort on school desegregation. There will be funds to provide the actual cost of gasoline for attending the conference.

SUMMER COMMUNITY WORKERS AVAILABLE

College students will almost definitely be available to work with local chapters, or with any other local organization this summer. If you are interested in having students assigned to work with you in school desegregation, voter registration, citizenship education or Title VI compliance surveys or in almost any other project, please write to the state office of ACHR at once.

Your letter should, in one short paragraph, state: (1) the number of students you would need, (2) what type of project (s) the students would be working with, (3) what expenses--housing, food, subsistence money--you would be able to provide and (4) what organization and what person in that organization the students would be assigned to. We will have to know by March 15. Any organization, ACHR chapter or not, may apply. The East Alabama chapter already has its bid in for 10 students. First come--first served!

NEXT MEETING

St. Thomas Episcopal Church
Sunday, February 20, 8:00 p.m.
100 Bob Wallace Avenue, S. W.

The Education Committee will present the program at this month's meeting. The two major projects of this committee will be explained. First, the exciting progress of our study hall sessions for students in need of help and encouragement with their school work will be related. Questions and suggestions about the program may be directed to Joe Gannon and Joe Wilson and the many others who are volunteering their help. Second, Jane Reed will outline the work of the Committee for School Desegregation, made up of representatives of the Huntsville Council, the N.A.A.C.P., and the Community Service Committee. Plans have been made to provide every Negro family with information about the regulations and procedures for transferring their children to traditionally white schools. This task is vitally needed in Huntsville in the next few months, and with the cooperation of all concerned citizens the challenge can and will be met!

MEET LEWIS BLACK

The state council has recently been fortunate enough to add Mr. Lewis Black to the staff to work in rural counties on a Rural Advancement Project, funded by a foundation grant through the Southern Regional Council. A native of the Black Belt who now makes his home in Greenville, Mr. Black has has invaluable experience in the field of human relations for many years. On Thursday night, February 10, at 8:00 p.m., you will have the opportunity to meet this new staff man informally at the home of Marge and Vernon Nieberlein, 2419 Henry Street. Do try to come and hear about his exciting plans for the future.

ANNUAL MEETING

Over two hundred people traveled from all over the state last weekend to attend an outstanding annual meeting of the Alabama Council on Human Relations in Montgomery. It was not many years ago when the Tuskegee campus was the only sanctuary in the state where we could meet annually. We all knew there was a new day dawning in Alabama as we listened to the excellent speakers and participated in the stimulating workshops in the Jefferson Davis Hotel, a stone's throw from our state capitol building. Don and Ester Ring, Joe Gannon, Mary Pandow, Evelyn Falkowski, Joan Cashin, Jane Reed, Dee and Ralph Olsen, Marge Nieberlein and her daughter Judy, Charles and Rose Brandon, Jan and Bob Valder, Phil Reynolds Connie Tanner, and Terry Conner made the trip from Huntsville. We would like to take this opportunity to congratulate our professional staff people, Bob Valder and Mrs. Benny Rogers, for their dedicated efforts to make this meeting the success that it was.

More details about the workshops and speeches will appear in the next state council newsletter which you will receive if you are a paid member. If you take this as a subtle hint, you are right--we need and welcome your membership.

STUDY HALLS EXPANDING

A second study hall will open on Thursday, February 10, at the Scruggs Street Community Center, and will operate on Mondays and Thursdays thereafter from 6:00 - 8:00.

Sessions will continue to be held at the same times at Union Chapel Church. And two other sites are under consideration. Volunteers are needed to staff these programs.

Joe Gannon, Education Committee Chairman

PROGRAM TO HONOR STUDENTS

Fellowship Presbyterian Church will have a special program in honor of those students who have desegregated Huntsville schools. James Peoples, a senior at Butler High School, will speak for the students, and they all will be commended for their contribution to our community and indeed to our nation. A challenge will be offered to the other students present, their parents, and to the community in general to follow the fine example set by these youngsters and their families. Speakers on the program will also include Mrs. John Cashin, Mrs. Bill Reed, and Mr. Bob Valder. The church choir will provide music and refreshments will be served following the program.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING

The Executive Board of the Huntsville Council met on February 7 and took the following actions:

Appointed Mrs. Edward Falkowski and Dr. Mary Pandow to serve as co-chairmen of the Employment Committee.

Instructed the Finance chairman to send a special mailing to potential members not yet reached by other means to encourage these persons to join the state council.

Agreed to hold the next Executive Board meeting at the Union Chapel Church so that members may observe a study hall session in action.

Asked Employment Committee to investigate the possibilities of setting up a project to encourage more domestic workers to enroll in the Social Security Program and report back to the Board at the next meeting.

Finalized plans for general meeting to be held on February 20, and discussed the March meeting.

Asked Membership Chairman to explore possibilities of acquainting students attending local colleges with the local council and its goals.

THE MOBILE COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS — Mobile, Alabama

Mrs. Kathleen K. Wood, President
Mrs. Joan Lamb, Editor

February, 1966
Vol. 1, No. 6

Meeting

|---|---|
| February 15, 8:00 | Church of the Good Shepherd605 Donald Street |
| Topic: | Mobile's Most Pressing Problems in the Area of Civil Rights |
| Speakers: | Rev. Albert S. Foley, S.J., Dr. R.W. Gilliard, Mr. John L. LeFlore, Mr. Frank Thomas, Bishop William M. Smith, Mr. David Underhill |
| Moderator: | Rev. John W.B. Thompson |

Periodically we need to consider where we are in Mobile and how best to proceed. To help us determine what is the area of major concern right now in Mobile we have called together a distinguished panel of men active in various aspects of civil rights work and of varying views. Each panelist will make a brief statement giving his opinion of our present situation following which the meeting will be thrown open for discussion and questions from the floor.

This should be a most interesting and provocative meeting. Plan now to attend. PLEASE NOTE that because of Mardi Gras our meeting this month will be held on the third, rather than the fourth, Tuesday. Our March meeting will also be on the third Tuesday in order that we may have as our speaker Mayor Joseph N. Langan.

Report on the State Convention

Those of us able to attend enjoyed an exciting day last Saturday at the annual meeting of the Alabama Council on Human Relations. The meeting gave us an opportunity to evaluate our progress throughout the state, to gain a fresh prospective, and a new sense of direction for the coming year. Among those attending from Mobile were Mr. Jerry Rushing, Mr. John Milton, the Rev. Powers McLeod, Mrs. Joan Lamb, Mrs. E. B. Goode, Mr. and Mrs. Blair Hamlin, Mrs. Dorothy Williams, the Rev. Dallas Blanchard, Mr. and Mrs. James Wood, Mr. Palmer Hamilton and Mr. Harry Witte.

During the morning session workshops were held on Education, Health and Hospitals, Voter Registration and Education, Federal Programs, Employment, and Community Organization. The Mobile delegation tried to cover as many of the workshops as possible in order to bring back to Mobile all the information available.

At the afternoon business meeting Dr. Charles G. Gomillion was elected President of the Alabama Council and among those elected to the Board of Directors of the state Council were two Mobilians, the Rev. John W. B. Thompson and Mrs. Kathleen K. Wood.

Have You Volunteered?

It is becoming increasingly obvious to all of us that the key to equal opportunity and equal participation in a democratic society is education. An improved education for all with barriers for none is surely our most pressing goal. Each day that the achievement of this goal is delayed many people are denied their own personal fulfillment, and their ability to contribute to our society is limited. All of us are the losers.

School desegregation is the first step toward true equality of opportunity. The Mobile Council is at work on a project to encourage as many children as possible to apply for school transfers. We need many more volunteers to visit with the parents and children to strengthen them in their resolve to obtain the best possible education. Future job equality demands educational equality today. Won't you help us in this to insure that today's children will not be tomorrow's unemployed?

Solutions Needed

Can you help us solve a problem? Why, when membership in the Mobile Council stands at a record high, has attendance at our recent meetings dropped to a record low? Since we are not in the entertainment business we can't compete with The Fugitive or Red Skelton but we do offer you important and interesting meetings, uninterrupted by commercials (well, only a few commercials.) More to the point: WE NEED YOU AT THE MEETINGS.

It is obvious that the time is upon us when the Council should be more and more a working organization. Happily the days are past when we had to meet under cover, hear an informative talk, and then scurry off into the night hoping that no one had copied down our license tag numbers. Our work is now cut out for us. It is work that sorely needs to be done: but it will be poorly done, or not done at all, unless our meetings are well and consistently attended by you our members.

It's no news that everyone is busy etc., etc. But neither is it news that most of us can find time to do what we really want to do. We are happy that so many persons have lent their names (and their dues!) to the Mobile Council. Now please also lend us your bodies, in person.

Come to the meetings! That's the only way we can effectively function. This is the problem -- and you are the solution.

Finance and Membership Drive Report

Over 100 people attended the dinner meeting January 18th which marked the opening of our membership and finance drive. 47 new members joined that night and 55 others renewed their memberships. Over $900. was collected in pledges.

Our quota for this year is 150 members and $2600, including both membership dues and contributions. We now have 123 members and have raised a total of $1497. 36 of our 1965 members have not yet renewed their memberships for 1966, not including those who have moved from Mobile during the year. If you are among these 36 please send in your renewal today or turn it in at this month's meeting. Unless you have paid your dues since October 1, 1965, your membership has expired and it is time to renew.

When all 36 have renewed your memberships we will have surpassed our membership quota BUT we will still be almost $1,000 short of our finance goal. The Council, like any other organization, cannot operate without funds. At our February meeting we will be discussing the progress which has been made in Mobile and the problems which remain. To solve these problems will require money: much more money will be required to solve the problems of Lowndes County. The Alabama Council needs any contribution you can make.

If you have not as yet made a pledge for 1966 please try and do so now. You may pay your pledge in whatever way is most convenient for you. Complete the form below and mail it to the address shown. If you wish to enclose a check now, please make it payable to the ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS.

MEMORANDUM

To : Local Chapter Presidents, Local Education Committee Chairmen and/or Desegregation Committee Chairmen

From : Bob Valder

Subject: Enclosed School Desegregation Material

We have enclosed various types of information relative to the 1966 Guidelines and how you might organize a project to help insure maximum desegregation in your school system this year. A brief explanation of the enclosed material follows.

(1) The 1966 Title VI Guidelines for School Desegregation
This summary of the guidelines was provided by the U. S. Office of Education.

(2) Desegregating Your Public School Under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964
This is a summary of Title VI and of the 1966 guidelines provided by the American Friends Service Committee. It includes a section on what local groups can do to insure maximum desegregation.

(3) Some Helpful Contacts for Alabama School Desegregation
This is a list of persons to contact for information, assistance or for filing complaints.

(4) What to do if the Schools in Your District are still Segregated
This is a sample letter to guide parents who want the Justice Department's help in filing suits to desegregate school districts.

(5) Some Ingredients of an Effective Local Community Action Program to Promote School Desegregation
This is a 20-point plan suggested to local groups working on school desegregation.

(6) Information on Child Desiring A Desegregated Education
This is an information sheet which should be filled out for each pupil contacted by a school desegregation committee. This is very important especially for follow-up information this year for a similar project during the next school year. Since we cannot supply enough copies of this form for all pupils in your area, local chapters might consider making their own supply.

(7) Instructions to Friendly Visitors
This is a guide to persons who give accurate factual information on school desegregation to Negro parents.

The 1966 Title VI Guidelines for School Desegregation

The 1966 Guidelines require:

1. Substantial achievements under free choice desegregation plans,

2. Significant progress in desegregation of teachers and staff,

3. Progress in closing of small, inadequate schools established for Negro students or other minority groups,

4. Simplified procedures and periodic reports from school districts to measure progress in implementing desegregation plans.

Assurance

To be eligible for Federal funds, each school system must assure the Commissioner that it will abide by Title VI of the Civil Rights Act. The type of assurance varies with the nature of the school system:

Desegregated Systems: A school system that never had or has already eliminated all forms of segregation submits an assurance of full compliance by HEW Form 441.

Dual School Systems: School systems that are working toward desegregation submit either a Federal court order for desegregation or a voluntary desegregation plan. School systems with voluntary plans file Form 441-PLAN, which provides that a school system's voluntary desegregation plan will be carried out in accordance with the standards outlined in the 1966 Guidelines.

Any compliance assurance or plan is essentially a statement of intent, and is not a substitute for performance. The Commissioner may require additional assurance or evidence of performance if he has cause to believe that a school system is not living up to its original assurance.

Types of Plan

No single type of desegregation plan fits all school systems. Each school system is responsible for selecting the plan best suited to accomplish desegregation as quickly as possible. However, if the Commissioner has cause to believe a plan will not work in a particular district, or has evidence that a previously accepted plan is failing, he may require the adoption of a different plan.

A. General Requirements

The school system--not the State or Federal government--is responsible for making its plan work. The system must inform the community of its plan, solicit community support, and take the necessary steps to protect all persons exercising their rights under the plan.

The Guidelines require periodic reports to help the Commissioner determine a system's progress under its plan. These reports include data on student and faculty assignment by race and school; maps of the system's boundaries and the location of schools within the boundaries; notification of any changes the system seeks to make in its plan; and descriptions of special circumstances hampering the progress of desegregation.

B. Specific Requirements

1. Attendance Zone Plans: Under this type of plan, students are assigned to schools within a school system according to their area of residence. The school system must establish a single set of attendance zones, and then assign students to schools serving their zone, regardless to race, color, or national origin.

   Students with special educational needs--handicapped children, for example--can be assigned to a school outside their normal attendance zone.

2. Free Choice Plans: These plans require students to choose their own school, regardless of where they live. The expectation is that students of each race will choose the same school, and thus break down the dual school pattern.

   Each student and his parent must choose a school each year . . . in most cases 4 or 5 months before the school year begins. The school system must ensure that this choice is free, and that students and parents can choose in safety and without fear of reprisal.

   School systems must make significant progress in eliminating the dual school pattern under free choice plans. Progress in the transfer of students from segregated schools will be measured in relation to achievements of prior years and will be judged in accordance with the Federal court rule that school districts which start late must move faster in desegregating their school.

Desegregation of Faculty

The 1965 Guidelines required at least a first step toward faculty desegregation through integrated staff meetings in the first year. The 1966 Guidelines require actual desegregation in the school staff.

In general, school systems with bi-racial faculties must assign staff in such a way as to produce some faculty integration in every school. The Commissioner may approve different patterns where the school system shows that another method would be equally effective.

The 1966 Guidelines also include safeguards against discriminatory hiring, firing, promotion, and extension of tenure. They do not violate a system's right to administer its staff according to professional criteria, but they do require that such practices not result in discrimination by race, color, or national origin.

Desegregation of Facilities

Any facility or activity--including athletics, transportation, parent-teacher or student assemblies, extra-curricular programs, special educational opportunities--identifiable as being school-related must be open to all appropriate persons without discrimination.

SUMMARY

The basic concept behind the design of the 1966 Guidelines is substantial progress in each district beyond what it achieved under the 1965 Guidelines.

The basic criterion for the Commissioner's interpretation of these Guidelines is measurable evidence of progress and good faith effort to eliminate the dual school system as quickly as possible.

DESEGREGATING YOUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS UNDER TITLE VI OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

WHAT TITLE VI SAYS Title VI forbids racial discrimination in all programs which receive Federal financial assistance and authorizes the withdrawal of funds if voluntary efforts to abolish discrimination are unsuccessful.

1966 GUIDELINES The Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has issued the "REVISED STATEMENT OF POLICIES FOR SCHOOL DESEGREGATION PLANS UNDER TITLE VI OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964." These Guidelines require school officials to file assurances of their intention to comply with Title VI, to act to eliminate discrimination including the maintenance of a dual structure of separate schools and to show substantial progress in 1966. "Any educational opportunity offered by a school system must be available to students without regard to race, color, or national origin."

SCHOOL DISTRICTS INDICATING NO INTENT TO COMPLY Although HEW is authorized to withdraw Federal funds from non-complying school districts, it is reluctant to do so and the process is complicated. Parents who are concerned that their school system continues to be segregated are advised to write to the U. S. Attorney General, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C. He has the authority under Title IV of the Civil Rights Act to file suits to desegregate schools when he receives complaints from parents.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS UNDER FEDERAL COURT ORDER The HEW Guidelines do not automatically apply to school districts which are desegregating under Federal court orders. However, the Guidelines reflect current judicial standards of the higher Federal courts. Where court-ordered desegregation plans do not come up to the new HEW standards, parents are urged to consult with their lawyers about further legal action. The desegregation pioneers of past years should not now be deprived because old court orders do not offer them the greater opportunities now available for equal education.

STANDARDS FOR SCHOOL DISTRICTS WITH VOLUNTARY SCHOOL DESEGREGATION PLANS

1. By April 15, 1966, each school district must submit an assurance (HEW #441-B) that it intends to comply with the new Guidelines and will amend its school desegregation plan to conform with each requirement.

2. This plan must be implemented to eliminate the dual system "as expeditiously as possible." If the U. S. Commissioner of Education determines that the plan is not adequate to accomplish the purpose of Title VI, he may require the adoption of a different plan.

3. Significant progress must be made in staff desegregation. Teachers must not be fired or demoted for racial reasons.

4. Facilities and programs must be available without discrimination. Summer school and adult education courses must be open to all without freedom of choice procedures.

5. Extracurricular activities must be open to all without waiting periods.

6. Small, inferior segregated schools must be closed and students transferred.

7. Educating pupils outside the district is forbidden where it limits desegregation.

8. School desegregation plans must be well publicized; parents must be notified by letter.

9. Full progress reports to the Commissioner of Education are required.

10. Transportation arrangements must be desegregated.

11. In desegregation plans based on school zones, boundaries or feeder patterns may not be used to perpetuate segregation.

12. Districts with freedom of choice plans must:

- offer a well-publicized, annual, 30-day choice period and other choice opportunities
- permit 9th graders or 15-year old pupils to exercise their own choice
- grant all choices except for overcrowding
- give no preference to students already enrolled in formerly all-white schools
- forbid staff influence
- not limit desegregation by requiring birth or health certificates, tests, etc.
- provide for notification in writing of assignments
- achieve substantial results. Districts where only 5% of the Negro pupils transferred in 1965-66 would be expected to triple this enrollment in 1966

13. Pupils in grades not covered by a desegregation plan in 1966 must be permitted to transfer to desegregated schools to take a course of study not offered in the segregated school, to attend school with a relative, to be educated at home if they would otherwise be sent out of their district, or if they satisfy the usual transfer requirements not based on race.

14. Officials are responsible for preparing staff and the community for desegregation, for protecting persons exercising their rights and for taking action against any student or staff who interferes with the plan.

WHAT CONCERNED CITIZENS SHOULD DO

1. Organize a local school desegregation project. Discuss with Negro parents the advantages of a desegregated education and inform them of their children's rights.

2. Maintain contact with your local school officials and monitor the implementation of the desegregation plan.

3. Report to the U. S. Commissioner of Education your evaluation of school desegregation developments so far and any violations as your desegregation plan is implemented. Report immediately any acts of intimidation, violence or discrimination to the Equal Educational Opportunities Program, U.S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C. Telephone: 202-962-0333.

4. LET US KNOW IF WE CAN HELP YOU.

SOME INGREDIENTS OF AN EFFECTIVE LOCAL COMMUNITY ACTION PROGRAM TO PROMOTE SCHOOL DESEGREGATION

1. Locate persons in the community who believe in integrated education and who are prepared to work for substantial desegregation in the public schools this year. With these persons create an action planning committee for school desegregation to:

   a. Establish and maintain contact with authorities;
   b. Be a source of accurate information on school desegregation;
   c. Be the contact for concerned private and governmental agencies;
   d. Find the Negro families who might consider sending their children to formerly all-white schools and to provide these families with the information and help which they need.

2. Local Negro citizens should establish direct contact with school authorities to express concern for desegregation, to get information about official policy and plans and to offer assistance. A citizens' committee should visit the superintendent of schools and the chairman of the school board to ascertain how the 1966 regulations of the U. S. Office of Education respecting the desegregation of schools under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act will be implemented. If the board is under a court order, citizens should get specific information about how this order will be carried out this year.

3. If public schools are segregated, concerned parents should write to the U. S. Attorney General, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., asking him to file a suit to desegregate the schools.

4. Your citizens' committee should evaluate the progress in school desegregation so far and should send a report to the U. S. Commissioner of Education, Washington, D. C. Include recommendations which you feel would promote substantial desegregation in your school district in 1966. Complaints about the plan during any stage of its implementation should also be sent to the Commissioner.

5. For legal advice and assistance write to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, 10 Columbus Circle, New York, New York 10019.

6. Accurate information about school desegregation plans, procedures, deadlines, etc., should be put into a simple, readable form and publicized throughout the community. This is important to counteract rumor and misinformation. Your school board is required to provide all necessary information.

7. Study the desegregation plan carefully and then locate areas in your school district with the greatest potential for substantial desegregation. These should be the areas for special concentration although your efforts should include the total Negro community regardless of residence.

8. Develop a total plan for the desegregation of all public schools; for all children have a right to a desegregated education in the 1966-67 school year. In addition to children who will be in those grades covered by a desegregation plan all pupils have a right to obtain transfers to desegregated schools. Be concerned, too, about the desegregation of vocational schools, industrial training centers, junior colleges and community colleges.

9. Informational meetings. Every opportunity should be sought to discuss school desegregation in the community. Stress should be placed on the importance of a desegregated education and its contribution to citizenship and to broader job opportunities.

10. If possible, establish a headquarters where parents can get reliable, factual information about desegregation, about the school board's plan, etc. Materials, school zone maps, transfer forms and the correct names and addresses of formerly all-white schools should be available at a central place.

11. A statement of endorsement of school desegregation by clergymen and other community leaders can be very helpful. This can be effectively combined with an informational sheet to highlight a campaign.

12. Work out a plan for home visits to as many families as possible. A number of volunteers can be used in this part of the campaign. Be sure that the workers are adequately prepared for this assignment and have the correct information. (See AFSC's material on "Friendly Visitors.")

13. Make a special effort to involve high school students. Identify student leaders Get their support. Help them to see the value of a desegregated education for themselves as well as for their fellow students. A student who is committed to equal educational opportunity is the best avenue to other students and to parents. However, parents must be contacted and early. Parents might understandably resent outsiders who appear to be making decisions for their children.

14. Keep records of contacts with families. Your workers, calling on parents at different times, should have information from earlier visits. Also, these records will be valuable for follow-up later.

15. Children who have applied to formerly all-white schools may be turned down. Parents should be advised of their rights to appeal and should be encouraged to do so. Where a court order is involved, further legal action may be necessary.

16. Work out ways to handle special problems. In some communities it is advisable to make arrangements for transportation for a while. Children may need lunch money, school supplies, clothing or medical help. Families may need support if the breadwinner loses his job. Students may need tutorial help. Discover local resources for meeting these problems. There are often persons and groups who are eager to help a courageous family even though they may not themselves take a public stand for desegregation. Nearby colleges and Federal programs may have resources for tutoring.

17. Discover white persons in the community who may play various roles. Private visits to local authorities by white clergymen, businessmen or church women or public statements calling for compliance to law are valuable. Some sympathetic white persons may be willing to arrange during the summer for Negro and white children or parents to get acquainted. Your state human relations council may have names of potentially helpful persons.

18. Find out who the nearest representative of the FBI is and contact him in advance of the opening of school. Also, contact local law enforcement officials. If local officials do not promise adequate protection, contact the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

19. NEVER RELEASE PUBLICLY NAMES AND ADDRESSES OF CHILDREN DESEGREGATING SCHOOLS.

20. Discover a group in the community (or create one) that will be concerned with the welfare of the children once they are in the desegregated schools.

IF THE SCHOOLS IN YOUR DISTRICT ARE STILL SEGREGATED

Under Title IV of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Attorney General of the United States is authorized to file suits to desegregate school districts if he is asked to do so by local parents. This is a sample letter to guide parents who want the Attorney General's help.

Date:_____

Hon. Nicholas deB. Katzenbach
U. S. Attorney General
Department of Justice
Washington, D. C.

Dear Sir:

I live in the ___(Give full name of your school district)_____ in the state of _____.

I am a parent and have the following school age children: (Give the names, ages and grades of all children who will be eligible to attend public schools next fall, including those who will be in the first grade.)

My children are being denied their constitutional rights because the schools in this district are segregated. Therefore, I am appealing to you to take whatever legal action is necessary to desegregate these schools.

I am not in a position to file a private law suit to desegregate the schools because (Give whichever reasons apply, such as:

1. I do not have the money to do so, or

2. There is no lawyer in this community who would take my case, or

3. I am afraid of what might happen to my family if I file a suit in my own name.)

Your help will be greatly appreciated by the Negro citizens of this community.

I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely yours,

INSTRUCTIONS TO FRIENDLY VISITORS

Friendly Visitors are local citizens who are concerned to give accurate factual information on school desegregation to Negro parents. This visitation project expresses the support of the community to families who will be the school desegregation pioneers.

1. Introduce yourself and state the purpose of your visit: You have come to inform parents of their rights under the school board's plan to desegregate the public schools of the district. You have come with the endorsement of community leaders ____(state who they are)_____ who are eager to express their support to parents who seek better opportunities for their children.

2. Give information simply and clearly about the school board's desegregation plans.

   Tell them which children are eligible to attend formerly all-white schools. Inform them about the procedures for enrolling in these schools. Give specific information about dates, deadlines, forms to be filled out, etc.

3. Involve the parents in discussion to get their ideas.

   a. Ask whether the subject of school desegregation has been discussed among their friends and relatives. Point out the value of open discussion of this important matter which affects the welfare of children.
   b. Inquire whether they have thought about taking their child to a white school.
   c. Ask whether they are aware of the advantages of having their child enroll in a desegregated school. For example:

      (1) Formerly all-white schools usually get more money, have better facilities and are less crowded than Negro schools.
      (2) New job opportunities are opening up. Our children need the best preparation possible: a solid foundation in basic subjects plus specialized training for jobs in the mainstream of American life. Education in Negro schools often does not meet today's standards.
      (3) The pace of school desegregation has been speeded up by the courts and the new Civil Rights Act. Negro children now in school or about to enter may be attending classes with white children at some time. Since younger students face fewer problems of adjustment, the sooner Negro and white pupils start studying together, the better. Fortunately, there are more resources now to deal with the problems of adjusting academically to desegregation. Negro children should take advantage of the first opportunity available for a non-segregated education.

(4) If the formerly all-white school is the nearest school, attending it will certainly be more convenient for Negro children. Negro students who must travel considerable distances to attend segregated schools are often subjected to traffic hazards as well as inconvenience.

(5) White and Negro citizens need to learn to get along together to build a better community for all. Children can help establish better race relations in the community because they have fewer prejudices and less rigid ideas. The public school should be the community's training center for good citizenship.

d. Ask parents about the nearest formerly all-white school, the neighborhood around it and the route children would take to this school. Has there ever been any tension in this area? Community leaders will want to know if there is reason to be concerned.

4. Help parents voice questions on their minds. Tell them you have come to help them find answers to their questions. What are their fears? Going to desegregated schools will be a new experience for all citizens in the community. It is human nature to fear change. It is helpful to talk about your fears. We cannot answer all questions nor give completely satisfactory answers to fears which are expressed. Nevertheless, the following may be helpful:

a. The fear of possible physical danger to children is understandable. Community leaders will be in touch with local, state, and national authorities concerning adequate protection for children. (If you know about efforts which are now being made to prevent violence, describe them.)

b. There is more safety in numbers. There is less liklihood of harassment if a sizeable number of Negro children enroll in desegregated classes.

c. Protection can be more adequately provided if leaders know in advance about the families whose children will be the pioneers.

d. Some parents are afraid of losing their jobs. This is less likely to happen if a large number of families are involved.

e. Suggest that interested parents find friends and neighbors who are willing to join with them and select a school which their children can attend together.

5. Tell parents that you want to keep in touch with them while they are making up their minds. Even if they are still undecided, you would like to work with them during this period before registration starts on _____.
(date)

6. DON'T ARGUE IF PARENTS ARE RELUCTANT OR HOSTILE.

7. Leave the telephone number of the local contact for those parents who desire further information: _____.

8. Please turn in a visit report form and indicate if follow-up is needed.

SOME INGREDIENTS OF AN EFFECTIVE LOCAL COMMUNITY ACTION PROGRAM TO PROMOTE SCHOOL DESEGREGATION

1. Locate persons in the community who believe in integrated education and who are prepared to work for substantial desegregation in the public schools this year. With these persons create an action planning committee for school desegregation to:

   a. Establish and maintain contact with authorities;
   b. Be a source of accurate information on school desegregation;
   c. Be the contact for concerned private and governmental agencies;
   d. Find the Negro families who might consider sending their children to formerly all-white schools and to provide these families with the information and help which they need.

2. Local Negro citizens should establish direct contact with school authorities to express concern for desegregation, to get information about official policy and plans and to offer assistance. A citizens' committee should visit the superintendent of schools and the chairman of the school board to ascertain how the 1966 regulations of the U. S. Office of Education respecting the desegregation of schools under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act will be implemented. If the board is under a court order, citizens should get specific information about how this order will be carried out this year.

3. If public schools are segregated, concerned parents should write to the U. S. Attorney General, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C., asking him to file a suit to desegregate the schools.

4. Your citizens' committee should evaluate the progress in school desegregation so far and should send a report to the U. S. Commissioner of Education, Washington, D. C. Include recommendations which you feel would promote substantial desegregation in your school district in 1966. Complaints about the plan during any stage of its implementation should also be sent to the Commissioner.

5. For legal advice and assistance write to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, 10 Columbus Circle, New York, New York 10019.

6. Accurate information about school desegregation plans, procedures, deadlines, etc., should be put into a simple, readable form and publicized throughout the community. This is important to counteract rumor and misinformation. Your school board is required to provide all necessary information.

7. Study the desegregation plan carefully and then locate areas in your school district with the greatest potential for substantial desegregation. These should be the areas for special concentration although your efforts should include the total Negro community regardless of residence.

8. Develop a total plan for the desegregation of all public schools; for all children have a right to a desegregated education in the 1966-67 school year. In addition to children who will be in those grades covered by a desegregation plan all pupils have a right to obtain transfers to desegregated schools. Be concerned, too, about the desegregation of vocational schools, industrial training centers, junior colleges and community colleges.

9. Informational meetings. Every opportunity should be sought to discuss school desegregation in the community. Stress should be placed on the importance of a desegregated education and its contribution to citizenship and to broader job opportunities.

10. If possible, establish a headquarters where parents can get reliable, factual information about desegregation, about the school board's plan, etc. Materials, school zone maps, transfer forms and the correct names and addresses of formerly all-white schools should be available at a central place.

11. A statement of endorsement of school desegregation by clergymen and other community leaders can be very helpful. This can be effectively combined with an informational sheet to highlight a campaign.

12. Work out a plan for home visits to as many families as possible. A number of volunteers can be used in this part of the campaign. Be sure that the workers are adequately prepared for this assignment and have the correct information. (See AFSC's material on "Friendly Visitors.")

13. Make a special effort to involve high school students. Identify student leaders Get their support. Help them to see the value of a desegregated education for themselves as well as for their fellow students. A student who is committed to equal educational opportunity is the best avenue to other students and to parents. However, parents must be contacted and early. Parents might understandably resent outsiders who appear to be making decisions for their children.

14. Keep records of contacts with families. Your workers, calling on parents at different times, should have information from earlier visits. Also, these records will be valuable for follow-up later.

15. Children who have applied to formerly all-white schools may be turned down. Parents should be advised of their rights to appeal and should be encouraged to do so. Where a court order is involved, further legal action may be necessary.

16. Work out ways to handle special problems. In some communities it is advisable to make arrangements for transportation for a while. Children may need lunch money, school supplies, clothing or medical help. Families may need support if the breadwinner loses his job. Students may need tutorial help. Discover local resources for meeting these problems. There are often persons and groups who are eager to help a courageous family even though they may not themselves take a public stand for desegregation. Nearby colleges and Federal programs may have resources for tutoring.

17. Discover white persons in the community who may play various roles. Private visits to local authorities by white clergymen, businessmen or church women or public statements calling for compliance to law are valuable. Some sympathetic white persons may be willing to arrange during the summer for Negro and white children or parents to get acquainted. Your state human relations council may have names of potentially helpful persons.

18. Find out who the nearest representative of the FBI is and contact him in advance of the opening of school. Also, contact local law enforcement officials. If local officials do not promise adequate protection, contact the Department of Justice, Washington, D. C.

19. NEVER RELEASE PUBLICLY NAMES AND ADDRESSES OF CHILDREN DESEGREGATING SCHOOLS.

20. Discover a group in the community (or create one) that will be concerned with the welfare of the children once they are in the desegregated schools.

INSTRUCTIONS TO FRIENDLY VISITORS

Friendly Visitors are local citizens who are concerned to give accurate factual information on school desegregation to Negro parents. This visitation project expresses the support of the community to families who will be the school desegregation pioneers.

1. Introduce yourself and state the purpose of your visit: You have come to inform parents of their rights under the school board's plan to desegregate the public schools of the district. You have come with the endorsement of community leaders ____(state who they are)_____ who are eager to express their support to parents who seek better opportunities for their children.

2. Give information simply and clearly about the school board's desegregation plans.

   Tell them which children are eligible to attend formerly all-white schools. Inform them about the procedures for enrolling in these schools. Give specific information about dates, deadlines, forms to be filled out, etc.

3. Involve the parents in discussion to get their ideas.

   a. Ask whether the subject of school desegregation has been discussed among their friends and relatives. Point out the value of open discussion of this important matter which affects the welfare of children.
   b. Inquire whether they have thought about taking their child to a white school.
   c. Ask whether they are aware of the advantages of having their child enroll in a desegregated school. For example:

      (1) Formerly all-white schools usually get more money, have better facilities and are less crowded than Negro schools.
      (2) New job opportunities are opening up. Our children need the best preparation possible: a solid foundation in basic subjects plus specialized training for jobs in the mainstream of American life. Education in Negro schools often does not meet today's standards.
      (3) The pace of school desegregation has been speeded up by the courts and the new Civil Rights Act. Negro children now in school or about to enter may be attending classes with white children at some time. Since younger students face fewer problems of adjustment, the sooner Negro and white pupils start studying together, the better. Fortunately, there are more resources now to deal with the problems of adjusting academically to desegregation. Negro children should take advantage of the first opportunity available for a non-segregated education.

(4) If the formerly all-white school is the nearest school, attending it will certainly be more convenient for Negro children. Negro students who must travel considerable distances to attend segregated schools are often subjected to traffic hazards as well as inconvenience.

(5) White and Negro citizens need to learn to get along together to build a better community for all. Children can help establish better race relations in the community because they have fewer prejudices and less rigid ideas. The public school should be the community's training center for good citizenship.

d. Ask parents about the nearest formerly all-white school, the neighborhood around it and the route children would take to this school. Has there ever been any tension in this area? Community leaders will want to know if there is reason to be concerned.

4. Help parents voice questions on their minds. Tell them you have come to help them find answers to their questions. What are their fears? Going to desegregated schools will be a new experience for all citizens in the community. It is human nature to fear change. It is helpful to talk about your fears. We cannot answer all questions nor give completely satisfactory answers to fears which are expressed. Nevertheless, the following may be helpful:

a. The fear of possible physical danger to children is understandable. Community leaders will be in touch with local, state, and national authorities concerning adequate protection for children. (If you know about efforts which are now being made to prevent violence, describe them.)

b. There is more safety in numbers. There is less liklihood of harassment if a sizeable number of Negro children enroll in desegregated classes.

c. Protection can be more adequately provided if leaders know in advance about the families whose children will be the pioneers.

d. Some parents are afraid of losing their jobs. This is less likely to happen if a large number of families are involved.

e. Suggest that interested parents find friends and neighbors who are willing to join with them and select a school which their children can attend together.

5. Tell parents that you want to keep in touch with them while they are making up their minds. Even if they are still undecided, you would like to work with them during this period before registration starts on _____.
(date)

6. DON'T ARGUE IF PARENTS ARE RELUCTANT OR HOSTILE.

7. Leave the telephone number of the local contact for those parents who desire further information: _____.

8. Please turn in a visit report form and indicate if follow-up is needed.

IF THE SCHOOLS IN YOUR DISTRICT ARE STILL SEGREGATED

Under Title IV of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, the Attorney General of the United States is authorized to file suits to desegregate school districts if he is asked to do so by local parents. This is a sample letter to guide parents who want the Attorney General's help.

Dear Sir:

I live in the ___(Give full name of your school district)_____ in the state of _____.

I am a parent and have the following school age children: (Give the names, ages and grades of all children who will be eligible to attend public schools next fall, including those who will be in the first grade.)

My children are being denied their constitutional rights because the schools in this district are segregated. Therefore, I am appealing to you to take whatever legal action is necessary to desegregate these schools.

I am not in a position to file a private law suit to desegregate the schools because (Give whichever reasons apply, such as:

1. I do not have the money to do so, or

2. There is no lawyer in this community who would take my case, or

3. I am afraid of what might happen to my family if I file a suit in my own name.)

Your help will be greatly appreciated by the Negro citizens of this community.

I look forward to hearing from you soon.

Sincerely yours,

DESEGREGATING YOUR PUBLIC SCHOOLS UNDER TITLE VI OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

WHAT TITLE VI SAYS Title VI forbids racial discrimination in all programs which receive Federal financial assistance and authorizes the withdrawal of funds if voluntary efforts to abolish discrimination are unsuccessful.

1966 GUIDELINES The Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare (HEW) has issued the "REVISED STATEMENT OF POLICIES FOR SCHOOL DESEGREGATION PLANS UNDER TITLE VI OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964." These Guidelines require school officials to file assurances of their intention to comply with Title VI, to act to eliminate discrimination including the maintenance of a dual structure of separate schools and to show substantial progress in 1966. "Any educational opportunity offered by a school system must be available to students without regard to race, color, or national origin."

SCHOOL DISTRICTS INDICATING NO INTENT TO COMPLY Although HEW is authorized to withdraw Federal funds from non-complying school districts, it is reluctant to do so and the process is complicated. Parents who are concerned that their school system continues to be segregated are advised to write to the U. S. Attorney General, Department of Justice, Washington, D. C. He has the authority under Title IV of the Civil Rights Act to file suits to desegregate schools when he receives complaints from parents.

SCHOOL DISTRICTS UNDER FEDERAL COURT ORDER The HEW Guidelines do not automatically apply to school districts which are desegregating under Federal court orders. However, the Guidelines reflect current judicial standards of the higher Federal courts. Where court-ordered desegregation plans do not come up to the new HEW standards, parents are urged to consult with their lawyers about further legal action. The desegregation pioneers of past years should not now be deprived because old court orders do not offer them the greater opportunities now available for equal education.

STANDARDS FOR SCHOOL DISTRICTS WITH VOLUNTARY SCHOOL DESEGREGATION PLANS

1. By April 15, 1966, each school district must submit an assurance (HEW #441-B) that it intends to comply with the new Guidelines and will amend its school desegregation plan to conform with each requirement.

2. This plan must be implemented to eliminate the dual system "as expeditiously as possible." If the U. S. Commissioner of Education determines that the plan is not adequate to accomplish the purpose of Title VI, he may require the adoption of a different plan.

3. Significant progress must be made in staff desegregation. Teachers must not be fired or demoted for racial reasons.

4. Facilities and programs must be available without discrimination. Summer school and adult education courses must be open to all without freedom of choice procedures.

5. Extracurricular activities must be open to all without waiting periods.

6. Small, inferior segregated schools must be closed and students transferred.

7. Educating pupils outside the district is forbidden where it limits desegregation.

8. School desegregation plans must be well publicized; parents must be notified by letter.

9. Full progress reports to the Commissioner of Education are required.

10. Transportation arrangements must be desegregated.

11. In desegregation plans based on school zones, boundaries or feeder patterns may not be used to perpetuate segregation.

12. Districts with freedom of choice plans must:

- offer a well-publicized, annual, 30-day choice period and other choice opportunities
- permit 9th graders or 15-year old pupils to exercise their own choice
- grant all choices except for overcrowding
- give no preference to students already enrolled in formerly all-white schools
- forbid staff influence
- not limit desegregation by requiring birth or health certificates, tests, etc.
- provide for notification in writing of assignments
- achieve substantial results. Districts where only 5% of the Negro pupils transferred in 1965-66 would be expected to triple this enrollment in 1966

13. Pupils in grades not covered by a desegregation plan in 1966 must be permitted to transfer to desegregated schools to take a course of study not offered in the segregated school, to attend school with a relative, to be educated at home if they would otherwise be sent out of their district, or if they satisfy the usual transfer requirements not based on race.

14. Officials are responsible for preparing staff and the community for desegregation, for protecting persons exercising their rights and for taking action against any student or staff who interferes with the plan.

WHAT CONCERNED CITIZENS SHOULD DO

1. Organize a local school desegregation project. Discuss with Negro parents the advantages of a desegregated education and inform them of their children's rights.

2. Maintain contact with your local school officials and monitor the implementation of the desegregation plan.

3. Report to the U. S. Commissioner of Education your evaluation of school desegregation developments so far and any violations as your desegregation plan is implemented. Report immediately any acts of intimidation, violence or discrimination to the Equal Educational Opportunities Program, U.S. Office of Education, Washington, D. C. Telephone: 202-962-0333.

4. LET US KNOW IF WE CAN HELP YOU.

The 1966 Title VI Guidelines for School Desegregation

The 1966 Guidelines require:

1. Substantial achievements under free choice desegregation plans,

2. Significant progress in desegregation of teachers and staff,

3. Progress in closing of small, inadequate schools established for Negro students or other minority groups,

4. Simplified procedures and periodic reports from school districts to measure progress in implementing desegregation plans.

Assurance

To be eligible for Federal funds, each school system must assure the Commissioner that it will abide by Title VI of the Civil Rights Act. The type of assurance varies with the nature of the school system:

Desegregated Systems: A school system that never had or has already eliminated all forms of segregation submits an assurance of full compliance by HEW Form 441.

Dual School Systems: School systems that are working toward desegregation submit either a Federal court order for desegregation or a voluntary desegregation plan. School systems with voluntary plans file Form 441-PLAN, which provides that a school system's voluntary desegregation plan will be carried out in accordance with the standards outlined in the 1966 Guidelines.

Any compliance assurance or plan is essentially a statement of intent, and is not a substitute for performance. The Commissioner may require additional assurance or evidence of performance if he has cause to believe that a school system is not living up to its original assurance.

Types of Plan

No single type of desegregation plan fits all school systems. Each school system is responsible for selecting the plan best suited to accomplish desegregation as quickly as possible. However, if the Commissioner has cause to believe a plan will not work in a particular district, or has evidence that a previously accepted plan is failing, he may require the adoption of a different plan.

A. General Requirements

The school system--not the State or Federal government--is responsible for making its plan work. The system must inform the community of its plan, solicit community support, and take the necessary steps to protect all persons exercising their rights under the plan.

The Guidelines require periodic reports to help the Commissioner determine a system's progress under its plan. These reports include data on student and faculty assignment by race and school; maps of the system's boundaries and the location of schools within the boundaries; notification of any changes the system seeks to make in its plan; and descriptions of special circumstances hampering the progress of desegregation.

B. Specific Requirements

1. Attendance Zone Plans: Under this type of plan, students are assigned to schools within a school system according to their area of residence. The school system must establish a single set of attendance zones, and then assign students to schools serving their zone, regardless to race, color, or national origin.

   Students with special educational needs--handicapped children, for example--can be assigned to a school outside their normal attendance zone.

2. Free Choice Plans: These plans require students to choose their own school, regardless of where they live. The expectation is that students of each race will choose the same school, and thus break down the dual school pattern.

   Each student and his parent must choose a school each year . . . in most cases 4 or 5 months before the school year begins. The school system must ensure that this choice is free, and that students and parents can choose in safety and without fear of reprisal.

   School systems must make significant progress in eliminating the dual school pattern under free choice plans. Progress in the transfer of students from segregated schools will be measured in relation to achievements of prior years and will be judged in accordance with the Federal court rule that school districts which start late must move faster in desegregating their school.

Desegregation of Faculty

The 1965 Guidelines required at least a first step toward faculty desegregation through integrated staff meetings in the first year. The 1966 Guidelines require actual desegregation in the school staff.

In general, school systems with bi-racial faculties must assign staff in such a way as to produce some faculty integration in every school. The Commissioner may approve different patterns where the school system shows that another method would be equally effective.

The 1966 Guidelines also include safeguards against discriminatory hiring, firing, promotion, and extension of tenure. They do not violate a system's right to administer its staff according to professional criteria, but they do require that such practices not result in discrimination by race, color, or national origin.

Desegregation of Facilities

Any facility or activity--including athletics, transportation, parent-teacher or student assemblies, extra-curricular programs, special educational opportunities--identifiable as being school-related must be open to all appropriate persons without discrimination.

SUMMARY

The basic concept behind the design of the 1966 Guidelines is substantial progress in each district beyond what it achieved under the 1965 Guidelines.

The basic criterion for the Commissioner's interpretation of these Guidelines is measurable evidence of progress and good faith effort to eliminate the dual school system as quickly as possible.

1966 SCHOOL DESEGREGATION GUIDELINES

On Monday, March 7, 1966, the United States Office of Education issued the "1966 Title VI Guidelines for School Desegregation." A summary of those guidelines as supplied by the Office of Education follows.

The 1966 Guidelines require:

1. Substantial achievements under free choice desegregation plans.
2. Significant progress in desegregation of teachers and staff.
3. Progress in closing of small, inadequate schools established for Negro students or other minority groups.
4. Simplified procedures and periodic reports from school districts to measure progress in implementing desegregation plans.

Dual School Systems: School systems that are working toward desegregation submit either a Federal court order for desegregation or a voluntary desegregation plan. School systems with voluntary plans file Form 441-B, which provides that a school system's voluntary desegregation plan will be carried out in accordance with the standards outlined in the 1966 guidelines.

MORE NEW TITLE VI GUIDELINES: HEALTH AND HOSPITAL FACILITIES

IT MAY LOOK FISHY - BUT IT'S TRUE !!

On March 7, 1966, the Public Health Service (PHS) announced steps taken to assure compliance in the health and medical field with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Surgeon General William H. Stewart announced the establishment of the Office of Equal Health Opportunity within the Office of the Surgeon General. The Office of Equal Health Opportunity, directed by Mr. Robert M. Nash, will eventually employ a staff of 100. About 70 of these employees will be stationed in the nine regional offices of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. All staff persons will have "special competencies and responsibilities in review and investigation of complaints, evaluation of complaint and compliance reports, public information activities, fiscal and statistical analysis, compliance negotiations, and development of recommendations for corrective action within the law, and will include experts in such areas as law, contracts, professional education and project grants, hospitals and nursing homes, and state and local health agencies."

It was also revealed that the administrators of all of the Nation's hospitals have received (1) Guidelines for Compliance; (2) Medical Facilities Compliance Reports which were to be filled out and returned by March 15; and (3) letters saying that in order to receive or take part in Federally assisted programs they must comply with Title VI.

The Guidelines for Compliance state that "hospitals in compliance with the Act are characterized by absence of separation, discrimination or other distinction on the basis of race, color or national origin in any activity carried on in, by or for the institution affecting the care and treatment of patients." Specific characteristics of compliance are then listed.

The Medical Facilities Compliance Report is a questionnaire requiring detailed information about the admission, care and treatment of patients, training programs, the use of staff and granting of staff privileges.

In the letter to hospital administrators, Dr. Stewart noted that the above steps on the part of the PHS do not "relieve state and local recipients of Federal grants, such as state or local health and welfare agencies, from continuing responsibility for determining that Federally supported programs do not use non-complying hospitals."

The significance of all of this to ACHR members and other interested in non-discrimination in health and medical facilities is: (1) one Federal department, rather than fifteen, now has complete responsibility for Title VI compliance by all hospitals receiving any kind of Federal financial assistance; (2) where the Federal government formerly asked for complaints from private citizens and groups before it would investigate, it now claims to be actively seeking our practices and policies of segregation and discrimination; (3) the burden of proof has apparently shifted from the government to the hospitals; (4) private citizens and groups can now send complaints directly to the agency responsible for all Alabama compliance problems--Office of Equal Health Opportunity, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, 50 - 7th Street, N.E., Atlanta, Georgia 30323 (it might be noted that most of the staff persons assigned to the Atlanta office of Equal Health Opportunity are and will be "imports" from elsewhere).

We wish to call to our readers' attention one of our new members. Sgt. Rubin Pace, Jr., whose father is a long time, active member of the Mobile Chapter, writes from Ankhe, Vietnam, "I am very sorry that I am unable to attend the meetings and render my support and presence. I am enclosing $24 for the year 1966."

Sgt. Pace would undoubtedly appreciate mail from ACHR friends. His address is:

ORGANIZING FOR SCHOOL DESEGREGATION

LOCAL CHAPTER ACTIVITIES

We said in our September bulletin that "it is necessary to begin organizing toward desegregation well in advance of the coming school year." Many of ACHR's chapters did just that and began to organize School Desegregation Projects. Notable among the chapters that began last year are Huntsville and Mobile. East Alabama and Birmingham have recently organized and are going full steam. Muscle Shoals will be working on pupil transfer, too, but will concentrate on teacher desegregation. Tuscaloosa will probably organize their project this week.

WHAT THE GUIDELINES MEAN TO LOCAL CHAPTERS AND OTHER GROUPS

The only part of the guidelines which apply to a school system with a court-ordered plan is that part which requires them to "submit, as evidence of compliance with Title VI, a copy of the court order, together with an assurance that it will comply with the order . . . a system under a court order for desegregation which is not in accord with current judicial standards is subject to legal action by the Department of Justice, or by the parties to the original suit, to modify the order to meet current standards." In other words, the only way that a school system with a court-ordered plan can be brought up to the standards of the new guidelines is for that system to be brought back into court--chances are very good that the courts will use the 1966 guidelines as their own criteria in deciding the suit.

However, the 1966 guidelines apply in their entirety to school systems with no court-ordered plan. Specific guideline requirements include: (1) "A period of at least 30 days must be provided for exercising choice to commence no earlier than March 1 and to end no later than April 30" (the Office of Education will extend the cut-off date beyond April 30 only in rare and unusual cases; therefore, everything that needs to be done by local groups must be done between April 1 and April 30); (2) each parent or guardian of every student (seniors excepted) in each school system is to receive on the first day of the transfer period a letter , an explanatory notice, and a choice form plus a return envelope addressed to the Superintendent (you should go to your Superintendent NOW and ask him when these letters will be mailed and what the transfer dates will be); (3) each parent has one month this spring to make the choice and "at the option of the person completing the choice form, it may be returned by mail or by hand to any school in the school system or to the office of the Superintendent;" (4) the elimination of segregated and discriminatory transportation services; (5) the elimination of segregation and discrimination in all school activities; (6) "Each school system is responsible for correcting the effects of all past discriminatory practices in the assignment of teachers and other professional staff."

Complaints about Title VI compliance should be made by mail or by phone to both Mr. Banjamin Hunton, Area Director for Alabama, Mississippi and Tennessee, and to Mr. Lawrence Crowder, Alabama Director of Compliance. Their address and phone number are: Equal Education Opportunities Program, Temp. S, 7th and Jefferson, Washington, D. C. (Area Code 202 962-7961).

The guidelines have shifted some of the burden from Negro parents and students to school authorities. But the only means of insuring maximum desegregation, whether you are under a court order or the guidelines, is for you to organize and spread the word of the regulations, transfer dates, the rights of parents and students, etc., as widely and as quickly as possible.

AUBURN'S "VILLAGE FAIR" OPEN TO ALL

On this Saturday, April 2, 1966, Auburn University will sponsor their "Village Fair." Its purpose is to acquaint potential Auburn students with Auburn University. It is open to all juniors and seniors who may be interesting in attending Auburn.

This is the first year that this affair is open to Negro students, and since the decision to open it to all was made after the invitation to schools was issued, Negro schools have not been invited.

Might we suggest that anyone interested in spreading the word contact those Negro high schools in your area. Student members of the East Alabama Chapter have already recruited 120 Negro students from Auburn and Tuskegee to attend. Anyone attending should first go to the Unitarian Fellowship Church at 155 Cox Street, by 9:00 a.m.--they will be welcomed by these student members.

THE MOBILE COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS — Mobile, Alabama

Mrs. Kathleen Wood, President — Vol. I, No. 7
Mrs. Joan Lamb, Editor — March, 1966

Meeting

8:00, March 15 — Church of the Good Shepherd
605 Donald Street

Speaker: Mayor Joseph N. Langan

Topic: Mobile's City Government

WHO'S IN CHARGE HERE? How much do you know about how our city government operates? Where does all our tax money go? What control do we have over the Water Board? Why can't something be done to stop our streets from flooding?

This month we begin the first in a series of three meetings on our city, county and state governments, how they are financed and how they work. We are fortunate to have Mayor Langan, who has been a member of our Board of City Commissioners since 1953, with us this month to answer our questions. In April Mr. E.C. Doody, the Administrative Assistant to the County Commissioners, will discuss Mobile County Government with us.

Active citizenship is the responsibility of all of us. Responsible participation in government requires a knowledge of government, how it operates and the problems it faces.

WHO'S IN CHARGE HERE? We are -- all of us. We are the government and it is just as good or as bad as we make it. Democracy can't work without YOU: you can't work effectively without knowledge of your government.

No More Poll Tax!

A three-judge federal panel has ruled Alabama's poll tax unconstitutional. This means that if you are registered you can vote in the May 3rd Democratic primary even if you have not paid your poll tax. If you are not registered there is still time to do so before the Primary. Registration periods are March 7-12 and April 4-9.

Voter Re-Identification

While we are talking of citizenship and voting, we want to remind you also that if you registered before February 2, 1964, you must go to the Board of Registrars and re-identify yourself as a voter or you won't be able to vote next year. Go when the Board is not registering new voters and it will only take a few minutes. Don't put it off and lose your right to vote.

February Meeting

We want to say a special "Thank You" to Father Foley, Dr. Gilliard, Mr. LeFlore, Bishop Smith, David Underhill and Father Thompson for their participation in our panel discussion last month. It was a most provocative and stimulating discussion. We left the meeting impressed with the magnitude of the task before us and with a greater understanding of the work ahead of us. While there were differences in the methods and approaches to the problem, the words "voting", "employment", and "education" were repeated time and again. There is no magic formula to produce instant equality: it will take work, work and more work on the part of all of us. What are YOU doing to help?

School Desegregation

Work on our school desegregation project is now underway. Materials for our home visitors and surveyors were distributed and methods explained at an enthusiastic meeting February 24. Most of the meeting was devoted to a discussion of the reasons why school transfer is so important. A clear understanding of these reasons is essential if we are to convince parents of the necessity of transferring their children.

We are enclosing a folder on school desegregation with this newsletter. Please read it, talk to your friends about it, and pass it on to someone else. (If you would like additional copies please call us at 342-5627.) Even if you can't work actively on this project you can still help by understanding the reasons why school transfer is vital to the future of our children and our community; by helping others to understand these reasons; and by seeking out interested parents. If you know anyone who would like to have us come and talk with him about transferring, please call 342-5627.

We want to thank Mrs. Kaye Hoffman for agreeing to serve as Chairman of the Visitors' Committee: it is she who will assign the visitors to the homes requesting them.

REMEMBER THE PERIOD FOR TRANSFER APPLICATIONS: APRIL 1-15. The place is Barton Academy.

Project "Encouragement"

In good conscience, we cannot encourage a child to transfer to a new and different school and then forget him as he faces new and difficult problems. These children deserve our constant encouragement and appreciation. There are many ways in which we can show them how much we value what they are doing, both by our own efforts and with the help of other interested groups. Mrs. M.V. Foster is Chairman of this project: she needs our help and the help of other organizations to which we may belong.

University of South Alabama Open House

The University of South Alabama will hold an Open House Saturday, March 26, for all interested high school graduates, graduating seniors, and their parents. Faculty members from the different departments will be on hand to answer questions and to discuss the various programs available. Do take this opportunity to become acquainted with the school.

MEMORANDUM

To : Local Chapter Presidents and Health and Hospital Committee Chairmen

From : Bob Valder

Subject: New Title VI Guidelines for Health and Hospital Facilities

The March bulletin contained an article about the new Title VI compliance measures for health and hospital facilities announced last month by the Public Health Service. In case you have misplaced that bulletin, we are enclosing a copy of the article.

We are also enclosing a photocopy of an article appearing in the April 11, 1966 New York Times, which provides recent information about compliance procedures.

Also enclosed are photocopies of two different forms and the guidelines for hospital compliance. The Medical Facilities Compliance Report has been sent to all hospitals to be filled out and returned by March 15; it should give you a very accurate picture of what hospitals have to do as should the copy of the guidelines. The assurance of compliance is a form signed by the appropriate hospital authorities whereby they agree to comply with HEW's Title VI regulations. The guidelines and forms are for your information only; that is, they do not suggest any action on your part. They are provided to inform you of what the regulations are and of what hospitals in your area were required to fill out and send back to HEW.

Some of you will probably be contacted in the near future by inspectors from the Atlanta office of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. They will be inquiring about local hospital policies and practices.

But whether you are contacted by an inspector or not, if you have any information about the lack of compliance by hospitals in your area, you might consider providing such information to the Atlanta office. You can write to:

Mr. James T. Williams
Regional Representative
Office of Equal Health Opportunity
Department of Health, Education and Welfare
Room 404
50 - 7th Street, N. E.
Atlanta, Georgia 30323

and you might also place a phone call to Mr. Williams at: Area Code 404, 526-5130.

MORE NEW TITLE VI GUIDELINES: HEALTH AND HOSPITAL FACILITIES

IT MAY LOOK FISHY – BUT IT'S TRUE !!

On March 7, 1966, the Public Health Service (PHS) announced steps taken to assure compliance in the health and medical field with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

Surgeon General William H. Stewart announced the establishment of the Office of Equal Health Opportunity within the Office of the Surgeon General. The Office of Equal Health Opportunity, directed by Mr. Robert M. Nash, will eventually employ a staff of 100. About 70 of these employees will be stationed in the nine regional offices of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare. All staff persons will have "special competencies and responsibilities in review and investigation of complaints, evaluation of complaint and compliance reports, public information activities, fiscal and statistical analysis, compliance negotiations, and development of recommendations for corrective action within the law, and will include experts in such areas as law, contracts, professional education and project grants, hospitals and nursing homes, and state and local health agencies."

It was also revealed that the administrators of all of the Nation's hospitals have received (1) Guidelines for Compliance; (2) Medical Facilities Compliance Reports which were to be filled out and returned by March 15; and (3) letters saying that in order to receive or take part in Federally assisted programs they must comply with Title VI.

The Guidelines for Compliance state that "hospitals in compliance with the Act are characterized by absence of separation, discrimination or other distinction on the basis of race, color or national origin in any activity carried on in, by or for the institution affecting the care and treatment of patients." Specific characteristics of compliance are then listed.

The Medical Facilities Compliance Report is a questionnaire requiring detailed information about the admission, care and treatment of patients, training programs, the use of staff and granting of staff privileges.

In the letter to hospital administrators, Dr. Stewart noted that the above steps on the part of the PHS do not "relieve state and local recipients of Federal grants, such as state or local health and welfare agencies, from continuing responsibility for determining that Federally supported programs do not use non-complying hospitals."

The significance of all of this to ACHR members and other interested in non-discrimination in health and medical facilities is: (1) one Federal department, rather than fifteen, now has complete responsibility for Title VI compliance by all hospitals receiving any kind of Federal financial assistance; (2) where the Federal government formerly asked for complaints from private citizens and groups before it would investigate, it now claims to be actively seeking our practices and policies of segregation and discrimination; (3) the burden of proof has apparently shifted from the government to the hospitals; (4) private citizens and groups can now send complaints directly to the agency responsible for all Alabama compliance problems--Office of Equal Health Opportunity, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, 50 - 7th Street, N.E., Atlanta, Georgia 30323 (it might be noted that most of the staff persons assigned to the Atlanta office of Equal Health Opportunity are and will be "imports" from elsewhere).

HOSPITALS AWAIT RIGHTS INSPECTION

NYT SRC

U.S. Begins National Check Today on Compliance With Antidiscrimination Law

4-11-66

By GENE ROBERTS

Special to The New York Times

ATLANTA, April 10 -- The Department of Health, Education and Welfare plans to begin a widespread inspection program tomorrow to bring the nation's hospitals into compliance with the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

A department spokesman said the agency would use "approximately 100" Social Security Administration and Public Health Service employes, all of them trained in special classes, to make on-the-scene studies of hospitals.

If any hospital is not taking immediate steps to end racial discrimination, he said, it will not be eligible for Federal funds, beginning July 1.

On that date, the department plans to begin releasing $1.9-billion in funds for hospital construction, medical training programs and vocational rehabilitation.

"The inspectors will determine whether or not a hospital is in compliance with the act," the spokesman said, "and it if is not, the inspectors will be available to advise and assist them."

Ttile VI of the Civil Rights Act stipulates that "no person in the United States shall, on the grounds of race, color or national origin, be excluded from participating in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program receiving financial assistance."

Thus far, 60 per cent of the nation's hospitals have filed compliance forms with the department, indicating that they were willing to abide by the act. About half this number stated that they were already in "full compliance."

The department has conducted some inspection almost continually since the passage of the act, a spokesman said, and it has stepped up the program in recent weeks. But tomorrow will mark the beginning of the first widespread inspection, he added.

Although the inspections will be carried on throughout the nation, most of the inspectors will be concentrated in the South where hospitals traditionally have been segregated.

In recent months, Southern Negroes have become increasingly critical of the failure of some of the region's hospitals to drop racial barriers.

In Natchez, one of the South's major racial battlegrounds late last year, hospital desegregation was one key demand made on the city by civil rights demonstrators.

The department's training school for inspectors, however, drew praise from the Southern Regional Council, a nonprofit human relations organization that often has been critical of the speed with which the department has moved in enforcing the Civil Rights Act.

"One of the most impressive things about the inspection is that they are using career Federal employes, many of them from the areas they will be inspecting," said Paul Anthony, the council's director. "Many of them were dumbfounded that they would have to tell hospitals they would have to integrate."

GUIDELINES FOR COMPLIANCE WITH TITLE VI OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

Hospitals in compliance with the Act are characterized by absence of separation, discrimination or any other distinction on the basis of race, color, or national origin in any activity carried on in, by or for the institution affecting the care and treatment of patients.

Specifically, the above would include (but not be limited to) the following characteristics:

1. The hospital provides inpatient and outpatient care on a non-discriminatory basis; all patients are admitted and receive care without regard to race, color, or national origin. Declaration of an open admission policy may not be sufficient to effectuate compliance in some instances, particularly where the hospital has previously served only or primarily patients of one race. Where there is a significant variation between the racial composition of patients and the population served, the hospital has a responsibility to determine the reasons and to take corrective action if they are due to discriminatory practices.

2. All patients are being assigned to all rooms, wards, floors, sections, and buildings without regard to race, color, or national origin. In communities with non-white population, this results in bi-racial occupancy of multi-bed rooms and wards and use of single bed rooms on a non-discriminatory basis.

   Patients are not asked if they are willing or desire to share a room with a person of another race. Transfer of patients is not used as a device to evade compliance with the Act.

3. Employees, medical staff and volunteers of the hospital are assigned to patient services without regard to the race, color, or national origin of either the patient or employee. Courtesy titles (Mr., Miss, Dr.) whenever used, are being used throughout the hospital including patient care areas and news releases announcing admissions, births, deaths, etc.

4. The granting of permanent or temporary staff privileges is carried out in a non-discriminatory manner. Staff privileges are not denied professionally qualified personnel on the basis of race, color, or national origin, or on the basis of non-membership in an organization which discriminates on the basis of race, color, or national origin. Removal of staff privileges and oth r disciplinary actions shall not be based on race, color, or national origin.

5. Non-discriminatory practices of the institution include all aspects of training programs, and require recruiting and selection of trainees at both predominantly white and Negro schools. The same recruiting procedures are used at all such institutions. Third parties are not permitted to select trainees on a basis which, if done directly by the hospital, would be violative of the Civil Rights Act. These requirements apply to interns (medical, dental, OT, PT, dietician), residents and training programs such as graduate nurse, practical nurse, medical technology, x-ray technology, etc.

6. All services rendered by the institution, its employees or vendors to patients or others are provided without regard to race, color, or national origin. This would include:

   A. Administrative services (admission, medical records, fiscal, etc.).

   B. Medical and dental care for inpatients and outpatients (all specialties-clinical, diagnostic and other pathology services).

   C. Paramedical care and ancillary and supporting services (food, pharmacy, social services, laundry, toilet facilities, waiting rooms, entrances, exits, snack bars, gift shops, visiting hours, doctor's lounges). Patients and visitors are using all cafeteria facilities without regard to race, color, or national origin; no dining facilities are used only by non-whites by "custom" or "preference".

   D. Ambulance services.

7. Employees and medical staff have been notified in writing of the hospital's policy for compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act.

8. Hospitals which have recently changed from discriminatory practices have taken steps to notify those who previously had been excluded from hospital services (e.g., letters to Negro physicians or physician organizations and Civil Rights leaders, notices to newspapers, posting of signs in hospitals, etc.).

9. Hospitals which have had dual facilities to affect racial separation have either converted one of them to a different purpose or have taken steps to change the traffic flow so that they are actually used bi-racially.

ASSURANCE OF COMPLIANCE WITH THE DEPARTMENT OF HEALTH, EDUCATION, AND WELFARE REGULATION UNDER TITLE VI OF THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

_____ (hereinafter called the "Applicant")
(Name of Applicant)

HEREBY AGREES THAT it will comply with title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (P.L. 88-352) and all requirements imposed by or pursuant to the Regulation of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare (45 CFR Part 80) issued pursuant to that title, to the end that, in accordance with title VI of that Act and the Regulation, no person in the United States shall, on the ground of race, color, or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be otherwise subjected to discrimination under any program or activity for which the Applicant receives Federal financial assistance from the Department; and HEREBY GIVES ASSURANCE THAT it will immediately take any measures necessary to effectuate this agreement.

If any real property or structure thereon is provided or improved with the aid of Federal financial assistance extended to the Applicant by the Department, this assurance shall obligate the Applicant, or in the case of any transfer of such property, any transferee, for the period during which the real property or structure is used for a purpose for which the Federal financial assistance is extended or for another purpose involving the provision of similar services or benefits. If any personal property is so provided, this assurance shall obligate the Applicant for the period during which it retains ownership or possession of the property. In all other cases this assurance shall obligate the Applicant for the period during which the Federal financial assistance is extended to it by the Department.

THIS ASSURANCE is given in consideration of and for the purpose of obtaining any and all Federal grants, loans, contracts, property, discounts or other Federal financial assistance extended after the date hereof to the Applicant by the Department, including installment payments after such date on account of applications for Federal financial assistance which were approved before such date. The Applicant recognizes and agrees that such Federal financial assistance will be extended in reliance on the representations and agreements made in this assurance, and that the United States shall have the right to seek judicial enforcement of this assurance. This assurance is binding on the Applicant, its successors, transferees, and assignees, and the person or persons whose signatures appear below are authorized to sign this assurance on behalf of the Applicant.

THE SOUTHERN COURIER REVISITED

Our readers will recall an article about The Southern Courier in the August, 1965 Bulletin. We told about the then newly organized newspaper which had been promoted mainly by Harvard University students and professors. Since August, The Courier has moved its office from Atlanta to Montgomery in order to give better coverage to Alabama--the state to which the paper gives most of its attention.

The Courier is "published weekly by a non-profit, non-share education corporation, for the study and dissemination of accurate information about events and affairs in the field of human relations." A six-page newspaper with one full page of photographs, The Courier is distributed mostly in Alabama by newsboys going from door to door and through news stand sales. Subscribers to The Courier receive their copies through the mail.

The staff, composed mainly of young journalists who have had collegiate and professional journalistic experience, conscientiously follows instructions to interview members of the "white power structure" as well as civil rights workers in reporting racial difficulties.

The Executive Commiteee of ACHR, meeting in Birmingham on April 2, unanimously endorsed the following resolution:

> "We, the Executive Committee of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, wish to call The Southern Courier to the attention of ACHR members. This paper has provided, and is providing, valuable service to both the cause of human relations and to the state of Alabama. Its policies of not "taking sides" (although it obviously takes the side of justice and dignity), of constructive criticism, and of in-depth reporting of important issues such as poverty, politics, voting, education, employment, and other similar topics gives it an unmatched uniqueness and importance.
> "We suggest to our members that they seriously consider subscribing and contributing to The Southern Courier in order to be better informed about civil rights and human relations developments in Alabama, and as an expression of their support of this important work."

Yearly rates for The Courier are $5 (subscriptions for our Northern friends are $10). Anyone interested in subscribing or contributing should send a check, money order or cash to:

FEDERAL CIVIL RIGHTS JOBS

The March Bulletin contained an article about new steps recently announced by the Public Health Service for enforcing Title VI in health and hospital facilities. We have since received a letter from the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Director of Personnel stating that these new steps necessitate recruiting a large staff for this civil rights compliance program.

By June they hope to recruit and employ about 200 permanent professional staff workers at annual salaries ranging from $7,479 (GS-9) to $17,055 (GS-15). Jobs will be in Washington, D. C. and in HEW's nine regional offices (the Atlanta regional office will receive the bulk of these).

In addition, the Personnel Department hopes to employ 100 professional persons and 200 graduate students for temporary summer work on civil rights compliance projects (8-10 weeks beginning in mid-June). Temporary professional salaries will range from $2,400 to $3,200 for 10 weeks employment; graduate students will earn from $1,000 to $2,000 for 10 weeks. The temporary persons will be sent to a regional office following a training period in Washington.

For both the permanent and temporary positions, they are looking for physicians, attorneys, welfare or hospital administrators, public health officers, chief school officers and leaders in civil rights organizations or others who have competence in an activity related to the civil rights compliance programs.

To apply, send Standard Form 57 (Application for Federal Employment, available at your Post Office) to Mr. Charles Dawson, U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Room 5316, North Building, Washington, D. C. 20201.

SCHOLARSHIPS FOR CIVIL RIGHTS WORKERS

A different kind of scholarship is available from CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Inc. It's called the Eleanor Roosevelt scholarship program. Preference is given to students who have been actively involved in efforts to eliminate racial prejudice and discrimination, and special consideration is given to persons who have made "significant contributions and sacrifices in their work for human rights."

Scholarships are awarded to students who have been admitted to an accredited college, and they cover tuition and/or living expenses. Scholarships are granted in any amount up to $1,500 for one academic year and in exceptional cases, a supplementary grant of up to $500 may be made. Scholarships are renewable.

Criteria for selection include evidence of financial need, a record of activity in efforts to eliminate racial prejudice and segregation and to obtain legal rights for all citizens, evidence of good character and leadership potential, and evidence of academic ability sufficient to benefit from higher education.

Applications for this fall's semester must be filed by May 1. For additional information and an application form, write to: CORE Scholarship, Education and Defense Fund, Inc., 150 Nassau Street, Room 1312, New York, New York 10038.

SEGREGATED HOUSING

All of the 605 public housing projects in the South have signed statements for the U. S. Public Housing Administration stating that their housing units are open to all persons without discrimination as required by the Civil Rights Act of 1964. As of September of last year, only 2.3% of these projects in the South were officially classified as integrated. Ninety-five per cent of the Southern housing projects allow applicants to choose the project they wish to live in. This policy usually results in segregated housing developments.

FROM A 1959 ALABAMA COUNCIL NEWSLETTER:

Some white folks over in Mississippi decided to tell the country how contented the colored folks were in their state. They arranged a nation-wide broadcast, found just the right Negro to speak, and carefully rehearsed him on how well off he was. At the fateful hour, they told him he was on the air, whereupon he rushed to the microphone and yelled, "HELP!".

ALABAMA ELECTIONS--1966 STYLE

The Voting Rights Act of 1965 gives authority to the Attorney General to request the Civil Service Commission to appoint poll watchers in counties where Federal Examiners are already serving to observe whether all eligible persons are allowed to vote and whether all ballots are accurately tabulated. It appears that most of the Alabama counties with examiners will have poll watchers assigned to them.

If anyone who is properly listed or registered is not permitted to vote in any political subdivision where examiners are serving, a complaint may be made to the examiners of this denial within 48 hours after the polls close. If the examiner believes that the complaint has merit, he must inform the Attorney General immediately. The Attorney General may seek a district court order that provides for the casting of the ballot and suspends the election results until the vote is included in the final count.

Public officials or private individuals who deny persons the right to vote guaranteed by the Voting Rights Act of 1965 or anyone who attempts to or intimidates, threatens, or coerces a person from voting are subject to criminal penalties.

It appears to be a safe assumption that on May 3 -- the day of the first primary -- some of our stellar citizens may be less than happy with the fact that many of their fellow citizens are voting for the first time; it also appears to be a safe assumption that some of these same stellar citizens may use other than constitutional methods to prevent persons from voting.

Anyone who learns of any denials of the right to vote or of any other violations of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 on May 3 should contact the U. S. Department of Justice and their local FBI immediately.

* * * * *

(Below are excerpts from an address, "Toward a New Brand of Southern Politics," by Charles Morgan, Jr. delivered to a Negro audience on April 17, 1966).

And now, you who have walked along the long road of sacrifice and hardship enter the arena of political life. The road to that arena was constructed by white politicians, men who sought to grind the Negro, as well as the poor white, into the dust. That dust has settled across the South and buried beneath it the hopes and dreams of generations of young men and women....

The solution itself does not lie in politics but it is from the political anvil that the sparks of change will fly....There must be a total revamping of the social structure, so that there is no underprivileged class, be it Negro or white. Government can make these changes, and government is politics....

What rules must you establish? First, you should never cast your ballots for candidates who make only private or quiet commitments to you or your leaders. You must never again cast your ballots for a man who emerges from a background of segregationist politics, who publicly states that he will preserve the white way of life while privately telling you that he has been less loud than his opponents in his condemnation of you. Private political commitments, those which are not stated freely and frankly and publicly in the newspapers and across the television screens of the State of Alabama and the South are not worth the paper upon which they are not written.

Next, you must beware of men who come bearing their small gifts. Sometimes they may label those gifts gasolene money, donations for political organizations, whether they come from organized labor or big business, or from candidates and their friends. You must be even more wary of Negroes who accept their gifts. They always come with strings, strings which can be woven into rope to bind you into bondage....

The Democratic and Republican parties of the South must learn to balance their tickets. Negroes must be included on Party tickets and in state and local political organizations....

You must constantly press for the registration of poor Negroes for as you have lately seen, the first rule of politics is simple mathematics. And almost all politicians can count. You must train and develop poll watchers and vote counters. You must never wed yourself to a particular political party. You may go steady but marriage is out....

But regardless of the means you use to your political ends, you have much to add to the flavor of political life in the South and nation. For it is you largely who are responsible for the war on poverty; it is you who are largely responsible for a review of our economic policies regarding unemployment and a new look at the role of welfare in our society and a guaranteed annual income. You have suffered more than most Americans and you must not forget that suffering, for today you recognize national problems as yet unrecognized by other Americans.

There are 215,000 Americans in prison today. They have only 56 psychiatrists to treat all of them. Ninety-eight per cent of the inmates of the Atlanta Federal Penitentiary were high school dropouts. One of every four of them is illiterate. Who but you could reveal for national scrutiny problems of the poor, the imprisoned and the oppressed? This is your calling and the trumpet sounds for you to enter fully into the arenas of democracy, your heads unbowed, your minds unfettered by the past.

"UPWARD BOUND" PROJECT

Alabama A & M College in Huntsville has recently received a grant of $114,459 from the Office of Economic Opportunity for an "Upward Bound" project. Upward Bound is a program designed to spark the dormant potential of economically deprived or disadvantaged 10th and 11th grade high school students. The program will consist of an intensive ten-week residence program, June 13-August 20 and a follow-up program, September 19-May 20. The instructional areas will be Developmental Reading, Communication Skills, and Numerical Relationships.

Staff persons are needed for the residence program and openings include three experienced teachers, at either the secondary or college level, in each of the instructional areas listed above, a secretary, a counselor for young men and a counselor for young women. Nine college students at the Junior or Senior level will also be needed to serve as Assistants. Staff persons needed for the follow-up program will be one teacher in each of the three instructional programs. Salaries for the residence program will begin at $1,800.

Persons interested in these positions should submit at once an autobiographical sketch and an inquiry about these positions to Dr. Winfred Thomas, Division of Agriculture, Alabama A & M College, Normal, Alabama 35762.

Meeting

8:00, April 19 — Church of the Good Shepherd
605 Donald Street

Speaker: Mr. E. C. Doody

Topic: Mobile County Government

WHO'S IN CHARGE HERE? Our meeting this month will be the second in our series on local government. Our speaker, Mr. Doody, is the Administrative Assistant to the Board of County Commissioners and an expert on the workings of Mobile County's government. With the Democratic Primary just two weeks away it is especially important for us to learn all that we can about the duties and responsibilities of the offices to be filled: without this knowledge we cannot properly judge the qualifications of the various candidates.

Where does the County get the money with which it operates? What services do we get for this money? What responsibilities does the County have within the city limits of Mobile or Prichard? What, exactly, does the County government do?

Come and learn the answers to these questions and others of your own. If anyone can provide the information you need to be effective, responsible citizens of Mobile County it is Mr. Doody.

Vote Tuesday, May 3

Throughout history thousands of people have died to win the right to vote. In recent years in Alabama alone the list of those who have suffered severely or died to obtain this right is tragically long. You owe it to them, as well as to yourselves and your government, to go to the polls and vote. They will never understand that you couldn't be bothered to vote because the line was too long, the weather was bad, it was late, or because you were just too busy with other things.

Go to the Polls Prepared

One of the most important and difficult tasks of a citizen is to vote responsibly when faced with a long ballot. All too often we each have a few particular candidates or races in which we are interested; the others we tend to forget or ignore. Yet every man or woman whom we elect will help to shape the future of our city, county, state and country. It is therefore important that we each learn all that we can about every candidate. Having done this, get a sample ballot and mark it for the candidates you believe best. Take your sample ballot with you to the polls and cast an informed vote, not a blind one. If we get the elected officials we deserve, let's be sure we deserve the best.

Progress Report - School Desegregation

Have we made progress? Yes.
Are our schools desegregated? No.

The Council's efforts toward greater school integration were concentrated primarily in two neighborhoods - Crichton and the Cottage Hill School District. Over seventeen mothers or fathers went to Barton Academy on April 1, the first day of the transfer period, some requesting transfers for as many as four children. Others went down later in the transfer period. Negro children have been enrolled for the first grade at Crichton School among others. Parents will be notified on or before June 15 whether or not their transfer applications have been accepted.

We are now waiting until the Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals rules on the Mobile school suit which it heard April 1 to learn how the new guidelines issued by the Office of Education will apply to Mobile. At present school systems under court-ordered plans are not covered by the guidelines. If the Court orders the Mobile plan expanded to meet the guideline requirements it will also order another period for transfer applications. We hope that this will be the case and that we can renew and redouble our efforts this summer.

It is impossible to list the names of all who have worked so diligently for school integration, but we owe all of them our thanks. We have all learned a lot as we have gone along and we are confident that we can do an even better job in the next transfer period. One thing which we have learned is that school desegregation must be a year-round concern for the Council. We hope that every member can find time to give to this project during the coming year.

Note: Will all the home visitors please keep in touch with the parents they visited so that we can follow the progress of their applications.

A Week-end With Malcolm Boyd

Council members should be particularly interested in a conference to be conducted by Father Boyd Friday, April 22-Sunday, April 24 on the general theme of the racial changes in this country. The conference will be held at the Church of the Good Shepherd, which is sponsoring Father Boyd's visit.

Malcolm Boyd is an Episcopal priest, ordained in 1955 after a successful career in television and advertising. Time called him "chaplain-at-large to U.S. university students" and Life placed him in its "red-hot hundred" of the "takeover generation." Formerly chaplain at Colorado State University and at Wayne State University, Fr. Boyd is now the national field representative of the Episcopal Society for Cultural and Racial Unity. He has been very active in the civil rights movement since the days of the Freedom Rides. Last summer he was on the spot in Watts, interviewing people during the height of the turmoil. He is the author of several plays and books, his latest being Are You Running With Me, Jesus, a collection of extraordinary personal prayers.

The conference will begin Friday evening, April 22, at 7:30; will continue Saturday from 10:00 to 3:00 (a light lunch will be served); and will conclude with services Sunday morning. Come and bring your friends for all or part of the week-end.

RIGHTS COMMISSION SPONSORS SCHOOL DESEGREGATION MEET

The Alabama State Advisory Committee to the United States Commission on Civil Rights will sponsor a state-wide meeting on School Desegregation on Saturday, June 11, in Birmingham. This is one of eight such conferences on the new school desegregation guidelines issued in March by the United States Office of Education. The Mississippi conference alone attracted 1,000 persons. The meeting will be held at the Dinkler Tutwiler Hotel, 2005 Fifth Avenue, North, Birmingham. Registration will begin at 8:30 a.m. The meeting will last until 3:30 p.m. It is open to the public, and everyone is welcome to attend.

The purposes of the conference are: (a) to explain and provide information about the school guidelines, and (b) to provide an opportunity for discussion of problems concerning the enforcement of the guidelines.

The program is as follows:

|---|---|
| 8:30 a.m. - 9:30 a.m. | Registration |
| 9:30 a.m. -10:30 a.m. | Plenary Session |
| 10:30 a.m. -12:00 Noon | Five Workshops |
| 12:00 Noon - 1:30 p.m. | Lunch |
| 1:30 p.m. - 3:30 p.m. | Five Workshops Continued |
| 3:30 p.m. | Adjournment |

The entire conference will be chaired by Erskine Smith, Chairman of the Alabama State Advisory Committee. Featured speakers at the Plenary Session will include an important representative of the U. S. Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, as well as a representative of the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, Washington, D. C.

Each of the five workshops will have as resource persons a staff member of the Equal Educational Opportunities Program of the Office of Education, an Alabama attorney, an Alabama educator, and a representative of a civil rights or community organization. The workshops will be conducted on a geographical basis. The five workshop areas will include North Alabama, Jefferson (Birmingham) County, West Black Belt, East Black Belt, and South Alabama.

As any casual observer of the current scene in Alabama knows a move towards massive resistance to the school guidelines, particularly, and to the health and hospital guidelines to a slightly lesser degree is well underway. In fact, the June 11 meeting will follow by only a few days a recently announced meeting for June 6, which has been called by Governor Wallace, for local school officials to discuss the "illegal guidelines." Persons who have worked on school desegregation, who are aware of what the guidelines mean and of possible violations of them or who are at all concerned about the current situation are particularly urged to attend this conference.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITIES

PRIVATE EMPLOYMENT AND TITLE VII

Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 prohibits employers and unions in industries affecting interstate commerce, and all employment agencies which serve them, from discriminating because of race, color, religion, sex, or national origin, except in those cases where sex, national origin, or religion is a bona fide occupational qualification reasonably necessary to the normal operation of a particular business or enterprise.

Discrimination may not be practiced in hiring, firing, promotion, wages, layoffs, use of facilities on the job, and employer or union practices which discriminate against or segregate particular employees. Nor may discrimination be practiced in exclusion or expulsion from training or apprenticeship programs, recruitment and recruitment advertising, selection or referral of job applicants, and membership in or job referrals by unions.

Title VII guarantees equal opportunity in private employment only. The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission (EEOC) was created by Title VII to enforce its provisions. If you believe that you (or some other person) have been discriminated against by an employer, labor organization, employment agency or joint labor-management program, write to: Mr. Donald Hollowell, Director EEOC, 1776 Peachtree Street, N. E., Atlanta, Georgia 30309.

PRIVATE EMPLOYMENT AND GOVERNMENT CONTRACTORS

Employers having contracts with the Federal Government and contractors on Federally assisted construction projects are prohibited by Executive orders from discriminating in employment because of race, color, creed, age, or national origin. All employees of a contractor or subcontractor are covered whether or not they are involved in work on the contract unless they are specifically exempted from coverage. For example, employees in all plants of a parent company are covered though employees in only one plant may be working on the contract.

The Secretary of Labor or the appropriate contracting agency may cancel, terminate, or suspend any contract or portion of a contract when the contractor or subcontractor fails to comply with the nondiscrimination provisions of the contract. The continuation of contracts may be conditioned upon a program for future compliance approved by the contracting agency. Aggrieved employees or applicants for employment may file a complaint with the Office of Federal Contract Compliance, U. S. Department of Labor, Washington, D. C.

PUBLIC EMPLOYMENT

It is the policy of the Federal Government to provide equal opportunity in Federal employment for all qualified persons and to prohibit discrimination in employment because of race, creed, color, sex, or national origin. Each executive department and agency is required to maintain a positive program of equal employment opportunity for all civilian employees and applicants for employment within its jurisdiction. Employees or applicants for employment with the Federal Government who allege discrimination should complain to the U. S. Civil Service Commission, Washington, D. C.

Federal statutes provide that states shall establish a merit system of personnel administration applicable to the employment and promotion of employees of public agencies administering certain programs receiving Federal financial assistance. Some of the agencies covered by these statutes include State and local

1966 MEMBERSHIP CAMPAIGN REPORT

In the two months since our last report on the 1966 financial and membership campaign we have had a significant increase in membership. The same is not true, however, concerning contributions. Below are figures listed by chapter showing how things look as of May 20, 1966. Indications are that we will easily surpass last year's membership totals. If we can get about 500 more members by October 1 (that's when the new membership year begins) we would have nearly a 25% increase over last year's membership total of about 1,200.

We wish to remind everyone of the decision made by ACHR's executive committee in June of 1965 that "on and after June 1 of each year, new members (only) may join the Alabama Council on Human Relations for the remainder of the calendar year for one-half the annual membership dues."

If you live where there is no organized chapter, or if you live outside Alabama, or if for any other reason you have not yet given us your help, please let us have your membership, contribution or pledge at your earliest convenience (if you make a contribution or pledge, you automatically become a member). Use the application on Page 4.

VOLUNTEER JOBS FOR STUDENTS

There are thousands of openings for summer volunteer service in the war on poverty for college students. Volunteers are needed in Project Head Start, the Job Corps, Project Upward Bound, Adult Basic Education, Vista, Legal Services Program and Local Community Action Programs. Volunteer positions are available for each of the above programs in nearly every part of the country. In most cases a brief training period will be provided and some or all expenses will be paid in many of the programs.

Rather than list details of the various programs and the appropriate person to contact we are suggesting that any student who is interested in additional information should write to ACHR's state office. Indicate which program(s) you are most interested in, which part of the country you prefer and dates of availability (some programs are for all summer while others are for one or two months). You will receive, by return mail, specific information regarding programs you are interested in, who to contact, biographical information necessary, dates of the programs, possible expenses, etc.

welfare, aging, health, and civil defense agencies and State Employment Security agencies. Employees or applicants for employment with these agencies who allege discrimination should complain to the Chief, Division of State Merit Systems, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, Washington, D. C.

Individuals who are uncertain about where to file a complaint alleging employment discrimination may make inquiry of the United States Commission on Civil Rights, Washington, D. C. 20425

Anyone desiring additional information regarding Equal Employment Opportunities should write for the following three free pieces of literature: Equal Employment Opportunity Under Federal Law, The United States Commission on Civil Rights, Washington, D. # ECONOMIC DEVELOPMENT ADMINISTRATION

The U.S. Department of Commerce has recently established a South Eastern Regional Office of the Economic Development Administration (EDA) in Huntsville. This office includes the states of Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Mississippi, South Carolina and Tennessee. In addition to the Regional Office each state also has an Economic Development Administration office.

The EDA was created by The Public Works and Economic Development Act of 1965. Some of the things which the EDA does are to provide grant and loan programs for public works and development facilities to enable private enterprise to move into depressed areas (this might mean building access roads for an industrial park or putting in sewer and water systems), to assist depressed communities to develop and expand public works necessary to create new opportunities for permanent jobs and economic growth, to provide technical assistance in working out broad, comprehensive plans for developing an area's economy, and to make available low-interest, long-term loans to business firms which are establishing or expanding in depressed areas.

Individuals, organizations or businessmen desiring additional information should write or call Mr. Gordon Berry, Acting Director, Economic Development Administration, Acuff Building, 904 Bob Wallace Avenue, Huntsville, Alabama (534-0661

The EDA is also very interested in building an intergrated staff in their Regional and state offices. Positions are open for both secretarial and professional staff levels. Professional positions available include financial specialists, civil engineers, attorneys, economists, operations research analysts, and public works project review officers for grade 7 ($6,269 per year) through grade 13 ($12,510 per year). Interested persons should contact Mr. Frederick A. Ricci, Equal Opportunity Officer, at the above address.

Executive Director

A TIME OF TRANSITION

The present is a time of transition for the Alabama Council's state staff. On June 10, the Council;s Board of Directors voted (1) to employ Mr. Jerry Roden, Jr. as Executive Director, (2) to make permanent the appointment of Mr. Bob Valder as Associate Director, and (3) to move the state office from Huntsville to Auburn. The decision to move the office to Auburn was prompted by the need for a more central location. The state staff is preparing for the move to Auburn, which is scheduled for July 15.

Council offices in Auburn will be located at 160 North College Street--or, more accurately, in offices 2, 3, and 4 of the Wright Drug Building at the corner of North College Street and Tichenor Avenue. Since this building is only one block from the Post Office, we have secured a post office box to insure more rapid delivery and handling of mail. All correspondence directed to the state office on or after July 11 should be addressed to: Post Office Box 1310, Auburn, Alabama 36830. Our phone number will be: Area Code 205, 887-3438.

A WELL-DESERVED BOUQUET

During this process of relocation, the Alabama Council will lose the excellent services of Mrs. Benny J. Rogers as state office secretary--but not as a result of the move. Mrs. Rogers had already announced plans to resign at the end of May, but when the possibility of relocation arose, she agreed to remain on the job until the issue was settled and then until the move takes place. All Council members owe Mrs. Rogers a debt of gratitude both for her devoted service during her tenure in the state office and for her willingness to change her own plans to make the transition to a new location easy. Mrs. Rogers has exceeded her duties as secretary during her tenure with us and has become, in reality, an invaluable administrative assistant. We shall miss her.

THE NEW SECRETARY

Suceeding Mrs. Rogers will be Miss Mae Etta Eaton, a recent graduate of the Booker T. Washington Business College. A native of Thomaston in Marengo County (in the heart of the West Alabama Black Belt), Miss Eaton first attended Alabama A&M College in Huntsville for one year, but she went to Booker T. Washington because Birmingham offered better opportunities for earning her way through school.

THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Mr. Jerry Roden, Jr. is a native of Pisgah in Jackson County, Alabama, but has spent most of his adult life in Auburn and vicinity. He holds a B.S. degree in Agricultural Education and an M.A. degree in English from Auburn University. During the past nine months, he pursued doctoral studies in English at Auburn University under a National Defense Education Act Fellowship. Prior to that, he was for the past eight years editor of The Auburn Alumnews, a monthly publication going to some 40,000 Auburn University alumni. During his tenure with The Alumnews, Jerry became an active member of our East Alabama Chapter and served as president of that chapter in 1964-65. Work experiences of the new Executive Director prior to his tenure with The Alumnews include: (1) associate editor and publisher of The Cleburne News in Heflin, (2) advertising and circulation manager of The Lee County Bulletin in Auburn, (3) South Alabama Representative for The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis, (4) teacher of English and mathematics at Pisgah High School, and (5) graduate assistant and then instructor in English at Auburn University. His age at the end of this multiplicity of experience is 43. He is married to the former Rebecca Harris of Opelika, and they have three children--Wayne, 17, and Ruth and Inez, both 16.

THE ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR

Mr. Bob Valder has brought to the Alabama Council the fresh perspective of one reared and trained outside the bounds of Southern provincialism. Born in South Dakota in 1938, Bob grew up in Minnesota and Iowa and came South six years ago. Bob and his wife, Jan, decided to stay in Alabama at the conclusion of Bob's training period because there is no other place where more remains to be done. Prior to joining the Alabama Council more than a year ago as an Eleanor Roosevelt trainee, Bob had a variety of academic experiences. He graduated from Loras College, Dubuque, Iowa, in 1960, and has done further study at Tulane University, Loyola University of the South, and the University of Minnesota. An American history major with minors in philosophy, English, and education, he has several credits in law and has taught at St. Augustine High School and Xavier University Preparatory in New Orleans. Bob and Jan have to sons--Stephen, 3, and Patrick 1 1/2.

THE SELMA INTER-RELIGIOUS PROJECT

The Selma Inter-Religious Project is a joint effort of over a dozen organizations and denominations to continue the relationship established between these groups and the people of Selma and Black Belt Alabama. The chairman of the Project is Mr. Mel Dubin, a New York businessman. Four member groups act as national sponsors. They are: The Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches of Christ, The National Catholic Conference for Inter-racial Justice, The Synagogue Council of America, and the Unitarian-Universalist Association. The Reverend Francis X. Walter, an Episcopalian priest, is the full-time Director of the Project. He lives in and works out of Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Some of the more important tasks of the past few months have been securing emergency relief for victims of economic reprisals due to voting and political activities, putting grass-roots persons in touch with organizations, books, programs, church groups, etc., who could help them, interpreting the Movement to whites and establishment of The Freedom Quilting Bee (see below).

The Rev. Walter tells us that the Project is suffering serious financial difficulties. Its budget calls for $15,880, but some earlier pledges to the Project have not been forthcoming. Thus the Project is in need of $4,000 in order to continue operations. ACHR is quite familiar with the Selma Inter-Religious Project, and we are convinced of its value and are impressed by its significant contributions. All donations should be sent to the account of The Selma Inter-Religious Project, c/o The Episcopal Society, Room 200, 5 Forsyth Street, Atlanta, Georgia 30303. This will assure the donor of giving to an incorporated, non-profit organization having an annual audit of its books. Donations are also income tax deductible.

The Freedom Quilting Bee is a handicraft co-operative, chartered under Alabama law in Wilcox County, which is part of Alabama's Black Belt. It is composed of about 150 men and women making and marketing quilts, baskets, dinnerware and pottery. The co-op has been assisted by advice and a grant from the Southern Regional Council in Atlanta. Miss Lois Deslonde from the Roman Catholic lay community CARITAS in New Orleans is working with the co-op this summer as a technical assistant. The co-op, which has already sold 125 quilts for $3,200 at public auction in New York City, (quilts now average $20 a piece) is eager to discuss the sale of its products with commercial outlets. White oak baskets and native pottery have been recently added to the products available from the Freedom Quilting Bee.

This organization is providing an income and more importantly an outlet for the energies and talents of persons previously denied decent wages, self-expression and recognition as a "worthy" member of society.

(This article on the East Alabama Chapter is the first of a planned series of Council Bulletin features highlighting individual chapter activities. We will proceed alphabetically through the list of chapters.)

E.A.C.H.R.--A BEEHIVE OF ACTIVITY

Auburn Unitarian House has become a beehive of activity this summer. The Unitarians, who suspend operations during the hot months, have loaned their facilities to the East Alabama Chapter of the Alabama Council. From her borrowed headquarters, East Alabama President, Mrs. William Spears, is directing and coordinating chapter-sponsored activities that will involve more than 2,500 men, women and children in educational and recreational activities before summer ends.

Foremost among East Alabama's summer activities are Operation Head Start in rural Lee County and a series of educational and play programs jointly sponsored by the East Alabama Chapter and the American Ethical Union. Both Head Start operations and cooperative projects with AEU are repeats of highly successful performances last summer.

East Alabama's Head Start operation involves 270 pre-first graders at four school locations and 230 children involved in a follow-through program after last summer's Head Start and nine months in regular school. Unfortunately, the political climate of Alabama has resulted in only token integration of Head Start students, who are principally Negro. However, teaching staffs, social workers, and supervisory personnel are integrated and working together in classrooms, homes, and parents meetings. The Head Start professional staff consists of 85 men and women--and it is actually tri-racial in composition since it includes not only Negroes and whites but also a doctoral student from India. One of the most encouraging developments in this summer's Head Start is the escalation of parent interest. Direct involvement of the more than 900 parents of Head Start children is a major goal of the program. The success of the first parent meeting this year indicates a measure of success unanticipated by experienced workers after last year's parental reluctance to come and speak out.

Cooperative work between the East Alabama Chapter and the American Ethical Union began last year when the Council's Mrs. Grace Hooks and AEU's Walter Lawton got together. The list of those contributing to the expansion of cooperative efforts last summer is too long for inclusion here, but we must include mention of Bob Stein and his wife, Anita, both AEU volunteers, and the Council's Professor Roger Kelley. Walter, Bob, and Anita, along with Harold Quigley, are back on the job this year as AEU leaders. All four give considerable credit for this year's expanded program to a speech that East Alabama's President, Nancy Spears, made before the AEU National Convention in Chicago in April.

AEU and the East Alabama Chapter are sponsoring jointly in Tuskegee (1) a play school to provide creative experiences for eighty children between the ages of four and ten, and (2) a tutorial workshop in basic English skills for high school students. They are sponsoring in Auburn (1) an integrated play school for 45 children, ages four to ten, and (2) a series of lectures on racial and related problems (a similar series of high quality lectures last year drew sizeable audiences from all segments of the community).

Other East Alabama programs continuing this summer include: (1) an adult education project, two years old now, in Auburn that offers training from the literacy level through to high school graduation. Enrollment during the summer slump is 25. Two former students have helped integrate the State Trade School in Opelika, and are studying nursing and business education there; (2) cooperative efforts in voter registration with the Auburn and Opelika Voters League--East Alabama has also worked from time to time with NAACP and SCLC representatives on voter registration in Lee County, and works cooperatively with several organizations in Macon County; (3) a cooperative voter education program with the Auburn League of Women Voters--this project, aided by a grant from Southern Regional Council, resulted in the introduction of 2,499 new voters to an actual voting machine before the first primary this spring; (4) cooperative efforts with Auburn University students interested in better human relations--an effort that resulted in the integration of the Auburn University Village Fair this spring with 61 Negro high school students from the area transported to the campus, where they participated freely in this university's open house; (5) a continued push for the expansion of economic opportunities, including a Community Action Board to get poverty funds to the poor people; and (6) a tutorial program for both Auburn and rural Lee County Negro students transferring to formerly white schools.

INTERGROUP RELATIONS STAFF

A letter from Mr. B. T. McGraw, Intergroup Relations Assistant to the U. S. Secretary of Housing and Urban Development, indicates that the new U. S. Department is making rapid organizational progress. The following excerpts from Mr. McGraw's letter may be of special interest to Council members:

" . . . The future status and performance of the Intergroup Relations function in the Department remains a matter for further consideration. At present, we have staff assigned to central and regional offices of FHA, PHA, and URA, as well as the Secretary's office. The present structure provides for an office of Equal Opportunity Standards and Regulations primarily concerned with compliance review of equal employment and Title VI requirements . . ."

"While we are not in position, at this time, to determine just what may be expected by the way of expansion of the Intergroup Relations function and staff, we do want to encourage you to direct to our attention any highly qualified applicants or prospects for employment in the Department."

FUN AND GAMES

The Huntsville Council will celebrate the coming of "the long hot . . ." summer by foregoing a regular meeting in June and having a family picnic instead on Saturday, June 25, at Braham Springs Park, from 4:00 - 7:00 p.m. We all feel the need to rest and relax and get to know our newer members better. This will be the time to do it. We would like to extend a special invitation to the children who have been attending our study hall sessions at Union Chapel Church this year. The Council will provide hot dogs, buns, mustard, etc., kool-aid, plates and utensils. Each family is asked to bring a covered dish (salad, vegetable, or dessert, or whatever you like). Ester Ring says there will be a picnic fund kiddy prominently displayed for those who might wish to make a contribution! Some games will be arranged to entertain the children, and there is an amusement area at the park. If you can attend, please call Ester and let her know. (536-8785)

VOTER REGISTRATION

Are you unhappy about the results of our Democratic Primary? Well, we have an opportunity to work to improve the situation. Voter education and registration is the answer as we all know. One Thursday, June 23, at 5:30 p.m., interested persons are asked to meet in front of the AHAC Building. They will be asked to spend the next two hours visiting homes in the Northwood area. Bring a pencil, a clipboard and your walking shoes!

McKinley Bailey, Co-Chairman
Voter Education and Registration Committee

FLOWERS TO SPEAK

Richmond Flowers, Attorney General of Alabama, will be the speaker at a program at Fellowship Presbyterian Church, presented by the Men of the Church. John Cashin will be the featured soloist. The program will be held on Sunday, June 26, at 5:00 p.m., on the lawn of the church, 3406 Meridian Street. All Council members are cordially invited.

SCHOOL DESEGREGATION

I would like to take this opportunity to thank and congratulate all the people who took part in the first phase of our school desegregation project. Although our Board of Education has chosen to make no announcement regarding the future of Councill High until after the Federal Court hearing, we feel the visitation project was extremely successful. It seems likely that three-fourths of the students surveyed by the Board indicated their wish to transfer to either Butler, Lee or Huntsville High schools next fall. For this reason, it is probable that Councill will no longer serve as a high school next year. Those of you who took part in this phase of the project can be justifiably proud of making a desegregated education a reality for Huntsville high school age students!

Now, I would like you to help me on the second phase--Negro elementary and junior high school age children. We have in Huntsville three "Negro" schools serving these children: West End, Cavalry Hill, and Councill. Many children are traveling long distances, passing schools nearer their homes, to attend these "inherently inferior" schools. Those in grades 1, 2, 3,4, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 12 have the right to apply for transfer, but the deadline to do this is now August 15. We know from experience that the parents of these children need factual information plus encouragement and support in order for them to make the decision to transfer their children into schools which have, in the past, served only white children. The secret of making the rest of our school project a success is simple--finding and involving the people in this community who wish to put their convictions to work. If you are such a person and/or know of others, please attend our Committee for School Desegregation meeting on TUESDAY, JUNE 28, 8:00 P.M., at the UNITARIAN CHURCH, 801 East Clinton Avenue.

Jane Reed, Co-Chairman
Committee for School Desegregation

MAIDS

Do you employ domestic help in your home? If so, or if you know other individuals in Huntsville who do, you could be a great help to us. The Council has agreed to conduct a survey to determine the attitudes, requirements, and complaints of employers of domestic helpers in Huntsville. This is aimed at improving the lot of both employer and employee. If you would be willing to spend a few minutes filling out a short survey form, or can supply us with the names of others that might take part, please call Marge Nieberlein, 536-5726.

STATE BOARD MEETING

The State Board of the Alabama Council met on Friday, June 10, and accepted the nomination by the Executive Committee of Mr. Jerry Roden, former president of our East Alabama Chapter, as Executive Director of ACHR. Mr. Roden will work full time this summer and part-time during the next school year while engaged in studies leading to his Ph.D. degree in English at Auburn University;

Accepted nomination by the Executive Committee of Mr. Bob Valder as Associate Director of ACHR;

Accepted recommendation of the Executive Committee that the State Office be moved as soon as possible to Auburn, Alabama;

Appointed Mr. J. E. Pierce of Montgomery to serve the unexpired term of Rev. J. C. Wilson, deceased, as treasurer and member of the Executive Committee; Discussed ways of improving communications between the Executive Committee, the Board, and local chapters.

These included:

Insuring that all areas of the state are represented on the Executive Committee;
Stressing to all Executive Committee members the importance of their full participation;
Asking each Executive Committee member to take the responsibility for remaining in close communication with members of the Board;
Possibility of revising the constitution at the next annual meeting to include a requirement for a quorum for the Executive Committee meetings;
Agreed to have a day-long seminar for Board members to discuss fully the form and function of ACHR and the responsibilities and opportunities that it will face in the future [to be held in Birmingham the last of

September or early October];
Appointed Mrs. Jane Reed to fill the unexpired term of Mr. Jerry Roden on the Executive Committee;
Discussed the annual meeting of ACHR to be held on February 3 and 4, 1967, agreeing to have it in Tuscaloosa with local group serving as host. The changed format will include having a nationally-known speaker on Friday night and workshops and speeches on Saturday to explore the functions and programs of the Alabama Council in the coming year;
Heard report from Bob Valder concerning his work and that of Lewis Black, the Rural Advancement Project Director.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING

The Executive Board of the Huntsville Council met on Monday, June 6, and took the following actions:

Agreed to have committee meetings and a family picnic rather than a general meeting in June;

Heard report from Joe Gannon, Education Chairman, regarding actions taken by him in connection with the concern voiced at the last general meeting for children unable to afford lunch during the school year. He is attempting to define this problem and find a possible solution to it;

Agreed to compile a list of local business men who might be interested in attending a week-long session at Ohio University dealing with OEO.

Discussed the possibility of inviting Lewis Black, staff member of ACHR working in the Black Belt, to visit Huntsville in July to discuss with interested people the formation of a credit union.

Meeting

8:00, July 26 — Church of the Good Shepherd
605 Donald Street

Program: — Where Do We Go From Here?

If the title of the program looks familiar to you it is because the May newsletter carried a similar announcement. The program was pre-empted that month by the excellent film on the Klan, but we still have the problem of determining our direction for the coming year. The Board has discussed various ideas at our last two Board Meetings; however what we do depends entirely on you -- your interests, your concerns, and the amount of work you are willing to do. We will divide into small "buzz sessions" so come prepared to present your ideas and to evaluate those of others.

Selma Inter-Religious Project

Many of you read of the splendid work of the Selma Inter-Religious Project in the July Alabama Council newsletter. The Project is an effort on the part of the religious organizations which participated in the March on Montgomery last year to continue their relationship with the people of the Black Belt of Alabama. Four organizations are serving as sponsors: The National Council of Churches of Christ's Committee on Religion and Race; the National Catholic Conference for Inter-racial Justice; the Synagogue Council of America; and the Unitarian-Universalist Association. The Project's Executive Director is the Rev. Francis Walter, an Episcopal priest and a native Mobilian.

Although the Selma Inter-Religious Project was not formally organized until October, 1965, already it has served as a fact-finding agency to assist the people of Wilcox County in making application for a self-help housing project; an FHA financed co-op farm; and OEO sponsored adult education, Head Start, and Child Day Care centers. In addition it has gathered and submitted evidence to the Justice Department in cases where families have been evicted for registering to vote or participating in civil rights activities.

Another activity of the Selma Inter-Religious Project is the Freedom Quilting Bee, which it organized. This is a handcraft co-op which is producing beautiful quilts and pottery for sale throughout the country. The profits made by the co-op will be lent as in a credit union to buy sewing machines and to finance other money making projects. 80 quilts were sold at an auction in New York City in May for a profit of $2,200.

Besides these direct efforts to help the people of the Black Belt the Project is also working to interpret the Movement to the white people of Alabama and trying with some success to get the whites and the Negroes working together for common projects.

Although the annual budget for the S.I.P. is only $16,000 there has been difficulty in raising even this small sum. Because we believe that the quiet, determined work of the Selma Inter-Religious Project is so important to the people it is serving and to the state of Alabama the Board has authorized a special collection to be taken at our July meeting for the continuation of the Project. We hope that you will all give generously. If you cannot attend but would like to contribute you can send your check, made out to the Selma Inter-Religious Project, to Mrs. Kathleen K. Wood, 4100 Ridgelawn Drive, Mobile 36608.

Quilt scraps are also needed. We will have a box at the meeting to collect all you can bring. If you don't sew perhaps your neighbor does and would be willing to donate her scraps to the women of the Black Belt. Everyone's contribution in money and material is needed please help all you can.

Committee Chairmen

The Board is happy to announce the selection of the following committee chairmen:

|---|---|
| Education | Dr. Kurt Tauss |
| Voter Education and Registration | Kermic McChriston |
| Employment | Rev. T.E. Williams |
| Police Practices and Jury Selection | Rev. John J. Ellard |
| Hospitals and Health | Rev. John W.B. Thompson |
| Federal Programs | James N. Wood |
| Membership | John Milton |
| Housing | Valena McCants |
| Telephone | Sarah Hamlin |
| Hospitality | Janice Kennedy |
| Newsletter | Joan Lamb |

These members have accepted the responsibility of keeping themselves and all of us informed on developments in their designated areas. Each chairman, with the assistance of his committee, will propose appropriate Council projects and programs related to his special field.

The Council can be no stronger than its committees and its chairmen. Please decide on what committee you would like to serve and notify the chairman. Don't wait to receive a special invitation.

State Board Appointments

Mrs. Janice Kennedy and Mr. Arthur Whitfield have accepted one-year appointments to the State Board of the Alabama Council on Human Relations. They will serve in addition to the three other Mobile members -- the Rev. Powers McLeod, the Rev. John W.B. Thompson and Mrs. Kathleen Wood -- who were elected to the State Board at the State Convention in Montgomery last February.

The Mobile Council has grown in number and activity during the past two years. Our growth is a reflection of the tremendous growth of the Council throughout the state. Our activities become more effective as a part of a coordinated larger effort. We gain inspiration and avoid error by exchanging ideas and experiences with the members of all the other Councils and by working through our state office and state board.

Report on School Desegregation

Our efforts to encourage applications for transfer this year were concentrated primarily in two areas, Cottage Hill and Crichton. In the Cottage Hill area applications for transfer have been accepted for 20 students to Davidson High School; 10 to Azalea Road Junior High; and 3 to Elizabeth Fonde. In the Crichton area 4 students are transferring to Sidney Phillips and 4 to Murphy. There are also some first-graders entering Crichton School but we do not yet have the exact number. The figures do not include former transfers; we are counting only those students who have been accepted for transfer for the first time this year.

The figures could be -- and should be -- much higher, but a beginning has been made. Our thanks and congratulations to all who have worked so hard.

Voter Registration

The period for voter registration is the first week in each month. Can you find 5 new voters in August and see that they register? If each Council member did this we could register over 750 new voters in just one month and over 9,000 in a year!

ARKANSAS VOTER EDUCATION PROJECT

ACHR received a grant from the Voter Education Project of the Southern Regional Council on June 20 for a voter registration campaign in 14 Arkansas counties. The Rev. Ben Grinage began work as director on June 27, with Jim Jones as assistant, and Mrs. Kay Steeves as secretary. Both Grinage and Jones have served as directors of SNCC's Arkansas program.

COMMITTEE ISSUES STATEMENT

The quasi-official Citizens Committee on Human Affairs in Little Rock with Bishop Robert R. Brown as chairman has issued two statements -- one in support of the new Guidelines for School Desegregation and one on behalf of fair housing for minorities.

SNCC DIRECTOR TAKES ISSUE

The Director of the Arkansas project for SNCC publicly took issue with the new national leaders of that organiza- in advocating "Black Power". The statement issued by Director Ben Grinage was a joint production including former director Bill Hansen. Among other things it declared "integration is relevant" which SNCC leaders denied.

STUDENT SUMMER SEMINAR

"Students and Urban Life" is a seminar with 15 college students spending eight weeks living in Little Rock and "getting with it" personally to encounter complexities of urban organization and problems. Counsellors are Harold Wells, Director of Wesley Foundation in Little Rock, and Miss Arla Elston, student minister to Disciples students at U. of A.

ARKANSAS NEGRO WINS ELECTION

Mrs. Ruby Mc Coy, teacher in Carver School, Little Rock was elected Vice President of the Classroom Teachers Association of NEA in June. The Arkansas Department of Classroom Teachers of the Arkansas Teachers Association (Negro) sponsored her.

RESULTS OF PEABODY SCHOOL SURVEY

The report of the George Peabody College survey of North Little Rock School District released on June 13 included among its recommendation the abandonment of Jones Senior High (Negro) and the merging of the NLR District with Little Rock and Pulaski County districts.

Abandonment of Jones and the building a new high school elsewhere were among the policies vigorously pursued by the North Little Rock Council on Human Relations and especially by its Education Committee chaired by John W. Smith who is also a member of ACHR's Board.

COUNCIL DIRECTORS WRITE TO HOWE

To counter the pressures from Arkansas schoolmen and congressmen on the U.S. Office of Education, ACHR's Director joined with all other directors of human relations councils in a strong statement of support to Commissioner Howe in enforcement of the new Guidelines for School Desegregation.

ADOLPHINE TERRY DINNER

Unfortunately the state edition of the Arkansas Gazette did not carry the report of the Adolphine Terry Dinner on June 14 and the masterful address by Harry S. Ashmore to a capacity audience (500) in the Ball Room of the Marion Hotel.

Special thanks are due Grainger Williams and the following members of the committee: Mrs. Joe Brewer, Mrs. Patrick Murphy, Mrs. Clothilde Bush, Mrs. James Youngdahl, Dr. E. Upshur, Mrs. Hugh Patterson, Jr., Mrs. Gwendolyn Floyd, Fred Darragh, Steele Hays, Rev. William Willcox, Fr. Walter Clancy, Dr. Ira Sanders, and Phillip Back.

In writing the SRC about the affair Harry Ashmore said, "When we founded the Arkansas Council on Human Relations as a chapter of the Southern Regional Council some ten years ago we could assemble the entire membership in my office at the Arkansas Gazette. A couple of weeks ago the Council filled the biggest ballroom in town from wall to wall, and made the leading members of the local Establishment pay handsomely to get in."

(Reprints of Ashmore's speech will be available soon for those present. Others should ask ACHR's office for copies.)

HEW CHECKS ARKANSAS HOSPITALS

Ozell Sutton was loaned for a number of days in June assisting representatives of HEW in their crash check on Arkansas hospitals in anticipation of the initiation of Medicare. By July 1, all but 30 Arkansas hospitals had met the nondiscriminatory requirements, a total of 79 qualifying.

"OLD ORDER CHANGETH"

On July 15 Mr. Sutton became the Field Representative for the Commission on Community Relations Services under the Justice Department (Room 502, Post Office Building, Little Rock). He says he considers that he has changed desks but continues the work of ACHR in his new job.

Elijah Coleman will be the new Associate Director, beginning in August. He has been principal of Townsend Park School, Pine Bluff, since 1954. He is past president of the Arkansas Teachers Association and an official in regional work of the Boy Scouts.

The Board asked Nat Griswold to continue as Director until September 1, before beginning his research assignment announced earlier.

NEW EMPHASIS OF ACHR

New emphasis of the work of ACHR as announced by Fr. Walter Clancy, Chairman of the Board, will be organization of effective affiliates in many Arkansas towns and cities. He holds that the human and civil rights movements are at the stage that only local groups can achieve for individuals full realization of rights provided under law. The staff and members of the Board will vigorously pursue organization of local groups. If you have ideas, let us hear from you.

IMPORTANCE OF SCHOOL DESEGREGATION

The enclosed pamphlet is selfexplanatory. Why have not candidates for state offices spoken out on the subject of school desegregation. Every school district in Arkansas is confronted with this revolutionary change. The well being of nearly one half million students is at stake including that of 120,000 Negro children and young people. It seems to be another case of the ostrich technique which, as a U.N. delegate remarked, not only blinds the ostrich but sets him up for a target for a boot. Some candidates say it is not an issue because it is the law. We say compliance is an issue because it is the law, and more importantly, because it is right.

LEST WE FORGET

"You do not take a person who, for years, has been hobbled by chains and liberate him, bring him up to the starting line of a race and then say, 'You are free to compete with all the others' and still justly believe that you have been completely fair. ... We seek not just legal equity but human ability -- not just equality as a right and a theory, but equality as a fact and equality as a result." President Johnson, June 4, 1965.

FLASH!

• The Civil Rights Act will be on the floor of the House of Representatives by the time you read this. The Leadership Conference on Civil Rights urges that it be supported as is without further weakening.

You may not agree with this. But let your Congressman hear from you as to what you think. Wire, write, or go to Washington.

DESEGREGATION AND SCHOOL SITES

The issue of whether the construction program of a school district can be guided by a federal court to help achieve desegregation has been put squarely before the courts in two Arkansas cases; one involves the Gould School District, the other, Altheimer. The Gould case has been appealed by Attorney John Walker to the Eight Circuit Court of Appeals. On June 3 Judge J. Smith Henley dismissed the Altheimer suit. Both cases involve constructing new buildings on sites of former Negro schools.

POPULATION BOOM

With a birth every 7½ second the Demograph Clocks, a net gain of one new citizen of the USA every 12 seconds. And in the rest of the world? Equitable experts estimate that every minute 220 more babies are born and only 100 people die - two more human beings every second.

NOW IS THE TIME

The record of ACHR chapter work shows that the Alabama Council is now making some significant contributions to the improvement of human relations in our state. The greatest weakness in our program is the limited geographic scope of our impact. More than 50 of Alabama's 67 counties remain virtually untouched by our crusade for equality, human dignity, brotherhood, and progress. And in several other counties our influence has been but slight. Only in those counties where we have active chapters is our influence truly significant.

Working cooperatively with ACHR President C. G. Gomillion and the East Alabama Chapter, the ACHR state staff this month outlined a plan for chapter expansion that we hope will appeal to all chapters enough that each chapter will actively participate. East Alabama Chapter has already begun working on the plan, and the Executive Committee of the Mobile Chapter has agreed to give it a try.

Here's the plan in simple outline: First Step--To begin work immediately on each border of the state to establish a new chapter in a county adjoining, or nearby, a county in which a chapter already exists--Volunteers in East Alabama have chosen three counties for their initial efforts--Gene Porter is working in Russell County; the Rev. King Pogue, Mrs. Grace Hooks, and Mrs. Fannie Harris are working in Bullock County; the Rev. E. D. Porter and his wife, Frances, are working in Chambers County. Working cooperatively with these volunteers are East Alabama President Nancy Spears and Executive Director Jerry Roden, Jr. Mobile Chapter's Executive Committee has agreed to begin work in Baldwin County. ACHR Rural Improvement Director Lewis Black, is working to establish at least one new chapter in the West Alabama Black Belt. And ACHR Associate Director Bob Valder is planning to work for a new chapter in the northern section of the state.

Second Step--To encourage each remaining chapter to follow the lead of East Alabama and Mobile by joining actively in developing a new chapter.

Third Step--The Executive Director and the Associate Director to study other counties throughout the state that appear promising and begin to work in the most promising as time permits.

Fourth Step--To seek additional professional help and aid for continuing expansion after we have gone far enough with the first three steps to prove that we mean business and are capable of helping ourselves.

This appeal for volunteers to join in the chapter expansion drive is not to officers only. Anyone with a few contacts and willing to do some leg work will be welcomed. The state office will offer advice, counsel, and on-the-scene assistance--when at all possible--to any volunteer or group of volunteers.

Now is the time for us to grow if we ever intend to do so. If we dally long, the opportunity may pass forever. Most competent observers agree that councils on human relations must either expand rapidly during the next two years or give up the ghost to become footnotes in the history of a great democratic movement that failed.

AN UNFINISHED TASK

A report from Southern Regional Council reveals the magnitude of the task remaining in voter registration. In the spring of this year 235,572 Negroes were registered to vote in Alabama; the Negro voting population according to the 1960 census was 481,320. Thus only 48.9 percent of the eligible Negroes in our state have taken the step necessary to exercise the most basic right of democratic citizenship.

No concrete figures on registration since spring exist. But the very absence of extensive news coverage on the subject indicates that the turnout of new registrants has been light. Thus the available evidence indicates that approximately 50 percent of the eligible Negroes are still unregistered.

The Alabama Council's role in voter registration to date has been a slight one. The statistics from SRC and the results of the May primary suggest that the State and local councils should consider voter registration and voter education urgent problems demanding immediate and consistent attention from us all

ANOTHER PROFILE IN COURAGE

In January, 1953, Miss Frankie Brundage of Auburn left Lee County Training School after having completed the first half of the ninth grade. Mother needed her help at home after the birth of a new brother. Before school started again next fall, Miss Brundage was in love with Mr. Willie King, and plans for a November wedding prevented her return to studies.

Eleven years later, Mr. and Mrs. King were the parents of six children--Lewis, Tony, Stanley, Timothy, Stephen, and Michele. Mr. King was a stock clerk in Kwik Chek, and Mrs. King was working as a maid to help round out the family budget. The future for the King family didn't appear as bright as Mr. and Mrs. King desired. So they decided to attempt to change the prospect by getting Mrs. King back in school if possible.

Mrs. King asked the forerunner of the East Alabama Chapter's Adult Education Committee to expand its literacy program to include high school studies. The committee granted her request, and Mrs. King began studying at night after working all day and then rushing home to do housework and care for her children.

Last month, after 18 months of night study, Mrs. King passed a 10-hour series of examinations, received a Certificate of Equivalency (the equivalent of a high school diploma) from the Alabama State Department of Education, and promptly entered the new Opelika State Vocational School's business education curriculum--helping to integrate that institution for the first time. In the meantime, Mrs. King continues to work--but not as a maid any longer. Her new educational attainments have qualified her for a secretarial apprenticeship with the Lee County Head Start Program and her salary is now two and one-half times what it was before.

When she has qualified as a secretary through studies and apprentice training, Mrs. King will not be ready to relax. Her eventual goal is a degree from Auburn University. She is blazing a trail for her children to follow. On the basis of her performance to date, we are willing to bet that she goes all the way.

NOTES AND SUGGESTIONS

Huntsville President Don Ring believes that a monthly newsletter from each chapter--with an exchange of newsletters among chapters--would prove to be a fruitful stimulant to more effective council activities.

Rural Advancement Director Lewis Black considers the establishment of credit unions one of the most important steps in the improvement of the Negroe's

BIRMINGHAM CHAPTER REPORTS

During the fall of 1965 and into the winter, the Birmingham chapter formed interracial teams to investigate hospital policies and to check on compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act. Each team attempted to set up meetings with the hospital administrations wherever possible, to talk with employees and patients, and to do some snooping. A long report was filled out on each hospital and then sent to the state office before being sent to Washington.

During January and February SCLC conducted an intensive voter registration drive in Birmingham and Jefferson County. Hosea Williams was the speaker at the January meeting of the Council. He told the Council members how they could participate in the drive, and after that a number of members became very active in the voter registration drive here.

An incident in which five Negroes were beaten by police and a security guard at a major supermarket in Birmingham set off a withdrawal of trade campaign and picketing at the store. Three days after the picketing began, a young man drove his car into the line of pickets at one of the parking lot's exits and fired eight shots into the crowd. Five people were hit, two very seriously injured, one of whom is still in the hospital and listed in fair condition. Because of very incomplete and one-sided press coverage of both incidents, a committee from the Council was appointed to investigate and make their findings public. They conducted a very thorough investigation, interviewing witnesses on both sides in both cases and documenting their testimony. They attended the trial where the five people who were beaten were all found guilty of charges ranging from disorderly conduct to assault. After the grand jury refused to indict the man who had done the shooting, a group from the committee visited the attorney general, Earl Morgan, to see about the possibility of reopening the case. They received no satisfaction from Morgan, and therefore sent letters to the U. S. Attorney General to request that the Justice Department enter the case. The Justice Department has done no more than acknowledge receipt of the letters.

The above mentioned incidents plus the long standing issue of the lack of Negro policemen in Birmingham inspired a peaceful protest march and freedom rally in Birmingham in March. The Birmingham Council was one of the sponsoring groups. Members of the Council worked on various committees organizing the march and the Council president was one of the speakers at the Rally. Shortly thereafter, two Negro policemen were hired in Birmingham for the first time in the city's history.

In April the Birmingham chapter held its first annual banquet with Attorney General Richmond Flowers as the speaker. The banquet was attended by 102 Council members and friends.

After the May election chaos, in which people in Birmingham were forced to wait in line up to seven hours in order to cast their votes, a committee from the Council investigated and prepared a detailed report showing the number of voting machines per registered voter at each polling box. The study pointed out the difference between the number of machines per voter at many predominantly Negro boxes and many predominantly white boxes. One all Negro box had 520 voters per machine, while a nearby white box had only 135 voters per machine. This study was followed up by a study of conditions during the run off election and then by letters and phone calls to the voting commission to see what can be done about the situation before the November elections. It was thought that this should remain a standing committee and that it should also look into the possibility of the Council having legal poll watchers during future elections.

Our main project this year is school desegregation. Committee co-chairmen, Mrs. Willa Adams and Dr. Neil Freidman, and several other members attended a March school desegregation conference. Twenty visiting students and teachers from Valparaiso University, Miles College students and Council members went to about 750 homes in five different areas. The American Friends Service Committee has provided some financial assistance and much literature. Approximate results for the five areas combined as of mid-July are 282 transferrs in 14 different schools. Last year these same areas had 65 transferrs in 7 different schools. Council members served as registrars and panelists for a state-wide school desegregation meeting sponsored by the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights in June.

The Council holds regular monthly meetings which always include some type of speaker or program. Issues presented in the past few months include voter registration demonstrations, the city's reasons for the relative absence of Negro policemen, anti-povety programs, and the White House Conference "To Fulfill these Rights." Speakers included a City Councilman, Mr. Hosea Williams of SCLC, Attorney General Richmond Flowers and four Negro candidates for the Alabama House from Jefferson County.

No Meeting

The Month of August — Anywhere

Program: — Enjoy Yourself!

Due to so many people being away on vacation and to the general summer slump, the Board decided to dispense with the usual meeting for the month of August. Enjoy yourself, get a good rest, and come to the September meeting refreshed and ready for work for we have a lot of exciting plans for the coming year and we will need your help!

Because the September meeting promises to be a most interesting one we are hereby giving you adavance notice to keep the evening free. On September 27 we will show a very fine movie on the John Birch Society and other extremist groups, "Star Spangled Extremists." Mr. Irwin Schulman, the regional director of the Anti-Defamation League, will introduce the film and talk to us about extremism in Alabama. More about this in the September newsletter!

Report on the July Discussion Groups

Education is the primary concern of the members of the Mobile Council on Human Relations. This was definitely indicated by everyone participating in our July meeting. Every suggestion made concerning Council activities in the coming year was either directly or indirectly related to education.

In addition to study hall programs for the transfer students in the Crichton and Cottage Hill areas many of those present felt a need for some sort of cultural enrichment program to broaden the horizons of our children. It was agreed that a study of Negro historical and cultural contributions to this country might be an appropriate starting point. The Board has decided, therefore, to sponsor such a course for high school children (and those adults who would like to come and listen) to meet perhaps once a week for six weeks. The details are now being worked out and we hope to have all the information for you at the September meeting. If there is enough interest shown in the course we will recommend to the School Board that they include a similar course in the regular school curriculum.

We will also continue to work on our program of encouraging school transfer applications. We will have to delay work on it, however, until we know what changes will be made as a result of the Court's recent ruling.

Council Library

The Council is submitting an application to the Southern Regional Council for books on the Civil Rights movement, race relations, and Negro history and culture. If the request is approved the library will be available free to our members and to the students enrolled in our study series. The Board believes that such a library would be of great help to us all, giving us a better understanding and appreciation of one another and the problems which we must face. We hope to have more to report on this in September.

Selma Inter-Religious Project

We are happy to report that we raised $35.12 at our July meeting for the Selma Inter-Religious Project. This is, of course, just the merest fraction of the money needed to carry them through to October but we hope that it will help. The Council Board is presently considering sponsoring an auction of the products of the Freedom Quilting Bee sometime in early November. We could all do our Christmas shopping and help the people of the Black Belt at the same time!

Graduate Fellowship at Auburn

Auburn University is offering two fellowships (tuition and $2.000. for nine months) for graduate study in mental retardation. Negro applications have been requested through the Alabama Council. This would be a marvelous opportunity for advanced study for anyone with interest in this field. For futher information please phone Dr. Kurt Tauss, 342-8454.

Our Thanks to Mr. Roden

The members of the Board want to express their thanks to our new executive director, Mr. Jerry Roden, for making a special trip to Mobile to attend our August Board meeting. Mr. Roden was of great help to us and we are sure that under his direction the Councils throughout the state will grow and prosper.

BOARD LAYS FUTURE PLANS

On September 17, ACHR's Board of Directors wrestled manfully for twelve full hours with a seven-page agenda of topics centered around the question: "Where do we go from here?" At the end of that long and often turbulent session, some thorny questions remained without definitive resolution. But the Board had, nevertheless, charted in bold outline a proposed course that, if followed by local chapters, will place the Alabama Council more squarely in the forefront of the crusade for a better society in this state.

By common consent, the Board adopted two major new policies: (1) A plan to go all out in developing new local chapters. (2) A recommended minimun program for all chapters and the state staff to follow.

The new chapter plan is basically that published in the last issue of this Bulletin with two significant additions: First, the Board voted to accept a strong leadership role as its own responsibility. And, second, it voted to request that each existing chapter, working in cooperation with the state staff, assume the responsibility for organizing at least one new chapter during the coming year. Behind these actions lay the explicit recognition of a two-fold need for new chapters: First, the human relations approach requires local attack on most problems, and second the state staff needs local contacts to launch effective attacks on a state-wide basis.

The recommended basic minimum program covers seven broad areas: (1) Voter registration and citizenship education. (2) Public school integration and improvement. (3) Consumer education and the establishment of credit unions and cooperatives. (4) The promotion of fair employment practices. (5) An undeviating pursuit of equal justice. (6) The promotion of open housing. (7) The elimination of discrimination in all hospitals and other health facilities.

In adopting this comprehensive minimum program, the Board explicitly noted that it was not laying down a blueprint for chapters to follow. Each chapter must, Board members noted, define its area, or areas, of greatest concentration on the basis of local needs and abilities. But the Board does recommend that each chapter remain constantly aware of the problems and developments in each of these major areas and that the chapter act, either alone or in cooperation with other agencies, to the best of its ability to achieve solutions in each area.

Other affirmative Board actions included: (1) The adoption of a plan to divide the Board into committees responsible for studying and planning attacks on major problems. (2) The approval of a plan to hold a training session on fund-raising and membership prior to the campaign at the first of 1967. (3) Establishment of a committee to study legal defense resources available to Council members and to distribute the results of its study to the chapters through the state office.

THE COUNCIL'S UNIQUE ROLE

Unresolved by ACHR's Board of Directors at their seminar meeting were a number of issues revolving around two basic, related questions: (1) What is the unique role of the Alabama Council on Human Relations? (2) What posture, or stance, should the Council adopt in fulfilling its role at a time when the extremes of left and right are hardening into irreconciliable positions?

Although the Board made no attempt to formulate definitive answers, members, at the conclusion of the seminar, seemed to be in closer accord than ever before on the fundamental purposes of the Council. Perhaps a few summaries of pertinent comments may stimulate further fruitful discussion of these topics.

By common consent, Board members seemed in unanimous agreement that the basic goal of the Council is the development of an integrated society. Both those sympathetic to the "black power" movement and those who view that movement with considerable dismay expressed, implicitly or explicitly, their desire to work for a society in which a man stands on his own two feet as an individual human being.

RAP Director Lewis Black emphasized that the stance necessary to achieve communication varies from community to community. Allen Black, Jr. stated that, whatever the posture and means employed to reach our goals, Council members must always stand firmly, without any hint of equivocation, upon the principles of absolute justice. President Charles G. Gomillion asked that Council members test each proposed action by asking "What good will it accomplish?" And SRC's Ed Stanfield suggested that Council chapters should weigh the possible good from each proposed action against the possible good of the same amount of energy and intelligence directed in another way. Both Dr. Gomillion and Mr. Stanfield expressed the conviction that the Council, in order to attain its goal, must gear its programs to winning reluctant moderate whites to the Council movement. Another major point made by several Board members, with no dissent from anyone, was that the Council must intensify its efforts to work directly with those victimized by discrimination and by economic and cultural deprivation and to encourage them to become active Council members.

JUSTICE--TUSCALOOSA STYLE

On Tuesday, August 19, 1966 Mr. Ross Bonner, then Acting President of the Tuscaloosa Council on Human Relations, was arrested. The purpose of this article is to explain to our readers what happened then and since with an appeal for their assistance.

On that evening an orderly demonstration was sponsored by the Tuscaloosa Citizens Action Committee (TCAC), an affiliate of SCLC. There were three adult men leading this demonstration. Two of these men, field workers of SCLC, were separated from the march and arrested by Tuscaloosa police. This left one adult man and four women leading approximately 150 children. Mr. Bonner was called to the scene because of the separation of the men from the march. Upon his arrival the remaining adult male was arrested, along with reporters covering the march for The Southern Courier. One of the officers told the remaining marchers, "Scatter you little niggers." The leaderless children, more afraid of the white police than the oncoming traffic, proceeded to run across a main avenue. Bonner in an attempt to protect the children from the dangers of traffic and to restore order regrouped the demonstrators and gave a short speech. The demonstrators were then dismissed by a board member of TCAC.

The four women, some board members of TCAC, and other adults engaged in conversation with Mr. Bonner. Two policemen who had arrested the SCLC field workers returned to the site. One of these officers asked to speak to Mr. Bonner privately so he and the officer moved about 25 yards away from the group. At this point the policeman cursed Bonner who then asked if the officer was cursing a citizen in his capacity as a police officer. When the cursing began the rest of the group moved in closer. Mr. Bonner, a Negro, turned to the group and asked, "Do you hear this officer cursing me? What do you think we should do about it? Report it?" Turning again to the officer he said, "What is your badge number?" At this point the officer put Bonner under arrest and he was booked for disorderly conduct.

Bonner was tried in the court of Judge Burns. The day before his arrest the Justice Department had sent a representative to Tuscaloosa to investigate a complaint signed by Bonner and Dr. H. A. Nelson concerning segregation in Judge Burns' court, on the police force and in jail facilities as well as complaints of police brutality. This complaint was a Human Relations Council Project.

HUNTSVILLE CHAPTER REPORTS

In January the Huntsville Council held its fourth annual dinner which was the highlight of a successful membership and fundraising drive.

Two important projects were also started under the direction of Mr. Joe Gannon's Education Committee. The first was a study hall which was held in a low income area twice weekly during the school year. This was helpful for the children participating and it had the added advantage of involving many people in Council work and of educating them to some of the realities of their city. It also made it possible to establish communication and rapport with Negro teachers in the community. This project is continuing this school year with the addition of a second study hall.

Project two was conducted by a School Desegregation Committee, made up of representatives from the Council, the NAACP and the Community Service Committee. Mrs. Bill Reed provided continuing leadership of this project over a period of months. With assistance from the American Friends Service Committee committee members were first educated about school desegregation methods. This step included trips to Montgomery and Birmingham for meetings as well as meetings with both county and city superintendents of education, contacts with government officials and regular attendance at school board meetings (the Council has had two or more members at these monthly meetings for well over two years). It was then decided to make every effort to close Huntsville's only Negro High School by encouraging as many students as possible to transfer elsewhere. So bi-racial teams visited the homes of every student in the school encouraging parents to apply for transfers for their children (all but about 40 students requested transfers and the school was closed). When it became obvious that the Board of Education did not intend to make any effort to inform the community about grades 1-8 and about the rapidly approaching transfer deadline, a tape-recording covering the essential information and offering aid in obtaining and filling out the forms involved was frequently played by the local Negro radio station during the week preceeding the deadline. The School Board also closed a Negro elementary school (which had eight grades and four teachers). In all, some 600 Negro students (compared with 62 last year) are now attending desegregated schools in Huntsville's school system.

Other Council projects include: (1) A program featuring the equal employment opportunity officers of Marshall Space Flight Center and the U.S. Army, the two largest federal employers in Huntsville. (2) Correspondence was initiated and continues with the U.S. Civil Service Commission concerning Federal hiring polices and safeguards against discriminatory hiring of civil service applicants. (3) A continuing effort to secure Social Security coverage for domestic workers. (4) Steps to establish a credit union for low income persons form Huntsville and Madison County--Mr. Lewis Black of ACHR's staff and Mr. Al Ulmer of the Southern Regional Council have participated as resource persons. (5) Cooperative efforts with the local anti-poverty program including attempts to involve low income white persons in anti-poverty programs, recruiting students, teachers and host families for Head Start, Upward Bound, Neighborhood Youth Corps and Project Discovery, and appointment of a Council representative to serve on the Policy Advisory Committee of Community Action Programs. (6) Meeting with State Employment Agency officials regarding policies and practices affecting domestic workers. (7) Work with a Vista Volunteer to establish a union for domestic workers (more about this in a later Bulletin). (8) Sending complaints to the Justice Department and meeting with the Superintendent of the Madison County School System with regard to that system's discriminatory operation of a summer educational enrichment program. (9) Participation in a program honoring Negro students and the parents of those students who attended desegregated schools during the past school year. (10) A picnic for Council members and friends honoring children who had participated in the study hall.

During the trial Judge Burns told "Ross" that today in Tuscaloosa white policemen could only arrest whites and colored policemen could only arrect colored. "Ross" was found guilty. On September 22 sentence was imposed--$100 fine and six (6) months at hard labor!!! The case is currently on appeal.

A local newspaper, in announcing the sentence the next day, identified Bonner as Acting President of the Tuscaloosa Council on Human Relations. Bonner is 34 years old. He is a psychiatric nurse at the Veterans' Hospital. Long active in civil rights and a council officer, he has never before been arrested.

Legal costs have mounted and will continue to do so. A legal aid fund has been established in an attempt to meet the costs of this and possible future cases. ACHR has been asked to help raise money for this and, in view of the entire incident and the sentence, quickly consented. We would only note that financial assistance is needed to meet current and future expenses--we hope other ACHR members will come to Mr. Bonner's assistance. All donations should be sent to Mr. Al Vreeland, Secretary, Legal Aid Fund, 15 Hillcrest Drive, Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

Mobile President Kathleen Wood and the Mobile executive committee believe that courses in Negro history and culture offer council chapters the opportunity for really meaningful action--they are working on this now. (Such projects, by the way, may utilize the Southern Regional Council's paperback book fund for securing materials)

SRC's Field Department writes that "if every local council did nothing else but assign a couple of people to monitor every meeting of (1) their city council, (2) their board of education, (3) their county commission, and (4) their police or recorder's court, their existence would be justified. Why not make this 'standard operational procedure'"? Some chapters are doing this and think it's great. It is amazing what can be learned and acted upon by attending these and other similar meetings.

Meeting

|---|---|
| 8:00, September 27 | Church of the Good Shepherd605 Donald Street |
| Program: | The Radical Right |
| Speaker: | Mr. Irwin Schulman, Alabama Director, Anti-Defamation League |
| Movie: | Star-Spangled Extremism |

Our program this month is an especially interesting one, particularly in view of the general election soon to be held. The film is a documentary, narrated by Dr. Alan Westin of Columbia University Law School, which illustrates the activities of extremist groups such as the John Birch Society and analyzes their impact on American life. Following the film, Mr. Schulman will speak on extremism in Alabama and the threat which such groups pose to freedom in Alabama. This should be a most interesting and informative evening. Don't miss it!

Would You Believe?

The Mobile Council is about to become the proud owner of a free paperback circulating library. The Board has selected over 400 books which will be sent us free of charge by the Southern Regional Council. The books which we have chosen cover a wide range of subjects and include fiction and non-fiction. We have tried to select books not easily available in other libraries which are of interest to both adults and teen-agers.

Our library will be housed at the Church of the Good Shepherd. Council members, members of the church, and the young people in our Negro history course may check out books without charge. Others interested in using the library may do so by paying a small yearly fee.

We hope that you will use these books and that through them we can all reach a better understanding and appreciation of one another and of the problems which we must face and solve.

Who Am I?

For a young person whose racial history and culture has been largely eliminated from the history books, the answer to this question is indeed difficult. The inspirations, the examples and the security of a proud past linking an individual to the present provide the basis for sound decisions about personal goals and values.

In order to make up a little for the neglect given Negro history in our schools and textbooks the Council is planning a weekly series of meetings on Negro history and culture. We will begin with early African civilization and work our way up through the Negro explorers to the freedom movement of today.

While we are planning this program for high school students in particular we hope that adults will also be interested in attending. The program is now planned to begin in late October or early November. Keep this project in mind and think of people who would be interested in attending. As soon as possible we will send you details in a special letter.

Board Replacement

It is with real regret that we announce that Father Ellard has been transferred to New Orleans and can no longer serve on our Board. We feel very fortunate, however, that Father Moore has consented to fill this Board vacancy.

Study Hall Program

The Council's study hall program is about to get under way. Father Moore is in charge of the Crichton study hall and Mrs. Lamb is organizing the program in Cottage Hill. If you can help with these study halls, especially tutoring in English and/or math, please call Mrs. Lamb, at 344-0030. There will be a meeting for all interested parents and children in the Cottage Hill area Saturday, October 1. If you are interested in attending this meeting please call Mrs. Lamb or Mrs. Tauss (342-8454) for further details.

Voter Re-Identification

It is getting near the deadline for re-identifing as a voter in Mobile County. All you have to do is go to the Board of Registrars at the County Courthouse and give them your name, address and date of birth. It only takes a few minutes now, but the longer you wait the longer the lines will be. Re-identify this week: don't put it off.

TUNE IN

The political season is upon us and in keeping with the spirit of the season the League of Women Voters of Auburn has announced a unique, highly original and very informative program. The Auburn League, through a grant from the Voter Education Project of the Southern Regional Council, is preparing a proposed series of three statewide television programs for the purpose of interesting persons in and educating them about our political system.

The first program in this series will be shown this weekend. It will be seen this Saturday, October 29 at 4:00 p.m. on WSFA-TV, Channel 12, Montgomery and at 2:00 p.m. on WMSL-TV, Decatur. This same program will be shown sometime this weekend on the NBC stations in Birmingham and Mobile--persons in these two viewing areas should consult their local listing for the exact time. This first program not only shows how to use a voting machine, what the various forms having to do with voting look like, and various facts of interest to Alabama voters, but it emphasizes the need for interest in voting and the necessity of becoming informed about current issues involving good government.

The second part of this series will deal with the duties of elected officials. It will be shown sometime between November 1 and November 8--probably, but not definitely, on the weekend of the 5th and 6th. Persons interested in seeing this program will need to watch their local NBC listings.

The topic, date and time for the third program in the series have not yet been determined. We hope to have this in a later Bulletin if possible.

"DUAL JUSTICE" MEETING

An interesting project on "Southern Justice" has been occurring across the South this fall, and comes to Alabama in November. This program consists of statewide workshops on "Dual Justice in the Courts--Unconcerned Community," and is a joint project of The Fellowship of the Concerned, the State Councils on Human Relations and the Southern Regional Council. Alabama's workshop will be held in Montgomery on Tuesday, November 22, 1966. It will begin at 10:00 a.m. and end at 4:00 p.m. The site of the meeting has not been determined. We will contact chapter presidents telling them where in Montgomery the meeting will be held and you can find out from them or by writing to ACHR's state office.

The main purpose of the workshop is to better acquaint participants with the legal process on the local, state and federal level. Topics discussed will include the police and minority group relations, the problems and rights of poor clients, state and federal court systems, methods of jury selection, the role of the jury and judge and other similar topics. Some time will be devoted to projects which local citizens can undertake to change things. A session devoted to "We have visited the courts" will provide more ideas for local projects.

MORE BOOKS AVAILABLE

We wish to call our readers' attention to Books for Equal Education, which is a joint project of the United States National Student Association and the United State Youth Council. It is a non-profit, charitable organization engaged in distribution of college texts and fiction to unaccredited Negro colleges in the southeastern region. The book distribution office is located in Atlanta.

Many of the books received by BEE are not suitable for use at the college level, but are in good condition and perhaps could be utilized in other areas. These materials include: texts in mathematics, science, English and social studies at both the elementary and secondary levels; juvenile fiction; pre-school reading pamphlets and other similar materials. Suggested uses might be: adult literacy programs, Head Start projects, community libraries, and the like. Those interested in the books for such purposes should be forewarned that many of the texts are out-of-date. However, the books have been "culled" so that the ones offered are in good condition -- and many are definitely "quality" books.

There is NO CHARGE for the books, but the recipient is responsible for transportation of them from Atlanta to their final destination. Interested persons should write for a copy of the BEE guidelines. The address is: Shawn Boles, Southern Director Books for Equal Education, 416 Marietta Street, N. W., Atlanta, Georgia 30303.

In order for this project to be effective, the telecasts will obviously have to be seen by those persons to whom they are directed, such as unregistered voters and registered voters who, because of apathy or lack of information, do not usually take an intelligent and active part in the election process. It seems to us that all of our Alabama readers might make a special effort to "get the word" to as many people as possible about this week's and future programs. We're sure everyone who sees these telecasts will wish others had seen them too.

SOME JOB STATISTICS

A new report by the U.S. Department of Labor shows that Negro workers, with a jobless rate running twice that of whites, are disproportionately concentrated in the less-skilled, slower-growing occupations. Although this is not really "news" to any of us, the report does document once again that in spite of all the civil rights legislation and anti-poverty programs and other government projects "things" have not changed for many citizens.

The report says that "if they (Negroes) do not gain access to white-collar and skilled jobs at an even faster rate than they have in recent years, they will continue to have more serious employment problems than their white fellow citizens." By 1975 about 12 million new whitecollar jobs will be available--three times the increase in blue-collar jobs. The need for more professional and technical workers will go up 54 percent. The demand for nonfarm laborers will show no increase while the demand for semi-skilled workers will experience only a slight increase.

Another Labor Department report said that Negro unemployment has shown little change in September after deteriorating from April to August. The unemployment rate among Negroes, at 7.8%, was slightly below the 7.9% average for the May-August period. In September the jobless rate for whites was 3.3% and 3.4% in May-August. So the ratio Negro-to-white unemployment continues at 2.4 to 1 -- much more than the 2-to-1 ratio that has existed in recent years. The jobless rate for all civilian workers was down considerably form the 4.4% rate for September 1965, but it was down only three-tenths of a point for Negroes. "The worsened job climate for Negroes in the late spring and summer resulted from inadequate job gains among Negroes in the semi-skilled, unskilled and farm occupations along with a consequent rise in the unemployment level of experienced workers." Where are all these Federal dollars and civil rights acts???

MOBILE CHAPTER REPORTS

The Mobile Council on Human Relations has undertaken a number of new projects in the past year. Some have been original and others similar to those undertaken by other chapters. The main programs have dealt with school desegregation, hospitals, and political education. Their most recent program is a course in Negro History.

Last fall the Mobile chapter did an intensive survey of the practices and policies of hospitals in the area. By using lengthy and detailed questionnaires, by talking to officials and by observing practices in the hospitals they were able to obtain an accurate picture of what was going on. To quote from one of the chapter's monthly newsletters - Generally speaking the information supplied was all quite 'acceptable' in that these hospitals now claim a policy of complete desegregation." Information gathered from this survey was used to help bring the hospitals more into compliance with Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The chapter also worked for passage of a referendum for a 3-mill property tax increase for the support of Mobile General Hospital.

School desegregation was a year long program of the chapter. In February the school desegregation committee met and officially got to work. As a result, many parents applied for transfers for their children during the transfer period of April 1-15. Much work was done on this project, but the chapter was not able to achieve its objective of more than token desegregation because Mobile was operating under an old court ordered plan for school desegregation.

One of the most interesting projects was the political education program, also started last fall. A series of "Know Your Government meetings were started with the intention of helping people understand the workings of each level of government and thereby interest them in becoming registered and active voters.

Three meetings were devoted to city government. Topics included the duties of the city commissioners, Mobile's general administrative organization, fire and police protection, water and sewer systems, paving and drainage and the whys and wherefores of housing and urban renewal. Three meetings were devoted to county government with such topics as the school system, and the bureau of pensions and welfare. Other meetings dealt with state and federal government organization. Speakers in this program included Mayor Joseph Langan, Mr. E. C. Doody, Administrative Assistant to the Board of County Commissioners, and Dr. C. G. Gomillion of Tuskegee Institute.

Subjects of monthly chapter meetings included: (1) the annual challenge meeting in January with Mr. Paul Anthony, Executive Director of the Southern Regional Council, speaking to over 100 persons; (2) a panel on the most pressing civil rights problems in Mobile; (3) a panel on school desegregation in Mobile County; (4) a general session in May to discuss project and program concerns for the coming year and (5) the annual picnic in June.

This fall the Mobile Chapter has started work on new projects. The October, 1966 meeting started a two-part series on the public school system. Dr. Cranford Burns, Superintendent of the Mobile County School System, spoke about the duties of the State Board of Education, the State Office of Education and local school systems with an explanation of how persons are elected or appointed to local school positions. In November, Mr. William Crane, County School Board member, will explain the work of the local school board and their policies.

In the middle of this month the chapter sponsored an exhibition and sale of the products of the Freedom Quilting Bee at Mobile's Annual Art Fair. The Freedom Quilting Bee, featured in a previous ACHR Bulletin, is a cooperative organized by poor people in Wilcox County. Proceeds from the sale of the products go to the co-op which in turn lends the money at low interest to its members so they can purchase goods for improving their income and their standard of living. Several women from the co-op also demonstrated their quilting techniques at the Fair, which drew over 10,000 people last year. We hope to have a progress report on the success of this venture in the November Bulletin.

Beginning in November, the chapter will hold the first meeting of their study series on "Negro History." This is a six weeks course with one meeting a week. The course will be repeated as often as the demand for it requires.

A study hall project has also been started this school year. About ten study halls, each meets weekly, are currently in operation. One meets in a church and the rest meet in individual homes. Children from surrounding homes attend them. About 30 volunteer students from Spring Hill College are lending their assistance each week.

Anyone interested in attending this workshop is welcome. ACHR chapters might consider sending a delegation to this meeting to learn more about the legal process and to see what can be done back home. Persons planning to attend this meeting in Montgomery on November 22, should pre-register. All you have to do is fill in the form below and return it to ACHR's state office. However, if you do not pre-register, feel free to come anyway.

Meeting

|---|---|
| 8:00 p.m., October 25 | Church of the Good Shepherd605 Donald Street |
| Program: | The Alabama School System |
| Speaker: | Dr. Cranford Burns,Superintendent,Mobile County School System |

This month's program is the first of a two-part series on our public school system. This month, Dr. Burns will discuss with us the duties and responsibilities of the State Board of Education, the State Office of Education, the local school boards and the local school administrations and how people are elected or appointed to these positions. Before we can make demands of our school system we have to know and understand how it works, how it is financed, and by whom policies are decided. Do YOU know how are textbooks are selected? How the school lunch program is operated? How much control has the state over our schools? How the school system gets the money with which it operates? How and by whom the teacher-pupil ratio is decided? Who determines what courses are to be offered in any given school? These are some of the questions which Dr. Burns can answer for us. Next month Mr. William Crane, a member of the Mobile County School Board, will be our speaker and will talk with us about the work of our local school board and their policies.

Because this is such an important meeting we are asking you to think about the questions you have regarding our school system and to write them down before the meeting. We will collect these questions at the start of the meeting and give them to Dr. Burns to answer after his talk, eliminating those which he has already answered. Questions which he cannot answer we will save for Mr. Crane at the November meeting. We will, of course, call for questions from the floor as time permits but we do not want to bog down in questions of interest to only a very few, such as "Why did Miss Smith give my child a D when he is clearly the smartest child in the class?".

Our increasing awareness that the solutions to many of our problems depend upon the success of our public school system make these two meetings a "must" for every member.

Art Fair - Freedom Quilting Bee

For some time we have been talking about the Selma Inter-Religious Project and the Freedom Quilting Bee which it organized in Wilcox County. This week-end, October 15 and 16, the Council is sponsoring an exhibition and sale of the products of the Freedom Quilting Bee at the Art Fair in Municipal Park. The Fair will be held outside the Art Gallery and will be open from 10:00 a.m. till dusk both days.

Articles made by the Freedom Quilting Bee include not only quilts but tote bags, pottery and basketry. All are beautifully made and worthy of your attention -- and your money! Shop for yourselves and for those on your Christmas gift list. The money raised from the sale of these items goes to the co-op which, in turn, lends the money at low interest to the poor people of Wilcox County so that they may purchase things such as sewing machines with which they can make money for themselves and improve their standard of living.

The Rev. Francis Walter, director of the Selma Inter-Religious Project, is bringing with him several ladies from the co-op and they will demonstrate their quilting techniques for us at the Fair.

This is a very informal event. There will be cokes, pop corn and such for sale and ducks on the lake for the little ones to feed. Last year over 10,000 people visited the Art Fair. Be sure that you are one of them this year: take advantage of this chance to see and buy the handwork of our neighbors in Wilcox County and help them while enjoying yourself.

While you are at the Fair, be sure to see the work of the New Group which will be hung next to the Freedom Quilting Bee exhibit. Many of the members of the New Group are members of the Council and it was through their efforts that the Council was able to sponsor the Freedom Quilting Bee's display.

See you at the Fair!

Negro History

If all goes as planned, the first meeting of our study series on Negro history and culture will begin Monday night, November 7, at the Church of the Good Shepherd. We think that the first class is full, but if you are interested or know someone who is, call Mrs. Wood at 342-5627 as there may be room. We hope that there will be sufficient demand to justify repeating the course several times over the year (each course will last six weeks, with one meeting a week), and if you can't get in the first series we will be happy to make your reservation for the next one.

Report on Study Hall Projects

Father Moore, the chairman of the Crichton study hall project, reports that there are now some eight to ten study halls operating in individual homes in the Crichton area, each drwaing children from the surrounding homes. We want to thank Father Moore for his work and also the approximately 30 volunteers from Spring Hill College who journey to Crichton each Wednesday evening to work with the children.

The first Cottage Hill study hall met Monday evening, October 10, at the Ebenezer Baptist Church and it will be meeting there regularly each Monday evening from 7 until 9. Except for a shortage of math experts, soon to be corrected, and a few organizational problems natural in a new program, the study hall was a great success. We only hope that we can live up to the expectations of the very enthusiastic and cooperative students and parents in the Cottage Hill area.

November 8

We must all try to think of new ways to get across an old message --- VOTE!

Acceptance of this responsibility of citizenship is so vital and so basic that we sometimes forget that it is difficult for many to feel the connection between the lever of the machine and our own lives. Nevertheless, the connection is there and it affects us every day of our lives.

It is true that in some of the races this year the choice seems to be between Tweedledum and Tweedledee and many of us may be thinking of going fishing rather than going to stand in line. But in many of the races there is a real choice to be made. Sometimes the choice is between a good man and a bad one; more often it is between a mediocre one and a bad one. But in either case it is important that we elect the best candidate possible. If you "go fishing" you can rest assured that others won't and the good man and the mediocre one will go down to defeat. It is difficult to get good men to run now: we must support the few we have running now if we ever expect to have more good men offer themselves as candidates in the future.

And don't forget to re-identify now, if you haven't already done so!

Our purpose . . .

To promote channels for prompt and easy communication between individuals and groups of all races.

To foster an atmosphere and environment in which citizens of all races, creeds, and colors can exist and work together in decency and dignity.

NEWSLETTER, OCTOBER 1966

NEXT MEETING:

Speaker: Mr. Charles Brandon
Time: Wednesday, October 26, 8:00 p.m.
Place: Pulaski-Calvary Hill Rehabilitation Center, 2205-F University Dr.

Mr. Brandon is Director and one of the founders of the Pulaski-Calvary Hill Rehabilitation Center. This agency is funded by the Department of Labor. One goal is to develop on-the-job training situations for unemployed and under-employed persons. The Brandon family have long been residents of the area for which the Center was initially established.

GRADUATE SCHOOL RECRUITMENT

"The Federal Government's new equal opportunity program calls for eradicating all vestiges of prejudices, for a complete review of Federal employment practices, and for heavy emphasis on training and development of employees." So spoke John W. Macy, Jr., the Chairman of the U. S. Civil Service Commission, on February 24, 1966, in announcing a government-wide effort to insure equal employment opportunity. Those knowledgeable about the difficulties of achieving meaningful Negro professional employment in government agree, however, that long-run solutions require a special effort, not only by the Federal Government, but also by institutions of higher education, and of graduate education in particular, to attract qualified Negroes to graduate schools and to educate Negroes for graduate school."

Following the above introduction, Warren I. Cikins, in an article, Graduate Education, Public Service, and the Negro, described several new graduate studies programs designed to identify and prepare talented Negro students. In assessing the programs Cikins stated that..."in each case one or two persons have served as the moving forces in getting these programs off the ground. The committees set up to administer the program have an important role to play, but generally respond to the initiatives offered by the leaders... The majority (of students) have adjusted very well, and have done better in their course work than was anticipated....

One of the five successful programs cited was cooperatively sponsored by three federal agencies and Howard University in Washington, D. C. The Ford

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING

The Huntsville Council Executive Board met on October 10th and:

Appointed a nominating committee of Fred Drosten, Chairman; Ann Wilson; and Ralph Lee. They will submit a slate of officers to the membership at the December meeting.

Appointed Evelyn Falkowski to serve as Huntsville chapter member of the state nominating committee.

Asked Mackinley Bailey to spearhead project to register potential jurors.

Appointed Mary Pandow finance drive chairman.

Instructed the Employment Committee to prepare a recommendation for future council action in regard to Civil Service hiring practices.

Heard report on a meeting called by A.H.A.C. and addressed by a Ford Foundation Director of College

And Field Foundations supplied funds for grants to the students selected.

Another promising program is being conducted at Emory University School of Law in Atlanta, Georgia. Field Foundation funds provide Negro students a summer course to help them qualify for admission to law school.

Placement Services. Local personnel officials attended, and the Human Relations Council was represented by Evelyn Falkowski and Jane Reed. Mr. Beaumont, the speaker, stressed the importance of sensitive and sustained placement counselling in Negro colleges. Ford foundation and/some federal agencies are cooperating with some colleges in strengthening their placement programs.

INFORMATION FROM THE UNITED STATES CIVIL SERVICE COMMISSION

The Huntsville Council has been corresponding with the United States Civil Service Commission relative to federal agency employment practices and problems. We have been particularly concerned that applicants can apparently be dropped by any or all local agencies without the applicant's knowledge. The Council's employment committee is studying problems of proving discrimination, protection of the rights of confrontation and cross examination, and weaknesses in law enforcement.

The Council has begun to receive bulletins and other information from the U. S. Civil Service Commission. If we haven't received all the answers we wanted, we have received an information explosion. When this has been digested, the employment committee will recommend Council action. Meanwhile, here are a few of the good quotes from the wealth of material the Civil Service Commission sent us:

"For many positions Federal appointing officers can stop applying the old criterion of "What have you done? and start applying a new and equally valid criterion of "What can you do? ...Managers should take a look at the job mix in their installation. What is the proportion of laborers and helpers to journeymen? What is the ratio of technicians to professionals? How has the current job mix been arrived at? Does it represent the most economical way to organize? Does the job mix provide an opportunity for all segments of the community to compete for job vacancies? ...This kind of review is becoming more and more necessary from the standpoint of best utilizing our scarce professional manpower."

Foregoing statements are from U. S. Civil Service Commission Bulletin No. 300-9. This bulletin cites several excellent examples in which managers separate out lower level duties from professional and journeyman positions to provide better use of personnel and more opportunities for the educationally disadvantaged. (Examples and all material is available for review by any member). These examples tend to substantiate the closing paragraph of a speech by Seymour S. Berlin, Director, Bureau of Inspection, U. S. Civil Service Commission, which should be remembered by all of us:

"I am confident that the creativity and imagination that the Federal establishment has always shown in meeting and overcoming its varied operational problems can be brought to bear most effectively in this area. Progress does not lie solely in method, techniques, or processes. Rather it depends on that measure of human understanding and personal commitment that is characteristic of what we call democracy in action."

NEW OFFICE FOR HUNTSVILLE COUNCIL

The Huntsville Council on Human Relations has rented an office. Our new address is 327 Church Street, N. W. Temporary phone number is 536-5853. Office equipment was donated by John and Joan Cashin. Part-time volunteer staff includes Jane Reed. Mrs. Reed may also be reached at 883-0286. Sharing the office address will be the local chapter of NAACP, the S.O.C.C., the Community Service Committee, and the Madison County Voters League.

THE REV. EZEKIEL BELL

The Council shared in community-wide tribute to Rev. Bell, now in Memphis.

STATE BOARD MEETING

Don Ring, Joe Wilson, Jane Reed, and Ezekiel Bell represented the Huntsville Council at the recent state-wide meeting. A report of that meeting will be in your next newsletter.

JURY QUALIFICATION

Jury lists are open because of a federal court decision requiring admission of women. Any county citizen of a year's standing may fill out a jury qualification form. Forms are available from 1 to 5 at District Attorney Younger's office. Or call the Council Office.

YOU ARE INVITED

All interested Alabamians are invited to a week-end workshop at the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church in Gees Bend in Wilcox County to be held December 9, 10, and 11. Participants will spend Friday and Saturday nights at the workshop and leave after church Sunday (about 2.00 pm) If necessary it is permissable to leave Saturday night.

The workshop is being sponsored by the Selma Inter-Religious Project and the Pleasant Grove Baptist Church. Father Walter is responsible for recruiting participants and inviting the lecturers. The church is supplying the building, arranging hospitality, and recruiting resource people for the discussion groups.

It was hard to find a name for the workshop -- A NEGRO LIFE WORKSHOP, A SCHOOL FOR WHITE PEOPLE, or A RURAL LIFE SCHOOL are all approximations It will be a week-end of seminars, informal lectures, inspection tours and recreation; all designed to give the participants an appreciation of what it is like to be black in the changing rural sections of Alabama. Without understanding the agricultural roots of the American Negro one can't really understand the Movement, the urban ghetto, or white economic and cultural reaction to the Movement.

Noted local community leaders will give short lecturers and lead discussion groups in such subjects as: "The Growth of the Movement in Wilcox County -- Problems and Progress", "Tenant Farming: How It Works, Why It Is Dying Out, What Takes Its Place", "Credit: How It Controls the Negro Community," "The Operation of a Rural Church", and "The Cooperative Movement". There will be opportunities to visit local farms, take part in a coon hunt, enjoy dinner on the grounds after church on Sunday, and to meet all sorts of people.

If you would like to know more about this country's most pressing domestic issue -- more than your family maid or any Alabama newspaper will tell you -- fill out the registration slip below. The deadline for applications is December 5.

Bring warm informal clothes for the workshops and one set of good clothes for church on Sunday. Bring a flashlight. All meals and expenses are included in the $5.00 registration fee.

THE MOBILE COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS — Mobile, Alabama

Kathleen Wood, President
Joan Lamb, Editor

Vol. II, No. 6
November, 1965

Meeting

8:00, November 22 — Church of the Good Shepherd
605 Donald Street

Speaker: — Mr. William B. Crane
Mobile County School Board

Topic: — Mobile County School System

We all complain to one another about our schools. Tonight is our opportunity to complain to, and learn from, the management! Mr. Crane has been a member of the School Board forthe past ten years and is eminently qualified to answer our questions. He will explain the new school desegregation plan, how the new school lunch program will be used in our schools, and school board policies regarding the use of federal funds for programs for the culturally disadvantaged and answer any other questions which you might have. This is a most important meeting: we hope you will plan to attend.

Once again, we would like you to submit written questions to avoid duplication and to insure that the questions are of general interest. We will call for questions from the floor as time allows, just as we did last month.

Library

Our library is in operation now, although only about one-third of the books have arrived. Members are invited to browse through the library and to check out any books which interest them. Books checked out at one meeting will be due at the next meeting and there is a limit of two books to a member.

Negro History Program

We have had an excellent response to the first two sessions of our history series. There has been a true interest shown and we feel that we are meeting a real community need. This is information which was not presented to any of us in school.

The November 7th program was a film strip on Negro history in America: about 45 attended, most of them students from Central. Some of the material was familiar to some of us; none of it was familiar to all of us. Did you know, for example, that the first wheat crop in the New World was planted by a Negro? or that 30 Negroes were with Balboa when he discovered the Pacific Ocean?

Over 60 people attended the second meeting where Miss Winnifred Galloway, an instructor at the University of South Alabama, spoke on early African history. She gave a vivid description of African civilization from a period long before the birth of Christ down to the time of the slave trade. Miss Galloway, who spent two years with the Peace Corps in Africa, also showed us some of the beautiful fabrics which are woven and dyed today much as they were then.

The dates and topics of the next four programs are:

Nov. 21 -- Explorers and the American Frontier
Nov. 28 -- The Freedom Movement - 1775-1865
Dec. 5 -- The Freedom Movement - 1865-1966
Dec. 12 -- The Arts

If you are interested in any or all of them, don't hesitate to come at 7:30 Monday evenings at the Church of the Good Shepherd. What would you think of having these repeated as Council programs?

Preview of Things to Come

Our December meeting will take place the second Tuesday in the month, December 13. We plan to combine small discussion groups with an informal Christmas party. Our history series grew from suggestions made at our last discussion meeting: now the Board would like further help in planning our activities in the field of education for the balance of the year. We hope that with the information gleaned at our two meetings on the schools and our experience with the history series that we can arrive at plans for really constructive action in 1967.

In January we will again have our covered dish supper to open our annual finance and membership drive. This will be held on the third Tuesday, January 17, to give us more time for the drive before we have to report on our success at the state convention in February. If you haven't finished paying your '66 pledge, do so now so that you will be ready for the new year. Start thinking, too, of friends you want to bring to the dinner. It is an excellent introduction to the Council.

A Sad Story

Joe Care is a responsible citizen. He cares about his community and he knows that informed participation in government is important if we are to keep our country strong and responsive to the needs of all the people. When election day rolls round he is first in line at the voting booth.

One bright election day, when Joe gave his name to the poll worker he was told that his name was not on the list. Joe could not vote! He had failed to re-identify. He had known he had it to do, but he put it off too long.

Don't be a Joe Care. If you registered to vote before February 1, 1964, you must re-identify at the Board of Registrars at the Court House on or before January 31, 1967. Don't put it off like Joe Care. Re-identify this week!!

Bob Valder
Associate Director

December 22, 1966

It's that time of year!! This is when we all are able to take one kind of accurate measurement of how folks are thinking in Alabama and elsewhere. Of course we're talking about the Annual Membership and Financial Drive, and the opportunity provided by it to allow people to indicate their concern about questions of justice, dignity, and community.

On November 19, representatives from local chapters across the state met in Birmingham to lay plans for the 1967 campaign. This meeting was the first of its kind and proved to be invaluable. Quotas for each chapter were agreed upon, a "Plan of Campaign" was adopted and many other good things were done. Following this, nearly every chapter has had a meeting of their local Board and of their Membership and Finance committees. At these meetings, the local campaign was decided upon, the date of the January Challenge meetings was set, and the plans for them were adopted.

Thus far, the following challenge meeting dates have been set: East Alabama, January 12; Birmingham, January 24; Mobile, January 17; Montgomery, January 26; Muscle Shoals, January 19, and Tuscaloosa, January, 4.

ANNUAL MEETING PLANS

The 1967 Annual Meeting of the Alabama Council on Human Relations will be held at the Dinkler-Tutweiler Hotel in Birmingham, on February 3 and 4, 1967. So put those dates in your book right now!

This year's Annual Meeting will be somewhat different from that in previous years--we have added an extra session, which will be held on Friday night, February 3. In the past, the Annual Meeting was a one-day affair. This year's plans call for a speaker and dinner on Friday night, workshops on Saturday morning, a speaker and luncheon on Saturday noon, and a business session on Saturday afternoon.

At this writing, we are not positively positive about who our speakers will be. Nor are we sure of the exact nature of all of the workshops, but we can promise you a stimulating and rewarding two days.

Complete details will be in the January Bulletin. But you should plan now to attend! And bring a couple of friends.

The two charts below should give our readers an accurate picture of the success of the 1966 campaign and of the goals of the 1967 campaign. It should be noted that at the September meeting of ACHR's Board of Directors, it was decided that in the future each local chapter's rebate will be increased significantly which will provide them with additional money to increase and expand their activities. The new rebate system calls for each local chapter to receive back 10% of all they have helped raise and after their quota is reached, they will then receive back 75%!!

We wish to direct our readers' attention to the three enclosed brochures. One is a list of the products of the Southern Consumer's Cooperative which is composed almost entirely of and provides income for low-income families. Many of our readers have availed themselves of these products before and we are delighted to give them and others an opportunity to do so again. The other two brochures are publications of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. One is an explanation of the EEOC and Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964; the other offers a brief explanation of the EEOC and Title VII and is to be used for filing a complaint with the EEOC because of discriminatory treatment in employment committed by employers, labor organizations, state and private employment agencies and labor-management apprenticeship programs.

MONTGOMERY CHAPTER REPORTS

The Montgomery Chapter of the Alabama Council on Human Relations acted as the host chapter for ACHR's Annual Meeting in February by taking care of the arrangements before and during the meeting.

They are now undergoing a period of revitalization in attendance and membership. The last three monthly meetings have had 25-30 persons in attendance, which is a large increase over most previous meetings.

In October a committee was appointed to call on the proper officals in an attempt to obtain some Negro poll watchers--Montgomery County has none. This committee has spoken to the chairman of the Montgomery County Democratic Committe and hopes to see his Republican counterpart soon. Elections for the three-man city commission will be held in March of 1967 so the Montgomery chapter hopes to have some results on the poll watchers issue by then.

The chapter has also begun a series of political education programs recently. Their last three meetings have been addressed by persons explaining how various levels of government work. City Commissioner for Public Affairs, Mr. L. B. Sullivan, spoke to the December meeting explaining how the city commission form of government works in Montgomery.

The Montgomery chapter is now hard at work planning its January challenge dinner. The date of the dinner is Thursday, January 26. They have appointed a chairman for this meeting and have a committee ready to go. They think they may have 100 persons or more in attendance!!

"JUSTICE", JAILS AND JURIES

Much has been said and done lately in Alabama about the whole idea of the administration of justice. Unfortunately, but not surprisingly, most of the things said and done show that "business as usual" is still the way of life in this sovereign state.

On November 20 James Earl Motley, a young Negro man, was found dead in the Elmore County jail--to date there is very little to report other than that there is very little to report as far as bringing his murderers to trial is concerned. Earlier this month Marvin L. Segrest was found not guilty of second-degree murder in the January, 1966 shooting of Tuskegee civil rights worker Samuel L. Younge, Jr. The trial was moved from Macon County to Lee County on the grounds that Segrest could not get a fair trial in Macon County--scene of the shooting (some wonder if it was just coincidental that Macon County's jury list is two-thirds Negro and that a federal court hearing about segregation in the Lee County jury system will be held shortly--a jury of 12 white men found Segrest "not guilty"). Also last January in Wilcox County a white farmer, Mr. Reaves, shot and killed a Negro, Mr. David Colston, in broad daylight and in full view of many persons. Reaves was also found not guilty earlier this month by an all-white jury. Since then the jury commissions of Hale, Perry and Wilcox counties have been ordered by a federal court to desegregate.

This list of lynch law (and that's what it is) could go on and on. But why belabor the obvious.

But there are faint signs of hope. On December 12 a three-judge federal court said that Alabama laws requiring segregation of prisoners are unconstitutional. The judges ordered complete desegregation of every jail and prison in the state.within a year. This order applies to all honor farms, educational programs, youth centers, hospitals in the state prison system, minimum and medium and maximum-security prisons, and to all city and county jails.

And there is something which we can do. That's for people who believe in justice to offer themselves for jury duty and to get others to do the same. All you have to do is go to the Jury Commissioner at your county court house and apply for jury duty. It's almost that simple. Since women are now first-class citizens in Alabama they too are eligible for this and should consider doing it.

Two words of warning. Due to the nature of the beast simply getting on the jury rolls is no guarantee of actually serving on the jury because there are too many ways of striking "undesirable" persons. The only real guarantee of getting "good" people actually serving on juries is to get large numbers of them on the jury rolls--volume is the secret. And that means you need to do some work to make sure that a whole lot of folks volunteer for jury service because they can't strike everybody. And, secondly, based upon what has happened in those counties where Negroes and fair-minded white citizens have served on juries, it should be noted that this will not necessarily result in impartial justice. But the effort should definitely be made.

Perhaps local chapters should set up a temporary "Committee on Jury Duty" whose job would be to encourage ACHR members and all other interested persons to apply for jury duty. Many telephone calls and a few volunteers driving people to the Court House should do the trick.

THE NOVEMBER ELECTIONS

The following quoted material is taken from a December 14 news release by the Voter Education Project of the Southern Regional Council entitled "What Happened in the South, 1966." It is an analysis of the Negro vote in the November election.

"Alabama Negroes, faced with choosing between two segregationists who were the major candidates in the governor's race, did not turn out as heavily as they did in the May primaries....the Negro turnout was less than half the registration. The May 3 turnout was estimated at 74 per cent. Negro registration...(is) just under 250,000."

"... In some areas Martin ran ahead in predominatly Negro boxes and in others Mrs. Wallace did. But in many cases, the front-runner among Negroes was the third candidate, Robinson."

"In the Senate race, Negroes voted heavily for Sen. John Sparkman..."

"Five Negroes were elected to office in Black Belt counties. Among them was Lucius Amerson, who turned back a write-in effort to be elected sheriff of Macon County."

"In Lowndes County, an outnumbered but unified white vote prevailed over the independent Lowndes County Freedom Party ("Black Panther") slate. A light Negro turn-out and the fact that some Negroes voted for white candidates contributed to the defeat of the "Black Panther" slate....There were charges that intimidation kept some Negroes from voting."

Meeting

|---|---|
| 8:00, December 13 | Church of the Good Shepherd605 Donald Street |
| Speaker: | Everyone |
| Topic: | School Desegregation |
| Added Attraction: | Christmas Party |

This month we will combine a little business with what we hope will be a great deal of pleasure.

After a brief survey of the new school desegregation plan submitted by the School Board, we will separate into discussion groups to plan our work in this area for the coming year. Our work last year proved that this is a job which the Council can do effectively. We must now select target areas in which to work this year and enlist volunteers to work on the project this spring. We know from experience that the plans which we all make together are the most successful.

Following our discussion we will have Christmas refreshments and time for the socializing which we so rarely can do in our busy year.

(For those of you who are wondering, we have decided against having our usual Council Christmas party this year. With over 150 members now we feel that we have simply out-grown this tradition.)

Negro History Course

This Monday night, December 12, we will complete our history series for young people. The programs have all been most interesting and informative to the adults as well as the young people attending. We want to give special thanks to our excellent "faculty:" Mrs. Dorothy Raine, Miss Winnifred Galloway, Mr. Hosea Perry, Father William Alerding, Mr. David Jacobs and Mr. James Kennedy. They are all very busy people and we want them to know how much we appreciate the time and thought they gave to making the series a success.

Over 100 persons attended the programs and average attendance has been about 45 at each session. Special recognition is due the six students who have had perfect attendance throughout the series: John J. Baxley, Linda Jean Coleman, Edna May Crenshaw, Margaret Lockett, Neal Tauss, and Juliette Thomas. We also want to thank Mr. Joe Woodie, one of several adults with perfect attendance records, for his help in setting up the chairs before the meetings and tidying up after them.

We hope that this course will spark an interest in Negro history among other groups throughout the community and we would be happy to repeat any or all of the series for any interested church or other organization. If you know of any such group which would like to sponsor one or more of these lectures please call Mrs. Wood at 342-5627.

Covered Dish Supper

We all look foreward each year to our January dinner meeting and this year we are especially excited about it because our guest speaker will be the Honorable Richmond Flowers! Mr. Ed Stanfield will also be a speaker at the dinner but we consider him an old friend rather than a guest because he has been a most welcome participant at every Council dinner since we first began having them. The dinner will be held on January 17 at 7:30 at the Toulminville-Warren Street Methodist Church. (We are moving for the dinner because we need more space -- as you will agree if you were there last year!) For those new to the Council perhaps we should explain that the dinner is free but that everyone attending, bachelors excepted, is expected to bring a dish with enough food for themselves and a few others. Because we generally bring whatever we consider to be our "speciality" -- salad, a meat or chicken dish, cake, pie or what-have-you -- and we all sample as much as our plates or appetites will allow, the dinner is really a feast and the company -- as you already know -- is excellent.

This dinner marks the formal opening of our annual membership and finance drive -- the drive that makes all of our various programs possible. Our Finance Committee is already at work soliciting advance gifts and pledges to our quota this year of 200 members and $2700.00. Reaching this goal will require cooperation and generous contributions from everyone.

This year we are asking your help in a new approach. Will you ask your minister to announce the dinner to your congregation or announce it yourself to any interested organizations. When you do this please ask (or have the minister ask) those interested in attending to give you their names so that you can report the number to Mrs. Lamb at 344-0030. Please explain also that they are expected to bring one large dish of food to share. We must know how many to prepare for so that we will have enough places set, coffee prepared and all the other housekeeping details attended to properly.

This will be Richmond Flowers' first appearance in Mobile since May and we know that you have many friends who will also want to hear and meet him. Speak to them now about the dinner and the Council before they have made other plans for the evening.

HUMAN RIGH

TEXT OF REMARKS by LeROY COLLINS

Director, Community Relations Service, U. S. Department Of Commerce, To The Annual Meeting of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, Birmingham, Alabama, January 30, 1965, 1:00 P.M.

My first feelings today are of commendation to this Council for what you have done and are doing. Your work is of extreme importance—to the people of Alabama, to the people of America—and you richly deserve the heartfelt thanks of us all.

More important, of course, you deserve our cooperation—and I am here to offer our help in any way that it can be utilized by you.

President Johnson has said "the time has come to bind up the nation's wounds and heal its history." This, essentially is the work in which you are engaged—just as it is the essence of the assignment of the Community Relations Service, which it is my privilege to serve as Director.

Civil rights is a touchy subject, to say the least. And, as in all fields of controversy some false and some exaggerated statements are uttered. So I am neither surprised nor too distressed that some confusion may exist in some places about the Community Relations Service, which was created under the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

For example, during the congressional debates one member of Congress painted a picture of the Service as some kind of a monster "without any particular authority or function other than to meddle in community affairs."

Let me take just a moment to set the record straight as to what this Service really is and what we are striving to do.

In creating the Community Relations Service, the Federal government has for the first time assumed direct responsibility in the field of community relations, and it has accepted a role in the prevention as well as in the resolution of disputes arising out of unlawful racial discrimination.

Title X of the new Civil Rights Act, provides a broad mandate for our Service to go into any community, with or without an express invitation, to assist that community: to settle disputes arising from racial tensions which threaten community peace, or which may affect interstate commerce.

And under Title II, the Community Relations Service may accept referrals from Federal district courts of specific disputes arising out of discrimination in places of public accommodation.

All settlements—and I want to emphasize this—all settlements, of course, must be made within the letter and spirit of the law.

We have quickly learned that we cannot be content to settle a dispute, that we cannot leave the deep-seated reasons which created the disturbance in the first place. So, we encourage and assist communities to develop plans of action, designed to remedy the root causes of their trouble. This may involve a whole range of reforms—in education, employment, law enforcement, housing, recreation and public facilities, as well as public accommodations; and it will involve the fostering of new attitudes through the opening of better lines of communication.

Beyond this it is our job to assist all Americans to understand that the Civil Rights Act—which the overwhelming majority of them approve and enacted through their elected representatives in Congress—is the law of this land and therefore must be obeyed.

But, more than that, we try to persuade people that the Civil Rights Act is right, that it is fair, that it responds to the best impulses of the true American character, that it meets the moral imperative of a concerned society and that it is too important to be allowed to suffer evasion, much less outright defiance.

We seek to demonstrate that not only is the law in keeping with the nation's democratic and spiritual commitments but that good human relations produce good business, and bad human relations invariably provoke bad business.

Obviously, this is not a job for Washington alone. Unless problems in this field are attacked and solved in the communities by the people who live in them it would be foolish to anticipate any lasting solutions.

Therefore, we have come to value more and more the role which state and local human relations groups can—and must—play.

Limited as our staff and resources are, we stand ready to help your state human relations council, as well as any other group in Alabama, private or public, in the development of local human relations councils.

Our staff will be happy to meet with you or with local leaders, offering the benefit of experience we have gained from many other states and localities on how they have succeeded or failed in their human relations programs.

I am hoping we will be able to move this coming year into an expanded program of special assistance to state and local groups.

It is a sad commentary, but just as America most needs them, the available supply of trained community relations professionals in this country is woefully inadequate to meet current and anticipated needs.

We hope to find funds, public or private, to establish training centers, located at and operated by, universities in the East, the South, the Midwest and the Far West, where states and communities can send their people to receive the specialized training necessary to developing professional community relations competence.

First, of course, a state or locality must decide that it will not abandon the welfare and future of its citizens and their businesses to the fires of whatever racial passions may be blowing down the street at the time.

Once a community or a state has decided to master its own destiny and to work to solve its racial problems rather than to remain the victim of racial unrest, then generally it can profitably use expert assistance to help it do the job.

As I am sure you are aware, there is hardly anything more useless, and sometimes even harmful, than a human relations group, or a community relations agency, which is off on the wrong foot or which—to be blunt about it—is no more than a sham.

To succeed, a community relations group must represent the entire population and thus merit the confidence and support of all groups in that community. Otherwise, it becomes either an ineffectual pleader for a worthy cause, or an all-too-effective defender of the status quo. A community is better off with no agency than with one of this type.

A human relations committee's aims must be to bring about change—peaceful, constructive and lawful change, but change nonetheless.

No community would install a new water system without obtaining professional assistance. Where there is substantial racial tension, the same insistence on professional help for the improvement of human relations is required.

Of course, we have all long realized that any time you deal with a problem involving the emotions of human beings, you will find manifestations of human shortcomings. At the very least, you will run into differences in viewpoint on how things should be done.

Also, it is quite a temptation to blame others, and pass on to them your own assessment of what you think they should be doing.

There are plenty of things about the civil rights groups and the Negro leadership in this country which undoubtedly could stand improvement. Being human, Negro leaders naturally disagree at times among themselves. And I am sure you have on more than one occasion heard criticism of them.

Well, I will not join in that—not because I have no criticisms to make, for I do. (I also have some strong views on how the New York Yankees should be managed.)

But I am not going to try to tell the Negro leadership how to perform their role—for the very good reason that I am not a Negro. The old injunction notwithstanding, in the final analysis it is impossible for any man to put himself in another man's shoes.

But as a white man I can try to understand the problems a Negro faces. I can try to imagine what it must be like to be a Negro, what it must be like to be black in a predominantly white society, what it must be like to go to sleep every evening and wake up every morning knowing that so long as one lives and no matter what he does it never will be possible for him to walk the streets with the full dignity and assurance he would have if his skin were not dark.

I feel that the role of Negro leadership within lawful bounds should be left to those Negroes who emerge as the spokesmen of their people.

Of course, I am entitled to have strong views on the problem of civil rights, for—as a white man—I most certainly am a big part of that problem.

And I feel especially challenged and obligated to speak on that subject to my fellow white southerners. For any criticism or suggestions I have for them must be directed to myself as well. And it is in this spirit that I would like to talk with you today.

Somewhere along the line as I was growing up in the small southern town of Tallahassee some people who took an interest in me as a little boy—my parents, teachers, a lot of people—somehow instilled in me a strong feeling that, to state it in its simplest terms, the right thing to do was to do the "right" thing.

Now if my life depended on it, I seriously question whether I could spell out for you precisely just what is meant by "right" in that context. Yet there never has been any question in my own mind as to what "right" meant. It is more a something you feel, or just know in your heart, than a something you can define in words.

Now there is nothing so special about this. Most southerners are brought up this way, just as are most Americans everywhere I suppose.

It is, perhaps, the most common of denominators which binds us together as a people—particularly in times of crisis, whether that crisis be the sight of a child drowning or a nation in peril.

As I was growing up and taking my place as a young attorney in my home town—an environment, incidentally, which was structured around the assumed second-class status of Negroes—all that I did and said I tried to do and say in keeping with what I felt to be "right." Sometimes I succeeded at this better than I did at other times. But I was trying, trying, and I hope I maintained a rather consistent conformity with my conscience.

Yet, I am the first to admit that over the span of my life I have been quite inconsistent in positions I have taken, both public and private, concerning civil rights and the place of the Negro in our American society.

Political opponents have rapped me pretty hard for what they have claimed to be contradictions. The fact that I was able to win election in my home state by unprecedented margins over a span of 26 years, and that as Governor I was able to win approval of an unprecedented majority of recommendations to the state legislature, has not altogether removed the sting of those blows when they have fallen.

What sustained me throughout all of this, and through subsequent abuse which has come my way for having changed my attitudes toward segregation, is the sure conviction in my own heart that my determination to do what was "right" had not changed. What had changed was my own understanding and comprehension of what was right.

I admit that I have looked at segregation through the eyes of a man who was raised from a boy on the privileged side of a racially segregated social system. In the past I have even rationalized that Negroes actually preferred it that way. And I have embraced other comforting justifications which the segregated society has held out to salve the consciences of its worried white participants.

I am not ashamed to admit that my thinking has changed over the years as I have been able to see this question more from the other man's point of view.

All the while I have tried to have my conscience keep up with my knowledge and understanding.

And when, as I grew older, this knowledge and understanding led me to the realization that forced segregation was in truth a violation of what I felt to be "right," I did not hesitate to say so, both privately and publicly. My obligations of leadership changed also, because leaders must stand for what they believe; else how can others know what their aspirations are, or the direction in which they seek to go.

The fact that the world had been changing at an ever-increasing rate undoubtedly helped accelerate my understanding. No longer was Tallahassee a sleepy southern town with magnolias and moss and a rigidly-defined place in society for everyone in the community.

It became a different Tallahassee, and I did my best to help it change. Better education had its impact upon whites and Negroes; new businesses were demanding new skills of the work force; new people came to town from distant places; universities expanded rapidly in teaching competence and through the influx of more cosmopolitan students; most important of all, Tallahassee became more and more in tune with the hopes and aims of Americans everywhere.

But with all the change I tried to remain steadfast in my determination to do what was "right." I keep emphasizing this because I know there have always been many, many others who have felt exactly the same way.

This is the point I want to get across to my fellow southern whites:

No one is asking us to abandon our moral values, to give up principles of "right" and "wrong" which we and our families and our neighbors have cherished for generations.

What is being asked of all of us as Americans these days concerning civil rights is to be faithful to our obligation continually to renew our assessment of what is "right" — to look about us and ask, in quiet and personal candor, is it really "right" that some people in our land should be treated as belonging to a separate caste, and relegated to second-class status, because of their appearance, or who their parents were, or where they came from? Can the denial to millions of our citizens of their right to be judged on merit alone be reconciled with our American ideals?

I have many vivid memories from my youth of Negro deprivations and disadvantages — observed and accepted as normal conditions. Back then, they were viewed simply as a part of the Negro's "place" in our community.

For example, I recall the time when I was around 13 or 14, and worked on Saturdays in a local grocery store. A Negro man we all knew as "Charlie" came in from the country one day, shabby and dusty after a fifteen mile wagon ride to town. He asked me for a nickel's worth of lard and a nickel's worth of syrup.

I put the lard in a tray and when I asked him if he had a bottle for the syrup he asked me to pour it directly from the barrel over the lard. I handed him the tray, he found a box in the back to sit on, and with a stick for a spoon he proceeded to eat this combination salad for his dinner.

I thought it was a little funny until I noticed that there was a leak in the tray and the syrup was dripping in his lap. My sense of justice then caused me to run to his aid, substituting a new tray, and, as best I could with a cloth I cleaned the syrup from his trousers.

But that is all I did; all I felt any compulsion to do. It never occurred to me to question that what this man was eating was anything but nutritious; or to question why he was so poor; or to wonder what kind of children he left back home and what opportunities they would have for a decent break in life; or how the suffering of one man like this caused all the rest of us to suffer also.

Not then it didn't. My sense of injustice went no further than stopping the hole in his paper tray.

Most white southerners, I am sure, join me in categorically condemning the Ku Klux Klan attacks on Negroes. These brazen assaults upon the conventional concepts of what is "right" are that obvious. Brutality, cruelty, defrauding, hate—all these things we can almost unanimously condemn.

But we begin to part company when the contradictions with what is "right" are less pronounced.

To many white southerners, it is still not wrong for white persons to occupy superior positions in our society solely because of their color, and to use this advantage to the disadvantage of the Negro in many, many ways.

And yet, when you come right down to it, for the Negro the differences between the ordinary manifestations of this attitude and brutality must really seem one of degree only.

For to be relegated to a second-class school, to find only second-rate jobs available, to be restricted to a slum or a second-class neighborhood, to be excluded from so very much of the main current of the life of your community and nation, to be reminded in countless big and little ways every waking hour that one is considered "inferior"—in short, to be a Negro in such a society—must really be like being lynched a little bit over and over again every day of a lifetime.

And this is just what segregation and discrimination do to these fellow Americans of ours who happen to be Negroes. And I come back to my basic contention that this simply is not "right."

Our problem here in the South, I think, has not been that we have lacked a proper commitment to do what is "right," or not to do what is "wrong," as much as it has been that we have failed to see how the realities of being a Negro in a racially segregated society relate to "right" and "wrong."

In the Bible, Jesus admonished some of his followers for not having fed Him when He was hungry or clothed Him when He was naked.

They were deeply troubled, for they simply were not aware of any instance in which they had thus neglected Him.

You will recall that He answered, in effect, that when they neglected any of God's children they actually did this to Him.

This means for us today exactly the same thing it meant for the disciples then: we neglect our God when we neglect the children of God. We serve our God when we serve our fellow man.

What we must seek for Negro Americans today is no more—just as it is no less—than what we must seek for all Americans. It is nothing other than simple justice. And there cannot be justice where freedom is rationed. There can be justice for none unless there is justice for all.

Wherever poverty is at its worst, there you also find that both the greater percentage of the poor and the poorest of the poor, are Negroes.

And this, friends, is no accident. No heartless God so willed it.

We did it, we white Americans.

It was we who installed the institution of slavery on this continent.

It was we who perpetuated it as long as we could.

It was we who found more subtle substitutions for slavery when it was ended.

It was we who set up the society of forced segregation and tried to make it function to our material benefit, even though in the process it contributed to our spiritual impoverishment.

Now, thank God, all of that is doomed to pass away in America.

This is a greatly changed America we live in now, compared with what it was like only a few years ago. And our children's America will be even more changed.

Among the things which are happening and which cannot be stopped is that the Negro in America is on his way to being free, as all other Americans are—to have opportunities for self-improvement as all other Americans do.

That day is not yet here for most Negroes, but it will dawn just as surely as there is still a sun to shine, and an earth for it to shine upon.

That day can come with a high degree of harmony or it can come with bitterness and untold anguish for all.

It will not come because we white Americans bestow it, for our bestowing days have already run out.

It will come because the Negro people, themselves, struggled to push it to the point where it could not be denied. We should have known all along, I suppose, that freedom never is given; it can only be won.

But this does not mean that white Americans have no hope for determining whether the day of equal opportunity for all Negro Americans dawns harmoniously or painfully. Indeed, we can play a very important role in determining the "how" of that dawning—especially we white southerners.

It will take changes in some of our thinking—changes in some of our attitudes toward Negroes; changes in our understanding of their lives.

To help facilitate these changes, to hasten the day of their acceptance, is for me and for you the greatest "right" to which we can commit ourselves; and the most noble task we can undertake.

Let me tell you a little story from my own life.

I was about 12, and a member of the town band. It wasn't much of a band, but we could play "The Old Rugged Cross," "The Stars and Stripes Forever" and two or three other pieces.

In the early 1920's some of you may remember that my State was experiencing a great boom in real estate. Everybody was going wild buying Florida land, and auction sales of subdivision lots were very popular.

I never shall forget one slick outfit that moved into my town. They bought a field nearby where I had always shot rabbits; they subdivided it and then had an auction sale of the lots.

They engaged our little band to come out and play for the auction sale. They would sell a number of lots in one place, then move over to another and sell some more. And we would move and play, trying to keep the people coming.

Well, beyond blowing my cornet, I was very interested in what was going on and actually became fascinated by that auctioneer.

In the afternoon, business grew a little dull, and the bidders weren't responding well. My auctioneer friend moved to a new location, and was calling for bids, but no one would bid.

I don't know what moved me but, remembering that the other lots had been selling for $140 and $150 and knowing that these would soon draw a much higher bid and to help my friend get things going, I called, "Twenty dollars." Well, I never will forget the way that auctioneer looked. The band was right out in front, and he looked over us all and then said, "Who was that who said $20 for this lot?" With great fear I confessed with a weak, "I did." "You said $20 for this piece of real estate?" he said. "Sold to that young man!" he boomed. "I like to see young people investing in real estate. This shows they understand what this great free enterprise system we have in America really means. Sold to that young man for $20!"

I don't think I have ever been more scared than I was at that moment.

They had a rule that if you bought one lot, you had to take two. So, I had a $40 obligation—and I had a total of $14 in the bank. But the terms were one-third down and my bank account just covered this.

They made an escrow contract covering the balance and put it in the bank with a deed. Every month thereafter I went to the bank to make a payment on my lot. And every time I made a payment, I would get on my bicycle and go back out to that lot. I would put the bicycle down and just strut up and down in front of that lot—and all around too, just hoping somebody would come by and ask, "Who is this land-baron who owns all this real estate out here?" But no one seemed to feel the importance of my position quite as I did.

Finally, I made my last payment. I never will forget it. I got my deed, took it to the courthouse and had it recorded.

And then I went back out there to my real estate. I never have had such a feeling of exhilaration in all my life. I sat down, right in the middle of that lot, and I got my hands down as deep in the dirt as I could dig them. And with tears streaming down my face, I cried in great joy, "It's mine! it's mine!"

Friends, we have many millions of Americans in this country who have been paying and paying on the installment plan to achieve the full rights of American citizenship, and I say it is time for them to get their deed.

Before I was introduced you were singing "The Battle Hymn of the Republic."

Let us all help all Americans to get their deed to full participation in American citizenship.

Then can everyone feel "it's mine!"

Then can all sing:

"Glory, glory hallelujah . . .
His truth is marching on."

THE CIVIL RIGHTS ACT OF 1964

SOME "DO'S" AND "DON'TS" ON TITLE VII

Provided as a service to employers by

Alabama Council on Human Relations, Inc.
2809 Governors Drive, S. W.
Huntsville, Alabama 35805

SOME "DO'S" AND "DON'TS" ON TITLE VII

The following are lists of "do's and don'ts" which are designed to assure against technical non-compliance prosecution under Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, although not all of either list are specifically prescribed by the law.

Title VII is a sweeping provision concerning employment practices and discrimination. It doesn't follow that either the civil rights leaders nor employers are justified in "going overboard."

There are certain practices and procedures which have not worked out satisfactorily and could work to the injury of the employer, the employee and the community. Some of the most common of unsound procedures which are NOT recommended are listed:

UNSOUND PROCEDURES

Conspicuous Tokenism

To make a public impression, a few very pretty Negro secretaries or a Negro "vice president in charge of the door" are placed conspicuously. Unless this is backed up with an across-the-board equal opportunity program, the public and the enforcement authorities will recognize it as a fraud.

Made Work Assignments

In some cases, direct action pressures have caused employers to assign unneeded Negroes to "made work." This is a disservice to those employed and to the community.

Quota Hiring

Quotas are considered illegal under most of the state laws and are explicitly not required under Title VII. Direct action groups have sometimes specified quotas in bargaining sessions. It is conceivable that a regulatory agency might specify quotas as a remedy after an official finding of unlawful discrimination. Quotas are dangerous traps and should be avoided.

Lowering Standards

Standards should always be realistically related to the work to be performed and to the expectations for advancement. Artificially high standards are likely to result in moral problems unless the chances for advancement are very good. Also while artificially high standards, if uniformly applied, are not illegal, they are likely to lead to complaints and tedious investigations. On the other hand, lowering standards below the requirements of the job in order to bring in more minority workers is likely to aggravate personnel relations and reduce efficiency. The one exception might be that persons are employed for their potential and then put through an intensive training program.

DO NOT

Print, publish, announce or permit to be printed any specification, limitation, or preference pertaining to race, color, religion, national origin or sex in any "help wanted" notice or advertisement.

Include in any employment application form or other pre-employment forms any requests for information pertaining to color, race, national origin or sex. Exclude any inquiries which may indirectly request such information; e. g. , birthplace of parents, whether naturalized or native born citizens, etc.

Permit any personnel interviewer, receptionists or foreman or any other person responsible for qualifying or hiring, to make any pre-employment verbal inquiries which would suggest identification as to race, color, religion, or national origin.

Permit any company official, agent or employer to make any statements or take any actions on behalf of the firm which would tend to discourage persons of particular races, colors, national origins or sex to seek employment, training or advancement or the use of facilities or privileges.

Refuse or fail to hire, promote, approve for training or apprenticeship any qualified person for reasons of race, color, religion, national origin or sex.

Differentiate among employees on the basis of race, color, religion, national origin or sex in setting terms, compensation, conditions or privileges of employment.

Segregate, classify or limit employees in terms of race, color, religion or national origin.

Retaliate against any person who has filed a complaint of discrimination, opposed any discriminatory practice or participated in any proceedings under the Act.

Establish any specifications or qualifications for employment which are unrelated to the job and would tend to exclude qualified persons of particular racial, religious or ethnic groups (e. g., do not establish "distance from residence to work" limitations that would tend to exclude persons of particular racial or religious groups).

DO

Post such notices as will be prescribed by the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission.

Issue a statement in writing informing all responsible employees including guards, receptionists, personnel officials, foremen, supervisory and management personnel of the requirements of the law, the firm's policy of compliance and their respective responsibilities.

Review all "help wanted" advertising copy, application and other pre-employment forms to make sure they are in compliance.

Conduct staff and employees conferences to review the requirements of law, company policy and compliance procedures and to persuade them to give their full cooperation.

Inform your recruitment sources of your desire to employ qualified persons of all racial, religious, ethnic groups.

Maintain for public inspection or inspection by appropriate authorities written specifications for all position classifications.

Maintain a daily log of recruiting and hiring instructions and adhere uniformly to the instructions for the day. (i. e. , if the instruction of the day is "no openings today" for given positions, be consistent; take no applications from anyone that day. If applications are taken from some, take from all.)

Record on the application form the reasons for all decisions made--for either approval or disapproval. (This is for future reference in case there are complaints and investigations. It is not necessary that all that is recorded be disclosed to the applicant. However, what is disclosed to the applicant should not be inconsistent with the record.)

Caveat: Be sure your personnel people are trained and instructed concerning the proper reasons for decision. Improper entries may be incriminating!

Inform all rejected applicants as candidly as possible, but with appropriate discretion, the real reason for rejection. (Written specifications can be extremely helpful here. Specifications can include subjective items such as appearance, manner, speech, candor in answering questions, etc. Applicants can be shown or given a copy of the specifications with an explanation of where he or she fell short.)

Dear Paul:

Needless to say, the New Year's news of the additional Ford Foundation Grant for support of state council work is good news indeed. We will look forward to more details.

I want to bring you and Mr Stansfield up to date on our search for a new executive director. As you know, we are giving first priority to seeking the right Negro person for this position, for a number of reasons, the most important being that we think that such a person can be the most effective executive for our Council at this particular time. Thus far we have seriously considered three persons and had extensive interviews with two of these - I should say, thus far through about mid - December, for there are subsequent steps since then. Of the first three, one (Charles Davis of the AFSC) withdrew his name before we could go very far; the other two withdrew at about the same time we decided that they were not the best choices for us. It is worth noting that some of our most useful criticism of prospects has come from Negro members of our state executive committee.

We now have under consideration a person who appears to be a very good candidate, a Mr. Levin West, of Charlotte. He was first suggested by Mr. Fred Alexander. A native of Baltimore, graduate of Morgan State and with a divinity degree from Johnson C. Smith, a vigorous young person, he has worked for a while on a social welfare project of the predominately white Baptist churches of Charlotte and is currently working for the NAACP Legal Defense Fund, on problems of industries' living up to the Civil Rights Act. He is currently being met and interviewed by most of our executive committee members and if the opinion of the others is as good as those who have thus far seen him, I expect that we will want to offer him the position with us. This should be settled one way or the other early in January. We would want him to come visit the SRC soon.

We have a few other names on our list in case we don't succeeed with Mr. West.

We have in mind the possibility of making Miss Blackwell an assistant director to Mr. West or similar director, and we certainly want to add an additional, white, person to our state council office staff. These details will of course depend in part upon the wishes of the new director.

Finally, our annual dinner meeting will be held in Raleigh January 22. We hope very much one or both of you can be with us. Details will follow.

Best New Year's wishes from Carter and me.

Frank Williams

Dear Paul:

I may not be too fast on the uptake. You know how slowly I talk? That's because I think that way.

I do hope you will plan to pay us a visit in Huntsville very soon. Could you plan to come to Huntsville after the annual meeting in Birmingham? The office will be disheveled, but who am I kidding? -- it will probably stay disheveled.

Another thing: I would like very much to have you come prepared to say a few words -- greetings from SRC and all.

I expect to get around to sending Pat Watters and Maggie a note inviting them to come. But in case I don't, assure them that they would be welcome. So would anyone else over there who can think up any excuse to travel at SRC expense.

You might note my itinerary for the next two weeks on one of the enclosed memos, just in case you want to reach me.

The executive committee of the Alabama Council on Human Relations has asked me to report to you that they are recommending to the Board the employment of Reverend James Sessions as Executive Director.

This decision was made after a long, careful, and difficult weighing of the great variety of talents and experience which the candidates had.

We sincerely appreciate your taking the trouble to visit us and your consideration.

You had a great meeting. I'm sorry Al and I couldn't stay until it was over -- especially to bask in the limelight of your success.

Also sorry I came away with the hotel key. Made a little effort to find you in the mob but time got in the way and then it never occured to me to give it to someone else. Shall return it to them.

This is being written 8,000 feet above Alabama -- en route to Mississippi -- and I use the excuse of being in this monster for the following observation: While I'll readily agree you are a director, you can't possibly be as good and talented and resourceful as you look at this moment.

Dear Joe:

It certainly was a pleasure to meet with Cap Swift, Seymour Palmer, and you Saturday afternoon.

I want to thank you and express my appreciation for the great effort you have made to maintain law and order in Selma.

You are to be commended on your outstanding choice of Wilson Baker as your Chief of Police. I attended a clinic for law enforcement officers the week after the 1961 riots in Anniston, Birmingham, and Montgomery which Chief Baker conducted here in Auburn. I was greatly impressed with his professional competence and wish you would pass on my observation to him.

If you feel the need for trained professional conciliators, may I suggest the following who can supply these at no cost to the City of Selma:

1. Rev. J. E. Stanfield (whom you have met), Executive Director, Alabama Council on Human Relations, 2809 Governors Drive SW, Huntsville, Alabama

2. Dr. Leslie W. Dunbar, Executive Director, Southern Regional Council, 5 Forsyth Street N.W., Atlanta, Georgia 30303.

3. Governor LeRoy Collins, Community Relations Service, U.S. Dept. of Commerce, Washington, D.C.

The Southern Regional Council has done depth studies of southern communities like Memphis, Albany, and Brunswick, Ga. I am asking Dr. Dunbar to send you material which he feels might be helpful.

Please feel free to call on me if I can be of assistance.

SUBJECT: Report on Selma, Alabama

Yes For Action Page 4 please sub! Nat

On Saturday afternoon, February 6, I had an hour and fifteen minute conference with Mayor Joe Smitherman, City Councilman George "Cap" Swift and merchant Seymour Palmer. I was invited by Cap Swift to this session in the Mayor's home.

I was born and raised in Selma but in the last twenty years I have had very little contact with Selma. On January 25 I had lunch with Mac Segrest, of your staff, in Washington. Mac had just returned from a week in Selma. I felt quite inadequate in trying to advise him. The only thing I did was to give him the names of a few decent people he might go to see, including Cap Swift.

The Rev. J. E. Stanfield, Executive Director of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, also sought my advice before going to Selma. I called Stanfield after his afternoon in Selma just before he was going out to dinner with Mac Segrest, who had returned. He said he had had a wonderful afternoon. He went to see Cap Swift using my name. Swift took the afternoon off and took him to see the Mayor, the Chief of Police, the Supt. of Schools, etc.

I went to Selma February 6 to see my 83 year old Father. I went by to see Cap Swift to thank him for the courtesies shown Stanfield. Swift was no in but called me after lunch to join the session at the Mayor's home.

Young Smitherman surprised the town last year when he defeated Mayor Chris B. Heinz, the incumbent of 20 years. Heinz is a past president of the Citizens Council. The election turned on the "young folks" beating "the old guard". Cap Swift is a 43 year old native, a druggist, a city councilman, very popular, and has a keen interest in seeing his town prosper and move ahead. Seymour Palmer is a New Yorker who married a prosperous Jewish merchant's daughter 20 years ago. He is able and has shown great adaptability in becoming a part of the community while retaining his ethical principles. For 100 years Selma has enjoyed wonderful Gentile-Jewish relations....perhaps the best of any city in the United States. The Jewish people have not been a separate group. They have been accepted and have become an integral part of the community.

The Mayor is an easy man to talk with. In fact I took a cue from Stanfield who was determined to "do a lot of listening". The Mayor talked about how the white community was becoming fractured and that this was not a time to be divided. This was an audience that Palmer had requested with the Mayor. Swift described this as one of the numerous conferences with apparently little good coming out of most of them. Incidentally, the Mayor was dressed in his pajamas, nursing a case of flu. Head State Trooper Lingo had gone to the hospital with a heart flare-up and Sheriff Jim Clark was in the hospital too.

Here is the way I sized up the power structure. Palmer described the leadership of the county officials as very weak. Dallas County is governed by Probate Judge Bernard Reynolds (executive head of county) and four county commissioners. Since the Negro population is even higher in the county....about 70%....the county government reflects the white supremacy of the Black Belt. The weakness of Alabama voting laws is that the three voter registrars are not responsible to anyone. The Governor appoints one, the Commissioner of Agriculture one, and the State Auditor one. No state official supervises registrars after their appointment.*

The three registrars, V. B. Atkins (70 year old retired wholesale grocer....I grew up four houses down the street from his home), Aubrey Allen (retired head of AAA....I worked for 20 years ago.... very old south attitudes), and retired Army Colonel Bibb....old Dallas County family. This board is probably of higher caliber men than most Alabama voter boards. It assumed the responsibility of protecting the white community from the onrush of Negro voters. The old guard is reinforced by Earl Godwin, wealthy manufacturer of the "Bushhog", who plans to run for Governor next year on a Wallace-type platform. The darling of the establishment is Jim Clark who has a mania for hitting national TV every day.

Opposing the "old guard" are the "young turks" who, according to Swift, are willing to admit that the "world is round". Their leader is young Mayor Smitherman. He and the newspaper editor, Roswell Falkenberry, are segregationists but strongly stand for law and order. Falkenberry has a short temper and a brainy wife.

A meeting had been called by the head of the retail merchants' association for Monday, February 8, to discuss withdrawing advertising in the Selma Times Journal because of Falkenberry's editorial policy and his headlining Selma news as it has been done throughout the whole nation. Palmer had requested this session with the Mayor to urge him to appeal to the head of the retail merchants' association to call off the Monday meeting. The Mayor made this requested call in our presence. As Palmer said, "I don't want to have to sit in a meeting and vote 'yes' or 'no' on boycotting the paper. We have enough dividing us. We need something to unite us."

Palmer appealed to the Mayor, as the leader and titular head of the community, to draft a statement of the mayor-council position....a positive statement of law and order which 80% of the community could support and to make this positive statement day after day after day. This statement would say, "We are going to obey the law and the law will be enforced...period. We are going to arrest anyone or groups who violate the law, such as parading without a permit. Federal court orders to register qualified people to vote regardless of color will be carried out. We are not discussing the past. We are discussing the present and the future. Our policy will be law and order."

*Attached is the new League of Women Voters' pamphlet, "Are You a Voter?", copy written by my wife.

Palmer appealed to the Mayor to take this action because the Mayor and the council, although not directly involved in voter registration, are more inclined to exert leadership in this situation. He urged the Mayor and Falkenberry to work together closely and to stand together.

These are some observations the Mayor made:

1. Chief Wilson Baker has done a tremendous job. "He is my Chief of Police and nobody is going to fire him but the council and me, and I'm sticking by him." The Mayor went on to tell what good rapport the Chief and the Negro community had with each other. The Chief has told them that he would meet non-violence with non-violence but has assured them that he would meet violence with violence.

2. If the Negroes demonstrate at night, there will be violence. So far wise leadership has prevented Negro night demonstrations.

3. The national press reporters have commented about the "uniqueness" of the Selma situation....the Gentile-Jewish relationship, the relationship of Chief Baker with the Negro community.

4. "Just after I took office, I asked three local Negro leaders to come to my office....a conservative, a moderate, and a liberal. This paid off. The liberal Negro made the SNICK group apologize to me"....over an apparent incident which warranted an apology.

5. "We refuse to negotiate with an outsider, Martin Luther King. We have shown that we are willing to negotiate with local people."

6. "Nobody will know that hours and hours....sometimes 16 to 20 hours a day it has taken to keep law and order in this situation." He told us some fascinating off-the-record incidents of this. "We are very proud of the fact that there has not been a single incident of violence between our own Selma Negro and white citizens during this crisis."

7. Smitherman said he was in almost daily touch with Governor Wallace's office. Cecil Jackson, the Governor's #1 man, is from Selma and is a good friend of the Mayor.

I made sure before leaving that I positively identified myself with Smitherman, whom I was meeting for the first time....that I was born and raised in Selma and that I was a member of the NCCCR, a Presidential committee dedicated to peacefully carry out the Civil Rights Act. I asked him if there was anything that Governor Collins' office could do which was not being done at present. The Mayor said not at the present time with the explosive crisis at hand. Seymour Palmer reiterated the Mayor's position but made this request. "We are not asking King to leave but if Governor Collins' office could persuade SNICK to get the small Negro children back in school, this would be helpful. They are being taught to hate at an early age and this is not good."

Recommendations to Governor Collins:

I was in Selma on a day's social visit and time prevented my discussing the situation with Negro leaders. Hence, these observations and recommendations are based solely on contact with the white leaders plus past knowledge of the community.

1. Write Mayor Joe Smitherman and commend him for preserving law and order and for his leadership in this situation. Commend him for appointing the first-rate professional police officer he has in Wilson Baker. Offer to the Mayor and the City of Selma, the services of the CRS.

2. Write Roswell Falkenberry, Editor of the Selma Times Journal, and commend him for his editorial leadership and the new reporting of his paper. Commend him for his "law and order" policy. Tell him you are writing to the Mayor and offering the full services of the CRS.

3. Exert whatever influence you can to return the children to school. This is a deplorable situation which serves no good.

4. The original legitimate protest was against the delaying tactics of the Board of Registrars. This situation was corrected by the federal court order issued by Judge Thomas. Mr. Atkins, the Chairman of the Board of Registrars, has stated the board will comply with the court order....to process 100 applications a day, if made, and to provide additional space for registration. The stumbling block now is the impossible examination which hopefully the courts will eliminate soon. But the point is the local white people are suffering demonstrations about something over which they have no control....I suggest that your conciliators point this out to the Negro leadership.

* * * * * * *

Here is what I'm doing:

1. Writing Mayor Smitherman the attached letter.

2. Writing Palmer and Swift recommending that if the Mayor-Council do not move on their law and order unifying statement, the community leaders prepare a law and order statement signed by 500 or so leading citizens to be published in a full-page newspaper ad as was done several weeks ago at McComb, Miss.

3. Asking Dr. Leslie Dunbar of the Southern Regional Council to send to the Mayor, Palmer and Swift, SRC community studies and information pamphlets bearing on the Selma situation and offering to mail any of this material to the names provided and requested by Palmer and/or Swift. Their addresses are: Mr. Seymour Palmer, Isadore Kayser & Co., Broad St., and Mr. George Swift, Swift Drug Co., Broad St., Selma.

4. I am sending this report to the Alabama members of the National Citizens Committee for Community Relations and requesting each member to contact close personal and business friends in Selma urging them to back the Mayor and the Editor in their law and order stand.

Dear Paul:

Here--at last-- are my quarterly reports for the last quarter of 1964 and the first of 1965. According to my calculations, that's $3000.00 worth.

Any suggestions for improving these reports will be appreciated, just so they don't entail any work.

Incidentally, I expect to improve that financial report form and to issue a financial report-membership report at the end of each month, as you requested.

If you need to reach me during the rest of this week, I'll be at my father's home in Dardanelle, Arkansas: Area code 501 -- 229-4211. I expect to be back in the office on Monday or Tuesday. It sort of depends on the weather.

Thank you for helping me get some valuable criticism of the proposed statement of the ACHR's executive committee. Enclosed is a copy of the form that I've come up with after adopting most of the suggestions made. Please express my appreciation to Maggie, Pat and Les.

We have postponed our release date on it. Nat called me from Washington to say that he had talked to Jay Janis, and that Milton Cummings and some other big wheels in Alabama were going to release a statement on Thursday of this week. Janis and Nat suggested that we wait one week to release our statement.

I have your note about the meeting with the Presbyterian group at Rogersville on April 23-24. As my calendar now stands, I could give this speech if Dr. Proudfoot asks me.

Dear Les and Paul,

You will recall I discussed with you a possible story in Business Week, Newsweek or the Wall St. Journal on Milton Cummings. He is the greatest citizen in Alabama in my opinion. He has taken Brown Engineering from a small tool and die shop to a $32 million company. His greatest interest in life is furthering the equal employment opportunity program. This he does out of deep Christian conviction. All the more remarkable is that this is an Alabama company!

Last night Charlie Grainger, asst. to the President of Brown, called me on another matter. I had a chance to discuss with him the apparent faux pax he made with Business Week as you related to me. He told me that a stringer for Business Week named Fred Allen of B'ham came to him and that at Allen's request he prepared this information on Cummings. I would like to assure you that Grainger is a professional journalists and you can count on him performing with judgment and good taste.

I am asking him to send you three copies of the equal employment brochure put out by Brown.

I want to ask you to renew your efforts with the Atlanta correspondents to get this important story into print.

Warm personal regards,

Nat

In response to your letter of April 27, both Les and I have again talked with Jack Patterson, regional reporter for Business Week. He is definitely interested and will get to it as soon as possible. I am certainthe Wall Street Journal will also remember and eventually do something about it. However, these will in all probability treat the subject in a broader story. Personality stories, no matter how commendable the individual, seldom get printed. Reporters are leary and editors get suspicious.

Dear Paul:

June 2 will be fine with me for the directors' meeting, and June 3 for the showdown (right?) with SRC.

I may be knee-deep in Project Headstart by that time. A call from some woman on the staff, checking on Title VI compliance plans, told me just by the way that we could pretty well count on approval.

Concerning your communication of May 4 about "Operation Freedom": I had never heard of the outfit until I got your letter. However, I have not been to Selma for longer than I care to admit.

In this connection, I note the names of Anne and Carl Braden and some others from SxCEF, and then there are a couple of names with the notation "Highlander" after them. We received today a check for $200.00 from an organization in Berkley, California, called "Berkeley Friends of Highlander." Treasurer is Mayer Segal. Chairman is Mrs. Marge Frantz. What I want to know is, does "Highlander" indicate the organization which owned or operated Highlander Folk School? And would you guess that "Berkeley Friends of Highlander" means what it says? and does it matter? And -- most important -- if we cash the check, does that make us communists?

Dear Paul:

I'm sure you all saw accounts of the report of the Alabama Legislature Commission to Preserve the Peace, which labeled SNCC, et. al., "communist". Enclosed is a copy of the UPI dispatch as printed in one of the local papers. (I'm thinking about getting out a tongue-in-cheek report labeling the Alabama legislature, executive department, state troopers, etc. as "communist dupes" because they insist on setting up precisely those conditions -- facism, high taxation of the poor, etc. -- to which classic communist literature points in arousing people to revolution. What do you think?)

We had a pretty good meeting on Saturday. The committee asked Nat to continue as titular head of the organization until the annual meeting in February. They okayed Valder's employment, and Bob plans to move his stuff up here (hopefully) some time during the week of July 11. He will then go to Washington for the orientation, while his family will visit his wife's folks. He will join us to stay around August 1.

On the overtures from Mobile and East Alabama we merely appointed Ray Fowler, Powers McLeod, and Dr. Gomillion to consult with the officers of the two groups as to their desires, the problems involved, the experience of other experiments along the line proposed, etc. -- in other words, talk the thing out. They are to report at the September meeting of the Board, with or without recommendations.

Two or three requests:

9 (1) Are any more of the desegregation kits that you (SRC) distributed jointly with AFSC available? I would like to obtain nine or ten.

(2) Can you send me a copy of the proposal that was sent to the Norman Fund on our behalf? I don't even have an address that I could put on our mailing list.

(3) There is something in the NAIRO rules about the supervising officer's taking some training along with the intern. What is my obligation along that line? Or will it be sufficient -- I hope -- for you to take the training?

Dear Paul:

Greetings from Huntsville. I'm slowly getting acquainted with what's going on here. Shouldn't be too long and I'll know enough to keep my head above water.

Ed and I have talked over this matter of money, income tax, withholding, etc. and reached a couple tentative conclusions dependent upon what you think. It is our belief that this claim of a fellowship will appear more credible if it is payed by someone other that the agency which pays me the other half. That is IRS will probably accept the Foundation grant as non-taxable income more readily if it comes from somewhere other than the agency which pays me taxable income. Secondly, going on Ed's theory of least resistance we think it better to not withhold any of the Foundation money since it will be more difficult for IRS to come and get what wasn't withhold (if they are so disposed) than it would be for them to simply refuse to refund what was withheld.

So we are saying two things: 1)could the Foundation money be payed directly to me by SRC and 2)if this is done we think it would be better if nothing is withheld from the Foundation money (except social security, of course). And it might be added that in line with above theory this would all mean that IRS would have to go to SRC instead of ACHR for any redress of grievance which would make it a little more difficult for them.

We'd appreciate hearing of your thinking on all of this. Thanks for your interest. Say "hi" to Al the Fisherman.

Sincerely,

Bob

P.S. As you and Ed discussed yesterday, regardless of the disposition of the above ACHR would still be the agency to issue me the checks for the other $2,500. Could you give us a collect call about this?

Dear Mr. Anthony:

This is to acknowledge the receipt of your letter and to thank you for your interest and encouragement. These are indeed difficult days for everyone who would apply the New Testament to daily life and personal relationships. Buffetings come both from the "Right" and from the "Left".

The pressure to which Martin England referred comes from my previous pastorate in Trussville, Alabama. Because of my racial views, I came under such pressure there that I finally had to leave without a place to go. Even now, certain people in that church continue their efforts to injure, if not destroy, my ministry. The continuation of their harassment is the problem I face, and it is proving to be a serious problem.

So far, my relationship with the people of Eutaw has been filial, in spite of the fact that my differing views are known. However, the situation, inflammable as a tinderbox, could change at any moment.

Dear Mr. Hawley:

Your letter of August 11 and the enclosed check in the amount of $200 from the Seminary Chest Fund came to us as a pleasant surprise. The donation will be a real help indeed. Our official receipt is enclosed.

You will notice that we have moved our office from Birmingham to Huntsville, and that I have been employed as executive director, succeeding Mr. Norman Jimerson who is now director of the field service program at Kalamazoo College, Kalamazoo, Michigan. I am a Presbyterian minister, a graduate of Union Theological Seminary, Richmond, Virginia, and a member of the Presbytery of Bluestone, Presbyterian Church, U. S.

Under separate cover, I am sending you a packet of materials which I hope will help to bring you up to date on what we have been doing. Included are our quarterly reports for the first and second quarter of this year, and copies of several of our monthly newsletters, which contain some details about our program activities.

In general, this has been a notable year for the Alabama Council on Human Relations. Our membership has grown from 336 last year to more than 1000 this year, with our membership year not yet finished. At the same time, members and friends within the state of Alabama have contributed in the neighborhood of $16,000 toward a budget that will probably exceed $25,000. I tell you this because I think it shows a strong response to our program among residents of Alabama, and I think this is something the Chest Fund and other out-of-state contributors would want to know.

Some of the highlights of our program have been organization to effect school desegregation, the operation of Head Start centers in Lee County, a report on non-discrimination compliance of Head Start programs in the state, other efforts to secure desegregation under Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 (as in the Agriculture Extension Service throughout the state and hospitals in Birmingham, Tuscaloosa and Florence), and efforts toward employment under Title VII, particularly in Mobile. Our Birmingham Council is now working to secure Negro policemen in that city. We have this month secured a NAIRO Intern, Mr. Robert Valder, who is very able and shows real promise of being an asset in strengthening our local councils and their programs.

All this is meant to convey to you my conviction that we can use your contribution wisely and effectively, and I want to thank you on behalf of our members for giving this encouragement ~~for~~ which I believe they richly deserve.

Dear Paul:

Attached is a copy of a letter I received from that Rev. William C. Holland of Eutaw, Alabama. I had written to ask him for a few more particulars when he indicated that he would like to find "secular" employment. It seems that when he moved to Eutaw he had to take a cut in salary at the time when his son was about to enter college and he needed, if anything, an increase.

The guy intrigues me. Note that he has both a masters degree and a doctorate in theology from what is now a relatively progressive Baptist seminary. (It might not have been so in 1947.) I can'g guess the meaning of his having sold insurance and real estate "intermittently" during his 20 years as a pastor.

I just wondered if you thought it might be worthwhile trying to meet the man, perhaps next time I'm in Tuscaloosa, to see if he ~~might~~ would be a likely sucker for human relations work. (It looks like the field is surely going to need a few. ~~ki~~ Kelly's going government is depressing.)

Anyway, the man seems to have something on the ball and some commitment to racial justice. If he isn't neurotic, he might have possibilities. But if he is neurotic, we might have a chance of interesting him.

Dear Mr. Stanfield:

Your willingness to be of assistance is indeed gratifying and deeply appreciated.

As I stated in my previous letter, I doubt seriously that there is very much that you can do, not that you are not willing nor with adequate connections. In these times, it is simply almost impossible for a person with almost exclusively theological training to break into the secular field. In addition, my problem is compounded by the necessity of making a much higher salary than a novice in any field can make. I have a son entering the University next month.

However, I have had considerable experience in the selling field as a direct salesman of Bibles and an audio library. I have also sold insurance. The insurance field is wide open to me, if I should decide to go that direction. Insurance offers wonderful possibilities, but it takes a while to get going, and I can't afford the slack season.

I face the same situation in real estate, which I am almost prepared to enter. With a minimum of additional study, I could pass the State license examination. Given a little time, this field of work would become a wonderful thing.

It would seem that the best immediate area for me in the secular world, therefore, would be as a sales representative of some good substantial product being distributed by a company of stature and reliability. I would definitely not be interested in any door-to-door selling. Traveling would not be objectionable as long as I could be at home on week-ends.

Eutaw Baptist Church

Main at Wilson Avenue

Eutaw, Alabama

In the secular field, the location is of no particular consequence. Alabama, or Texas, would be preferable.

As to salary, I would need a minimum of $750 per month, or, preferably, $800 to begin.

You requested some biographical material. The following facts should be pertinent:

Birth--April 28, 1917
Education--B.A. Degree, Baylor University, 1939
Th.M. Degree, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, 1942
Th.D. Degree, Southern Baptist Theological Seminary, 1947
Experience--20 years pastor of Baptist churches
1 year professor of religion in a Baptist University
Intermittent experience in selling

Dear Paul:

I will be able to make it over on Monday the 13th and stay through Thursday the 16th. In fact, I've been looking forward to attending this Conference. I'm sure you have a number of things planned for Monday and Tuesday, but I'm wondering if I might have three or four hours on one of those two days. We've been attempting to get something going, especially in Huntsville, on housing, but neither Ed nor I know anything about it. So we've written to all of the appropriate Federal agencies and have discovered that most of them have Intergroup Relations Specialists in their Atlanta Regional Offices. So I would like to go over and talk to them to find out how they work, how they think we might tackle the problem and what help they can give us.

I've reserved a flight arriving in Atlanta at 9:18 A.M. on Monday; since I don't know for sure when I'm to return I've reserved a flight leaving Atlanta at 6:30 P.M. on Thursday. If this isn't satisfactory I can change it with no trouble.

Sorry I didn't respond earlier, but I was out of town all of last week getting Montgomery completely straightened out.

Sincerely,

Bob

Dear Paul:

Here are the newsclips on school desegregation in Alabama. We have a few others, but they are mostly from the Wall Street Journal, New York Times, or other papers that I know SRC's Research Department clips.

When you give these to whoever it is who is doing the report, please ask that our clips be sent back when they are no longer needed. Mrs. Rogers has tagged each one. I would like to be able to lay my hands on them to back up that report.

Got the word about the October 5 date for the meeting. I'll be there, and Joyce is threatening to accompany me. Well...scratch another good time.

How about calling me if you have any good word for me to pass on to the Board on Saturday -- you know, like the Norman Fund came through with $4,000 ... things like that.

Best wishes,

Dear Paul,

Here is our third quarter report and September financial statement. I gather this is the last time they'll be worth $1,500.

Do we get another $625 for Valder now also?

By the way, Nat tells me we are front running for the George Mitchell Award. Great! Or has it been cancelled?

Let me know if I was too damned honest with Mrs. Cole. That sort of thing is new to me.

Mrs. Deborah M. Cole
Executive Secretary
The Aaron E. Norman Fund, Inc.
575 Madison Avenue
New York, New York 10022

Dear Mrs. Cole:

Thank you for your letter of September 21 concerning our request for a grant of approximately $4,000-$5,000.

This amount of money was needed to enable us to employ and furnish necessary travel money and equipment for an intern associate for the period August 1, 1965 through July 31, 1966. As you may have gathered from our newsletters, we have taken this plunge, going perhaps very foolishly on faith, and Mr. Robert S. Valder, an Eleanor Roosevelt Human Relations Intern, is now working out of our office. As you may know, the Eleanor Roosevelt Internship is administered by the National Association of Intergroup Relations Officials. Our share of the intern's annual salary is $2,500. In addition, we have to provide his travel and incidental expenses, and we insist on providing an accidental death and major medical expense insurance policy for him and his family. In our case, there was also the necessity of buying additional office furniture in the amount of approximately $250.

As you can deduce from the enclosed financial report for September, the initial expense of the office furniture and insurance premium, together with the increased regular operating expense, have already noticeably darkened our financial picture. This was not unexpected.

Your observation that a financial statement can be misleading is accurate in our case. Ours is misleading in that our balance in July represented a disproportionately large part of our annual receipts which is received during the first part of the year. Our annual meeting and financial solicitation among members is in January. Many do not spread their contributions over the entire year, but donate in one lump sum. For this reason, our balance looks large through the middle of the year, but is continually dwindling. You can see that it is very small at the end of September.

I am sure that you are aware that the figure shown in the total receipts for the year to date does not represent actual receipts toward the budget. For instance, we have included as miscellaneous receipts the NAIRO portion of Mr. Valder's salary, the nearly $900 from sale of dinner tickets at the annual meeting, and money received from the Southern Regional Council for the item designated "volunteer subsistence." There are a number of smaller amounts which we have similarly received for special purposes and have run through our books. Thus, the amounts for total receipts and total expenditures to date would have to be considerably reduced to get an accurate financial picture in terms of our minimal budget of $24,500.

I might also call your attention to the fact that we have found it necessary to exceed the amounts provided on many budgeted items.

Let me be very candid with you and say that in my judgement, we would be able to make it to the end of this year without any additional source of income--but just barely. We would be able to do so because we anticipate winning the $1,000 George Mitchell Award of the Southern Regional Council for the state council having the largest increase in membership during the year. That award, together with other income which we can anticipate, will enable us to squeeze by, but we would come to the end of the year with no financial reserve at all. That would not be as alarming as it might otherwise be because our financial drive comes in January, and our coffers presumably will be replenished at that time. What you must understand, however, is that the increased expenses of our intern associate would continue all along, and we would in effect be using money that we should be holding in reserve for the latter half of 1966 to provide for the intern during the first half.

In a nutshell, we have proceeded to secure our intern because we needed him so badly and because we had to make plans one way or another before we could definitely secure the funds. And we shall be able to carry it off for the year that the intern is with us, fulfilling our obligation to him and to NAIRO, but only by mortgaging the vigorous and expanded future programs for the Council which we had hoped he could help us build. We had hoped to be able by the end of this year to have prospects sufficient to budget for a full-time Associate Director starting in the fall of 1966. But we couldn't dare do so if we do not secure help with our intern. The prospect of coming to the "lean" half of 1966 with no reserve would be too likely. An additional $4,000 or $5,000 at this time would, in my judgement, really make the difference in an Alabama Council limping along as it has in the past and an Alabama Council leading vigorously toward better human relations in the state.

We feel that we have made giant strides in creative leadership this year. Thanks to a wonderful and determined response from our membership. Under separate cover, I am sending more material which I ~~feel~~ justifies this feeling on our part. However, I do hope your board will understand that we are not yet at a point where we could carry on even our present program indefinitely without assistance. And the fact is, of course, that we need to expand our program even more because the need and possibilities in Alabama are virtually limitless.

I hope that you will write to me again if there is anything that you do not understand or if you need information which I have not yet given you.

We are most grateful for the consideration you are giving us.

Cordially,

J. Edwin Stanfield

Mr. H. D. Godfrey, Administrator
Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service
U. S. Department of Agriculture
Washington, D. C.

Dear Mr. Godfrey:

We received your letter today expressing your policy of non-discrimination in the coming Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service elections. Needless to say, we were delighted to learn that your office is aware of the situation here and, more important, committed and dedicated to the task of eliminating discrimination in the administration of its farm programs and, particularly, as it relates to ASCS community and county elections.

Only yesterday, J. Edwin Stanfield, Executive Director of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, wrote to Secretary Orville Freeman, Mr. Lester Condon and Mr. William M. Seabron expressing the concern of our Board of Directors about the probability that unless USDA take "strong, immediate, positive steps, another Department of Agriculture Program will serve to continue the oppression of and discrimination against Negro farmers, tenants and sharecroppers" in these elections. He asked me to reply to your letter. We are convinced that even with the regulations and personal commitment, both past and present, of the USDA, the only sure method of guaranteeing that the elections will be free of discrimination is for the Department to: "(1) oversee the process by which eligible voters are selected, and (2) appoint a person from outside the state to receive the ballots--this person would then give only the ballots to the election committee." And we should like to emphasize again the plain fact of life that in dealing with many of the white, rural leaders in the South, regulations and strongly expressed personal commitment alone will not guarantee compliance: the personal presence of officials of the Federal government with the will to use maximum enforcement is absolutely essential if we are to attain full and free participation by all people in all USDA programs.

We believe that the two pieces of literature you enclosed are excellent. Since we are sponsoring a Voting Rights Conference in Montgomery this Saturday, at which many people from the Black Belt will be in attendance, we called Mr. Victor B. Phillips asking him to send us as many copies of them as possible. He assured us that this would be done.

Thank you very much for your letter. Again, let me say that your indication that you are concerned about the ASCS elections is reassuring. If we can be of any assistance, please be sure to call upon us.

Sincerely,

Robert S. Valder
Associate Director

September 27, 1965

The Honorable Orville Freeman
Secretary of Agriculture
U. S. Department of Agriculture
Washington 25, D. C.

Dear Secretary Freeman:

It is with increasing anxiety that the Board of Directors of the Alabama Council on Human Relations views the approaching Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service elections in Alabama. We are fully aware of the United States Department of Agriculture's realization that in the South, discrimination has flourished in many of the Department's programs; we are equally aware of your policy to terminate immediately all discriminatory practices, and we applaud this policy. We believe that regulations and guidelines issued by the USDA in the recent past have been instrumental in beginning the elimination of some of the more overt discriminatory policies which permeate Southern agricultural programs.

In view of this, we know that you are deeply concerned about the probability that unless the USDA take strong, immediate, positive steps, another Department of Agriculture program will serve to continue the oppression of and discrimination against Negro farmers, tenants and sharecroppers.

Specifically, we refer to the critical need for: (1) guarantees that all county committees shall certify all eligible farmers, tenants and sharecroppers as eligible voters in the ASCS elections; (2) guarantees that all such certified voters shall receive ballots; (3) guarantees that it will be impossible (as is now possible by the "envelope system" used) for anyone to determine (a) which ballots have been mailed in by Negro voters, and (b) the candidates for whom a particular person voted; (4) guarantees that all ballots shall be counted; (5) guarantees that individuals nominated by the Negro community shall not be excluded from the election process; (6) guarantees that in communities where Negro voters nominate their own candidate, county committees shall not nominate additional Negro candidates if such nominations are designed to confuse and divide the vote in order to perpetuate white supremacy in community and county committees; (7) the recognition by USDA that if a significant number of eligible voters is prevented from voting by either intimidation or fraud, the election must be declared illegal.

We would strongly recommend two steps which we believe USDA must take: (1) oversee the process by which eligible voters are selected, and (2) appoint a person from outside the state to receive the ballots--this person would then give only the ballots to the election committee. We are convinced that, for obvious reasons, these two steps must be taken if USDA means to insure a fair and non-discriminatory election. And we would emphasize that, as you well know, this election is by far the single most important event in the lives of the rural farmers. We would remind you that county committees have traditionally served to direct Federal monies and favorable acreage allotments to the secure, powerful, large landholding, white segregationalists. And we most emphatically assert, Mr. Secretary, that you simply have to understand that in the rural South, especially where the Negro population is large, many of the white leaders are cruel, vindictive and vicious. Not only can you not assume that they will obey USDA regulations, but you must also assume that they will use every method at their disposal to deprive the Negro farmer, tenant and sharecropper of their rightful participation in the ASCS election process. It is our hope that you will see fit to alter this situation.

Hoping to hear from you soon, I am

Cordially,

J. Edwin Stanfield
Executive Director

Paul: Thought you'd like to be advised of this. We ran across this situation while I was in Selma last week talking to some SNCC people. The fact that we've written this letter is of course quite confidential. But the facts and situations and possibilities noted in the letter are not confidential of course and the more people that are aware of it the better. We are a littleconcerned that it not be know that ACHR is telling others of what we've done because Freeman may hear of this and take it that we are trying to "pressure" him. Powers McLeod and C. G. Gomillion both think this would be very bad; they feel that Freeman will act if he wants to but not if people are "pressuring" him. Just thought you'd be interested, though.

Dear Mr. Stanfield:

The Department of Agriculture has long had the responsibility for helping all the people in rural America overcome obstacles to their full participation in the economic and social improvement in this country. I want you to know that, as an agency of the Department, the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service is thoroughly committed and dedicated to the task of eliminating discrimination in the administration of its farm programs and, particularly, as it relates to ASCS community and county elections.

Our experience in recent elections of ASC community and county committeemen brought to our attention the need for more concise information on election procedures and farmer eligibility. To ensure that all farm owners, sharecroppers, and tenant farmers know about their eligibility to vote in ASC committee elections, to become candidates for office and to understand the voting procedure, ASCS has prepared a brief leaflet, "ASC Elections", PA-676, for wide distribution. A more detailed explanation of the election procedure, "Electing Farmer Committeemen to Administer ASCS Programs", PA-677 was prepared for all ASC committeemen and will be made available to civil rights groups and other interested organizations. A copy of each of these leaflets is enclosed. Additional copies may be obtained from Victor B. Phillips, Assistant to the Administrator - Civil Rights Coordinator, Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service, United States Department of Agriculture, Washington, D. C., 20250.

I have also instructed our county ASC committees to invite local civil rights group representatives to meet with them to discuss forthcoming elections and other items of interest. We hope that such a meeting will afford an opportunity for you to become better acquainted with our county office personnel and to become more knowledgeable about ASCS farm programs.

Please be assured of our continued interest and efforts to promote equal opportunity in all phases of our farm programs, including employment.

Sincerely yours,

H. D. Godfrey

Dear Mr. Hunter,

I understand that the Stern Family Fund plans to send us a $10,000 matching grant. Those of us working with the Southern Courier here in Montgomery are, of course, overwelmed and happy. It will be this grant that will se us through at least until Christmas and allow us time to build up our circulation and advertising and hopefully keep the Courier in business.

We are greatly encouraged now.

As I understand the terms of the gift, the Southern Courier is to notify the Alabama Council on Human Relations when we raise a sizeable sum. This will be matched by the Stern Family Fund up to $10,000. I understand that the fund does not require certification of contributions, but we have on record here in the office names and addresses of donors. We have been counting contributions since October 1, 1965. Is this proper?

Miss Meisel of your office has asked about subscriptions for the board members. Could you forward to me their names and addresses so that we can start sending them complimentary copies?

I am sending a copy of this letter to Mr. J. Edwin Stanfield, executive director of the Alabama Council on Human Relations.

Our regards to you and the board.

Dear Mr. Stanfield:

This is to advise you that the Board of the Stern Family Fund has approved a grant to the Alabama Council on Human Relations for the Southern Courier newspaper. The terms of the grant, which is $10,000, are that it must be matched on a dollar for dollar basis within a period of one year from this date. Any portion remaining unmatched at the end of the year must be returned to the Stern Family Fund.

Before releasing any part of the grant, we would appreciate receiving a copy of the tax exemption certificate of the Alabama Council on Human Relations. In order to avoid excessive check writing, we would appreciate applications being made for payments as infrequently as possible consistent with the operational needs of the newspaper.

Dear Erskine:

You may recall that I called you some time ago to ask if we could arrange to support The Southern Courier, if funds could be found, without jeopardizing the Alabama Council's tax exempt status. At the time you indicated that you thought this would be possible.

I have since discussed the matter with David, and he has serious doubts about the idea, which he may have discussed with you already. I hope I haven't started an intra-office argument.

Our Board of Directors has authorized the staff to receive funds for the purpose of supporting the Courier -- provided it can be done without jeopardizing our tax-exempt status (in the opinion of our attorneys and the Southern Regional Council's attorneys). I have talked to Paul Anthony about it, and he says that we are independent and what we do is not likely to affect them, and besides he figures our Alabama lawyers are better able to assess the risks, etc., than they would be. So you and David are our lawyers and it's up to you.

As you can see from the enclosed photocopies of letters, a grant has been secured. Let me suggest that you get in touch with Mr. Robert E. Smith directly to seek any necessary information and to make the arrangements you think best.

Needless to say, subject to the limitations specified by our Board, we are eager to use The Southern Courier as a means of gathering and reporting information on matters pertaining to human relations and as a means of training young journalists and acqainting them with the human relations field. I hope that we can work out a satisfactory contract with the Courier to do this!

Mrs. Deborah M. Cole

The Aaron E. Norman Fund, Inc.

New York, New York 10022

Dear Mrs. Cole:

Thank you for your letter of October 18 informing me of the grant of $2,500 to the Alabama Council on Human Relations and of the conditions under which it can be made.

Inasmuch as I have accepted, just this week, an appointment as Director of Field Activities for the Southern Regional Council, it appears that one of the conditions imposed by the Norman Fund Board will not be met. Frankly, I am a bit mystified by the stipulation that I must be the Executive Director in order for the Council to receive the grant. Would it be possible for your Board to reconsider? Perhaps some other criterion could be found by which the Board could assure themselves of adequate leadership for the Council (assuming that this was the purpose of the condition).

The condition that a full-time Associate Director must have been employed by September 1, 1966, is fair enough, but our meeting it will be the less likely if the first condition remains unchanged.

As I say, the first condition is a mystery to me. It seems to me that the Alabama Council's Board of Directors certainly would not take the step of employing an Associate Director unless they had assured themselves of the competency of the Executive Director by the criteria of membership, financial strength, and program potential. Thus, the second condition alone would be sufficient for the purposes that I am able to understand at this point.

Needless to say, whether or not we are able to claim the grant, we are all very grateful for the consideration you have given the Alabama Council on Human Relations. We surely will keep you informed of our activities.

Needless to say, the Board and I are very much impressed with the Council's accomplishments. I hope that you will continue to keep me posted on your activities.

Dear Sir:

We are sending herewith a copy of "Southern Justice: An Indictment," which was recently published by the Southern Regional Council. We believe that this is a timely report and that you will find it interesting reading--perhaps helpful.

We think it worth emphasizing that the problem to which this report speaks is not limited to the courts of Alabama. It is a problem also for Federal courts serving Alabama and other Southern states. This point was made in a previous report by the Southern Regional Council, of which we have not enough copies to distribute. We would be happy to obtain one for you, however, if you wish it.

That former report, published in April, points out that in the ten Southern states there are no Negroes who are Federal Circuit Court Judges, District Court Judges, Referees in Bankruptcy, U. S. Commissioners, U. S. Clerks, Deputy U. S. Clerks, U. S. Attorneys, Jury Commissioners, or U. S. Marshals. There are only five Assistant U. S. Sttorneys in the South who are Negroes, and only nine Deputy U. S. Marshals. It is not known how many of those serving in approximately 364 secretarial and clerical positions are Negroes, but from observation the number appeared to be quite small.

We share with virtually all other Americans a near-reverential regard for the law and the courts. This veneration both causes us profound anxiety on reading such reports as these and gives to the whole issue an urgency which makes us bold to request, humbly, your reflection upon the problems treated.

Respectfully,

J. Edwin Stanfield

Dear Paul:

I did go to Jackson, as directed, and found it a very interesting and enlightening trip.

As you can tell from the enclosed clippings, it was a very successful meeting. There were about 350 people at the dinner, which astonished me. Ken and everyone else was delighted with the participation of Owen Cooper.

Ken seems to have an enviable talent for getting close to people on both sides of the aisle, the newsmen, etc. With a little more attention to organization the Mississippi Council ought to be able to fly rather well.

We had a reception at Pat Derian's and she sent you her regards. Also Elaine Crystal.

Best wishes,

Ed

Dear Frank:

I have your invitation to Ed Stanfield. Incidentally, he will not be available until the first of the year, and he is now up to his neck trying to end affairs in Alabama. I do think, however, given the record of his accomplishments in Alabama, that he could be of substantial help to you in the area of local council program and growth. I hope you will invite him back.

What progress are you making with staff?

Best wishes.

Sincerely,

Mr. Lisbon C. Berry, Jr.

Dear Mr. Berry:

I am writing at this time to ask that you and another officer or member of your new local council on human relations, of your selection, attend a meeting of such representatives together with officers of our state Council, on Saturday, December 11, at 1:30 p.m. Unless you are notified differently, the meeting will be held at the Chapel of the Cross, E. Franklin Street, Chapel Hill. Sandwiches and coffee will be available at 1:00 p.m.

The purpose of this meeting is to discuss and try to arrive at clearer guidelines for mutually helpful relations between local voluntary councils (and similar groups) and the state Council.

As you probably know, one of the primary current aims of the state Council is to encourage and help in the growth of local councils, with the thought in mind that involving more people in working together on the particular problems of their own community is of key importance at this time in improving human and racial relations. An indication of our progress is that seven to nine groups from North Carolina towns are likely to be represented at this meeting.

To date we have had only general views about how the state Council and its staff might help local councils, and conversely how the local groups might help support the work at the state level. We need reasonably prompt clearer definitions: we will soon have a new state executive director who will need better guidelines; we are having a growing number of local affiliates; our state budget needs more local support; our relationships with the Southern Regional Council are at this time undergoing changes towards clearer working together, again to the advantage of both in my opinion (I can report on this at our meeting).

I hope you can bring to the meeting ideas, discussed in advance with others in Wilmington to the extent possible, about: types of assistance the state Council may best provide local groups; your willingness to take part in periodic special projects of the Southern Regional Council (e.g., periodic reports on local events of significance; on degree of integration in local schools; on openness of public accommodations and job opportunities locally, etc.); ability and ways local councils or groups might offer financial support to the state Council; and forms of representation in state Council affairs. We can of course take up other topics.

I will bring information about income-tax and public solicitations status of such financial arrangements as we may discuss.

I hope your Wilmington group can be represented by you and a companion, or a substitute for you if you cannot come -- a bi-racial delegation of two if at all possible. Please let our Charlotte office know who will be coming.

Yours sincerely,

T. Franklin Williams, M.D.

Dear Paul,

Ed and I were talking today about plans for our annual meeting on February 5 and how we might work students into it. Ray Payne and Hayes and I had talked this over last month and thought it might be worth while to have a student oriented program on the previous evening, February 4th and then have the students participate in the annual meeting on the 5th just as anyone else would. That is, Friday night would concern itself with student problems, campus issues, ideas for campus and intercampus programs, etc. and on Saturday we would treat the students as adults.

Our problems are twofold: (1) money and (2) we need someone to organize a program, to get whatever resource persons are necessary and to conduct the Friday night meeting. The latter is necessary because, as you know, I'll be pretty tied up with other matters in January, and on Friday night, the 4th, the state board is also meeting. I'll have to attend the board meeting whether we have a new director by that time or not. We could take care of the publicity and promotional problems in order to get maximum participation, however.

In talking to Hayes he indicated that employed or not he would be interested in helping us set up a program and could probably attend such a meeting. It is Ed's and my understanding that SRC does have some funds available for student conferences and we were wondering (1) what types of expenses are covered, e.g., for resource persons and consultants, room and board and travel for such persons and for students, for facilities or what; (2) if Hayes is agreeable to doing those things outlined in number two above could part of such a grant be used to pay him for his services; (3) to whom does one apply for such a grant?

We don't have any figure in mind for any of these items, but thought it best to first determine what type of grant is available.

Ed will speak to you about this when he gets to town this week.

Sincerely,

Bob

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

December 22, 1965

MEMORANDUM

To : 1966 Campaign Chairmen

From : Ed Stanfield

Subject: Miscellaneous matters concerning the membership and funding effort

1. Please do not forget to send us a report of your progress on "advance gifts" (your ten-percenters and five-percenters) on December 31. This report should include "Number of Pledges or Contributions (or combinations) Received," "Total Cash Contributions Received," and "Total Amount of Cash Contributions and Pledges."

This is important for two reasons: (1) These larger donors may wish to make an extra donation during 1965 for income tax purposes; so it is important that these solicitations be made before the year ends. (2) We want to encourage everybody with a good report in our newsletter to be issued early in January; if everybody is on schedule, we should be able to report about half of our goal raised!

2. We are mailing out additional pledge cards and membership application cards where we think you may not have enough. If you need additional descriptive brochures (with the stick-figures on the front), drop us a card. (These cost about 5¢ each, so don't waste them--but use all you need.)

3. You will need to make a "master list" showing the name of each prospect, to whom he was assigned, and a place to note result. It is important that every prospect be assigned to someone and that visitors do not call on people helter-skelter.

4. Urge visitors to seek joint membership wherever appropriate. Two members are better than one.

5. Also encourage use of the yellow pledge card wherever possible. It helps more to pay $2 per month or $6 per quarter than to pay a $5.00 or $8.00 membership fee. We want all the members we can enlist! But a membership fee scarcely covers the cost of serving the member with newsletters and notices. We need contributions from as many as possible.

6. The campaign chairman or committee should note on each "prospect card" a suggested asking for the guidance of the visitor; e.g., "Ask $24.00" or "Ask $36.00". See "Instructions for Campaign Visitors."

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS, INC.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION 1966 Membership and Funding Campaign

INSTRUCTIONS FOR VISITORS

1. Study the contents of the Alabama Council brochure, the fact sheet provided, and these instructions. Don't memorize them, but be so familiar with the contents that you can use them naturally.

2. Be sure to make your own pledge first. You cannot reasonably or convincingly ask another to do what you have not done yourself. You may very well be asking others to give more than you can give, but you should first commit yourself to a donation according to your means.

3. Call only on prospects assigned to you. If you have a friend or acquaintance whom you think a likely prospect for a membership or contribution, clear with the chairman to be sure he is not assigned to someone else. Duplicate visits can be annoying.

4. Be sure to call on all persons or families assigned to you. If you do not find a prospect at home, make a return visit. But do not give up until you have some result to report--even if it is negative (which is unlikely).

5. Make a personal visit to the home of each prospect. At the very least make a special call on him in his office or other place of employment for this sole purpose. This is not a casual matter, so please do not deal with it in a casual telephone call or chance meeting!

6. Ask for a definite amount--and know what you will ask for before you go. The Campaign Committee of your chapter should have noted a suggested asking on your prospect card. If there is no such notation, consult the chairman. The "asking" should be the estimated largest amount that the prospect could give if so disposed. (For example, if John Doe could readily give $10 per month, don't ask him for $5. He may only give $5 per month. But if you ask only $5, chances are he'll still dicker with you!)

7. Make pledging as effortless as possible to the prospect. Have the yellow pledge card filled out with address, occupation, etc.--all except the amount and the signature.

8. Be pleasant but purposeful. It is fine, for instance, to take your spouse along, if you are calling on another couple--but have it understood that there is not to be second conversation going on while you are talking about the human relations council! And it is fine to exchange a few pleasantries about the weather and the local political rascals--but you should get down to business shortly!

9. Be appreciative. If your prospect made a contribution during 1965, or if he is a good worker in the local council, thank him for what he has done.

10. Get to the subject. You might begin by saying, "George, I'm here today about the Alabama Council on Human Relations. We are rather proud of what the organization has accomplished during the past year, and we are eager to be even more effective in 1966." At this point you might show him one of the fact sheets which have been sent to your campaign chairman and say, "This is just a partial listing of the things the Alabama Council has done in 1965."

Talk about any of them in which the prospect is interested. Then talk about 1966. Emphasize the fact that the Rural Advancement Project will start soon and that the grant which makes it possible will be renewed for two more years, provided the basic operation of the Council remains strong enough to administer it effectively. Another talking point is this: We can get $2,500 from a foundation to help hire a permanent, full-time associate director provided we have other funds sufficient to hire one by September 1966. Having an intern associate on the staff in 1965 has shown us the value of an associate for program expansion, better services to chapters, and development of new chapters.

11. Get to the point--the point of decision, if you will. Something like this: "So we feel that we have a great chance in 1966 to make the Alabama Council an organization that will make a big difference in the state. But we all know that this will take a lot of doing. So we are trying to get everyone to be more than members this year. We are asking for regular support." (If your prospect is already a regular giver, you should change this, of course: perhaps, "So we are asking for increased support this year--which we think the record justified." At about this point pull out the yellow pledge card with the prospect's address filled out on it. With a pencil check the category you had previously decided to suggest (e.g., "$60 Sponsor" or $36 Underwriter"). And say: "We are asking you to be among those giving $5.00 per month--or $15.00 per quarter, if you prefer." Or, "I wonder if you would like to be among those giving $3.00 per month in 1966."

PERIOD!!! Don't say another word! Wait for him to respond! If he says, "Well, yes, I think I could do that," you say, "Fine. Just sign the card and the state office will bill you on the first of each month (or quarter). You can make the first payment now or later, as you prefer." If he says, "Well, I have a lot of organizations to give to, but I guess I could manage the $6.00 each quarter," you might say, "Well, that would certainly be a big help, too. Just sign the card . . ."

12. Check the pledge card to be sure that all pertinent information is on it. Be sure that the donor has indicated clearly whether he wants statements monthly, quarterly, or on some irregular dates. Be sure to note any cash payment as "Paid herewith $_____." And be sure to get the ZIP CODE.

13. Report promptly to your campaign chairman. Turn in completed pledge cards and any cash or checks collected as soon as you conveniently can, even if you have not finished all your calls.

14. Take satisfaction in having done well something that is important and worthwhile. You may not be much of a salesman. And maybe you never thought you could raise money. But if you have followed the suggestions above, chances are you and your group have been astonished at the results. Why? Because beyond and beneath the mechanics and techniques of soliciting funds, you have had going for you the fact that a lot of people in Alabama are genuinely and deeply concerned about human relations in this state and realize, however vaguely, that they have a rare opportunity and urgent duty just because they live here. Thus, in one sense you have not asked for anything. You have offered an opportunity, a tool for creative effort, a meaningful approach to problems about which the donor is deeply concerned. Maybe some people who gave even thanked you for asking them . . .

Dear Miss Niland:

Thank you for the interesting information about your project. We appreciate knowing of it and would be grateful if you will continue to keep us informed.

Enclosed is a study of ours, "Encounter With The Future", which you may find of interest.

We have associations with a number of state and local Human Relations Councils and other groups. I am certain many of them would enjoy using your series in their own programs, and some of them would attempt to place the series with local radio stations. We can go into this further at a later date if you are interested.

Do you know of the Friendly World Broadcasting System? This is a fine, although very small, programing agency that makes programs available without cost to radio stations. They have had considerable success in southern states. If you would like to learn more of them or to check on the possibility of their assistance in circulating your series, you might write to: Mr. Edwin T. Randall, Friendly World Broadcasting, 122 North Providence Road, Wallingford, Pa.

Dear Mr. Antorny:

Many persons have urged us to write to you about a project initiated by our student radio station concerning student involvement in social change -- particularly in the Civil Rights Movement.

Under the direction of the Stanford University Sociology Department, we began early last Spring to devise a research plan for an exploratory study based on the interview method. We aimed to describe with some confidence the students who volunteered for Civil Rights work in the South -- what kinds of schools and homes they come from, why they go to the South, how they view their own role in social change, and how they themselves are changed by their experiences in the South. Eight of us spent the summer interviewing students in Civil Rights projects in towns from Louisiana to South Carolina. As students talking with other students, we have collected a vital and informative body of material.

We are now in the process of analyzing this data and attempting to draw conclusions and make predictions when possible. We are also preparing a series of radio programs, for mass distribution next spring, which will present our data and conclusions in the words and voices of the students themselves.

At this time we are also planning written reports which will be compiled for specific audiences interested in the growing activism of American college students. With this in mind, we have been encouraged to write directly to you, informing you of our work, and asking for your comments and guidance as to fruitful uses of our material.

We will be delighted to hear from you after you have had a chance to peruse the enclosed materials. We want you to know how much we appreciate your help.

Sincerely,

KZSW PRODUCTION TEAM

PROJECT SOUTH

AUGUST 2, 1965.

Tougaloo, Mississippi

Jim McRae
Mark Dalrymple

INTRODUCTION

The Production Team has now been working for over a month gathering material in the South, and has about a month remaining in the South before returning to school. As yet there has been no analysis made of our progress and plans. It was felt that a short summary of the work that has been done and an analysis of our future plans would be useful and interesting, both to ourselves and to others. Because of the pressures of time, this will be but a brief account of what has been done, leaving the detailed account of how it was done to the end of the summer.

PURPOSE

The primary focus of the project is the study of the college students who come to the South to work in the Civil Rights Movement. It is an exploratory study to suggest answers to the questions of why the students come here, what they expect to find, what they actually do find here, the pressures they are under in their work, how they react and function under these pressures, what activities they are engaged in, their successes and failures in the South, and what their future plans are. It is a study of people involved in two of the major forces for social change in today's society — the Student Movement and the Civil Rights Movement. The answers to the questions raised above will help to explain the nature of the growing student activism which has been the subject of considerable comment in recent months.

Students have been defined in a rather arbitrary manner for the purposes of the study, and separated into three categories: 1) the short-term volunteers - those college students who plan to spend not more than five months at work in the South before returning to college; 2) the long-term volunteers - those who plan to spend more than five but less than fifteen months in the South before returning to college; and 3) the student staff - those who have suspended their education to spend more than fifteen months in the South, but plan to return to college at some future time.

The purpose of the project is to explain the results of the above study of the students involved in the Civil Rights Movement to others, in the form of a radio series. We feel that this will help to provide more accurate information about the students who are working in the South and what they are doing here, and will thus help the listener to evaluate both the Civil Rights Movement and the Student Movement with more basis in fact than is usually the case.

In order to carry out this study, the project has received grants from the Kalthenborn Foundation and the Stern Family Fund, as well as a loan from the University. In all of these there are no restrictions as to content, the only requirement being that the study be completed and that a radio series be developed and marketed to the radio stations of this country.

PROCEDURE

The basic tool of our research is the personal interview, tape recorded so that we may express the thoughts and feelings of the students in the radio series in their own words. In order to accomplish our objective of understanding the students, both students and others in the Movement must be interviewed. The students are interviewed concerning their reasons for coming, their expectations and findings, the pressures they encounter, their reactions to these pressures, and their future plans. Leaders, local workers, and others are interviewed on all of these questions as well as their reactions to the student volunteers and their evaluations of the students' importance to the Movement.

In addition to the interviews, material on what the students are doing and peoples' reactions to their activities will be important. Tapes of freedom schools, meetings, marches, canvassing, and other day-to-day activities of the students will be used in preparing the program series. In order to supplement the taped material, all of the members of the Team are keeping detailed field notes of their observations and analysis. The observations and non-student interviews are vital, because the students are reacting to a fluid situation, and are not individuals alone with a problem. Consequently, the students, their thoughts and actions, must be put in the proper perspective with the organizations, area, history, and problems with which they are working.

The eight members of the Production Team are divided into four groups of two each. Three of these groups are interview units, each consisting of one male and one female interviewer. Each is assigned to a geographical area, and their job is to visit the various civil rights projects in that area, interview the students and other workers on the individual projects, and analyze the students' role in each project. This, of course, necessitates understanding the purpose and activities of each of the projects visited. The fourth group is used more for group communications and technical assistance than for interviewing. It visits the interview groups to fix equipment and distribute tape, money, mail, and encouragement. The two male members of this group also listen to all of the tapes that have been made by the interview groups, copy them for editing purposes (as well as safety), and analyze the material gathered, with the purpose of finding gaps in the information, checking technical and editorial quality, and finding good lines of questioning in use by one group which everyone might profitably use. Wherever possible, each interviewer will try to use the same general type of questions. While doing this in all cases would greatly facilitate the production of the program series, it would also undoubtedly lead to an over-formalized interview, which would tend to reduce the rapport of interviewer with student. Consequently, all interviews are made in the form of directed conversations, with the really important consideration being that the interviewer leave the interview with a good knowledge of the student's thoughts and rationale on the questions raised above.

In order to aid in the retrieval of the information, the interviewer fills out a retrieval form for each interview. This form summarizes the various factors leading to involvement, and records the interviewee's reactions and attitude changes since coming to the South. The communications group, in listening to the tape, fills out a form which analyzes its technical and editorial qualities, lists quotes useful for the program series, and gives instructions for the copying of the tape. These forms will be an invaluable aid in evaluating what we have collected, and will serve to help in locating the material needed for the program series.

In order to check the compatibility of the interviewers in filling out their retrieval forms, the communications group is also filling out a copy of the same form used by the interviewer for each interview, and measuring the correlation between the two forms. Likewise, the interviewers listen to each interview again and note useful quotes.

PRESENT STATUS

The project is divided into four phases: preparation for the work in the South, gathering of material in the South, analysis of the material gathered, and production of the program series. The preparation took place during the last two quarters of the past academic year at Stanford, and the analysis and production will not become our major concerns until the autumn quarter of the coming academic year, from the end of September to the end of December. At present, the Team is in the South gathering the information needed.

Good working relationships have been established with the major civil rights organizations sponsoring student volunteer projects this summer. As the three organizations are working in different areas, an interview group has been assigned to each area: Dick Gillam and Julie Wells are working with the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) in Louisiana; Jon Roise and Mary Kay Becker work in Mississippi with the Mississippi Freedom Democratic Party (MFDP), a product of the Council of Federated Organizations (COFO), the group made up mostly of people from the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee (SNCC) which sponsored the large student project in Mississippi last summer. Roger Dankert and Penny Niland are in Alabama, Georgia, and South Carolina working with the Summer Community Organization and Political Education project (SCOPE) of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC). Jim McRae and Mark Dalrymple constitute the communications group, with headquarters at Tougaloo, a small community just north of Jackson, Mississippi.

In order to avoid having three sets of specialists on individual organizations who cannot effectively communicate with each other, and to give the interview groups insights into the ways in which their organization differs from the others, each of the interview groups has visited at least one project run by one of the other organizations. In addition, the communications group has visited at least one project in each organization, gaining at least a limited knowledge of each.

In all cases the members of the Team have found no difficulty in living with the members of the project they were visiting. This has two great advantages: first, it allows the interviewers to get to know the situations that the students live in, as well as to observe the students' reactions to this and other situations; secondly, it is very inexpensive. The disadvantage in this arrangement is that working space and privacy are quite limited.

In each of the projects visited, an effort is made to interview all of the volunteers working on it, in order to reduce any bias in the selection of the interviewees. This has proved to be rather difficult, as many of the students spend a condiderable amount of their time out in remote areas of the counties and are available for interviewing only at very odd times, and in remote and separated places. However, only a few students have been missed.

To date groups of the Team have visited a total of thirty one different projects, many of them more than once, (see page eight for a listing of the projects visited by each group) and have made more than one hundred interviews, each lasting about one hour. Added to the tapes of orientation sessions, mass meetings, demonstrations (at Jackson, Mississippi, Bogalusa, Louisiana, Greensboro, Alabama, and Crawfordville, Georgia), and other tapes (such as the lobbying for the Mississippi Congressional Challenge in Washington, D.C.), the interviews make a total of more than 250 hours of taped material gathered to date. Because of a shortage of tape and the desire to copy all of the material gathered while listening to it, the communications group delayed listening to the tapes until recently, when work was begun in earnest on listening to and analyzing all of the material gathered. The job is monumental, as each hour of taped material requires more than two hours of listening and analysis, and one of the problems now facing the Team is the question of whether or not all of the tapes should be listened to before returning to Stanford.

The three major problems which now confront the project are finances, time, and tape. As to finances: funds expended for equipment ($1800), cars, and living expenses ($25 per group per week) have put the project nearly $800 in debt. More money will obviously be needed to carry the Team through the summer. Hal Williams, KZSU's Director of Station Relations last year, who did much of the work on obtaining financing for the project, is now working to find additional support while he is in Aspen, Colorado. Hal is also working to obtain tape for us, as we will be completely out of tape by next weekend. Approximately one thousand seven-inch reels of tape will be needed in order to continue gathering material and to begin to dub tapes during the summer. Time is the constant problem - only a little more than two months will be spent in the South, so it must be decided now how much time will be spent listening to tapes, thus reducing the number but improving the quality and usefulness of the remaining tapes made, rather than getting a quantity of tapes and listening to them at Stanford.

FUTURE PLANS

The material-gathering phase of the project will end on or about August 26, when the members of the Team will leave the South, taking a break until September 27, when the autumn quarter begins at Stanford. At that time the analysis of the material will have to be completed, and the production of the program series will begin. During the break between the Southern phase and the production phase, the members of the Team will try to organize their personal views and emotions into reports of their Southern experience. These reports will be valuable in the analysis of the interviews and other material gathered. During the autumn quarter the program series will be completed and marketed.

The time remaining in the South is divided into three sections. This Friday, August 6, the Team members, along with Dr. Kai Erikson, the sociologist from Emory University who is our field advisor this summer, and met with us in Atlanta on the weekend of July 16, will meet in Tougaloo to discuss the progress to date, listen to tapes, and plan activities for the last two weeks so as to fill any gaps remaining in the material. The groups will then return to the field until about August 20, as which time the Team will have a final meeting to attempt a detailed analysis of the material gathered up to that point. During that meeting a sketch of the results and an outline for the program series will be constructed. If some important material is still missing, an effort will be made to find it before August 26.

Hopefully, by the time of the final meeting the members of the Team will have made enough interviews to be able to make generalizations on them and will understand the situation and the volunteers well enough that the series will have some chance of being understandable. The understanding of the situation is the most important thing for the members of the Team to obtain this summer, for without that understanding, the program series will have no chance of being clear.

Projects visited by each group. Any project listed more than once in each group is omitted after the first listing.

Dear Libby:

If we are to also help out on the several good ideas which Bill and I talked about earlier, it will be hard to provide the whole $625.00 for the recruiting program, although I am very enthusiastic about that work. Could you shave enough and add enough to make it on $400, assuming that you will shortly be asking for the funds for these other matters.

We can send you the $400.00 immediately and hope that Bill or you can tell us of your other needs as soon as possible.

Sincerely,

Paul Anthony

Executive Committee Meeting
December 2, 1965
Jay's Cafeteria

MINUTES

Mr. Hendricks called the meeting to order promptly at 12:30 with Rev. Ford, Rev. Hamilton, Mr. Shields, Mrs. Richardson, Rev. Payne, Miss Franziska Boas, Mrs. King, Mrs. Robin, Mr. Holmes and Mrs. Pauley present. Rev. Jones and Mrs. Alterman were visitors.

The minutes were read and approved. The Director was instructed to mail copies of the minutes each month to local Chapter chairmen and Board members.

Mrs. Pauley gave the Treasurer's report. $4,506.66 was raised in November. $3,000 of this is the quarterly grant to cover the cost of Mr. Thomas' work with the Rural Project.

Mrs. Helen King gave the Membership report. There were 18 new members and 68 renewals. It was agreed that local Chapters would receive materials and guides to have membership drives during the month of March. The organization of new Councils was discussed. It was agreed to attempt the following schedule for the metropolitan area:

January: Kirkwood area (Mrs. Richardson volunteered assistance).
Collier Road (Mrs. King volunteered assistance).

February: Decatur
Ansley Park and 10th Street area.

March: Lithonia

Mr. Shields volunteered to investigate the Lakewood area.

It was suggested that the time of meetings of all local Chapters be placed in the Newsletter, for the convenience of visitors.

In the State, Mrs. Pauley announced a proposed first meeting of a Southwest Georgia Council to meet at St. Mark's Episcopal Church in Albany on December 6. It is hoped that by having an area Council, people who might be fearful of attending a meeting in their home town might go to a neighboring town. A discussion followed whether or not the Board would organize a local Chapter if no white people would agree to participate. It was agreed that the Council policy of establishing only interracial Chapters would be adhered to. By having a Southwest Georgia Chapter, this would permit Negroes from Bainbridge and other towns where we have been unable to find interested white people to join an interracial Chapter.

Mrs. Pauley also announced that the staff hopes to move ahead in Carrollton and Summerville as soon after January 1 as possible. Miss Boas has been assisting with the organization in Summerville.

Miss Boas reported on the work of the Rome Chapter. Mr. John Carten has recently been elected chairman. The annual meeting was a great success. Mr. Holmes presented Mr. Capus White, the Membership chairman with a plaque honoring the Rome Chapter for having had the largest percentage of new members last year. Miss Boas also reported a fine new board - which included Rome business men and other active men and women. There is evidence of great vitality in the Rome group.

Rev. Hamilton reported on the Augusta Chapter which is having some lag in its work. Dates were set for a staff visit and plans for assistance.

Rev. Ford reported on the DeKalb Chapter. The next meeting would be held at Tucker. It was suggested that some testing of public facilities was in order in DeKalb. A complaint had been received that 'white only' signs still exist in the court house, and it is believed that many eating places in the county are not open. Rev. Ford agreed to inform the DeKalb Executive Committee. The DeKalb tutorial is under way.

Mr. Hendricks reported on the fine follow-up work with the transfer students in Macon.

The Council's role in the whole complicated field of education was discussed. It was agreed that Mr. Cousins, our Educational Consultant would be asked to give us guidance as to priorities and the role of the Council at this time.

Mr. Holmes reported on meetings that he and Mr. Thomas held in Southwest Georgia at Albany, Thomasville and Bainbridge. These meetings were well attended and much information concerning government programs and government farm loans was disseminated. Mr. Thomas is following up on the individual cases. Other meetings are being planned for other counties in the State. As Negro farmers get loans we find that they are in need of better counseling. Often the loan is too small to be of enough help to actually give the man a chance to get on his feet. Yet his pleasure at receiving this little help is so great that it is disturbing. We are cooperating with the farm agents in giving assistance.

We were shocked to hear that Mr. Sam Hill of Thomas County has had further difficulties. His house where his furniture was stored was burned.

Rev. Hamilton told of a case where he had secured legal help in McDuffie County. A man's house was burned. The firemen made no attempt to stop the blaze. In fact, they turned the hose on the owners when they attempted to use it to stop the fire.

Mr. Holmes also reported on work in Crawfordville. It looks as if our cooperative effort with SCLC and United Presbyterian's in establishing a small home industry is about to be successful. A silk screen industry will be set up in the building which has been used for the Freedom School. Although this will be a small venture it is giving hope to the community. Mrs. Pauley reported that it looks as if the food stamp and surplus foods might be arranged. Most of the necessary county officials are willing to cooperate. However, the final signatures have not been acquired.

Miss Boas reported on her visit to Cave Springs School for the Deaf. She plans a second trip to visit classes and get more facts for a documented complaint of this school which is receiving federal funds and seems to be completely segregated.

The need for a speakers bureau was suggested by Mrs. King. She volunteered to help establish such a bureau for the use of our Chapters over the State as well as other organizations in the metropolitan area.

Mrs. Pauley requested names of new contacts throughout the State.

Meeting adjourned promptly at 2 o'clock.

MEMORANDUM

To : Executive Committee, Alabama Council on Human Relations

From : Ed Stanfield

Subject: Further Information on Rev. James Scott Sessions

The following is from a form filled out by Mr. Sessions on November 25, 1965, and on file with the placement office of the Board of Education of the Methodist Church, Division of Higher Education:

Mr. Sessions was born January 3, 1936, in Ballinger, Texas. He is 5 feet, 11 inches tall and weighs 165 pounds. He is single. He describes his health as "excellent."

His schooling was as follows:

Southern Methodist University, 1954-1958; received A.B. degree with a major in Philosophy and minor in Social Science.
Perkins School of Theology, 1958-1959; 30 hours credit.
Drew University School of Theology, 1959-1960 and 1961-1962; received B.D. degree. (During the school year of 1960-61, he served as Assistant to the Chaplain of Brown University on a Danforth Foundation Campus Ministry Internship.)

His service as a Danforth Intern is listed under "summary of other significant experience." Another item under this heading was the fact that he served as Associate Dean and Dean of the Northeast Regional Methodist Student Movement Conference. Another is "teach at Drew one course each year entitled: 'Contemporary Christian Thought'."

His career record is as follows:

Director of the Wesley Foundation, Princeton University, 1962-1963. (This was an interim appointment, apparently, but we understand that he did an outstanding job.)
Director of the New Jersey Methodist Student Movement and Executive Secretary of the Inter-Conference Commission Campus Ministry of New Jersey, 1962-1965.
Chaplain to the College, Drew University, 1963-1966.
(Note: I would assume that the last item, his present position, has been his main employment during this period, but with some sort of arrangement with the Conference for student work on a statewide basis. He seems to have been successful, since the Inter-Conference Commission replaced him with a full-time director in 1965.)
His salary as Chaplain at Drew was $7,000, paid on the basis of nine months, plus housing.

Under "Community and church participation, travel, special interests," he lists:

Human Relations Council of Morris County, New Jersey
Work Camps in West Indies; Brooklyn, New York; Montgomery, Alabama; Morristown, New Jersey.
Director of Newark Tutorial Project of Drew

According to his data sheet, Mr. Sessions will not be available for placement until June, 1966.

McCubbins) welcomed the VCHR Board at their November meeting, and working on a skill bank (employment) to improve and upgrade seasonal workers - mostly Negroes in tobacco work. Fairfax has established a legal aid committee and scheduled some very interesting programs - "Right Wing Movements vs. Civil Rights, Report on Council Activities, School Integration-where we stand today, The Role of Churches in Promoting Human Relations." Fredericksburg has had Dave Scull as a speaker, Mayor Josiah P. Rowe spoke at the Christmas Dinner Meeting discussing some of the needs of Fredericksburg and paying tribute to the group in facing inter-racial problems there, which he said has allowed the city to meet little problems before they become big problems. Franklin had Mr. J. W. Hope, Chairman of Southampton County Bi-Racial Commission, to speak on "What This Commission Has Accomplished." Giles (New River) has had Sheriff William Harmon to speak on the problems he faces as a law enforcement officers, NRCHR is also working with Economic Opportunity Programs. Hanover invited Mr. Abner Lee of the VCHR Staff to speak on Equal Opportunity in Employment. Hopewell has had Mr. Combs as guest speaker. Lancaster-Northumberland has recently affiliated with the VCHR. Loudoun, with aid of Mrs Carl Auvil, VCHR Board, recently affiliated with VCHR. Lexington had the Superintendent of Schools give a report. Mercer-Tazewell has had a program on Desegregation in the Local Church and also representatives from the Mayor's Commission on Human Rights to discuss their work. Norfolk had a forum on Integrated Housing and has joined with Virginia Beach in organizing Tidewater Fair Housing, Inc. They have also had a panel discussion by college students about their work. Peninsula is working on a membership drive. Prince Edward recently complained when a white teacher was fired by the school board due to her civil rights work. Prince William no report. Petersburg is working on the play "White America" with a drama group, and making a slum housing survey to challenge the City Council to remedy the situations. Portsmouth has been working on multi-ethnic textbooks and desegregation of several local establishments. Radford no report. Richmond has worked on the tutorial and representatives have appeared before Mayor's Commission on Community Relations to confront them with the problem of 'panic selling' in real estate and to work for Fair Housing. Roanoke has scheduled the Probation Officer of the Juvenile Court for a program. Rockingham recently confronted local officials about desegregation of the swimming pool, and the white and colored signs in restrooms at the courthouse. Virginia Beach recently questioned the Project Head Start as being segregated, issued a formal complaint with OEO, Washington, also had a forum on Integrated Housing. Warrenton no report. Williamsburg is attempting to get the community involved in the Economic Opportunity - Community Action Program.

Dear Mr. Stanfield:

How are you and the new job? As this letter will indicate, we miss you already around here, but things are going on. Thus far, so good.

Enclosed herewith are the quarterly income tax statements, prepared by Mr. Honeycutt, and several checks, all which need your "John Hancock." If you will notice, the checks are dated January 8. Being the procrastinator that you are, I wanted to give you "plenty" of time. (Smile)

This Eastern Airlines statement came, and I didn't know what to do with it. Are we suppose to pay the amount given? If so, please sign the blank check that is enclosed, and I will take it from there.

I found out today that no bank deposit for withholding taxes is made for the last month of the quarter. You neglected to tell me this. It is a good thing I can read!

Mr. Honeycutt and I got together on the posting, financial statements, etc. About the change in our fiscal year, he said the District Director wouldn't change it, and it has to be done in Washington. He got the forms, but since it was so involved, he just let it go, but would pursue it further if we so desired. I DON'T MAKE ANY DECISIONS! I left it at that and told him we would let him know. What is the score on that issue now?

So many enclosures! Thought I'd include your W-2 Form and save the Council 5¢. I'm learning.

I think that's about it. If you will sign all the forms and return them to us, we will get this show on the road. I promise to write sensible letters with no responsibilities the next time. Maybe.

The memberships are coming in nicely. We have received $99 in two days, all memberships. Several of those IMPORTANT letters that Nat Welch sent out were returned. The persons had moved and left no forwarding address.

Gone, but not forgotten. That is not meant to sound as deadly as it appears.

Sincerely,

Lillie L. Rogers

Dear Dr. Gomillion:

I was not sure after talking to you whether you intended to notify the members of the Nominating Committee of your meeting after the Executive Committee meeting or wanted me to do it. Not alllof the members of the Nominating Committee are on the Executive Committee. Dr. Oliver Ivey and Mrs. John Cashin would have to be invited.

I think it would be perfectly all right to have either or both attend the Executive Committee meeting itself. I will assume that you are taking care of the notices yourself unless I hear from you.

Dear Mrs. Rogers:

I appreciate your cheerful letter and I am glad to know that I am missed. I am also hurt that things are going so well without me!.

I have signed the checks and the tax forms as requested and they are enclosed. I have already written to Bob to say that any two signatures on those checks will make them valid (Howie, Jane's, and Joan's - any two).

Eastern Airline's bill is my responsibility and I'll take care of it.

As for the possible change in the fiscal year, I suggest that question be left for the new director to decide whenever he gets there.

News that the membership is coming in is encouraging but I hope that money starts coming in even faster in the near future.

Please note that I am answering your letter promptly. However, as a fellow Presbyterian I trust that you believe the doctrine of procrastination.

My deepest sympathy to Benny.

MEMORANDUM

To : Local Council Presidents and Committee Chairmen

From : Bob Valder

Subject: Summer Projects for Student Volunteers

The Southern Regional Council is considering recruiting college students for summer work projects. They are contemplating offering a variety of projects from which a student can select the one for which he feels himself best suited. If and when funds become available, a modest honorarium will be awarded at the completion of the project.

They are attempting at this time to compile a list of summer projects. If you are interested in getting students for a summer project, please send me the following information within 7 to 10 days:

(1) A brief summary of the proposed project.

(2) The number of student volunteers needed.

(3) Whether or not the local chapter can furnish room and board to the volunteers.

Might I suggest that interested persons consult with the local council president before contacting us.

Thank you for your assistance and interest.

Re: Agreement between The Southern Educational Conference, Inc. and Alabama Council on Human Relations, Inc.

Dear Mr. Smith:

We have been informed by Mr. Bob Valder, Associate Director for our client, the Alabama Council on Human Relations, Inc., that the deletion of Paragraph 11 from the Agreement previously submitted to you is satisfactory to our clients. I have revised the agreement by retyping Page 3 and omitting therefrom Paragraph 11. I believe now with the signature of an authorized officer of your organization which can be witnessed, we can conclude this matter. I am enclosing herewith the original and one copy of the revised agreement which bears the signature of J. Edwin Stanfield, for our clients. If you will now sign and return the original to our office, it would seem the matter can be concluded.

I am sure that with the mutual interests of your organization and the Alabama Council on Human Relations that a satisfactory working arrangement can be established without difficulty. If there are further questions, or if I might be of further assistance, please call on me.

Yours very truly,

Dear Nancy:

I called O.E.O. here again today and finally got a Miss Carol Clancy (526-4501) who seemed to be in charge of your application #3184. She knows of nothing lacking, but can only say that we can expect funding "soon".

By the way, judging from remarks by O.E.O. Regional Director Wilson Sloan at a Southern Interagency Conference meeting here, you probably would have difficulty getting another Headstart grant without a Community Action Program. They want to use "single purpose" groups to pressure the city-and-county fathers.

Best wishes,

January, 1966

HAPPY NEW YEAR!

The staff of the Georgia Council joins your Board of Directors in wishing you an exciting, rewarding, successful 1966!

NEW LOOK IN THE LEGISLATURE

After many years of waiting, Monday morning at 10 o'clock January 10, 1966, an integrated gallery in the Capitol will look down upon a Senate with two Negro Senators, Mr. Leroy Johnson and Mr. Horace Ward and in the House we will see our Board member and past Chairman of the Columbus Council, Mr. Albert Thompson, our Atlanta friends and members, Mrs. Grace Hamilton, Mr. Julian Bond, Mr. Ben Brown, Mr. John Hood, Mr. J. C. Daugherty, Rev. J. D. Grier, Mr. William Alexander. Indeed there is a new day in Georgia.

Plan to visit the legislature. Come early to get a seat on the first day. The session will last 40 days. Usually Tuesdays, Wednesdays and Thursdays are more interesting than Friday and Monday. At the beginning of the session, the mornings will be better than the afternoons, since often the House or Senate adjourns in order to have time for afternoon committee meetings. Follow the papers for Legislative news, write your representative, come to Atlanta and see for yourself.

CALLING ALL WOMEN

Come to the Georgia Woman's Legislative Forum. The Council is a member, so you are invited. The Forum is an organization of women interested in learning about and influencing legislation. The meetings will be held each Tuesday morning at 9:30 A.M. in the Agriculture Building starting on January 18, January 25, February 1, 8 and 15th. On January 18th, the group will hear legislators talk about the proposed legislation affecting education. This is of tremendous importance to the future of our children. Come and learn!

SLOW-DOWN IN REGISTRATION

Georgia is setting a new record — a new low-one that will dishearten every Council member. Georgia has the slowest rate of Negro registration of any Southern state since the passage of the Voting Rights Act last July. Our State also has one of the largest percentage of unregistered Negroes. Why? Can it be because we have not had federal registrars? The Council has requested them. But the Justice Department says that they have received complaints only from Baker County. Does this mean that all of the other counties have free access to registration? Council members need to take a new look at their voting lists as they plan their Spring activities.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT OPPORTUNITY

The Equal Employment Opportunity Commission was established by Title VII of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. It went into business July 2, 1965 "to assure that all in the labor market in the United States are considered for hiring, firing, promotion, and seniority on the basis of their abilities and qualifications without regard to race, color, religion, sex, or National Origin."

The Commission received 1,383 complaints charging discrimination in employment practices in its first 100 days of operation. Of these, only 33 came from Georgia. North Carolina sent in 131, Alabama 135, Mississippi 68. Complaints may be made against the employer, or against a union, or against the State Employment Service.

Do you KNOW what is happening in your town? When an employer says 'No one has applied' is this a valid reason? If he says 'No one is qualified' do you know that this is correct?

Send complaints to this office or directly to: Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., Equal Employment Opportunity Comm., Washington, D. C. 20506.

START SCHOOL DESEGREGATION NOW

Right now is the time to get the information and start planning for next Fall's school integration. The time to end tokenism in Georgia schools is now. Our office has prepared a county by county report on integration and the time to apply for transfer. Write to us and we'll be glad to send one to you. We suggest that you visit your school superintendent and ask him a few questions:

(a) When is the period of transfer? (Some are indefinite and some are as early as February 1). (b) How do you get and return transfer blanks? (c) Will there be teacher integration next Fall?

If you are not satisfied with the answers call us, or call or write: Dr. David Seeley, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Washington, D. C. His telephone number is Wo.2-0756, area code 212.

While you are talking with the superintendent, ask him about the children who are now in school. How are they doing; are they participating fully in classroom and extra curriculum activities; in what ways can your local Chapter be of help? As you plan for the Fall, remember that there is safety in numbers, both for the children and for their parents.

VINE CITY THANKS LAGRANGE CHAPTER

What a wonderful array of gifts for the Vine City Thrift Shop! Many people have purchased for a few cents, the needed clothing, toys or household items. Our warmest thanks to the LaGrange Chapter for responding so generously to the request. Thanks also to the many individuals who made useful contributions.

WELCOME TO THE SOUTHWEST GEORGIA CHAPTER OF THE GEORGIA COUNCIL

Seventy-six persons were present at the Episcopal Church in Albany, Georgia for its first meeting on December 6. A second meeting was held December 29 in Tifton. The steering committee is composed of volunteers from 7 Southwest Georgia counties. Memebers from our 14 Chapters and members at large welcome you into the Council family!

AMERICUS, AMERICUS

We grieve with our friends at Koinonia over recent news from Americus. Several members of Koinonia went to church in Americus to hear Mrs. Henry's father speak at a regional meeting. As the congregation sang Christmas hymns, the Negro in the group was ordered to leave the church. Neither Mrs. Henry nor her friends heard her father's sermon. The Koinonia 'cotton patch' version of Luke 13: 34,35 says:

"O Jerusalem, Jerusalem, you who crush the life out of your men of God, and ostracize those who try to show you a better way, many a time I've wanted to bring your citizens together as a hen gathers her biddies under her wings, and you would have none of it. All right, your city's future is left up to you. But I'll tell you this: you won't see me around again until you're crying out, 'Please, God, send us some spiritual leadership.'"

A CHRISTMAS DREAM

This Christmas, I am dreaming
About a place I'll never forget -- AMERICUS.
I am dreaming that it is Christmas Sunday;
It is the most beautiful Sunday in all the South.
THE WHOLE TOWN IS GATHERED IN FRIENDSHIP BAPTIST CHURCH!

After the main part of the service is over,
Rev. Thomas leads us in singing,
"Amazing Grace, How Sweet It Sounds".
Because it is our movement church, and we are rejoiced,
Willie Mae leads us in "We Shall Overcome."
There is an electricfeeling of ecstatic joy in the air....

Old wealthy Charles Wheatly slowly rises,
"I've come here today, y'all, this Christmas, 1965,
'Cause I just can't go on living the way I have:
I've tried to rule little Americus,
From the mayor to the moonshine maker.
I want to confess that this summer past
I did way too much,
To keep the merchants from hiring y'all
And a Bi-racial Committee from forming at all!
All generations of Wheatlys tried to rule this town,
But justice has been coming, it's nearly '66.
And I've too few years left to hate!"

"Amen, yes brother", responds the congregation.

Before the surprised faces of the town,
Sheriff Fred Chappell rises to respond.
His huge form shakes, his face, as usual, is very red.
"I'll never beat another in yonder courthouse,
The drinking fountains will stay on, the door unlocked,
We'll all meet together in the old courthouse!
I was the one this summer who kept
The Negro women voters under arrest.
I was too damn proud to let white folks think I'd be the first to give in to VOTING INTEGRATION!"

"Amen, yes brother."

Then, puffing, rises Police Chief Ross Chambliss.
"We on the police force just felt we HAD to win,
I confess we committed a terrible sin.
On August 28, when y'all were marching up Lee Street,
We broke into a rage and arrested y'all
For marching without a permit for parades and ordinances.
We knew, uh, you were on the sidewalk, not the street,
And the constitution supports your right to protest.
But the wicked thing called "hate" broke lose,
And we threw y'all in Lee County prisons."
Then others rise, like the manager of Kresses:

"I knew Gloria Wise was right when she said
'you'll lose all Negro business for not hiring'.
I know we cursed y'all when you picketted for the boycott,
But we were blind to the fact, I guess,
That you're OVER HALF OUR POPULATION!"

Suddenly, a tall blond youth breaks in,
"Let me speak for all us white folks,
I guess I'm the worst of all.
I know that hate killed my brother, Andy Whatley,
Possibly by the Negro youths last August.
It is the same growing hate
That made me try to kill John, the white civil rights worker.
Every night we'd come in my car and wait,
And then chase him and shoot at him on the winding roads.
This same hate made all of us beat and chase you in the last marc
So you'd never march again.
I'm still young, and I want to start a new LIFE.
I've expressed as much hate as I possibly can, and I have nothing left but to love my black brother,
For we all are in poverty and without decent jobs."

Then Mayor Walker rises:
"I have some news to greet y'all,
For Warren Fortson and Lloyd Moll shall return!
We must prove to them that we can accept them
As the best and most honest folks in town,
And hope they can forgive us
For excluding them from the human race!
We need Fortson for our lawyer;
Dr. Moll can unite us all
To revive the now dormant anti-poverty council.
Most of all, we need the guidance of these humanitarians."

"Amen, yes brother", responds the congregation.

Minnie Jewel Wise rises, her dark eyes flashing,
"I trully believe now what I hear,
For you are not merely coming to us with promises,
But asking forgiveness for your sins.
I've done hard things:
I've survived the blows, frustrations, and humiliations.
With those that dare to attend white schools.
I speak now for my mother, worn out from scrubbing kitchens,
For teacher and Rev. Freeman, who did not, after all,
Get fired for standing up for his rights; For Rev. Campbell, who led the past eventfull summer, For Sammy Mahone, of SNCC, who said, "Never Turn Back", And never did.
If this love will trully exist, as you now say, Then let Americus citizens ask forgiveness, If they EVER think ill of one just 'cause he's black or white. Most of all we'll show the world what TRUST AND LOVE CAN BRING."

In the congregation, there was a moment of grateful silence.
Then all stood to sing the glorious hymn,
"JOY TO THE WORLD, THE LORD HAS COME!"

RE: Alabama Council, Annual Meeting, February 4-5 1966

The annual meeting of the Alabama Council was held in Montgomery, February 4 and 5, in the Jefferson Davis Hotel. It was preceded by a conference for students. See attached program.

About 75 students participated in the Friday evening program. An estimated 200 people were present for the annual meeting. (160 luncheons were served, but some students and others ate elsewhere.)

Attached is a report on ACHR's membership funding campaign. Memberships received during the meeting brought the total for the 1966 membership year to 771 $14,603.14 in cash and pledges (exclusive of all grants) had been received by the end of the meeting. Note that the report shows approximately $6,500 cash already received.

All of the attached exhibits indicate to me that Bob Valder is doing an excellent administrative job. I thought he conducted himself well during the meeting, too.

By a telegram received Saturday morning, James Sessions declined to accept directorship of the Alabama Council.

Dr. C. G. Gomillion was elected president by acclamation.

Leaders of the East Alabama Council were especially concerned about developments in Tuskegee. It seems that there may be some division within that council chapter about whether or not the council should support the "Rd Hoc Committee," which is dominated by TIAL and SNCC. (During a workshop on voter education on Saturday morning three members of TIAL who were present heaped scorn on Dr. Gomillion, who was on the panel, designating the TCA as an organization of the "Negro bourgeois."

Lewis Black was introduced as Director of the Rural Advancement Project. He begun officially on February 4. (A satisfactory budget has been submitted, and I am ordering payment of the first quarter of the R.A.P. grant to Alabama.) Of continuing concern is the attitude of NSF, as represented by Jac Wasserman, toward their program and its director. Valder, Black, Wasserman, and I met briefly Saturday evening. Wasserman reiterated their "usual practice" of requiring weekly reports - a paragraph or two on each day's use - of "all our field men." Valder stood his ground, but finally agreed to a bi-weekly report "for the first couple of months." This disagreement was mildly upsetting to Black. I reassured him that he did not have to answer to NSF. (He indicated that he has little enough regard for NSF.)

Dear Kathie:

Sorry we didn't get more of a chance to talk in Montgomery. The letter that you sent Paul about your plans for an active recruitment campaign in Mobile sounds great. I am now on the staff of AFSC as a field representative, in the school desegregation project. I will be working primarily in Alabama.

As the first step in our Alabama program we plan to hold a one day conference in Montgomery on March 12th to acquaint people with the new guidelines and talk about how you organize most effectively in a local community. A staff person would be available after this date to come to Mobile and hold a training session for your home visitors.

We would also like to invite anyone in the Mobile area who is interested in school desegregation to come to the Montgomery conference. Could you send me a list of names? We will be glad to send you copies of the phamplet. Let me know how many you want. We are now updating the kit we used last year and hope that it will be ready in the next few weeks.

If I could have the list of people you would like invited to the Montgomery conference this week it would be a help. We hope to get out our first mailing next week. This conference will be co-sponsored by SCLC, the NAACP Legal Defense Fund and others.

Sincerely

Dear Paul,

I feel quite guilty at not having written you sooner to thank you for coming down and making our membership dinner such a success. We would never have had such a crowd were it not for your having been there. We acquired 47 new members that night and 55 renewals, not to mention over $900 in pledges. (Larry Fetterman would like to borrow Powers for the United Jewish Appeal.)

We must start very soon recruiting applications for school transfer. About twenty adults have signed as willing to work on this, plus the students to do the preliminary leg work. We would like to give the home visitors some training before sending them out and we wondered if the SRC or the American Friends Service Committee was doing anything in this area. I saw Winifred Falls in Montgomery Saturday but did not really have a chance to speak to her about it. If we could have someone for a day, or even part of a day, it would be of great help.

We would also like many copies of A Message to Parents About Desegregation: enough for the students to leave a copy at each home showing any interest on their preliminary survey so that the parents (hopefully) will have read it before we make our initial home visit. Does the SRC distribute the folders, or should I write the American Friends Service Committee? We will be most grateful for any help or information you can give us.

I am sorry that what started out to be a thank-you note turned out to be a plea for still more help but now that you have gotten us all our fine new members we need you (i.e. the SRC) to help put them to work most effectively. (Just think how much you would have been spared had you never gotten involved with ABLE!)

Thank you for everything. I don't know what we would do without you and the SRC.

Sincerely,

Kathis ——— ?

Dear Mr. Jordan:

Mrs. Spears indicated your desire for a letter confirming our telephone conversation and hers later with you. Please consider this in fulfillment of same: We have announced in the local newspaper your coming address on "Social Justice 1966" (I think the title will leave you considerable leeway in most regards) at 7:30 p.m., Tuesday, August 16, in the Education Building of the First Presbyterian Church. Although you need not feel tied to any particular time limit, most of our talks have consisted of a 45-75 minute presentation followed by a 15-30 minute discussion period. Yours would be the last of a summer series sponsored jointly by the East Alabama Council on Human Relations and the American Ethical Union, the preceding lectures having dealt with a variety of themes relevant to social change (ethics and politics, issues in education, recent South African history and race relations, religious liberty). Your audience may run from thirty to sixty persons, mostly members of the East Alabama Council, and of course integrated. Racists have been known to attend our lectures, but unfortunately not frequently.

Your travel expenses, including meals and lodging, will be fully reimbursed upon submission of voucher. I regret that we cannot offer an honorarium, but our budget is extremely limited. I have made reservations for you at the University Motel. If you do not plan to stay overnight, please let me know so that I may cancel them. Also I hope that you can arrive in Auburn early enoughtto join members of the EACHR board in a dinner in your honor at 6:00 p.m. prior to the meeting. Again, please let us know if this is not feasible. (The dinner will also be at the University Motel and Restaurant in downtown Auburn, on College St. a half-block north of Magnolia St.)

Should you fly in and require transportation from Columbus, please advise.
With warm expectations next week,

Sincerely yours,

Dear Jerry:

Although I'll see you this weekend, let me go on record as being sorry, but sympathetic, about the news in your September 2 letter. It is annoying but, as far as I am concerned, not disconcerting. ACHR will still have the benefit of your advice and counsel, I gather, only at less cost and less length -- which of course is all to the good. (Joke.)

Two concerns: (1) I hope no one on the Board will feel that they got finessed. And (2) I hope nothing about this has changed your mind about coming on strong as Executive Director next June.

Tell Bob we'll be expecting him for the meeting on September 21 and 22. The interagency meeting is open but not vital to state council folks.

And I hope the American Psychological Association meeting was constructive.

Dear Ed:

It occurs to me that I had better apprise you now of my exact situation rather than waiting until we get together at the seminar. The super-patriot inclinations of the wife of our graduate dean, which I mentioned at our last meeting in Atlanta, resulted in the Dean's finding it necessary to tell me his detailed interpretation of regulations governing recipients of NDEA fellowships during the time that they are receiving stipends. (He also exhibited a rather special interest in what I have been doing during the summer months when I haven't been receiving the stipend). He finally said that he was satisfied if I could satisfy the English Department Head that other interests would not prevent me from devoting the proper attention to my English studies during the next nine months, but before doing that he did rule specifically that part-time work with the Alabama Council does not qualify for the "related work" for which NDEA regulations permit pay during one-fourth of the final year on fellowship. This ruling applies only to the nine-months in school; I did not have to ask anyone about this summer. Then the Dean went further and said that any evidence of "excessive" volunteer work would also be construed as a failure to fulfill requirements placed on an NDEA fellow. The English Department Head proved less difficult to satisfy--he knows my academic work much more intimately than the Dean; and his wife doesn't have such strong super-patriotic inclinations as the Dean's.

I fear that the implications of all this are all too clear. I never had any intention of slighting my school work, but I will not be as free to devote spare-time openly to the Council as I thought. The matter of no pay for the work that I will do does not bother me, for I had not included any such anticipated income in my budget. But the fact that I must emphasize the tentativeness of my official commitment to the council irritates me and will hamper me during this period coming up. That fact means that on occasions such a Mrs. Tilly's program that Bob must act as the top staff person for the Alabama Council. It also means that after the next directors' meeting Bob will have to attend as director--I hope you all will consider him as such for the purpose of sharing expenses.

None of this means that I am going to take a powder, or that I am going to neglect keeping an eye on things. Nor does it mean that I will not be actively engaged in planning and conducting State Board meetings and the annual meeting for Alabama. I maintained to Dean Parker that even a graduate student ought to be considered fulltime if he devotes ~~xxxxxx~~ six days a week to study and does whatever he wishes with the seventh. He didn't disagree. But I do have to stick rather strictly to that ratio, and it does seem wisest that I do my volunteer work as quietly as possible. Thank heavens, nine-months is not forever.

By the way, a memorandum from Paul's office about the interagency meeting preceding our directors' meeting suggests with a note of urgency that we have our organization represented. Bob and I had felt that with all the pressing problems here we could pass up the interagency bit if we made the other. Not so?

MEMORANDUM

To : Vernon E. Jordan, Jr.

From : Lewis Black and Bob Valder

Subject: Summary report on and evaluation of the Voter Education Project's citizenship education grant to the Alabama Council on Human Relations for the 1966 Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) elections in Alabama.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Contrary to established procedure the state ASC committee decided to hold Alabama's elections in August instead of the usual time of November or December. We did not learn of this decision until mid-June, so by the time we got "organized" and received the VEP grant valuable time had been lost. Thus results from this effort should not necessarily be used to reach conclusions about future citizenship education programs of this nature because we were unable to do much pre-election education and because the program was of necessity organized on a "crash" basis.

The original date for mailing back the ASCS ballots was August 16. However, a federal district court ordered an extension of this deadline to September 15 with ballots to be counted by the county ASC committees on September 20. On the 20th, due to a failure to follow important regulations, the Macon County election was invalidated. The re-election was begun two weeks later and it was completed on October 28, 1966. So this project, which was to be completed by about September 20 lasted almost two months longer than anticipated.

GENERAL SUMMARY OF OVERALL OPERATIONS

We did not get started at the same time in each county we ended up working in, nor did we spend equal amounts of money and energy in each county. Our general approach was to put one person (the "county coordinator") from that particular county on subsistence of $15.00 a week and to also pay gas expenses for him and any volunteers he had working for him. The counties we worked in were Choctaw, Clarke, Dallas, Greene, Hale, Lowndes, Macon, Marengo, Monroe, Perry, Sumter and Wilcox. However, VEP funds were spent only in Dallas, Greene, Hale, Lowndes, Macon, Marengo, Perry, Sumter and Wilcox counties.

At first we had the full-time hel of Mr. Mike Kenney of the National Sharecroppers Fund and then Mr. Le Black became the overall "coordinator" of this effort working out of th SCLC's office in Selma and his office in Greensboro. We had full- e "coordinators" in only Greene, Lowndes, Macon and Wilcox counties n part-time coordinators in the other five counties.

In addition to working in these counties a number of "staff meeting" were held in Selma--the staff being the persons working in the counties. The two main purposes of these meetings were to determine how the program was going in each county and to offer suggestions and receive ideas from each person present. At the last meeting Mr. John Vance, Southeastern Area Director of ASCS from the Washington office, was present.

On September 20, the day ballots were counted, Mr. Black was in the Selma office to receive all complaints by telephone from the observers we had stationed in each of the 12 counties (for the first time the public was entitled to have one person sit at the desk where ballots were counted and actually watch each ballot--in the past the public was only allowed to be in the same room). If he thought it appropriate he would forward these complaints immediately by phone to Mr. Vance who was in the state ASC office in Montgomery on that day. Mr. Vance would then contact the appropriate county office. This system resulted in Macon County's election invalidation that day and also proved to be useful in other counties.

In every case the activities of the county coordinator included the following: (1) obtaining a list of all the eligible ASCS voters in that county; (2) obtaining a list of all candidates on each ASCS community ballot; (3) obtaining the boundaries of each of the ASCS communities in each county; (4) organizing community meetings in each ASCS community to (a) explain in detail the importance and power of the county ASC committee and (b) carefully explain the election process and how to properly mark and mail the ballots and (c) endorse a slate of five candidates from among those on the ballot and (d) urge each person at the meeting to contact all voters not present to insure that everyone voted for the same persons and filled out the certification properly; (5) spending many days going door-to-door to as many voters as time permitted to make sure they had voted (if they had not voted they would attempt to persuade the voter to fill out his ballot voting for the same five persons, sign the certification properly and then the worker would either take the completed ballot with him or else the worker would make sure the voter understood that he had to mail it) and (6) personally observing the counting process on the day votes were counted and to keep a record of any violations and of the election results.

In most of these counties the county coordinator was able to get the names of the voters' own choices on the ballot by petition, but lack of time and of community contacts prevented this in Macon County and in some of the ASCS communities in other counties. And in every county leaflets were distributed throughout the communities and announcements were made in the churches to explain what was going on, to call meetings and to inform people of who to vote for and how to sign the certification.

1 The figures not in parenthesis indicate the number of alternates who came close to winning regular positions. The figures in parenthesis indicate how many additional votes the alternate who received the lowest number of votes needed to gain a regular committee position. In most cases where there is more than one alternate who came close to winning the other alternate(s) needed fewer votes than this to win regular positions.

2 These percentages are based in part on the number of votes Negro endorsees received plus a rough approximation based on attendance at meetings, interest and perhaps knowledge generated by word of mouth, notices distributed, knowledge of what kind of activities workers in the counties had going, etc.

3 The figure not in parenthesis indicates the number who won regular positions on community committees; the figure in parenthesis indicates the number who won alternate positions. For our purposes regular members are the important ones since they alone cast votes in the county convention.

4 The figures not in parenthesis represent persons winning regular and alternate positions respectively. The figures in parenthesis represent regular and alternate winners respectively who were placed on the ballotby petition, e.g., 4 (1) 10 (7) would mean there are four Negro regular members and one of them was placed on the ballot by petition and three were nominated to the ballot by the outgoing community committee and of the ten Negro alternates seven were placed on the ballot by petition and three by nomination. In Macon County one of the three winning regular positions and two of the four winning alternate positions were write-in candidates.

5 By taking the number of communities in a county and multiplying by three (the three regular members from each ASCS community go to the county convention to elect one ASC county committee member) one can determine how many more Negro regular community committee members would have been needed to have a majority of votes at the county convention and thus elect a Negro to the county ASC committee which is where the power is.

6 These figures are for 1965 and 1966 respectively. By dividing the number of candidates on the ballots by the number of communities one can obtain a relatively accurate picture of how many Negroes were on each community committee ballot. This illustrates one of our major problems--so many Negroes on the ballots that the Negro vote is easily split.

NOTE: There are no figures available giving the number of votes invalidated for lack of proper certification signature for either year. We believe most invalidated votes are Negro votes. If they are then the outcome in some elections would have almost certainly been different if all envelopes had been properly certified. We believe, however, that more envelopes were properly signed due to this project.

SUMMARY OF EXPENDITURES

The chart below indicates the amount of money from the Voter Education Project grant spent in each county with an account of what it was spent for.

| COUNTY | SUBSISTENCE | GAS | SUPPLIES | TELEPHONE | SECRETARIAL | TOTAL BY COUNTY |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Dallas | | $ 3.55 | $ | | | $ 3.55 |
| Greene | $ 75.00 | 131.53 | $15.10 | | | 221.63 |

SUMMARY AND EVALUATION

In general everyone was very disappointed and somewhat surprised at the poor showing in this year's ASCS elections in Alabama, particularly in the Black Belt.

The results were somewhat better than last year and we had a late start and did not have adequate financial and human resources and the presence of civil rights organizations has diminished greatly in the past year. We also found that in general most eligible voters who were listed as such had very little knowledge of the importance of ASCS and of the election process. This was also true for the ASCS workers. By the time people began to understand it even a little the election was upon us and finished. Voters had almost no knowledge of how to use the election process to their own advantage, e.g., getting "good" candidates on the ballot by petition, publicly supporting those candidates only, supporting Negro candidates in all cases regardless of how "good" white candidates might be, etc. And everywhere we encountered resistance by many Negro voters to supporting an all-Negro slate.

ASCS regulations also helped contribute to the election results because as a result of these regulations there were many more than five Negroes on every ballot. In most cases there were five or less white persons on the ballot so an all-white vote for the white candidates and a Negro split added to the total votes received by white candidates and also subtracted from the total votes received by Negro candidates.

So in view of these facts perhaps we were expecting too much. But even the above facts do not in themselves explain why this effort had suchas surprisingly poor result. We were hoping to elect enough Negroes in at least some of the counties to have a majority in those county conventions. Obviously we did not come close to accomplishing this anywhere. Wilcox, which needed four more winners, was closest.

On the positive side however are these observations: (1) as a result of this effort many more persons are aware of the importance and understand the workings of ASCS, especially the election process and are hopefully looking forward to next year's elections; (2) many persons were trained this year in how to conduct a county-wide effort for next year; (3) gains, even if not nearly enough, were made in most of the counties; (4) a similar project next year, started weeks if not months before the election, with more money and more and better informed workers should have much better results. We think that the major benefit of this year's program, if indeed there were any major benefits, was that a few thousand persons were educated to the facts of ASCS. Perhaps a few comments about Macon County's elections will substantiate this last observation.

The fact that Macon County had, in effect, two elections this year illustrates what might happen there next year. We started working there after the deadline for placing persons on the ballot by petition had passed so we were "stuck with" those Negroes already on the ballot. In one community of the three we worked in a white candidate was endorsed during the first election, in another five Negroes were endorsed and in the third the people were so dissatisfied with the Negro candidates that they decided to write-in three Negroes and vote for two already nominated. Much work had already been done in the nature of calling community meetings to explain things and in using the month's extension from the federal court to canvass the county talking to and getting the completed ballots from persons who had not yet been contacted. In this extra month we had time to explain things to many persons.

Then on the day ballots were counted, September 20, our observers reported to Mr. Vance that the ASCS ballot boxes were neither sealed nor locked as required by ASCS regulations. So the election was invalidated. (It might be noted in passing that as a result of this the County Office Manager--a "bad" fellow--was suspended). However, they invalidated only that part of the election having to do with the improper handling of mailed ballots so we were not able to place other candidates on the ballots. So, perhaps unwisely, the communities (with our advice and consent) decided to try a write-in campaign, while endorsing those few "good" Negro candidates already on the ballot. Although the write-in effort, considered in its entirety, failed we believe that the results show that next year when we will be able to place the voters' own candidates on the ballot by petition we will win in each community.

All Negroes who won were those endorsed by the communities. In one community four out of the five winners were Negroes; the chairman of this committee is Negro (he received the most votes and was already on the ballot) and the other three who won were write-in candidates. In the second community one Negro won and only as a second alternate--he was already on the ballot. In the third community two Negroes already on the ballot came in third and fourth. Altogether we supported ten write-in candidates and only three of them won. But if only a few more voters (10 in one community and 15 in the other) had voted for the write-in candidates instead of for the candidates who did win all the write-in candidates would have won.

So perhaps this narration of what happened in Macon County, with the realization that a write-in is very difficult, plus the rest of this section of the report shows that this type of citizenship education effort can be very valuable but that for it to realize the objective hoped for a good deal of time is needed to educate people. And equally important is the fact that to have any impact on twelve or more counties much more money and many more people are needed.

And of course one can not discount the importance of the "Southern Way of Life" because of which some Negroes feel beholden (whether this is true in reality or not) to white persons and therefore refuse to vote for Negroes or at least for an all-Negro slate. And this problem is compounded by the fact that some Negroes who do not feel beholden have philosophic reasons for refusing to support an all-Negro slate of candidates.

Dear Dr. Berry:

We regret that your nomination of students in Talladega, Tuscaloosa, and Huntsville, Alabama, has reached us so late. As of this time, we have a list of forty-five students selected from the hundreds nominated in September, October, and early November, with whom we have scheduled interviews. We selected them on the basis of their school records and their standing in achievement tests given by the school and given by us. It will be impossible for us to schedule any other interviews if we are to work within the time limitations imposed by prep school deadlines.

Next year, we expect to have another scholarship program, and we will leave a note in the files to notify you in late August or early September 1967.

Sincerely,

John Ehle

Huntsville, Ala.

Dear Ed,

I am writing Ed Stanfield the minister and friend as I am bothered, bewildered, and mixed-up. I trust everybody some, many people a great deal, and try not to abdicate my judgment to anybody. You I trust & I feel you will be wise and discreet in whether or how you repeat any of what I am writing.

I have been very disturbed about my friend Jane Reed. I have had, and to a lesser extent still have, a deep emotional attachment there. Also I admire Jane. She's done a great deal and she's boosted and helped me plenty. I want to support her but am running into problems. She is hypercritical. I've been telling myself that she's usually right, that our society is usually too uncritical. On the other hand more and more I feel that she is sometimes destructive, that she is unduly inhibiting some people, that she fans the flames of hostility, & that she is cutting herself out of the leadership role and contribution her zeal deserves because people feel too threatened by what she might do to them or to somebody they might not want done in.

Then again I tell myself that I am just weak-kneed. Sometimes I'm too supportive of any and everybody on anything. Then maybe I'm jeolous of Jane and don't know it because I used to feel that I was backbone of the Huntsville Council. I resent her being involved up to the ears and not telling me all about everything. When she does tell me she tells me about villains and saints & I can't dig what the issues are all about. But I know how hard these things are too communicate, and with a job I just don't have time to be quite as deeply "in" as Jane does. When you came I deliberately withdrew from the Council. I did it because I respected your feeling that we should broaden the base. Frankly, I thought maybe you didn't appreciate me enough but I felt that we would get proper understanding of one another in the long run, and I'm willing to wait for long runs. Besides all that I was tired and needed a rest. I pitched in again because I saw with the church and with the Council that it wasn't easy to turn loose because its not easy to broaden the base when it comes to workers. Now I feel that I shall stay with things that concern me deeply but try to broaden the base and support and encourage others. For me it is hard to spend as much time cultivating the non-Unitarians because of lack of time and lack of common bond, but I shall try.

I am bothered that Jane has told several people that she runs the HRC Huntsville behind the scenes. Still, last year Don Ring wasn't really with it. It was a vicious circle of him being bypassed because he wasn't with it and him not being with it because he was bypassed. But that seems solved now with Joe Gannon, for whom I have great respect. I would have nominated Joe Wilson for Pres. since he was V.P. Jane cut him to ribbons with anybody with power to nominate. So maybe she was right though I wouldn't have done it. She would have let Joe Wilson & Don Ring disappear though and I'm trying to hang on to them. I think we need everybody.

I especially hate to loose any non-Unitarians. The point of this letter seems a bit hard to get to. Jane has been knocking Jerry Roden right along. I sensed that she was knocking the East Alabama group way back. Didn't know whether it was jeolousy, difference on issues, or all of that. I had thought Nat Welch was one of the good guys but she wasn't seeing it that way, & she was seeing more than I since I'm not on the board. I'm not on partly because I backed away sensing Jimerson didn't want me. Anyway, I feel that Jane may have intensified Valder's problem with Roden. Maybe she doesn't carry that much weight but she has carried an awful lot with me.

Now she is saying that Roden is getting out because he has to. She says, we have the board now. She means she thinks she has the board but actually she doesn't. But she can give them quite a line, one by one. Is it the right line?

I like both Bob Valder and Jerry Roden very much. I don't think Roden's had much time and has been distracted. I don't know whether its true that he may not carry his share of the load later. All I know about that is what Jane tells me.

I wanted to see Bob Valder step into the Director job. He has plenty to learn but seemed to me to be doing a good job and to be a good person. A person has to be pretty bad before I want to see him by-passed. I don't think Valder's bad at all. In Huntsville I thought the fact that he was Catholic was an advantage. The administrative hirarchy of Marshall Space Flight Center is Catholic. Talking to Marion Kent of Marshall once, we talked about Bob Valder and Marion Kent seemed to like him very much. People seemed to respect you very much and I never heard any criticism from people outside the Council of either you or Bob. It was all good.

My instinct has always been to support anybody on a job, but to oppose anybody on issues if thats the way I see it. Actually though it doesn't always work. I've found that you can't fight most people on too many issues without them eliminating you if you don't eliminate them. So I don't know. It seemed to settle down & I thought well its not too bad as long as Bob will stay on and find a good role for himself. After all Jerry will have a PHD and a southern accent. He's mighty good on a platform and in many ways.

Now I hear that Jerry's resigning. Not much have I heard about it. First I heard it was because of Auburn. After talking to Jerry it seems to be a problem of him not having the vote of confidence either from Valder or from many of us. If its that and he's a good man, I think he can eventually get the support he needs. Jane says Roden had to go, but she'll change her tune if he stays. Carolyn says both Valder and Roden are going. And I say, do we have to let this happen? Carolyn McCoy likes Roden and Valder and both of us are getting wary about Jane.

If politics make you ill they do me to. I wish I could see villains and saints but since I can't it makes me ill.

Why can't Roden and Valder have parallel jobs in the Alabama Council without one being over the other? It was a bad situation to have the full-time man the associate. Assuming Roden stays it will be a long time before there can be a good situation with Roden over Valder. The reverse might take even longer to work out. I've worked long enough to believe it takes time to work out job problems. Getting new men will probably take longer to work out right than working things out with these two.

Of course if both men really want to leave, or if one of them does, that's different. My intuition is that they're both good men & if I had any facts at all to back this up (I mean a few more than I have), I'd urge them both to stay.

Maybe the two men wouldn't even have to have the same ~~xxxxxx~~ headquarters. If that would be best it could work though. I'd like to see one in the Northern part of the state, one in the South, but with both ~~xxx~~ available sometimes all over. Roden could be director in charge of membership education, Valder could be director in charge of service projects, or something like that. Presumably both are tied to SRC anyway. Or Valder could be director of the Alabama Council, northern area and Roden could be director of the Council, southern area, and they could still cross lines on certain specialties.

Just between us the Atlanta staff has always seemed as ~~xx~~ big as NASA headquarters and I'm jeolous. Two area men in Alabama wouldn't be much relatively. Well, we have three don't we.

You're in position to have a better knowledge of the facts about the two men than I am. I'm inclined to like and want to keep them both. Much as I like her~~e~~ I don't trust Jane to call the tune. Perhaps she doesn't as much as she wants us to think, or as much as she thinks.

If you think both Roden and Valder should stay on in ~~xx~~ full time jobs with the Alabama Council then I think there is a good chance of your talking them into.that. I think the board will go along with any proposal you present. It seems to me that sticky problems could be avoided by setting up those three guys in parallel jobs reporting to somebody in Atlanta. I don't see one as director over the other in view of the past history of the situation. Someday when one of them leaves and a real apprentice is added then maybe a director.

I've seen the mammoth civil service juggle job structure. Can't we?

Jane has found dirt cheap office space in Huntsville that could work for the director of the northern area, or the director of service projects. Then the other director could move to Montgomery or farther south if there's a better spot. They could help the chapters more if they spread out.

Hastily,

Evelyn Falkowski

NASA would get more from me if I cared less about the HRC, so now to get back to Ceasar.

P.S. Jane has softened up toward Roden. She's always liked you. I'll bet you could talk both men into staying and the board into backing them. If thats the way you see it. Is it?

Ala. Council On Human Relations Another Arm Of The "Radical Left"

The Alabama Council on Human Relations is probably the most important single left wing organization in this state. It is also one of the most carefully camoflaged and least understood (by the general public) organs of the left.

The Alabama Council on Human Relations receives its financial support and organizational directives from the Southern Regional Council on Human Relations in order to "encourage the development of action groups at state level: recruit and develop state leadership and seek to remold and articulate public opinion through the radio, press, speakers and publications..."

Records of the American Legion's Americanism Commission reveal that the past directors and presidents of the Southern Regional Council have held essentially the same offices in the Communist Southern Conference Educational Fund and/or the subversive Southern Conference on Human Welfare. (That is, they held the same offices in both organizations.)

All existing evidence indicates that the Southern Regional Council is controlled and directed by the Southern Conference Educational Fund, an identified Communist front.

Dircetives laid down by the Southern Conference Educational Fund (with offices formerly located in New Orleans, now located in Louisville, Ky.) They are relayed through the Southern Regional Council to the Alabama Council on Human Relations where they are put into action by local members.

The Birmingham Chapter of the Alabama Council on Human Relations was organized by an assorted group of left wingers in 1956.

Meetings have been held in various places including the Chamber of Commerce Building, Miles College, the Negro Y.M.C.A; and more recentl the Center Street Congregatior al Church. (This same outf met last week at the white S Andrews Episcopal Church.)

The Dircetors of the Birm ingham Chapter of the ACH were listed in the Birmingha News, January 17, 1957. Th included Perry Daugherty, D Roger Hanson (a teacher at t University Medical Cente Robert Johnson, Dr. Beryl M Lasky, William Mitch (Mi has quite a long Commun front record. lations elected C. G. Gomillion vice chairman. Gomillion has been associated with at least 14 Communist organizations and enterprises. He is also a "graduate" of the infamous Highlander Folk School.

Another interesting member of the Alabama Council on Human Relations in 1957 was Claude Williams, R.F.D Helena, Ala. (a white Baptist Minister).

Claude Williams, was featured in an article written by the expert on communism, Dr. J. B. Matthews, in the February, 1954 issue of American Mercury magazine. Dr. Matthews said that "Reverand Claude Williams was a member of the Communist party under the name 'John Galey."

Rev. Williams was director of the now defunct Peoples Institute of Applied Religion, an organization cited by the Attorney General as Subversive and Communist, and identified in testimony before the House Committee on Un-American Activities as one of the most vicious Communist groups in the United States. This organization was formerly located at 4105 1/2 3rd Avenue South, Birmingham, Alabama.

Williams' organization had as its objective the destruction of all legitimate religions. In a speech in New York on December 29, 1945 at the National Convention of the Institute, Rev. Williams said:

"Protestant church religion came into being to enhance the rise of capitalism. It proclaimed the divine right of property. It defied (sic) the kings of finance, the lords of commerce and the captains of industry. Today this church religion is directed by remote control from the Chamber of Commerce, the National Association of Manufacturers and the offices of cartel imperialists. With these it has economic investments in the capitalist exploits of the whold world.

"The Peoples Institute of Applied Religion, therefore, goes beyond church religion of all kinds. It goes back to the class struggle basis of true religion. It defines, reclaims and acts upon the democratic dynamic of our Judaeo-Christian Heritage."

Rev. Williams was expelled from the Presbyterian church for heresy. According to a recent edition of The Worker, Rev. Williams was re-ordained as a minister in a Baptist church in Chicago. After the ceremony he returned to Helena.

Mrs. Clifford Durr (Virginia), of Montgomery was another of the founding members of the Alabama Council on Human Relations:

Virginia Durr's Communist front affiliations include: Southern Conference for Human Welfare, vice president; Southern Conference Educational Fund, member and vice chairman; National Committee to Abolish the Poll Tax, member of Committee; National Citizens Political Action Committee and others.

One of the goals of the Alabama Council on Human Relations is the smearing of local police forces. They spare no effort in the effort to ferrett our cases of "police brutality."

Members seek out persons in an effort to have them sign affidavits charging local police with acts of brutality.

Recently, members were given a number of these signed affidavits charging "police brutality.

A Groundswell

"There is a tremendous groundswell of support for Wallace's third party movement in Alabama," Chapman declared, and such a campaign would be extremely effective in the other Southern States simply because Wallace is conservative in most of his beliefs. I have warned the National Committee that he cannot be taken lightly."

The Alabama GOP committeeman added that Wallace would draw support from outside the South as well. "He is the outstanding personal campaigner I have seen since John Kennedy."

"I fear that Wallace will take more votes away from the Republicans than from the Democrats, because he'll get conservative votes that normally would go to the GOP," he said.

Washington Report

BY JAMES B. UTT

On the first day of this session I introduced a Joint Resoution which would instruct the Federal Government to notify the United Nations that the United States will not honor U.N. sanctions against Rhodesia. The Resolution would also nullify Executive Order #11322 issued by the President on January 5, 1967, which orders observance of the sanctions.

Article I, Section 8, paragraph 3, of the United States Consitiution vests all authority over the regulation of trade solely in the Congress. # Professional Help Wanted; Only Women Need Apply

BS reqd; GS-5 & 7; expr desrble; apply in writing to Personnel Office, MSFC.

This employment notice has never been published, but it does illustrate the need for professional women to fill permanent part-time positions at the Marshall Center for which skilled workers are scarce.

The Huntsville area is thought to have many women skilled in the fields of engineering, the sciences and management who are not now in the labor market because they are housewives and mothers.

Many of them might welcome an opportunity to update their skills and put their training and education to work again part-time, without giving up their household and parental responsibilities.

The women would be assigned as assistants to full-time professional Marshall employees where they would receive both formal and on-the-job training to update their skills.

Training would update skills as quickly as possible and acquaint the trainees with rapid changes in the sciences and technologies.

Advantages for the women would be opportunities to: improve their knowledge in the disciplines in which they were trained (or be trained in a related field); combine a part-time career with their jobs as homemakers; earn money while training and working; gain career status in the Civil Service; and have all employee benefits, as well as the opportunity for participation in professional and scientific organizations and societies.

Requirements include a bachelor's degree, U. S. citizenship, a satisfactory pre-employment security investigation and a satisfactory pre-employment physical examination.

Applicants with proof of exceptional qualifications and executive potential in administrative fields could be considered by a special staffing committee reviewing qualifications for jobs in critical fields.

Advantages to the Marshall Center would include the tapping of a potential source of much-needed manpower and adding prospects to a reservoir of executives.

Women interested in this program are invited to request counseling from an MSFC recruiting officer or personnel management specialist before submitting application forms (Standard Form 57). They may telephone the MSFC staffing office at 877-2726 for an appointment.

The third flight, another test of the spacecraft and heatshield, occurred on August 25.

Project Gemini flights came to a close in 1966 as Gemini 8, 9, 10, 11 and 12 added 691 total man hours in flight to the 1302 hours already accumulated in previous Gemini and Mercury missions.

Getting off to a rather slow start with Gemini 8 and 9 difficulties, later flights picked up the pace and proved and perfected the rendezvous and docking techniques needed for the Apollo lunar mission.

Gemini 12, manned by James Lovell and Edwin Aldrin, set a record for "space walking" as Aldrin spent five hours and 37 minutes in extravehicular activities.

Getting to the moon was accomplished by Surveyor I. Launched May 30 aboard an Atlas-Centaur, the Surveyor landed and photographed the lunar terrain, transmitting the images back for study.

Following on the heels of Surveyor I, Lunar Orbiter I (launched August 10) took photographs of potential lunar landing sites. Lunar Orbiter II lifted off three months later and provided additional photographs for study.

These are the highlights of more than 30 NASA launches during 1966 that included Explorer aeronomy studies, Nimbus weather observatory flights, Pioneer solar studies, ESSA weather satellites and Biosatellite I studies of living organisms in space.

Subject: More Program Information

We are sending under seperate cover more information which you may find helpful for local chapter programs.

First is a minimum wage campaign kit, which some of you have heard about by now. It is an excellent and extremely handy guide for how to conduct a minimum wage enforcement program. Briefly here is what it is. The kit includes detailed information about the new minimum wage law--what it covers and what pay persons covered should be receiving. It tells how you can go about finding out if persons in your area are receiving the pay that they are supposed to be receiving. It tells what to do when you find persons who are not receiving the minimum wage. And it explains things like how workers can receive retroactive payments if they were covered and didn't get what they should have. The best thing about it is that it is quite easy to understand and that it gives such good ideas about how to do it.

If you are interested in getting a committee going on this and think you would like some "expert" assistance, just let me know. It would not be very difficult for you to get such assistance. We would also be interested in hearing about any such project you undertake.

Second, we are sending a booklet entitled Know Your Rights. It is quite good in explaining to persons what rights they have in encounters with the police and what rights policemen have.

We are also sending a welfare questionnaire which has been used by the Georgia Council on Human Relations in a successful welfare project that they have undertaken. I'm not sure what use you might want to put this questionnaire to, but I think the questions themselves might suggest some ideas.

And we are sending a Handbook for Local Councils on Human Relations. This handbook is from the Arkansas Council on Human Relations. It explores the role(s) of Human Relations Councils and has a good bit of information about programs local chapters can undertake.

We would be interested in your reactions to and plans for this material.

Your article in New South a couple of months ago was excellent. I passed it along. My mother is most impressed by your family.

I very much hope to be working for John Heneghan in a month or two. Though the new Equal Employment Opportunity Commission Regional Office is in Birmingham, Heneghan said I could work mostly out of Huntsville as the Region consists of Alabama and Tennessee. I will do investigative work on complaints, and may get into conciliation work someday. I am extremely pleased at the prospect of getting into a job so close to my most serious concerns.

Heneghan's deputy, Charles Wilson, is also a very fine guy and will probably attend our Council meeting Thursday night. Joe Gannon is doing a very good job as president/HRC I'm glad Jane is now Director of the Day Care ~~Prxg~~ Programs for CAC, as you may know.

APPLICATION

TO: Mr. Joseph Gannon, President, and Members of the Executive Committee,
The Alabama Council on Human Relations

FROM: Jerry Roden, Jr.

A deep concern about the plight of the Alabama Council--because of Bob Valder's resignation and because of the Council's precarious financial condition reflected in recent monthly financial statements--has resulted in the past few weeks in my deliberating upon the matter of applying for the position of executive director of the Alabama Council. Yesterday, I made the decision to become an applicant and upon communicating this decision to others learned that two of the principal reasons for my deliberation in the first place had been removed during my deliberating process by (a) the application of Father Bryce Joyce for the position and (b) by the Fields Foundation grant.

However, after further consideration, I have decided for the following reasons not to alter my original decision to become an applicant:

1. The best interests of the Council suggest the desirability of making a choice among the widest possible range of applicants. Frankly, I think not only that the Council deserves the opportunity of making a choice but also that it needs the responsibility of making a real choice.

2. Three facts lead me to the conclusion that my becoming an applicant might result in the necessity of making a real choice:

   (a) Even though I am an ardent admirer of Father Bryce and share his most fundamental convictions, my basic approach to human relations varies markedly from his approach as I understand it.

   (b) Although I know nothing of the third applicant except that he is a young man, I find that one fact enough to suggest that my application offers a real alternative to his--even in the unlikely event of our sharing both the same fundamental convictions and the same basic approaches to human relations problems.

   (c) I possess some qualifications for the job not possessed by either of the other candidates. (Since these qualifications result from the accident of birthplace and the consequent locale in which I have gained my forty-five years of experience in living, I can speak frankly about them without concern about a proper modesty. Perhaps, I should point out explicitly my awareness that accident of birthplace and related factors provide the other candidates with qualifications which I do not possess. Thus I am inviting a study and a choice on the basis of qualifications as they apply to deciding upon future Council emphasis, but not on the basis of merits as an individual--I am unalterably opposed to attempting to assess individual worth in any ultimate sense, and if I were not, I should certainly be loath to invite being placed on such a balance opposite Bryce Joyce.)

Those, my fellow Council members, are, in summary, my reasons for applying. Both major points require some elaboration which follows in order and which in turn is followed by a biographical resumé so detailed that I don't really expect anybody to read it. (But it's nearly all there in outline, just in case.)

The easiest way to elaborate on the first point is to offer a definition of the role of the executive director as I see it, because defining the role of the executive director involves, explicitly and implicitly, examining the role that the Alabama Council may, can, or should play in our society. The primary responsibility of the Executive Director, as I see it, is that of building bridges of communication:

   (a) of building bridges between the sometimes disparate elements of our individual chapters to the end that each chapter becomes a live and functioning organism in its own community. (Any chapter that does not have a real action program adapted to the particular needs of deprived people of that community is critically ill and desperately in need of special medical attention. The first obligation of the executive director is to exert himself as a healing physician--not a surgeon--in such cases.)

(b) of building a network of bridges from chapter to chapter throughout this state to the end that we have a live and functioning state organization of volunteer laborers in the vineyard. (Since our chapters are widely scattered, this responsibility of the executive director involves the obligation of direct on-the-scene leadership in the establishment of new chapters to serve as pillars for that network of bridges throughout the state.)

(c) of building bridges from the Alabama Council to other organizations and agencies that can contribute to building a better society for our deprived citizens--for the deprived primarily, but not for them only, because until every man in Alabama is free from intimidation, want, and injustice, no man in Alabama is free to be a whole man. (Some excellent bridges to some organizations and agencies--civil rights groups, self-help groups, and certain federal agencies--already exist. The executive director not only needs to be certain that these are well maintained but also should move immediately to begin construction of bridges across the bogs between us and established state-wide church and civic organizations. And he should further begin attempting to build some bridges across the trackless wastes between the Alabama Council and state and local governmental agencies as well as those backwards federal agencies that belong to the United States Department of Agriculture brood. This latter task will, the director must recognize, require the employment of some heavy bulldozing equipment, and the director's responsibility is to direct the Council in the selection of exactly the right size of bulldozer for each task: If the equipment is too light, it will accomplish nothing against the monumental obstacles. If it is too heavy, it may sink of its own weight in patches of quicksand.)

The second major task of the executive director is to support other members of the state staff in their endeavors in special areas. The most important support that he can give them is that which would result from his having done such a good job of his primary responsibility that the chapters and large donors in Alabama would provide the funds necessary for financing the basic program of the Council--thus permitting the diversion of all grants to the support of such excellent programs as those now in existence in the Black Belt area and to the establishment of equally desirable self-help projects in the cities of Alabama as well as other rural areas. The executive director can and should further assist staff members working on special projects by taking upon himself the specific responsibility of building bridges between such projects and state and local governments not only to secure the support of those governments when possible but also to prevent Alabama politicians from applying pressure in Washington to cut off federal funds from these vital projects.

Enough said in elaboration on point one (page 1, if you are lost). Now to point two--the matter of my application's establishing the need to make a real choice. Building those bridges spoken of above requires not only a strong desire to build such bridges but also the ability to do so. Unfortunately, the ability to build some of them depends not simply on a man's God-given and self-developed talents but also upon certain attributes and skills resulting from the accident of birthplace and of place of continued residence. A fellow working in our cause has a definite advantage in building bridges between the minority and majority groups:

(a) If he has a Southern accent so that he catches off guard when he walks in both moderate white natives susceptible to liberal persuasion and the indigenous white reactionary opposition.

(b) If he has an intimate knowledge--born of life-long experience--of the mode of thinking of fellow Alabamians, both Negro and white.

(c) If he has a thorough knowledge of the state from having traveled from one end of it to the other over many years and also has a broad range of personal acquaintances in every county of the state.

That I have all three of these qualifications the attached biographical resumé will, I trust, adequately indicate.

BIOGRAPHICAL RESUMÉ

Jerry Roden, Jr.

Born: March 13, 1923, at Pisgah, Alabama, to a family that traces its residence in this state back to the time when there was no State of Alabama.

Education: High School: diploma from Pisgah High School. College: (1) undergraduate study at Duquesne University (Pittsburgh, Pa.) and Auburn University (Auburn, Ala.) with a B.S. (1946) in Agricultural Education from Auburn. (2) Further study: (a) special student in Journalism at Auburn University (1947). (b) special student work in English language and literature at Auburn University (1955). (c) regular graduate study in English from 1956 through 1967 (much of it part time, of course) at Auburn University. Holds an M.A. in English awarded in 1962 and has completed course work and foreign language requirements for Ph.D. in English (dissertation research underway).

College Grades: (1) overall average for all regular and special studies prior to graduate work 2.5 on a scale of 3.0. (2) Graduate study--3.0 on a 3.0 scale.

Work Experience:

1. Journalism--(a) Assistant to the editor, Auburn University Experiment Station Department of Publications, 1947.
   (b) Associate editor and publisher, The Cleburne News, Heflin, Ala., 1948.
   (c) Advertising and circulation manager, The Lee County Bulletin, Auburn, Alabama, 1948-1951.
   (d) editor, The Sand Mountain Reporter, Albertville, Alabama, 1956.
   (e) editor, The Auburn Alumnews, Auburn, Alabama, 1957-65.
   (f) special assignments for Associated Press and United Press from time to time over a period of years.

From : Bob Valder

Subject: 1967 Membership and Financial Campaign;
Nominations Committee Report

Just a gentle reminder. You will recall that at the "Training Session " for the 1967 Membership and Financial Drive each local campaign chairman was asked to send us a very brief report of the status of their campaign as of December 31, 1966. This decision was reached because we thought it would be helpful for the state office to put this information in a report to be sent to each chapter so everyone would know how everyone else is doing. All we want from you are two things--the amount of money pledged and the amount of money received up to December 31, 1966 (all you have to do is fill in the form below and return it in the enclosed, stamped, self-addressed envelope).

Also, we have not heard from all of the persons on the nominations committee--they were asked to let us know by mid-December whether or not those persons nominated from their area to the State Board of Directors have been so notified and what their decision was. If we don't hear from those chapters about this by the end of next week then we will assume that everyone has agreed to serve--this is kind of important, because a nominations committee report will appear in this month's Bulletin so everyone coming to the annual meeting will know in advance who is up for what--and we wouldn't like to put someone's name in who hasn't been so notified or who hasn't consented. So if someone from your area hasn't consented, please let us know that and also who his replacement is (unless, of course, you've already done so).

I realize that in some cases these two items should more properly be referred to someone in your chapter rather than the president (finance chairman or nominations committee members), but I'm lazy. And besides, I think it's nice for presidents to know what's going on too.

JOB DESCRIPTION

"RURAL ADVANCEMENT PROJECT DIRECTOR"
of
ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS, INC.

Purpose. The goals of the Rural Advancement Project are as follows:

(1) To stimulate the development of local rural leadership and community organization.

(2) To document the needs of local areas and to present findings and recommendations to appropriate federal, state, and local administrative agencies.

(3) To bring information about available federal and state programs to those who are eligible but have thus far not benefitted, and to assist them in obtaining the benefits to which they are entitled.

(4) To combat discriminatory practices in the administration of government programs designed to assist low--income farm and other rural people.

Structure and duration. The Rural Advancement Project is a joint effort of the Southern Regional Council, the Alabama Council on Human Relations, and The National Sharecroppers Fund. It is funded by charitable foundations through the Southern Regional Council. S.R.C. will also provide research and publication facilities. The Project Director will be on the staff of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, under the direction of A.C.H.R.'s Executive Director and Board. The National Sharecroppers Fund will provide training, technical advice and assistance, and programing aid. The R.A.P. is of three year's duration, subject to an annual review on the part of the funding agencies.

Qualifications. The position of Rural Advancement Project Director requires a college degree or its equivalent; this need not be in a particular field, such as agriculture or social science. Maturity, both mental and chronological, is important. Good health is required. There must be a willingness and normal freedom to travel, i.e. some time away from family will be required. Experience in organizational work would be valuable, as would experience and/or demonstrable facility in administration. Candidates will need a general knowledge of Alabama, including its recent history and social problems, and some knowledge of federal agencies and programs.

Duties. As noted above, the Project Director will be under the general supervision of the Executive Director of the Alabama Council on Human Relations. However the situation makes close supervision or a detailed job analysis both difficult and undesirable; in choosing the man for the job care will be taken to determine that close supervision will not be necessary. The Project Director will have unusual creative freedom -- and candidates must evidence concomitant imagination, resourcefulness, initiative, and energy-level. The terms of the funding grant require an annual review and evaluation. Candidates should understand that these evaluations will have to be made on the basis of general effectiveness in attaining the broad goals of the program.

Location. Location of the Project Director is not specified, but it is anticipated that his office would be in central or south Alabama.

Compensation. Starting salary is $6,600 per year. Fringe benefits include any necessary moving expense and accidental death and hospitalization policies. Travel expenses will be paid on the basis of actual costs, with auto mileage at 9¢ per mile. Operating expenses, including part-time secretarial help, telephone, office rent, and supplies and equipment will be provided.

~~REQUEST FOR A FINANCIAL~~ GRANT

The officers and staff of the Alabama Council on Human Relations believe that the organization has entered a new and challenging phase in its life.

Last year's civil rights legislation and the many new federal programs to provide educational and economic opportunity have given us a number of new tools with which to work, and new responsibilities to assume.

Despite Alabama's recent troubles, and in part because of them, there are new opportunities and possibilities in the state. Officials and businessmen who once were antagonistic or indifferent to the Council's concerns have recently contributed, and begun to work quietly with the Council.

Concrete evidence of this new departure and of the Council membership's determination and ability to meet the challenge before them can be seen in the attached report on our membership and funding drive, which was held in January. Since that report was issued (March 9), additional members have been enrolled, so that we now have well over 800 members. This compares with a total of 339 dues-paid members in the preceding membership year.

With the increased support from various ~~businessmen in the state,~~ sources the Alabama Council on Human Relations has raised more than $16,000 in cash and pledges from inside the state of Alabama. This is triple the amount raised in the previous year, and we feel that it is significant of change & opportunity.

However, we think that this is about the maximum we can hope to attain in Alabama for this year. We do not have enough income from other sources to meet our budget of $24,500. Moreover, we feel strongly that we need to do some conciliatory work in the Black Belt section, as well as establish new local councils and otherwise expand our program to take advantage of the fresh desire for leadership from many community leaders. ~~For this expanded program, our present budget is not adequate. We need additional office~~ space, equipment, and personnel. We need at least one additional field worker and resources to support him. We need additional travel money and postage.

Eight thousand dollars ($8,000) could make the difference, during the next twelve months, between a minimal and inadequate operation and a truly effective one with resultant encouragement of our entire membership. The officers and staff of the Alabama Council earnestly request your consideration of this need for additional support of our general program, and hereby request a grant of $8,000 for this purpose.

Four thousand dollars will not achieve all this. It will, however, assure ~~[illegible]~~ our present operation and give us the stability of having funds to meet our minimum operating budget. From this base we can seek ways to

REQUEST FOR A GRANT TO EMPLOY AND ELEANOR ROOSEVELT INTERN

As the attached analysis of our membership and funding drive indicates, the Alabama Council on Human Relations has made a determined effort to secure from its members and friends in Alabama a basic operating budget. We have already enrolled well over 800 members this year. We have received cash and pledges exceeding $16,000 from within the state. This is more than three times as much money as we were able to raise in Alabama last year. The enrollment compares with a total paid membership of 339 last year.

We are pleased with the results of this effort. With the help which the Southern Regional Council, our parent-organization, is able to give us we have almost enough -- not quite -- to meet our minimum budget. It is probable that we could finish the year without further assistance. That in itself is something new for us. We feel that it shows that we have an able and determined membership and the confidence of many friends in Alabama.

However, recent developments have made it clear that our planned budget (which was higher than any previous one) is not really adequate to the opportunity now before us. The voter-registration demonstrations in the Black Belt have of course produced a great need for efforts at reconciliation. They have also had the effect of increasing the number of requests and opportunities for guidance in cities not yet experiencing demonstrations.

Our greatest single need is for additional personnel. We have applied for and expect to obtain, provided we can find the necessary funds, an Eleanor Roosevelt Intergroup Relations Intern. This would give us, starting in late summer, an additional staff person for one year. It is our hope that the arrangement will lead into full time employment of an associate. We think that our recent record in localssupport and certain indications of rapid change in the offing for Alabama give us a reasonable hope that we shall be able, a year from now, to pay for additional staff person.

In order to pay our portion of the salary of an Eleanor Roosevelt Intern and provide some travel money, secretarial help and equipment for him, we need a minimum of $4,000.00. We request a grant in that amount and will deeply appreciate your consideration of it.

MEMORANDUM

To : Members of the Executive Committee

From : Ed Stanfield

Subject: Called Meeting of the Executive Committee

As most of you know, the committee decided after interviewing the candidates present at our December 3rd meeting to continue our search for potential executive director to nominate to the Board. At the request of President Welch, the committee asked me to arrange interviews and call the next meeting.

Accordingly, I am calling a meeting of the Executive Committee for Thursday, January 13, 1966, at 10:00 a.m., at the Bankhead Hotel in Birmingham. Please let me know at once, on the enclosed postal card, whether or not you will be able to attend. I know that a weekday is not best, but the candidate we want to interview could not attend on Saturday, the 8th--and I cannot attend on Saturday, the 15th. Thus we have set it up for the 13th, but if it is impossible for most of the committee to attend at that time, we shall have to change it.

The candidate we will interview at that time is Rev. James Sessions. I will send you further information later. All I know at present is that he is 30 years old, a Methodist minister, and presently is Chaplain of Drew University (employed by the University) in Madison, New Jersey. He is a native of Texas. He was a Danforth Fellow at Brown University, where he interned as Methodist Minister to Students. He is not married. He has shown considerable interest in human relations, including a membership in the Madison Human Relations Council and memberships in C.O.R.E. and N.A.A.C.P. I have talked to one of his references and find that he has demonstrated talent in administration and fund raising and that he seems to be unusually mature.

Although he will not be present for the interview, we shall also want to consider Mr. Albert Heffner, whom some of the committee have met. See the enclosed data sheet.

From what I have been able to learn, either of these candidates would be a good choice. I am hopeful, therefore, that we can reach a decision on a recommendation to make to the Board at the February 4th meeting.

There will be a few routine matters, such as our fourth quarter report, to attend to.

FOR YOUR INFORMATION

CONFIDENTIAL

from Ed Stanfield

INFORMATION ON ALBERT WILLIAM HEFFNER, JR., a candidate for the position of Executive Director, Alabama Council on Human Relations.

Biographical Information

Mr. Heffner is 43 years old. He was born in Greenwood, Mississippi. He is a veteran of the U. S. Coast Guard (1943-1946). He attended Tulane University and the University of Mississippi, where he apparently worked on a M.A. degree but did not submit a thesis. He majored in psychology, in which he has 24 semester hours' credit.

He was Assistant Sales Manager for Hood Lumber Company, Jackson, 1948-1950; Owner-partner of the A&B Tire Company of Greenville, 1950-1953; Plant and Sales Manager, King Lumber Company, Forest, Mississippi, 1953-1954; Group Representative for Blue Cross-Blue Shield, McComb, Mississippi, 1954-1962; and Special Agent for Lincoln National Life Insurance Company in McComb, 1962-1964. He sold over $2 million worth of insurance in 1963.

He left the last-mentioned position and the city of McComb because of harrassment following upon attempts to play a conciliatory role in McComb's racial difficulties. He subsequently worked for six months for the Community Relations Service as a "conciliation specialist." With Hodding Carter he has written a book, So the Heffner's Left McComb, recently published.

Additional Information

Mr. Heffner is married and has two daughters. The older daughter (who was Miss Mississippi one year) is now married; the younger daughter is in school (Sarah Lawrence). Mrs. Heffner worked during the Spring and Summer of 1965 in the office of the O.E.O. General Counsel; her job was checking for non-discrimination compliance in Southern Head Start projects. She apparently shares very fully Mr. Heffner's commitment to human rights and concern for human relations in the South.

When the question of salary was raised, Mr. Heffner said that they were aware that--should he accept the position--it would be necessary for Mrs. Heffner to work in order for them to maintain their daughter in college. He indicated that a salary of about $9,400 would be minimum. (Present salary of Executive Director is $9,200.)

Stanfield's Subjective Impressions

I traveled with Heffner during his two-day visit to the state. He spoke to the Tuscaloosa Council. We then went to Tuskegee for a brief interview with Dr. Gomillion, and to Auburn where he met Mr. Jerry Roden and Mrs. Nancy Spears, who are respectively past-president and president of the East Alabama chapter.

The following impressions are purely personal and may well differ from those of others who met Heffner. I have organized them under "pros" and "cons"--with reference to his being employed.

Pros

1. His age, together with his extroversion, should help him in establishing contact with white community leaders. He is as aggressive and dynamic as one would expect a good insurance salesman to be. He remarked to me that one of the first things he would want to do, after getting acquainted with local councils, would be to "get a list of every banker in the state and start with this as a prospect to 'sell' human relations . . . they are very much concerned about the economic implications of this thing."

2. His business experience should serve him well in matters of administration. Also, he should be adept at fund-raising.

3. The fact that his children are grown should make it easier for him to travel for extended periods of time.

4. He has valuable experience from his work with the Community Relations Service. For instance, he commented on the importance, in human relations work, of avoiding complete identification with either civil rights workers or the white establishment.

5. He felt--and I agree--that because of his history he would have no trouble at all relating to civil rights leaders and workers.

6. He evidently has access to such journalists as Drew Pearson, Evans and Novak, and others; and he apparently knows how to get information into the press when he wants to. This could be useful to the work of the Council.

7. He is a good public speaker.

8. He is available at once.

Cons

1. Mr. Heffner himself raised the possibility that his recent publicity and his being a "controversial" personality might hinder the work of the Council in some way. He said something like: "Probably within a week or ten days after I arrive one of the state papers would realize who I am and they would have a considerable file on me. Would this close too many doors automatically? Or give the Council an image it doesn't want?" (I answered that the committee would simply have to consider what kind of image in whose eyes would best serve our purposes.) This problem might be offset, in time, by (1) above.

2. Mr. Heffner's personality is imposing. He tends to dominate a conversation. Attention in a group tends to gravitate to him. This may not be a disadvantage and the tendency might not continue after people get accustomed to a "celebrity." But there is a question in my mind whether a conciliator or interlocutor should be "in the foreground," so to speak.

3. I sensed something of the recent convert's impatience with the dullness, rationalizing, hedging, and temporizing of white southerners. Again, this could be considered advantageous. Heffner said something like, "There has been enough patience, and time is running out." But if his impatience manifests itself as a compulsion to "get people told," that could be self-defeating. (I am not sure that he would have this compulsion; he told two or three times about one incident in which he did so, and he seemed to enjoy telling it; but he acknowledged that "we never should have had that meeting under the circumstances.")

In Conclusion

I think that Heffner would be a good choice as Executive Director. I am not yet convinced that he is the best man available.

Dear Ed:

Just a note to say that I found the meeting both enjoyable and productive. As usual, you are doing a great job, accomplishing more perhaps than you realize. I feel free to pass the compliment because I know that you won't consider it worth a tinker's dam until results come in from the field. But those, I am convinced, will come in time. If you think of it and wish to, please express the Alabama Council's appreciation to Saul Anthony, Emory Via, Al Ulmer, Vernon Jordan, Moreland Smith, Joleen Boone, Mrs. Silly and Miss Louise — (is that the first name of the paperback book and major citing directory young lady who sat so patiently with us?) for their participation in the program.

Sincerely,

MEMORANDUM

To : Local Chapter Presidents and Financial Chairmen

From : Bob Valder

Subject: 1966 Membership and Financial Drive

At an Executive Committee meeting last Saturday in Birmingham, President Gomillion asked that I send you the enclosed information.

We are sending you a list giving the name of each person from your area who has contributed or pledged $24 or more during the 1966 Membership and Financial Drive. The purpose of sending this information is to: (a) help you determine who, from last year's contributors, has not contributed or pledged this year so that you might contact them if you have not already done so, and (b) suggest that you replace those contributors from last year who do not plan to contribute this year. You already have a list of all of your chapter's members and contributors from the past year.

We also thought it might be helpful for each chapter to have an idea of what other chapters have done thus far in terms of number of contributors with a distribution by the amount of the contribution. That information is contained in the chart attached.

And last, but far from least, the Executive Committee suggests that each chapter's membership quota be reached by June 1, 1966. That gives you a little less than two months.

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
QUARTERLY REPORT
April, May, and June, 1966

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL

Total membership on June 30, 1966, was 1,079; our membership at the same time last year was 954. Right now, in other words, we are 125 members ahead of last year. We need not only to maintain but also to increase that margin during the remainder of the year. A glance at the accompanying financial report will remind us of how much our present economic health depends upon assistance from the Southern Regional Council. Continuation of that support until we are able to stand on our own feet will rest principally upon indications of solid growth. SRC and the foundations help those who demonstrate the ability to help themselves.

The ACHR Executive Committee met in Birmingham on April 2 and May 26. At the first meeting, the Committee adopted a resolution commending The Southern Courier and recommending that Council members seriously consider subscribing and contributing to this excellent newspaper. At its second meeting, the Committee recommended that the Council employ Jerry Roden, Jr. as Executive Director, retain the services of Bob Valder as Associate Director, and move the state offices from Huntsville to Auburn.

The ACHR Board of Directors, meeting in Birmingham on June 10, adopted the Executive Committee's recommendation on the employment of executive and associate directors and the moving of the state offices. The Board also voted to: (1) schedule a Board seminar for late September in Birmingham to define clearly the goals of the Alabama Council and to chart its course for the future; (2) to hold the annual meeting on February 3-4, at the Stafford Hotel in Tuscaloosa; and (3) to invite two nationally known speakers for the annual meeting--one for the Friday night session, and another for the luncheon on Saturday.

A number of Alabama Council members were among the record crowd of some 1,300 people turning out for a U. S. Commission on Civil Rights meeting on the 1966 school desegregation guidelines, at the Dinkler Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham on June 11. Following that meeting, the American Friends Service Committee, the Alabama Council, the Alabama State Conference of Branches of the NAACP, SCLC, SNCC, and the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund sponsored a session of community leaders on school desegregation. A highlight of this meeting was a series of addresses by Negro students who attended last year formerly all-white schools. The consensus of these students was that they find their new academic programs difficult but challenging.

THE LOCAL COUNCILS

Birmingham. The Magic City chapter continues to push for the hiring of Negro policemen in Birmingham. The Birmingham Chapter also continues its investigation of the ratio of voting machines per polling place and its efforts to involve the U. S. Department of Justice in the McGowan case (Emory Warren McGowan, a 23-year-old white man, shot five Negro marchers protesting alleged unfair hiring practices at Liberty Super Market in Birmingham on February 21. The Jefferson County Grand Jury failed to indict McGowan, and so far the Justice Department has not entered the case). Like other Council chapters, Birmingham is working to encourage a speed-up of school desegregation. The chapter reports good results from efforts in Fairfield and Bessemer, and will concentrate on Birmingham itself for the remainder of the summer.

Huntsville. The June meeting was family picnic time for the Huntsville Council. The May meeting program was a panel discussion of "Special Problems in Implementing the Poverty Program in Huntsville." In April, the Huntsville Chapter presented a symposium on school desegregation. Council members in the Rocket City continue to work on school desegregation, voter registration, housing, and fair employment practices. Contacts resulting from school desegregation efforts in rural Madison County have lead to proposals for expansion of the chapter into a Huntsville Area or Madison County Council in order to include new friends in all Council activities.

Mobile. June 18 was family picnic time for the Mobile Council. At the May meeting, Mobilians used a buzz session to determine the answer to: "Where do we go from here?" The April meeting, second in a series on local government, featured Mr. E. C. Doody, administrative assistant to the Mobile Board of County Commissioners. Like several other chapters, Mobile is concentrating on school desegregation this summer.

Muscle Shoals. At its June meeting, the Muscle Shoals Chapter heard a report from Mr. Phil Draper of the American Friends Service Committee on his recent work with the NAACP and discussed the 1966 school desegregation guidelines. Present at the meeting was Mr. Allen Thornton, Lauderdale County Superintendent of Education, whose program under the Civil Rights Act has won national recognition. Program for Muscle Shoals' May meeting consisted of reports on the Tuskegee Institute and Talladega College Civil Rights Conference, a review of Stanley Rosenbaum's "Inter-racial and International Communication," and commentaries on the May 3 Democratic Primary.

Tuscaloosa. The Council's Tuscaloosa chapter is making a concentrated effort to secure the establishment of an official Tuscaloosa Community Relations Board composed of twelve Negro and twelve white representatives. The Council chapter has presented to the Tuscaloosa City Commission a proposed ordinance for establishing such a board along with an equitable plan for selecting members to it.

Talladega. Talladega Chapter held its spring meeting in Gadsden on May 14. Featured speaker for the occasion was the Rev. Hosea Williams of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Montgomery. Our Capitol City chapter has filed no official reports this quarter, but we hear by the grapevine that a new slate of officers has taken the reins and that the whole chapter is planning to step-up activities.

East Alabama. Its May meeting constituted a new milestone for the East Alabama Chapter: it met for the first time in a public building--the auditorium of Drake High School in Auburn; and it had the largest turnout on record--more than 200 people. The subject was school desegregation, and present were city and county superintendents and some school board members. Summer is the season of greatest activity for East Alabama, which now has underway programs involving some 2,500 men, women, and children in Head Start, Head Start Follow-Through, tutorial, integrated play-school, and adult education program. In addition, this chapter continues to work on voter registration and voter education and the development of economic opportunities.

THE STAFF

Executive Director

The Executive Director, after his appointment on June 10, spent his first weeks on the job arranging for the move from Huntsville to Auburn, interviewing prospects and hiring a new secretary, getting acquainted with state office procedures, reviewing the current programs in East Alabama, and making a tour of the West Alabama Black Belt area with the Rural Advancement Project Director, Lewis Black.

Associate Director

In the first part of this quarter, the Associate Director concentrated upon school desegregation efforts, particularly with the Birmingham, East Alabama, and Huntsville chapters. The past month has been spent arranging for the move to Auburn. The Associate Director has also been working with the RAP Director on the leadership training proposal to OEO.

Trips include two to Decatur to speak to the Decatur Improvement Association, a few to Birmingham for ACHR meetings and other meetings, one through the Black Belt checking on possible voting irregularities in the May 3 Primary, two to Washington, D. C., for a NAIRO Intern meeting and the White House Conference, one to Atlanta for a Southern Regional Council meeting and a National Sharecroppers Fund meeting, and one to Tuskegee to attend a student conference.

Rural Advancement Project Director

The RAP Director has concentrated upon establishing and working with already established credit unions in the Black Belt. Applications for credit union charters have been made in Wilcox and Sumter Counties; a charter has been approved for Marengo County; attempts to organize a credit union are being made in Greene and Monroe Counties. Efforts have been started to begin a farm cooperative and some market development efforts have been made for a co-op in Greensboro.

The RAP Director also helped write proposals for five counties for funds from the Southern Regional Council's Voter Education Project. Two were funded. He was also active in voter registration activities, liaison with the Justice Department and political education programs.

The Director has been instrumental in writing and helping to get funded a $79,000 surplus food commodities program for Hale and Perry Counties. The program will probably be funded shortly.

Another program which the Director has been working with is a proposal to the Office of Economic Opportunity for a leadership training program, which will be funded through Miles College.

Trips of the RAP Director include many through the Black Belt, a number to Birmingham for ACHR meetings and meetings at Miles College, two to Atlanta for SRC and NSF meetings, a few to Montgomery on OEO business, one to Jackson, Mississippi, for a meeting on co-operatives and one to Washington, D. C. to attend the White House Conference.

Mr. Robert Valder
Alabama Council on Human Relations
2809 Governors Drive, S.W.
Huntsville, Alabama

Dear Mr. Valder:

The Voter Education Project has carefully considered the request of the Rural Advancement Project of Alabama Council on Human Relations to conduct a citizenship education program relative to the 1966 Alabama Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service elections for the period of August 6, to September 6, 1966. We are pleased to inform you that we have approved your program in the amount of $1,650.00 for a one month program.

The amount granted is to cover the following:

|---|---|
| Subsistance | |
| (10) People @ $15. per week | $600.00 |
| Secretary @ $25. per week | 100.00 |
| Transportation | 750.00 |
| Office Supplies | 125.00 |
| Telephone | 125.00 |
| | $1,650.00 |

Our check in the amount of $1,650.00 is enclosed. Please sign and return the enclosed receipt carbon immediately.

These funds may not be used to support partisan politics in any manner whatsoever, nor to influence legislation of any kind, nor in behalf of or against any political candidate. You should urge and welcome non-partisan support of your voter registration activities.

Our Research Director, Mr. Marvin Wall, will write you regarding further special reporting requirements.

If you have any questions, please let us hear from you.

Sincerely yours,

Vernon E. Jordan, Jr.
Director
Voter Education Project

MEMORANDUM

To : Local Chapter Presidents

From : Bob Valder

Subject: Local Chapter Refunds

The enclosed check is your refund for the quarter ending December 31, 1966. As you know, the State Board of Directors changed the rebate. And now local chapters will receive 10% of all monies collected by them.

The thing to keep in mind is that local chapters will receive back 10% of everything paid, but not everything pledged.

PLAN AND SCHEDULE FOR THE 1967 MEMBERSHIP AND FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS, INC.

STEP ONE

TO BE TAKEN BY THE PRESIDENT (JOINTLY WITH MEMBERSHIP AND FINANCE CHAIRMEN IF YOU HAVE THEM)-- TO BE COMPLETED WITHIN ONE WEEK BEFORE DATE OF THE MEETING IN STEP TWO BELOW.

Appoint a campaign committee and designate a chairman if you have not yet. The committee might include all of the Board.

STEP TWO

TO BE TAKEN BY THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS AND THE CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE -- TO BE COMPLETED BY FRIDAY, DECEMBER 18, 1966.

Part 1 -- Explain in detail the general idea of this plan and emphasize the importance to the state and local council of a successful campaign.

Part 2 -- Choose a date sometime between January 3 and January 27 for your 1967 "Challenge Meeting." The best time for it is a weekday night. Start the preparation for it which would include naming a "Challenge Meeting Chairman." The Challenge Meeting should take the place of your regular meeting in January. It is highly desirable that the Challenge Meeting be a dinner meeting -- perhaps a covered dish dinner. Chapters which had the covered-dish dinner last year found it valuable in itself. The best, and easiest, way to insure having a succesful campaign is to go all-out in publicizing and getting people to the Challenge Meeting. This saves you the effort of going to see them.

Emphasize

Part 3 -- Go over the list given to you on November 19 in Birmingham on 3x5 cards and then do three things -- very important things!! (1) Think of new membership prospects and add them to the list on your own 3x5 cards; (2) find as many people as you can who heretofore have only paid a membership fee, but who could be asked to contribute-- perhaps becoming a "ten-percenter" or "five-percenter " as outlined below. This is very imprtant. Each year we lose some members and some contributors. New ones have to be found--even if we only needed to maintain our present levels of strength and effectiveness and (3) decide how much each person on all the 3x5 cards should be asked to give and so note that on the tab of the pledge card -- then give these pledge cards to the visitors discussed in Part 5 of this step at the training session following your challenge meeting.

Next, select your advance gifts donors. This is of the utmost importance. You cannot expect to succeed if you do not find these donors to "set the level of giving." If you do, you will be able to announce at the Challenge Meeting that you already have pledged 50% of your goal! Find:

At least one person, but hopefully two persons, who can be asked to give 10 per cent of your donations quota.

At least six persons (if you had two ten-percenters) or eight persons (if you had only one ten-percenter) who can each be asked to give 5 per cent of your donations quota.

Your committee may very well know members who should be asked to give more if their donation, in the light of their ability to give, is to be a worthy expression of their concern for better human relations in Alabama. And your committee may very well know more than the number of persons suggested above who should be ten-percenters or five-percenters. You should never "under ask" of course! Moreover, every member that you know to be capable of giving as much as 5% of your quota should be asked to do so. We are only saying that you ought to raise 50% of your quota in the first eight or ten gifts. You may very well be able to beat that!

Part 4 -- Members of the campaign committee should be assigned to call personally on each of these individuals before the date of the Challenge Meeting. Before calling on anyone else, one should make his own commitment. During these calls, the campaign committee member should review the program of ACHR in 1966, both state and local, and tell what is forthcoming in 1967. Use the fact sheets given to you. He should tell briefly that we are in the midst of our annual membership-funding drive and give the date, place and time of the Challenge Meeting. Then he may say something like this: "If these goals are to be reached, if the Council is to increase in size and effectiveness, and if we are to secure still more special projects, such as the Rural Advancement Project, we must have continued strong support from members and Alabama residents. In order to set the level of giving--to put the "challenge" in our "Challenge Meeting"--we need a few substantial pledges before that meeting. We need you to help set this adequate level by being one of those giving $_____ in 1967. That would be $_____per month, or $_____ per quarter, if you prefer." (Then you should pipe down. It's his move).

Part 5 -- At this same meeting, after you have selected and assigned to the Campaign Committee members the advance gifts prospects, go over the list to select a number of notably good, reliable members of the chapter to help with the general solicitation visits after the Challenge Meeting. Everyone on the list who does not renew his membership and/or make an over-and-above pledge at the Challenge Meeting is to receive a personal visit. You should have at least one visitor or husband-wife team for every 10 persons on your list of prospects. (After subtracting those who join and/or pledge at the Challenge Meeting, each caller may have only 5 or 6 visits to make.) Each prospect must be assigned to one of the persons chosen for solicitations at the training session following the Challenge Meeting. The campaign committee should not necessarily plan to do this calling, even if it should be feasible. Let more people participate. The more participation the better.

Part 6 -- Stress the use of the pledge card wherever possible. It helps more to pay $2 per month or $6 per quarter than to pay a $5.00 or $8.00 membership fee. We want all the members we can enlist! But a membership fee scarcely covers the cost of serving the member with newsletters and notices. We need contributions from as many as possible. This is very important. We know that many persons who are only members can well afford and will be happy to be contributors if only they are asked.

Part 7 -- Select two of your ablest members to speak at the Challenge Meeting on the subjects "ACHR 1966--A Great Council Year," and "ACHR 1967--Why It Needs Planned Giving." The second should plan to ask those present to fill out the pledge-card forms. Bob Valder will be available to speak before these members, if desired, but one of your local members should actually issue the "challenge."

A few suggestions about how a Challenge Meeting can be most successful (we tried this in one chapter last January and it really worked!!)-- (1) have a well-planned covered dish dinner; (2) work hard at getting a big crowd there; (3) do not pass out anything at the door except the "fact sheets"; (4) only after your second talk -- "ACHR 1967-Why It Needs Planned Giving"-- should any cards be passed out; (5) before they are passed out the second speaker should explain that when he finishes, pledge cards will be passed out (have a few persons ready to help expedite this), he should not even mention memberships at any time -- just contributions (if someone asks about memberships -- which is unlikely -- he can explain that then), he should explain that the pledge cards are to be filled out then and there and that they will be picked up in about five minutes and then pick them up in a few minutes. He should explain that they can pledge the full amount of the contribution or pledge part and pay part (those that pledge should indicate what amount they want their payments in and at what intervals they wish to be billed); (6) have someone ready to quickly add up and announce the total amount pledged and payed at the meeting. IT IS EXTREMELY IMPORTANT THAT YOUR SECOND SPEAKER BE COMEONE WHO CAN "TELL IT LIKE IT IS" AND WHO ENJOYS AND IS GOOD AT THIS KIND OF THING.

AGAIN IT MUST BE EMPHASIZED THAT THIS STEP, IN ALL ITS PARTS, IS OF THE UTMOST IMPORTANCE. THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR PLANNING YOUR ADVANCE GIFTS SOLICITATIONS. THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR A PERSONAL VISIT TO EACH PROSPECT FOR THE SOLE PURPOSE OF TALKING A ABOUT ACHR AND ASKING HIM TO GIVE OR JOIN. THERE IS NO SUBSTITUTE FOR DESIGNATING A PARTICULAR AMOUNT THAT EACH VISITOR IS TO SUGGEST TO THE PROSPECT. AND THERE IS ABSOLUTELY NO SUBSTITUTE FOR A WELL-PLANNED CHALLENGE MEETING.

STEP THREE

TO BE TAKEN BY THE CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE -- TO BE COMPLETED BY SATURDAY, DECEMBER 31, 1966.

Make the calls for the advance gifts pledges. A good time to do this would be during the week following Christmas. Be sure to report the results of your advance gifts effort to the state office by December 31. We want to put out a special memorandum reporting the progress of the campaign, and the other chapters will need your encouragement. This is also important for a second reason -- these larger donors may wish to make an extra donation during 1966 for income tax purposes; so it is important that these solicitations be made before the year ends.

Also, you should have asked and secured a commitment from your local Challenge Meeting speakers by this date. And all of your follow-up visitors should have been recruited and asked (1) to attend the Challenge Meeting and (2) to remain for 45 minutes after that meeting to receive instructions. (This is an important bit which many chapters omitted last year. A little training will help a lot.)

STEP FOUR

THE CHALLENGE MEETING FOR ALL MEMBERS AND PROSPECTIVE MEMBERS -- TO BE HELD NO LATER THAN FRIDAY, JANUARY 27, 1967 -- BUT EARLIER IS BETTER.

It would be much better to have the Challenge Meeting earlier, so that there would be more time for the follow-up visits. The follow-up can be completed in a couple of days, however, provided there is careful planning and organization.

Be sure to make arrangements for a quick tally of the memberships and the pledges made on the night of the Challenge Meeting, so that those attending can share in the achievement. Don't forget to plan the 45-minute training session after the meeting for your follow-up visitors.

Be sure that everything mentioned in Part 7 of STEP TWO above is carefully planned and understood before the Challenge Meeting and done at the Challenge Meeting.

STEP FIVE

TO BE TAKEN BY THE CAMPAIGN COMMITTEE AND THE ENLISTED VISITORS -- TO BE COMPLETED BY MIDNIGHT, TUESDAY, JANUARY 31, 1967.

Final report on the follow-up visits should be in the mail to the state office by midnight, January 31. This will enable us to complete the report on the campaign for the whole state and announce it at the Annual Meeting on February 3-4.

You should carry through on the follow-up, of course, even if your whole quota of members and funds should be attained by the end of the Challenge Meeting. Everyone who can give to the support of ACHR, its purpose and its program, needs to do so and should be given the opportunity to do so.

CHECKLIST OF DATES

_____ At least one week before the meeting in step two the Chapter President has appointed a campaign committee and designated a chairman.

_____ December 18. Board of Directors and Campaign Committee meets. Choose the date of and chairman for the Challenge Meeting. Select your advance gifts donors. Committee members have been assigned to visit the donors. Follow-up visitors have been selected and assigned to someone to recruit. Local chapter speakers for Challenge Meeting have been chosen and detailed planning for the Challenge Meeting have been made.

_____ December 31. Advance gifts pledges have been secured and results reported to the state office. All follow up visitors have been recruited and commitments secured from Challenge Meeting speakers.

_____ January 27. (But preferably earlier). Challenge Meeting has been held.

_____ January 31. Follow-up visits have been completed and final report mailed to the state office.

_____ February 4. Victory announcement at the statewide Annual Meeting.

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS, INC.

Membership and Financial Quotas for 1967

This year a "Quota Committee" of ACHR's executive committee met and tentatively decided upon each chapter's quota for 1967. These suggested figures were presented to the representatives of the local chapters meeting in Birmingham on November 19, 1966. That meeting was a "training seminar" for each local 1967 financial committee chairmen and members. These quotas are not to be interpreted as "assessments," although they do represent a reasonable share of the necessary support for ACHR from your chapter. All that is asked is that you make the serious effort outlined in the plan of campaign, with the effort pegged at least at the level suggested below for your chapter.

For each chapter we have listed a membership goal and, in parentheses beside that figure, calculated at $4.00 per person, the approximate amount of the membership fees. (At $5.00 single, $8.00 joint, and $3.00 student.) Next we have listed a "Donations Quote" for each chapter, which is what you should aim to raise over-and-above the membership fees (although we take any donor's membership dues out of his total contribution). Your "ten-percenters" and "five-percenters" should be asked to give 10% or 5% of this "Donations Quota" figure. And then we have listed the total of membership fees and donations.

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS, INC.

1967 Membership and Funding Campaign

INSTRUCTIONS FOR VISITORS

1. Study the contents of the Alabama Council brochure, provided, and these instructions. Don't memorize them, but be so familiar with the contents that you can use them naturally.

2. Be sure to make your own pledge first. You cannot reasonably or convincingly ask another to do what you have not done yourself. You may very well be asking others to give more than you can give, but you should first commit yourself to a donation according to your means.

3. Call only on prospects assigned to you. If you have a friend or acquaintance whom you think a likely prospect for a membership or contribution, clear with the chairman to be sure he is not assigned to someone else. Duplicate visits can be annoying.

4. Be sure to call on all persons or families assigned to you. If you do not find a prospect at home, make a return visit. But do not give up until you have some result to report--even if it is negative (which is unlikely).

5. Make a personal visit to the home of each prospect. At the very least make a special call on him in his office or other place of employment for this sole purpose. This is not a casual matter, so please do not deal with it in a casual telephone call or chance meeting!

6. Ask for a definite amount--and know what you will ask for before you go. The Campaign Committee of your chapter should have noted a suggested asking on your pledge card. If there is no such notation, consult the chairman. The "asking" should be the estimated largest amount that the prospect could give if so disposed. (For example, if John Doe could readily give $10 per month, don't ask him for $5. He may only give $5 per month. But if you ask only $5, chances are he'll still dicker with you!)

7. Make pledging as effortless as possible to the prospect. Have the pledge card filled out with address, occupation, etc.--all except the amount and the signature.

8. Be pleasant but purposeful. It is fine, for instance, to take your spouse along, if you are calling on another couple--but have it understood that there is not to be a second conversation going on while you are talking about the human relations council!

9. Be appreciative. If your prospect made a contribution during 1966, or if he is a good worker in the local council, thank him for what he has done.

10. Get to the subject. You might begin by saying, "George, I'm here today about the Alabama Council on Human Relations. We are rather proud of what the organization has accomplished during the past year, and we are eager to be even more effective in 1967." At this point you might show him one of the fact sheets which have been given to you by your campaign chairman and say, "This is just a partial listing of the things the Alabama Council has done in 1966." Talk about any of them in which the prospect is interested. Then talk about 1967. Empahsize the fact that the Rural Advancement Project was begun last February, and that the grant which makes it possible will be renewed for one more year provided the basic operation of the Council remains strong enough to administer it effectively. You should also explain that your local chapter will be able to become much more active than in the future if this financial campaign is a success. This is so because starting this year rebates from the state council to local chapters will be increased significantly if the local chapter is successful in its campaign (this year the local chapter will receive back 10% of all that it raises and if it goes over its quota then the chapter will receive back 75% of all the rest it raises). It should also be emphasized that financial assistance from the Southern Regional Council depends upon our success in fundraising, e.g., the better we do the better are our chances for a substantial grant-in-aid from SRC and the poorer we do the poorer our chances.

11. Get to the point--the point of decision, if you will. Something like this: "So we feel that we have a great chance in 1967 to make the Alabama Council an organization that will make a big difference in the state. But we all know that this will take a lot of doing. So we are trying to get everyone to be more than members this year. We are asking for regular support." (If your prospect is already a regular giver, you should change this, of course: perhaps, "So we are asking for increased support this year-which we think the record justified." At about this point pull out the pledge card with the prospect's address filled out on it. With a pencil check the category you had previously decided to suggest (e.g., "$60 Sponsor" or $36 Underwriter"). And say: "We are asking you to be among those giving $5.00 per month-- or $15.00 per quarter, if you prefer." Or, "I wonder if you would like to be among those giving $3.00 per month in 1966."

PERIOD!! Don't say another word! Wait for him to respond! If he says, "Well, yes, I think I could do that," you say, "Fine. Just sign the card and the state office will bill you on the first of each month (or quarter). You can make the first payment now or later, as you prefer." If he says, "Well, I have a lot of organizations to give to, but I guess I could manage the $6.00 each quarter," you might say, "Well, that would certainly be a big help, too. Just sign the card . . ."

12. Check the pledge card to be sure that all pertinent information is on it. Be sure that the donor has indicated clearly whether he wants statements monthly, quarterly, or on some irregular dates. Be sure to note any cash payment as "Paid herewith $_____." And be sure to get the ZIP CODE.

13. Report promptly to your campaign chairman. Turn in completed pledge cards and any cash or checks collected as soon as you conveniently can, even if you have not finished all your calls.

14. Take satisfaction in having done well something that is important and worthwhile. You may not be much of a salesman. And maybe you never thought you could raise money. But if you have followed the suggestions above, chances are you and your group have been astonished at the results. Why? Because beyond and beneath the mechanics and techniques of soliciting funds, you have had going for you the fact that a lot of people in Alabama are genuinely and deeply concerned about human relations in this state and realize, however vaguely, that they have a rare opportunity and urgent duty just because they live here. Thus, in one sense you have not asked for anything. You have offered an opportunity, a tool for creative effort, a meaningful approach to problems about which the donor is deeply concerned. Maybe some people who gave even thanked you for asking them . . .

Tuskegee Institute, Alabama

Dear Dr. Gomillion:

Enclosed is a resume for one Rev. Donald Johnson. He called me to inquire about it and to ask that it be sent to you.

Frankly, I did not remember receiving this data when he called to inquire about it. Subsequently I discovered it in my files and recalled perusing it when it came (at a busy time for me) and concluding that he was not an apt candidate. I really should have answered the letter, and I apologize for that.

At any rate, I really do not think this prospect is worth investigating further. I would feel too pedantic in spelling out my reasons, but if your impression is not the same and you want my reasons, I can give them to you!

It is embarrassing that I have made no measurable progress in the search for a prospective Alabama Council Director. Believe me, it is constantly on my mind and I have inquired in several directions. I have a high standard in mind for all of the state councils -- especially for Alabama -- and in general I think it better to do without for a while than to hire a weak person or one of doubtful qualities. But my personal involvement in this case makes me feel uneasy or guilty or something.

I'll try even harder and hope to have a prospect soon.

Very best wishes,

Edwin Stanfield

Dr. C. G. Gomillion coo
308 Bibb Street
Tuskegee Institute, Alabama

Dear Dr. Gomillion:

I received a copy of the call of an executive committee meeting on April 2. Unfortunately I am scheduled to be in South Carolina on that day. However, this reminds me of a copple of matters that need to be brought to the committee's attention.

First, there is the matter of the office secretary, Mrs. Rogers. Bob Valder indicated to me some time ago that she had expressed her intention to resign on June 1. I recently had occasion to ask her about this, and it appears that she is unhappy that the Board did not give her a raise in salary, in view of her increased responsibility. I recall that Bob had asked me, before the annual meeting, if I thought an increase in her salary should be budgeted. I answered that, since she had received a slight increase ($25 per month), in July, it would seem to me better to wait at least another six months and then give her a significant increase. I believe Bob brought this up at the Board meeting, but the Board left the matter for the executive committee to consider.

It is not clear to me whether she would reconsider, even if an appropriate increase were offered at this time. She said to me that she thought any increase should be retroactive to January 1, this being the time when I left and she had to assume (as she feels) so much responsibility for the office. My own feeling now is that her present salary ($325) is probably below the market in Huntsville and that an increase to $400 per month would be appropriate. Mrs. Rogers is a very valuable employee. As a matter of policy, however, I would have doubts about making any raise retroactive.

Another matter about which representatives of both the East Alabama Council and the Muscle Shoals Council spoke to me some time ago has to do with the relation of the state and local councils in fund-raising. It seems to me that it would be advisable to have the state Board of Directors suggest each year a recommended percentage division of funds raised by local councils. This division would not apply to foundation funds or to funds raised outside the state or from at-large members within the state. For the first year (next year), I would suggest a division of 90% for the state council and 10% for the local council. As the membership grows this precentage could change to 80-20, then to 75-25, etc. In this way money would be provided for local programming (which I think necessary), state council support would take on the status of a tradition with a structure, and there would be an added incentive for the financial effort. The details could be worked out later, but this idea is of the nature of an overture from the Muscles Shoals group and probably should be answered in the affirmative at this meeting of the executive committee.

I regret to say that I have made little headway on the search for prospective Executive Directors. I have corresponded with several men, but thus far have been unable to find one ready to be interviewed. If you would like to talk to me about this problem (or any other), please call me collect.

Cordially,

Edwin Stanfield

Dear Mr. Stanfield:

Please accept this belated note of thanks for the check for two hundred fifty dollars ($250.00) which you sent for use by the Macon County Community Action Program for the purchase of materials needed for meeting the requirements of OEO for the Head Start (Day Care) in Macon County. The finishing touches are being applied at the three centers; the Director has been employed, and a staff is being assembled. Very shortly, the children will be enrolled. After we are in full operation I shall let you know what the situation is.

Sincerely,

C. G. Gomillion

Mr. Edwin Stanfield
Southern Regional Council

Atlanta, Georgia30303

Dear Ed,

Just received your letter. I was sorry you didn't get down with Vernon, as I had looked forward to seeing you again but I am not so sure I am now. About Jerry and the Alabama Council, Yes, I am nosy and I will have to admit a bit guilty. Got a call from Jerry at 9:30 the other night saying , "Look, I've got to talk to you." So we talked and he said, "You seem to have kept my name in the limelight and now here I am faced with this decision." I guess I have to plead guilty and not too sorry. Guess I will just have to put my guilt in one corner and think about it later. No kidding, I did call you last week-end as I felt I had been quite responsible for putting a lot of pressure on Jerry and as I said was feeling pretty guilty about this. I am sure you are in agreement that he will do a fine job and we need him. I think all in all he is pleased and looking forward to the opportunity but it just, really, to be truthful, was not the time to have to be faced with such a decision. So, nosy I am and nosy I'll stay even if you do refuse to answer my question. Dr. Gomillion seemed pleased about the possibility of Jerry working in the position last night and also was in agreement of moving the office he thinks now even to Montgomery, of which one time he was against as you well know. I would ask, "How are things with Bob?", but seems you won't tell me.

Did you know that Jan Gomillion is in the hospital? I visited her the day before yesterday and she looked well for Jan, but talking to Dr. Gomillion last night he said the doctors had said that there is no hope for a cure. This is about the fourth time she has been in the hospital for treatment and as he says she will go home this week but it seems like it is about her time.

She is a sweet,lovely person and it sure is a very sad thing. I feel so sorry for him. I thought you might like to know. Oh, yes! She does not know. She told me that she was in just for treatment that it was nothing serious, etc. You know this has been a bad year for the East Alabama Council. Grace Hooks, lost her father; Frankie her mother-in-law; J. C.,our Auburn Vice-President's wife, was killed in a very unhappy tragic situation with another man involved in carbon monoxide poisoning; and now the very sad note of Jan. You know, Dr. Gomillion has not missed a meeting, appointment or anything, except one, the whole time she has been in the hospital. He was to speak to our social workers the day she went into the hospital, and if I had not insisted that he let me find a replacement for him, he would have been right here. He has had lunch with us to meet social workers, he was at the meeting last night. He has a marvelous capacity for keeping going. In ways this is fine but to me very sad.

I have been working on the book proposal and will get it in right away. Thanks for the additional information . If we had a certain book that we would like to have and don't really know if they are in paper-back form, can we go ahead and include them assuming that they might be able to be found in that form?

Vernon is really quite a dynamic person. He hadn't said what he was going to speak on and ended up with a very good interpretation of the political situation. Really made us sit up and take notice and realize what has to be done. He was a bit encouraging on one aspect as to having more liberal candidates. If it hadn't been for that, I am afraid we all may have gotten out and left the state. It is mighty discouraging here right now, but proves that there is much, much, much work to be done. Let me hear from you.

Best wishes,

Nancy

STATE LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE ON SCHOOL DESEGREGATION

Over three hundred people from every section of Alabama attended a meeting in Montgomery last weekend to become informed about the new school desegregation guidelines, Title VI of the 1964 Civil Rights Act, issued last week by the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

The conference was sponsored by the Alabama Council on Human Relations, Alabama State Conference of Branches--NAACP, the American Friends Service Committee, the NAACP Legal Defense and Education Fund, Southern Christian Leadership Conference, and the Student Nonviolent Coordinating Committee.

Speakers included Dr. Caryle C. Ring, Department of Health, Education and Welfare, Mr. David Marlin, U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, Mrs. Septima Clark, SCLC, Miss Jean Fairfax, NAACP Legal Defense Fund, and Mr. Sam Ethridge, National Education Association.

Dear Ed,

I am going to be in Atlanta on April 1 & 2. I would like to speak to you for a few minutes — will you be in town?

Jane

STATE LEADERSHIP CONFERENCE ON SCHOOL DESEGREGATION (Continued)

The following people attended from Huntsville: R. C. Adams, Tom Taylor, Ennis Hardy, Gregory Wilkins, Mary Pandow, Evelyn Falkowski, Jane Reed and Bob Valder.

The 1966 guidelines require school officials to file assurance of their intention to comply with Title VI by April 15, 1966, to act to eliminate discrimination including the maintenance of dual schools and faculties, and to show substantial progress in 1966. The guidelines do not automatically apply to school districts under court ordered desegregation plans. However, a court order which is not in accord with current judicial standards as reflected by the guidelines is subject to legal action by the Department of Justice or by the parties to the original suit. Huntsville School System is under court order.

EXECUTIVE BOARD MEETING

The Executive Board of the Huntsville Council met on March 7 and took the following actions:

Heard report from Voter Registration and Education Committee and agreed to co-sponsor with the NAACP and Community Service Committee a voter registration project to be funded by the Southern Regional Council, if approved.

Agreed to hold next Executive Board meeting at the Unitarian Church on April 4, at 8:00 p.m.

Heard report from Education Committee regarding status of School Desegregation Project.

Discussed questionnaire to be used for School Desegregation Project, and agreed to ask the Employment and Housing Committee to compile a set of questions for possible inclusion which would be helpful in their future committee work.

Agreed to sponsor the attendance of one or more students at the School Desegregation Meeting in Montgomery.

QUOTABLE QUOTES

"The main goal of America in this decade is the fulfillment of human rights," said Civil Service Commission Chairman John W. Macy, Jr. "And after more than twenty years, the leadership in non-discrimination and equal opportunity in government employment has shifted from a succession of presidential committees to the Commission."

"The goal is equal results," Macy said, "and the milestone is the need to move beyond opportunity--beyond the opening of the door. We need to insure the achievement, not just a promise of equal opportunity for all Americans."

--Recent address by John Macy, Jr.
Chairman, Civil Service Commission

"We need not take seriously the accusation of favoritism when we encourage special programs in behalf of Negroes. Most of us who are white and have got along well are the recipients of many favors. High offices in Washington are widely filled by men whose most obvious qualification for preferment is that they are sons of fathers, brothers of brothers, or nephews of uncles, and the same is true throughout business and the professions and even the arts, and in some labor unions the practice is made formal. Negroes do not as yet have this advantage, nor are they in the chain of gossip which provides both early information about openings and recommendations. When the typical firm or university department or newspaper editor wants to take on a new man, someone calls his friends in the profession; this is the way most important appointments are made and Negroes are as yet outside the circuit. Large companies tend to promote from within, and Negroes are not in the lines of advance. It is not favoritism to build into our practices some ad hoc compensating bias."

COUNCIL NEWS

THE MOBILE COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS — Mobile, Alabama

Mrs. Kathleen K. Wood, President — Vol. I, No. 9
Mrs. Joan Lamb, Editor — May, 1966

Meeting

|---|---|
| 8:00, May 24 | Church of the Good Shepherd605 Donald Street |
| Program: | Where Do We Go From Here? |
| Business: | Election of Officers |

"Where Do We Go From Here?" You will be the speaker at the May meeting of the Council on Human Relations. A new slate of officers and Board members will be elected and they need your direction. Their plans must be based on your interests and concerns if they are to be effective. In order to be sure that everyone has a chance to express his ideas and opinions, we are going to divide into small "buzz sessions" to discuss project and program ideas for the coming year. What would you like to see the Council do in 66-67? We want to know!

We hope that you will make a special effort to attend this meeting to assure the new officers and Board members of your support and to give your help in evaluating how the Council can best contribute in the struggle for civil rights and human rights here in Mobile.

---

Elections

Also at the May meeting the Nominating Committee will submit for your consideration the following slate of officers and Board members for the coming year:

|---|---|
| President: | Mrs. Kathleen K. Wood |
| Vice-President: | Mr. John Milton |
| Secretary: | Mrs. Joan Lamb |
| Treasurer: | Mr. Arthur L. Whitfield |
| Board: | Mrs. Janice Kennedy |
| | The Rev. John W.B. Thompson |
| | Mr. Kermic McChriston |
| | Mrs. Dorothy Raine |
| | The Rev. John J. Ellard |
| | Dr. Kurt Tauss |
| | Mrs. Sarah Hamlin |
| | The Rev. T.E. Williams |
| | Dr. R.W. Gilliard |
| | Mrs. Valena McCants |
| | Mr. James N. Wood, Jr. |

Committees

We need you on a committee. We have an obligation to keep informed on all the important areas of civil rights activity -- and on those areas where there is no activity but where some is needed. We must be ready to coordinate our programs with those of other organizations, to initiate programs when necessary, and, at all times, to act when it is appropriate. In addition, we need members to help with the Council's "housekeeping" -- finance, telephone, hospitality etc.

The committees are chaired by a member of the Board and the amount of work varies from committee to committee and depends, in part, on the projects which we elect to undertake during the year. You know the area in which you can best work. Don't wait to be called or invited to serve. Look over the following list, decide where you can help, and give your name and the committee of your choice to any of the new officers or Board members:

Health and Hospitals; Employment; Housing; Federal Programs; Education; Voting; Law Enforcement and Police Practices; Local Government; Hospitality; Telephone; and Finance.

Mobile's Summer School Program

There will be a free summer school program in Mobile this year. It will be financed by the federal government under Title I of the Primare and Secondary Education Act. It will not be as complete as the program which was originally proposed and which was supported actively by the Council and by many other local organizations. For reasons known only to the Mobile County School Board, the Board chose to delete the cultural enrichment courses and the mid-morning snack from the project when it voted to sponsor the summer program.

It is understood, however, that some enrichment activities are planned by some of the teachers within the framework of their regularly offered courses. There will be, in addition, a thorough remedial program offered. Although the program leaves much to be desired there are a great many Mobile children who should profit greatly from their summer school experience.

We hope that parents will take every advantage of all that the program offers for their children and, at the same time, make it very clear to the School Board that they believe that the Board, in reducing the original proposal, deliberately deprieved those children most in need of help. We must do whatever is necessary to make it clear to those in authority that our children cannot be used as pawns in their schemes to perpetuate prejudice and ignorance.

Run-off Election

Don't forget to vote Tuesday, May 31. There are still many important races to be decided, including seats in the legislature and one place on the School Board. Every vote counts.

April 12, 1966

MEMORANDUM

To : ACHR's Board of Directors

From : Bob Valder

Subject: Executive Committee Actions

The Executive Committee of ACHR's Board of Directors met on April 2, 1966, in Birmingham, with Dr. C. G. Gomillion presiding.

Some of the important actions need to be called to your attention, and are as follows:

1. The Associate Director was directed to send to each chapter president and financial chairman a memorandum listing each person from their chapter who has pledged or contributed $24 or more during the current campaign. The memorandum suggested to each chapter that they find replacements for those who contributed last year, but who have indicated that they will not do so this year.

2. June 1, 1966 was set as the target date by which time each chapter should have their membership quota met.

3. A "bonus" of $75 monthly, retroactive to January 1, was authorized for Mrs. Benny J. Rogers, Office Secretary.

4. A recommendation in ACHR's April newsletter of The Southern Courier was adopted.

5. A statement of appreciation to Attorneys Erskine Smith and David Vann for their valuable legal advice and assistance was authorized.

The following topics were suggested for consideration at the Board of Directors meeting in September, 1966:

1. The development of an official file to begin a historical record of ACHR.

2. The need to set a common time for each chapter's election of officers and naming of committee chairmen prior to each annual meeting.

3. A training session, prior to next year's membership and financial campaign, for local presidents and campaign chairmen.

4. The appointment of an ACHR Board of Directors member to the Board of the Southern Regional Council.

5. Possible changes from the present method of refunding to local chapters to a percentage refund of all monies solicited by the efforts of local chapters.

The following topics will be discussed at the next Executive Committee meeting in June, 1966:

1. A tentative date, location and possible speaker for 1967's Annual Meeting.

2. The appointment of a treasurer to the Executive Committee in place of the deceased Rev. J. C. Wilson.

3. A full review of the current membership and financial campaign.

4. The possibility of initiating some kind of incentive plan for the membership and financial campaign for local chapters similar to the Southern Regional Council's George S. Mitchell Award.

MEMORANDUM

To : ACHR's Executive Committee; RAP Director; SRC"s Field Director

From : Bob Valder, Associate Director

Subject: Executive Committee meeting on May 26, 1966.

An extremely important meeting of the ACHR executive committee will be held in Birmingham at the Bankhead Hotel on Thursday, May 26, 1966. It will begin at 2:00 p.m.

This date and time were selected because the meeting needs to be held soon and because no other common dates were open in May for President C. G. Gomillion, Mr. Ed Stanfield and myself.

The purpose of the meeting is to (a) interview and discuss with Mr. Jerry Roden the position of executive director of ACHR; (b) interview and discuss with Mr. Bob Valder the position of associate director upon the expiration of his current internship period and (c) discuss and hopefully come to a decision concerning the need for and feasibility of moving the state office to a location which may better satisfy current needs (this decision will probably be influenced by the decision concerning the executive directorship).

At the April 2, 1966 meeting of the executive committee in Birmingham the following items were scheduled for consideration at the next executive committee meeting. Time permitting these will also be considered on May 26. They are:

1. A tentative date, location and possible speaker for 1967's Annual Meeting. Birmingham, Feb. 4,
2. The appointment of a treasurer to the Executive Committee in place of the deceased Rev. J. C. Wilson
3. A full review of the current membership and financial campaign.
4. The possibility of initiating some kind of incentive plan for the membership and financial campaign for local chapters similar to the Southern Regional Council's George S. Mitchell Award.

As you can see this will be an extremely important meeting. We hope everyone will be able to attend. As usual, expenses will be paid by ACHR. If you will be unable to make it please let us know.

MEMORANDUM

To : ACHR Board of Directors

From : Bob Valder

Subject: Called Meeting of the Board of Directors on June 10, 1966

At the request of President C. G. Gomillion, I am writing to inform you that the Executive Committee is calling a meeting of the entire Board of Directors of ACHR in Birmingham on Friday, June 10, 1966. The meeting will be held in the French Room of the Bankhead Hotel. It will begin at 2:00 p.m., and should be over by around 6:00 or 6:30 p.m.

The purpose of this meeting is to decide upon the actions of the Executive Committee as a result of their May 26 meeting in Birmingham.

Executive Committee decisions which the Board will be asked to decide upon are: (a) the nomination of Mr. Jerry Roden as Executive Director of ACHR; (b) the nomination of Mr. Bob Valder as Associate Director of ACHR; and (c) the recommendation that the State Office be moved in the near future to Auburn, Alabama.

Mr. Lewis Black, Rural Advancement Project Director, will also present a comprehensive report of his work since starting work on February 1.

I would also like to direct your attention to the Page 1 article of our May Bulletin (which should arrive shortly) concerning the school desegregation meeting in Birmingham on Saturday, June 11. We have scheduled the Board meeting on the previous day in hopes of encouraging and making it more convenient for all Board Members to attend both meetings.

As is customary, ACHR will reimburse Board Members for those expenses incident to the Board meeting.

Subject: Actions of the Board of Directors

The Board of Directors of the Alabama Council on Human Relations met at the Bankhead Hotel in Birmingham, Alabama, on June 10, 1966, with the president, Dr. C. G. Gomillion, presiding.

The nominations from the Executive Committee of ACHR for Mr. Jerry Roden as Executive Director and Mr. Bob Valder as Associate Director were confirmed. The salaries were set at $9,200 and $7,400 respectively. The moving of the State Office from Huntsville to Auburn was confirmed.

Mr. J. E. Pierce was elected to fill the unexpired term of Rev. J. C. Wilson as treasurer.

The annual meeting will be held on Friday and Saturday, February 3 and 4, 1967, at the Stafford Hotel in Tuscaloosa. The Tuscaloosa Chapter will be the host committee. A national figure will be invited for the Friday night session, and the names for the luncheon speaker on Saturday will be suggested at the Board meeting in September. The suggested speakers for the Friday night meeting are: Hubert Humphrey, Sargeant Shriver, Nicholas deKatzenbach, Constance Baker Motley, Edward Kennedy, and Arthur Goldberg.

It was decided that the Fall Board meeting in September would be in part a "seminar." The planning committee is to be composed of staff and officers. The meeting will be in Birmingham in late September of early October. The purpose of the seminar portion is to discuss, evaluate, and make decisions about the role, function, method, image, etc., of the Alabama Council.

Mrs. Bill Reed was elected to fill the vacancy of Mr. Jerry Roden on the Executive Committee.

The discussion of an incentive award for membership increase in local chapters was deferred "for at least five years."

The group insurance plan suggested by the Southern Regional Council was accepted for our state staff members.

The Associate Director gave a report of his activities over the past few months as well as those of the Rural Advancement Project Director.

It was suggested that the Selma Inter-Religious Project be written up in the next newsletter.

MEMORANDUM

To : ACHR Board of Directors

From : Jerry Roden, Jr., Executive Director

Subject: Plans for ACHR Board Meeting and Seminar

You will recall that the Board of Directors, meeting in Birmingham on June 10, 1966, decided that the regular September Board meeting would be in part a "seminar." The purpose of the seminar portion is to discuss, evaluate and make decisions about the role, function, method, image, etc., of the Alabama Council.

This combination board meeting and seminar has been scheduled for Saturday, September 17, 1966. In accordance with the request of the Board, the meeting will be held in Birmingham at the Bankhead Hotel. Present plans call for a late morning, an afternoon, and an evening session. A complete agenda will follow at a later date.

The President, Executive Director, and Associate Director have made preliminary plans for the program, and SRC's Edwin Stanfield has accepted an invitation to be with us. We hope that each of you will make every effort to attend the entire meeting.

Now is the time for each of you to enter suggestions and topics that you wish included in the final plans for this important meeting. Please fill out the enclosed data sheet and return it as soon as possible in the enclosed stamped self-addressed envelope. As customary, your travel, eating and hotel expenses will be reimbursed by ACHR. Feel free, if you so desire, to have us make hotel arrangements for you.

We hope that everyone will be able to attend this meeting.

____ I will be able to attend the Board meeting in Birmingham on Saturday, September 17, 1966.

____ I will not be able to attend the Board meeting in Birmingham on Saturday, September 17, 1966

____ Please make a hotel reservation for me for the night (s) of September 16, September 17 (underline one or both). I want a single, double, twin bed room (underline one).

MEMORANDUM

To : Board Members Attending ACHR Seminar

From : Jerry Roden, Jr., executive director

Subject: Proposed Agenda

"Heavenly Days!" I can hear some of you exclaiming when you look at the attached tentative agenda: "Does anyone expect me to read all this?" As a matter of fact, the state staff does expect you to do just that--in the interest of ACHR and in deference to our President who will have to preside over this session. Every suggestion in the seminar sessions comes directly from one of you, and every item in the business session--including state staff recommendations--comes directly or indirectly from one or more of you.

The formidable appearance of the proposed agenda is the result of an attempt to organize and detail a broad range of topics in such a way that all of us may help structure our limited time in dealing with them. President C. G. Gomillion, Associate Director Bob Valder, and Rural Advancement Director Lewis Black all were involved in detailed preliminary planning of this program. But the task of putting all their ideas and your suggestions into an agenda form properly fell to me. I don't consider the result at all sacred. Miss Eaton and I have attempted to leave adequate space throughout the agenda for you to pencil in suggested changes and additions. Please be ready first thing if you have any proposed major changes so that we will not--like the United Nations at times--spend an endless period adopting the agenda. Minor changes may, of course, be made as we go along.

It still looks like a challenging program to me. And I want to thank each of you for taking the trouble to make suggestions. The only suggestion that we have partially ignored was an execellent one by Mrs. Jane Reed on outside consultants. Instead of employing several consultants for whom we have no money to pay right now, we turned to Ed Stanfield who is a whole bundle of consultants in one, who comes for free, and who is really a member of the family and thus may be properly included in sessions at which we may wish to purge off personal peeves and misunderstandings in order to push ahead more firmly and efficiently with our great task.

One final note: The concluding "Heart to Heart Exchange" topics do not appear in any particular order. If time permits, the plan here is to let members identify special interests and break into small groups before coming back for a brief final wrapup on these topics.

I ain't coming to the next Board meeting. I promise.

ACHR BOARD OF DIRECTORS MEETING

M. Bill for membership for three months only and then drop--unless requested otherwise--if they do not pay up.

12:00--2:00 LUNCHEON (ALL TOGETHER)

2:00--3:30 SEMINAR SESSION ONE

General Topic -- SELF ANALYSIS
(Or--The Board of Directors as analyst and patient)

I. HOW FAR CAN WE GO?

What obligations and limitations does ACHR's charter as a non-profit organization place upon the Board of Directors and ACHR generally in reference to:

A. Confrontations of state and federal laws and governments--as in the current guidelines conflict?

B. The definitely political arena of partisan politics--such as the upcoming general election?

C. Legislative lobbying on behalf of education, justice, and equality for all?

D. Initiating court suits to insure the protection of civil rights and liberties?

Note: We have asked Ed Stanfield to review this important question in advance and to serve as our resource person on thorny definitions of the term"political activity".

II. WHAT SHOULD WE DO?

What are the responsibilities of the Board of Directors to ACHR--its local chapters and state staff:

A. In fund raising and membership campaigns--in maintaining a sound organization physically and financially?

B. In providing the leadership for chapter expansion?

C. In establishing unified goals for the entire organization?

D. In presenting the sentiments, desires, and problems of local chapters at offical meetings of ACHR?

III. WHAT IS THE ROLE OF OUR LEADER?

The top man in ACHR is our president, elected annually. Just what do we expect of him?

A. Administratively in directing the state staff, interpreting general ACHR policies and the legal policies governing ACHR, and reviewing the operations of the general organization?

B. Imaginatively in developing dynamic new approaches to old problems and practical solutions for new problems?

C. Judicially as the chairman of a Board composed of intensely individualistic members--all dedicated to the same goal, but with sometimes radically different views of the proper means?

3:30--3:45 COFFEE BREAK

3:45--5:15 SECOND SEMINAR SESSION

General Topic -- OUR SOURCE OF STRENGTH
(Or--The local chapters and the Council's future)

I. HOW AUTONOMOUS SHOULD LOCAL CHAPTERS BE IN:

A. Fund raising for purely local needs through:
1. Subscription campaigns?
2. Seeking foundation support for fresh, imaginative projects?
3. Seeking government grants to relieve the effects of cultural deprivation and poverty when local government agencies fail to act?

B. The moderation or militancy of their stances on civil rights and civil liberties?

II. WHAT ROLE SHOULD LOCAL CHAPTERS PLAY IN ESTABLISHING NEW CHAPTERS?

III. HOW CAN THE BOARD OF DIRECTORS AND THE STATE STAFF SERVE LOCAL CHAPTERS BETTER GENERALLY?

IV. ARE THE FOLLOWING SPECIFIC SUGGESTIONS IN ORDER?

A. The establishment of a basic minimum recommended program including as essentials:
   1. Voter registration and citizenship education
   2. Public school integration and improvement (including council sponsored tutorials, study halls, and get-acquainted integrated summer programs)
   3. Consumer education and the establishment of credit unions and cooperatives
   4. Promotion of fair employment practices
   5. An undeviating pursuit of equal justice
   6. The promotion of open housing policies

(Note: If you like the idea of a basic minimum program but not the detailed points as stated above, please have your own version prepared ahead of this session.)

B. The request that each existing chapter endeavor to establish at least one new chapter during the coming year--with, of course, cooperation and assistance from the state staff.

C. The recommendation that local chapters and the state staff increase efforts to promote inter-chapter communication to the end that council affiliation becomes a common bond for people from all sections of the state.

5:15--7:15 SUPPER ON YOUR OWN

7:15--9:45 FINAL SEMINAR SESSION

General Topices:
1. Thunder on the Left and Lightning on the Right
2. A Heart to Heart Exchange

THUNDER AND LIGHTNING
(Or--A review of ACHR's programs and posture in view of the accelerating militancy of a significant minority of the Negro population and the hardening of white "never-never" segregationists into fascistic attitudes.)

Is ineffectiveness ever ~~justified?~~ viable?

I. DO RECENT DEVELOPMENTS IN THE CIVIL RIGHTS MOVEMENT AND OUR OWN DISCOVERIES OF INADEQUACIES IN OUR EFFORTS SUGGEST THE NEED FOR NEW PROGRAMS AND A NEW POSTURE AT STATE AND LOCAL LEVELS? SPECIFICALLY DO WE NEED TO:

✓A. Establish a legal defense fund for our members who run afoul of "the law" without violating any real law?

B. Develop a more militant posture and image, simply become more vocal in the position we have long maintained, or seek to do our work more effectively and still attract as little general press notice as possible?

✓C. Make any coordinated effort to oppose the anti-guidlines law?

D. Concentrate more on the simple promotion of interracial communication in areas where little or none exists?

E. Become either an interpreter for or opponent of the "black power" movement?

F. Set up voter registration committees at all college campuses and renew our efforts to enlist college students in the Council?

G. Promote a social and religious concern for the inmates of Alabama penal institutions?

• H. Attempt more actively to involve the poor (black and white) in the work of the Council?

II. HEART TO HEART EXCHANGE

(An exchange among members of the Board of experiences in projects nearest to the heart of each--the following specific topics, constitute the balance of your written suggestions which have not been explicitly included in the agenda heretofore. Please think through these and any additions ahead of the session.)

A. Methods for Exposing and/or Correcting Police Brutality in and out of Prison

B. Methods for Promoting Courtroom Desegregation

C. Promotion of Free School Lunches

D. Providing Summer Jobs for Youth

E. Study Hall and Tutorial Experiences

F. School Desegregation Plan of Birmingham Chapter

G. Creation of Community Interest in the Council

H. Inducing Increased Member Participation in Council Activities

I. Explicit Suggestions for Strengthening Interracial Channels of Communication

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS

Minutes of the Board of Directors' Meeting

September 17, 1966

BUSINESS SESSION

The Board of Directors of the Alabama Council on Human Relations met at the Bankhead Hotel in Birmingham, Alabama, on September 17, 1966 with the president, Dr. C. G. Gomillion, presiding.

The minutes of the June 10 meeting were approved.

Director Jerry Roden, Jr. explained the Financial Report.

Rural Advancement Director Lewis Black explained ACHR's work in preparation for the Agricultural Stablization Conservation Service county elections. ACHR, under the leadership of Mr. Black and the Associate Director Bob Valder is making an intensive effort to educate Negro farmers on the benefits to be derived from their participation in ASCS elections. Chosen in these elections are committees that govern allotments and the distribution of subsidies. Southern Regional Council has made ACHR a $1,650 grant to support this voter education effort.

Mr. Valder, stated that the proposed leadership conference at Miles College, if funded by OEO, will prove beneficial. ACHR is a cooperating organization in the proposal.

All three staff members are devoting some time to the establishing of credit unions.

Mr. J. Edwin Stanfield, Director of Field Activities for SRC, made suggestions for improving the 1967 Membership and Financial Campaign. Specific suggestions included:

(a) That all chapters follow the Stanfield plan--give it a chance.
(b) That workers use only the pledge card (never the membership card) in contacting members
(c) That the State Board establish a functioning special gifts committee.
(d) That ACHR institute a training session for all chapter campaign chairmen.
(e) That ACHR decide upon a percentage division for refunds to local chapters.

The Board voted to hold the recommended training session and to invite to it both chapter presidents and membership and finance chairmen.

It was moved that of the moeny raised through local chapters by pledges and memberships, the state will receive 90% and the local chapter 10% and that all money above the chapters' goal, will be divided 25% to state and 75% to local chapter.

The plans for the annual meeting to be in Tuscaloosa had to be changed, because space was not available at that time. The second choice, the Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham, will be the site of the annual meeting.

ACHR Nominating Committees henceforth will consist of one representative from each functioning chapter--to be chosen in all cases by the chapter. The Executive Director will preside at sessions of the nominating committee but will under no circumstances have voting privileges.

An amendment was made to the Director and Associate Director's recommendations on the salary revision for the RAP Director, and that was a raise to $7,400 annually be made retro-active to July 1.

It was moved that Mr. Roden be relieved of salary as of September 15, and be considered for rehiring June 1, 1967. The consensus was that his name be removed form the letterhead and that from September 16, until such time as the board changes the action, the executive officer of ACHR will be the associate director.

It was moved that items B thorugh M on the prepared agenda be accepted with exceptions of F and G. The topics of the accepted recommendations are:

B. Consolidating bank deposits.
C. Retaining present membership rates.
D. Advertising in The Southern Courier
E. "Expanding Chapters"plan.
H. Reporting to state office by March 31, names of local representatives to Board or forfiet representation for that year.
I. Encouraging local chapters' representation at official meetings of local governing bodies.
J. Appointing a special committee on implementation of public school faculty desegregation.
K. Supporting Council Christmas Music Program for TV.
L. Adopting plan to divide Board Members into committees:
   1. membership and financial campaigns
   2. developing new chapters
   3. voter registration and citizenship education
   4. credit unions and consumer education
   5. job and housing discrimination
   6. public education problems
M. Billing for membership for only 3 months.

NOTE: Below are listed in outline form, the topics discussed and those actions made during the "seminar" portion of the Board meeting.

SEMINAR SESSION ONE

II. WHAT SHOULD WE DO?

Responsibilities of Board of Directors

A. Fund raising and membership campaigns.

   a. Board should suggest names to fund raising committee.
   b. Board should suggest other sources of revenue other than members. Example: business, etc.

c. Board members themselves should be active in fund raising.
d. Promote publicity.
e. Board members from one part of the state should be present at other membership meetings at other places in the state.

B. Leadership for chapter expansion
a. Board members help state staff in locating names of prospective members in different counties.

C. Unified goals for entire organization. Example: Committee should function as representative of the board carrying out the decisions made by the Board.

Other suggestions: Board should function in committee. Example: state staffs, vacation insurance, etc., and Board Members should relay back to their local chapters decisions and policies made at the board meetings.

III. ROLE OF OUR LEADER

A. Should be the official representative of the Board relaying policy decisions made by the Board.

B. Interpreter for the role of the Council

C. Should be close working consultant with the staff who in turn answer to the Board.

D. Should be mutual consultant between president and staff with staff carrying out proposed policy made by the Board.

E. President should be official speaker and signer of documents unless authority has been given to executive director to do so by president.

SECOND SEMINAR SESSION

SOURCE OF STRENGTH

I. HOW AUTONOMOUS SHOULD LOCAL CHAPTERS BE?

A. Fund raising.
a. Should obtain authority from Board before seeking government grants, foundation support, etc.

b. Should be free to raise money for specific projects within their local chapter.

B. Moderation or militancy?
a. Staff appear at demonstrations only as observers.

b. Individuals should act as individuals as far as demonstrations are concerned.

c. Common sense used on the part of local chapters!

II. ROLE LOCAL CHAPTERS PLAN IN ESTABLISHING NEW CHAPTERS

A. Name should be submitted to state staff of people inclined toward human relations in areas where there are no chapters.

IV. SPECIFIC SUGGESTIONS

A. All six points which include:
1. Voter registration and citizenship education.
2. Public school integration and improvement (including council sponsored tutorials, study halls, and get-acquainted integrated summer programs).
3. Consumer education and the establishment of credit unions and cooperatives.
4. Promotion of fair employment practices.
5. An undeviating pursuit of equal justice.
6. The promotion of open housing policies were adopted with addition of working on all welfare agencies and hospitals.

B. Each existing chapter should be responsible for establishing new chapters during the coming year with assistance from the state staff.

FINAL SEMINAR SESSION

FREEDOM

I. Role of local chapter should have flexibility as well as staff's flexibility.

Motion was made and passed for state staff to formulate letter deploring the state of Alabama's new anti-guidlines law. Letter to be released to the press.

Motion was made and passed that a legal defense information committee be established to present infromation on available organizations and /or funds to the local chapters leaving it up to the local chapters to utilize as they see fit.

Motion made and passed to establish a legal defense committee to raise money for those who run afoul of the law without violation of any real law.

Motion was made and passed that above should be a five member committee.

Motion was made and passed to reconsider the wording of the motion on the legal defense fund. Wording to be reconsidered by the five member committee and then reported to the executive committee for implementation. Passed 13-0.

Motion was made and passed that election of five member committee should be an open floor nomination with the five receiving the largest number of votes to be the serving members.

The following people were nominated for the Legal Defense Fund Committee:

Dr. Raymond Fowler
Mr. Allen Black, Jr.
Mrs. Nancy S. Spears
Prof. George H. DeBoer
Mr. Thomas de Jefferson
Dr. Joseph Bettis

Motion was made and seconded that the above five be elected with the exception of Raymond Fowler who withdrew from the nomination.

Motion passed that Prof. DeBoer be elected convener chairman until committee could elect chairman.

MEMORANDUM

To : Local Chapter Presidents; ACHR Executive Committee

From : Bob Valder

Subject: Various and Sundry Things

This memo contains a number of important items. I hate to burden you with these all at once, but that's the way it goes.

1967 MEMBERSHIP & FINANCIAL CAMPAIGN CHAIRMEN

First, ACHR's Board of Directors, at their September meeting, decided to institute a "1967 Membership and Financial Campaign Training Session" for all local presidents and for all local campaign chairmen. The idea is that all persons responsible for a successful 1967 Membership and Financial Drive--this includes ACHR staff and officers, Ed Stanfield of SRC, and local persons--will meet for an afternoon and very carefully and clearly map out plans for conducting the drive locally and statewide. The Board decided this was necessary, because we need a better coordinated and a better understood campaign--they thought this was the best way to assure that. It is hoped that when this meeting ends, everyone will be able to go back to their chapters and conduct the most successful and best planned campaign yet!

We need the name of your chapter's 1967 Membership and Financial chairman. This person does not necessarily have to be a person who is "good" at solicitations, although that would be helpful. But this person does have to be someone willing to work hard on this for a few months and this person must also be a good "organizer." That is, someone who can figure out what needs to be done, who can lead others to do it, and who will keep track of what is been done and of what needs to be done.

We are planning to hold this meeting on Saturday afternoon in the last part of November, probably in either Birmingham or Montgomery. The date will be set to best fit the schedule of those attending it. ACHR will pay the expenses incident to attending the meeting for both chapter presidents and campaign chairmen. If the person who you think is best qualified to be campaign chairman can not be free on Saturdays in November, you should still appoint that person chairman and then select another person to come to this meeting in the place of the campaign chairman. However, if it is at all possible, the campaign chairman should attend this important meeting. Could we please have this persons name and address no later than November 7? Your cooperation on this will be greatly appreciated.

EXCHANGE OF NEWSLETTERS

You may recall the suggestion in the August Bulletin from Huntsville's president, Don Ring, that all chapters put out newsletters and exchange them with all other chapters. Mobile chapter president, Kathleen Wood, tells us she likes this idea too-- and so do we. Not all chapters put out newsletters, but others put out very informative and quite excellent ones. We are enclosing a list of all chapter presidents so those of you who do put out newsletters can mail them to other chapters if you are so disposed. Some chapters which don't have newsletters do mail out monthly notices with their meeting's agenda, speaker, etc. It seems to us that it would be good for you to send these to other chapters since this would give them some idea of what is going on in your chapter.

MORE INFORMATION TO LOCAL CHAPTERS

We're thinking that some local chapter presidents are not always fully aware of what is going on statewide, because in the past we have-not been mailing them certain information (since many local presidents are also on the State Board this isn't true for them). So as of now, we will mail to all presidents copies of our monthly financial report and other pertinent information which normally has been going to Board Members only.

PLEASE DON"T FORGET--WE NEED CAMPAIGN CHAIRMEN NAMES AND ADDRESS BY NOVEMBER 7.

MEMORANDUM

From : Bob Valder

Subject: "Workshop on the Courts"

You will recall that in the October Bulletin we had an article about the "workshop on the courts" on November 22, 1966 in Montgomery. The article said that a site had not then been determined and that local chapter presidents would be informed of its location as soon as it was determined.

The meeting will be at the Holiday Inn, Southwest (on the Mobile Highway).

This meeting should be quite informative--and it will provide invaluable ideas for local projects. If you can at all manage it, try to have a delegation from your chapter there.

Also we are making a special effort to get women's organizations to this meeting--perhaps you or someone else in your chapter could contact the various women's groups, especially church groups in your area, and invite them to this meeting. For further information on this meeting, see October's Bulletin.

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS, INC.

1966 FACT SHEET

This is a brief summary of some of the more significant activities which the state council and the state staff participated in during 1966.

RURAL ADVANCEMENT PROJECT:

Our Rural Advancement Project was started in February with Mr. Lewis Black from Greensboro, Alabama as its Director. A partial list of his activities and accomplishments includes: (1) extensive work in voter registration activities prior to the May primaries. This work included drafting proposals in five counties for financial grants for voter registration programs--two programs were funded: (2) extensive work in organizing credit unions for poor people. To date, he has been able to get two Federal credit union charters approved in Demopolis and York and charters have been applied for in Tuscaloosa, Wilcox County and Clark County. He has also made trips to Huntsville and Auburn to help organize credit unions there: (3) work on school desegregation in the Black Belt; (4) helping with a crisis in Monroe County resulting from a severe beating inflicted upon a Negro resident by the mayor of a town there; (5) extensive involvement in Hale and Perry Counties in attempts to obtain anti-poverty programs. He has been instrumental in forming a Community Action Program in Hale County and also in attempting to obtain a surplus commodities program in Hale County; (6) talks to a number of different groups and numerous other meetings across the Black Belt; (7) extensive travel throughout the Black Belt and many out-of-state trips including two to Washington (one to attend the White House Conference and one to see anti-poverty officials): (8) full-time work for almost three months in 12 Black Belt counties as the "coordinator" of an effort to obtain Negro representation in a very important election conducted by the U.S. Department of Agriculture--the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) elections. He and the Associate Director of ACHR were responsible for obtaining a grant of $1,650.00 for this effort (9) efforts have been started to begin a farm cooperative and some market development efforts have been made for a co-op in Hale and Perry Counties: (10) working on a $250,000.00 proposal to the Office of Economic Opportunity for a leadership training program for persons from the ten poorest counties in Alabama, which will be funded through Miles College.

THE STATE COUNCIL OFFICE AND STAFF:

Activities and accomplishments of the state council staff (excluding those of the Rural Advancement Project) during the past year include: (1) sponsoring a student conference on human relations which attracted about 80 students and faculty members from 12 different colleges and universities: (2) our annual meeting which was attended by over 200 persons from 40 cities in Alabama. Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights was the featured speaker and Assistant Attorney General John Doar was present to receive a statement of appreciation from ACHR; (3) monthly newsletters have been sent to all members of ACHR; (4) co-sponsoring two conferences on school desegregation which were well attended: (5) moving the state office from Huntsville to Auburn in order to have a more central location in the state: (6) helping 1,128 members contribute to a better Alabama: (7) attempting to assist two local chapters in starting credit unions: (8) extensive staff work on the ASCS elections, particularly in Macon County. This work included distributing funds from a $1,650 grant to ASCS workers in eight Black Belt counties (9) helping the Freedom Quilting Bee, a cooperative composed of poor people in Wilcox County, with organizational matters: (10) representing ACHR at various meetings including the White House Conference, school desegregation conferences, conferences of other organizations, and meetings of the Southern Regional Council and the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights and (11) working with local chapters on local activities.

THE MONTGOMERY CHAPTER

PURPOSE

To promote channels of communication between individuals and groups of all races.

To foster an atmosphere and environment in which citizens of all races, creeds and color can exist and work together in dignity and harmony.

OPPORTUNITY

The Montgomery Council feels that it has a chance to make the organization felt in Montgomery in the year 1967. A number of people here and over the state are deeply and genuinely concerned about human relations in Alabama. The Council offers the rare opportunity for doing something about it while sharing in its program.

PROGRAM

The program for 1966 included discussions and activities with voter registration, integration in the schools, elections, job corp training, housing and the administration of justice.

The program for 1967 is projected around the varying needs of the community and resources available. The Montgomery Council is now involved with Citizenship Education at the state, county and local levels with all its ramifications.

ACTION

At present the Council is actively engaged in an attempt to get some Negroes appointed to the voting precints. Contact has been made with the proper official and discussions are to be held with both the Democratic and Republican parties. Some results are to be expected from either one or both groups.

Memorandum

To: To Board Members Attending ACHR Seminar Meeting
Subject: Staff Recommendations
From: Jerry Roden, Jr., executive director

This sending you a second bundle of material right after that long agenda is, admittedly, rather sneaky. But I just couldn't resist this avenue for attempting to reduce the time necessary for the business session. If you can read these recommendations and be prepared to vote (either "yea" or "nay"--we don't expect to bat 1,000), it may enable Dean Gomillion to hold the business session in bounds. I should note that aside from the recommendations concerning routine procedures the ideas in this long list derived ultimately from either you or the chapters.

BUSINESS SESSION

STATE STAFF RECOMMENDATIONS IN DETAIL
(Business AGENDA ITEM V -- the detailed recommendations below appear in the same order that they are listed on the agenda.)

A. Recommendations on Salary Revisions

Rural Advancement Director

Despite the tightness of our general budget, both the executive director and the associate director recommend an immediate, substantial raise in the salary of our Rural Advancement Director Lewis Black. The fact that employment by ACHR represented "a promotion" for Mr. Black does not alter the fact that our salary scales appear discriminatory when his salary, responsibilities, and performance are compared with the director's and the associate director's. Neither the director nor the associate director feels that he is manifesting any real modesty at all by saying that in many areas of council activity he would hate to see his dedication and effectiveness placed on an impartial balance scale opposite that of Lewis Black. (Mr. Black has not requested any increase in salary, nor has he suggested that he considers his salary discriminatory. These facts do not alter, but rather reinforce the conviction that underlies this recommendation.)

Our specific recommendation is a raise from an annual rate of $6,600 to $7,400 per annum, with the increase retroactive to July 1 ~~January 1~~, 1966. Such an increase would place the Rural Advancement Director on the same salary as the Associate Director. The amount necessary to pay this increase is available in Mr. Black's budget in the form of $800 allocated to pay ACHR's overhead for the Rural Advancement program. It is the firm opinion of the director and associate director that Mr. Black's general services to ACHR have more than offset any state office expenses incurred for the Rural Advancement Program--to say nothing of the fact the Rural Advancement Program represents the most progressive single step made in the name of the Alabama Council on Human Relations recently.

Rural Advancement Secretary

The work of Mr. Black's secretary is manifestly not of the highest quality, but we could scarcely expect that it would be on a salary hardly designed to attract a trained person. However, there has been a marked improvement in both the quality of Miss Nabors' work and in the development of a more professional attitude toward it. Hence, the director and associate director join Mr. Black in recommending an immediate increase from $50 to $60 per month as a modest reward and token of appreciation.

State Office Secretary

When the state office lost the expert services of Mrs. Lillian Rogers, the staff found it impossible to locate a desirable experienced applicant. Thus, even though the position demands experience, we found it necessary to employ a young lady scarcely through her secretarial training courses. Among those available, the director chose Miss Mae Eaton as the one best qualified to attempt the difficult task. Miss Eaton has made and will continue for awhile to make some mistakes that only experience will eliminate. But on the whole she has performed well under handicaps. Her attitude is excellent; her personal appearance neat, modest, and attractive; and her manner in handling visitors gracious. She works diligently and manifests a serious interest both in increasing her general knowledge and improving her professional skills. We started her at the modest salary of $275 per month with the promise of a $25 per month increase at the end of three months if her performance proved satisfactory. A further condition of her employemnt was a review of her performance at the beginning of 1967 for the purpose of considering a merit raise if warranted. These stipulations correspond to the practices of Auburn University, the chief employer of secretarial help, in Auburn. The director and associate director recommend the promised $25 per month increase for Miss Eaton effective October 1.

B. Recommendation on Bank Deposit Consolidation

As a gesture of appreciation the Council on a Board vote sometime ago established accounts in the American National Bank and the Citizens Federal Savings and Loan Association in Birmingham. It now appears to the director that the size of the balance in our accounts during the latter part of the year plus the extra labor involved on the part of the secretary in making financial reports render this practice expensive and hence unfeasible. Hence, the director requests the authority, if his assumptions on service costs prove correct upon further study, to consolidate all bank accounts.

C. State Staff Recommendation to Retain Present Membership Rates

Several Council members have long discussed the need for us to involve the poor more actively in our programs. Coupled with these recommendations have been specific suggestions that we establish a special membership rate to encourage the economically depressed to join. After careful study the state staff has reached the conclusion that we cannot service a membership for less than the $3.50 remaining after the local chapter gets its rebate. Hence, we regretfully recommend the retention of the present minimum of $5 per single member, with the special student rate pf $3.00 standing as the only non-productive (in cash terms) membership. (But we do recommend increased efforts to enlist members from the laboring classes actively in Council work, and we wish to note that Lewis Black has cited rather convinving evidence that a $5.00 fee is not a particular bar to such members.

D. Membership Advertisement in Southern Courier

This recommendation requires little elaboration. It is in effect a request for Board approval of the staff's desire to run an inexpensive appeal for membership in the Southern Courier, with the staff responsible for wording of such ads, subject to the approval of the President.

E. The state staff requests the Board's endorsement of the Chapter Expansion plan announced in the August newsletter and hopes that the Board will seriously consider commiting itself to an active role in chapter expansion when the subject arises in the first seminar session.

F. Abolishing District Chapters

As far as the staff can ascertain, only one chapter any longer makes a pretence of operating on a district basis. The district chapter concept was beneficial only during the period that the best we could do was perform a sort of hand-holding operation. Hence, the staff strongly recommends the elimination of the district chapter concept from our structural vocabulary and the adoption of a basic county chapter plan with leeway to permit a dual county operation such as East Alabama as the largest autonomous unit and to allow the establishment of more than one chapter in populous counties.

G. Clearing the Board of Inactive Members

The staff recommends that the Board act now to appoint a special committee, vote authority to the executive committee, or require the state staff to devise and execute a plan to terminate board appointments--with courtesy and due respect for the individuals involved--of all those who may find themselves for any reason unable to function as board members in any active capacity.

H. Local Representatives

The whole purpose of local chapter representatives on the Board is defeated and the work of the state staff hampered by the present tendency of several chapters to delay the annual appointment of their local representatives to the Board. Hence the state staff strongly recommends the establishment of a policy that requires chapters to send names of local representatives to the state office on or before March 31, or else to forfeit the right to the same that year. We further recommend that chapters be required to secure the consent of any representative appointed and to ascertain his ability to become reasonably active.

I. Council Attendance at Meetings of Governing Bodies

This recommendation as stated in the agenda requires no additional elaboration--except, perhaps, explicit statement of the staff's belief that this practice could produce one of our most significant contributions to the development of a better society.

J. Special Committee For Study of Public School Faculty Desegregation

One can scarcely over-estimate the enormity of problems, both actual and assumed, that hamper faculty desegregation in our public schools. But regardless of their complexity, these problems must be solved in order to eliminate a dual school system. And the rapidity with which reasonable solutions are reached will determine in a significant measure the rate at which actual integration of public school programs takes place. The state staff believes that the magnitude and complexity of these problems demand immediate special attention from the Council. Hence, we urge the appointment of a special committee of the Board to study the problems and advise the state staff and local chapters of fruitful approaches for providing solutions.

K. Proposed Christmas Music Program

The idea is Lewis Black's, but the director and associate director think it one with real possibilities. Rather than elaborate it here, we request five minutes for Lewis to do so in his own inimitable style at this point in the meeting. Our recommendation is that the Board not only grant Lewis the authority to attempt the organization of such a program but also join him actively in developing it.

L. Division of the Board into Committees

The basic recommendation here is that the Board be divided into responsible committees to provide leadership to ACHR in each of its major areas of activity. The areas listed on the agenda are merely suggestive. This step, if it meets with Board approval, may prove far too complex and important to complete at this meeting. Our recommendation is the approval of the basic idea and the assignment of responsibility for developing the best possible plan to either a special committee or the excutive committee and the state staff.

M. Bills for Membership Dues

The recommendation of billing for three consecutive times and then dropping if not requested to bill again at a later date by the member applies to the regular dues only--not to above and beyond contributions. The practice of billing for dues is convenient and helpful to chapters and members. But three months seems adequate time for people to pay up. The present system of leaving such members on the books results in a confusion of records. The state office doesn't count those who don't pay as members; but the local chapters in most instances do.

Ala - QUARTERLY REPORT

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
QUARTERLY REPORT
April, May, and June, 1966

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL

Total membership on June 30, 1966, was 1,079; our membership at the same time last year was 954. Right now, in other words, we are 125 members ahead of last year. We need not only to maintain but also to increase that margin during the remainder of the year. A glance at the accompanying financial report will remind us of how much our present economic health depends upon assistance from the Southern Regional Council. Continuation of that support until we are able to stand on our own feet will rest principally upon indications of solid growth. SRC and the foundations help those who demonstrate the ability to help themselves.

The ACHR Executive Committee met in Birmingham on April 2 and May 26. At the first meeting, the Committee adopted a resolution commending The Southern Courier and recommending that Council members seriously consider subscribing and contributing to this excellent newspaper. At its second meeting, the Committee recommended that the Council employ Jerry Roden, Jr. as Executive Director, retain the services of Bob Valder as Associate Director, and move the state offices from Huntsville to Auburn.

The ACHR Board of Directors, meeting in Birmingham on June 10, adopted the Executive Committee's recommendation on the employment of executive and associate directors and the moving of the state offices. The Board also voted to: (1) schedule a Board seminar for late September in Birmingham to define clearly the goals of the Alabama Council and to chart its course for the future; (2) to hold the annual meeting on February 3-4, at the Stafford Hotel in Tuscaloosa; and (3) to invite two nationally known speakers for the annual meeting--one for the Friday night session, and another for the luncheon on Saturday.

A number of Alabama Council members were among the record crowd of some 1,300 people turning out for a U. S. Commission on Civil Rights meeting on the 1966 school desegregation guidelines, at the Dinkler Tutwiler Hotel in Birmingham on June 11. Following that meeting, the American Friends Service Committee, the Alabama Council, the Alabama State Conference of Branches of the NAACP, SCLC, SNCC, and the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund sponsored a session of community leaders on school desegregation. A highlight of this meeting was a series of addresses by Negro students who attended last year formerly all-white schools. The consensus of these students was that they find their new academic programs difficult but challenging.

THE LOCAL COUNCILS

Birmingham. The Magic City chapter continues to push for the hiring of Negro policemen in Birmingham. The Birmingham Chapter also continues its investigation of the ratio of voting machines per polling place and its efforts to involve the U. S. Department of Justice in the McGowan case (Emory Warren McGowan, a 23-year-old white man, shot five Negro marchers protesting alleged unfair hiring practices at Liberty Super Market in Birmingham on February 21. The Jefferson County Grand Jury failed to indict McGowan, and so far the Justice Department has not entered the case). Like other Council chapters, Birmingham is working to encourage a speed-up of school desegregation. The chapter reports good results from efforts in Fairfield and Bessemer, and will concentrate on Birmingham itself for the remainder of the summer.

Huntsville. The June meeting was family picnic time for the Huntsville Council. The May meeting program was a panel discussion of "Special Problems in Implementing the Poverty Program in Huntsville." In April, the Huntsville Chapter presented a symposium on school desegregation. Council members in the Rocket City continue to work on school desegregation, voter registration, housing, and fair employment practices. Contacts resulting from school desegregation efforts in rural Madison County have lead to proposals for expansion of the chapter into a Huntsville Area or Madison County Council in order to include new friends in all Council activities.

Mobile. June 18 was family picnic time for the Mobile Council. At the May meeting, Mobilians used a buzz session to determine the answer to: "Where do we go from here?" The April meeting, second in a series on local government, featured Mr. E. C. Doody, administrative assistant to the Mobile Board of County Commissioners. Like several other chapters, Mobile is concentrating on school desegregation this summer.

Muscle Shoals. At its June meeting, the Muscle Shoals Chapter heard a report from Mr. Phil Draper of the American Friends Service Committee on his recent work with the NAACP and discussed the 1966 school desegregation guidelines. Present at the meeting was Mr. Allen Thornton, Lauderdale County Superintendent of Education, whose program under the Civil Rights Act has won national recognition. Program for Muscle Shoals' May meeting consisted of reports on the Tuskegee Institute and Talladega College Civil Rights Conference, a review of Stanley Rosenbaum's "Inter-racial and International Communication," and commentaries on the May 3 Democratic Primary.

Tuscaloosa. The Council's Tuscaloosa chapter is making a concentrated effort to secure the establishment of an official Tuscaloosa Community Relations Board composed of twelve Negro and twelve white representatives. The Council chapter has presented to the Tuscaloosa City Commission a proposed ordinance for establishing such a board along with an equitable plan for selecting members to it.

Talladega. Talladega Chapter held its spring meeting in Gadsden on May 14. Featured speaker for the occasion was the Rev. Hosea Williams of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference.

Montgomery. Our Capitol City chapter has filed no official reports this quarter, but we hear by the grapevine that a new slate of officers has taken the reins and that the whole chapter is planning to step-up activities.

East Alabama. Its May meeting constituted a new milestone for the East Alabama Chapter: it met for the first time in a public building--the auditorium of Drake High School in Auburn; and it had the largest turnout on record--more than 200 people. The subject was school desegregation, and present were city and county superintendents and some school board members. Summer is the season of greatest activity for East Alabama, which now has underway programs involving some 2,500 men, women, and children in Head Start, Head Start Follow-Through, tutorial, integrated play-school, and adult education program. In addition, this chapter continues to work on voter registration and voter education and the development of economic opportunities.

THE STAFF

Executive Director

The Executive Director, after his appointment on June 10, spent his first weeks on the job arranging for the move from Huntsville to Auburn, interviewing prospects and hiring a new secretary, getting acquainted with state office procedures, reviewing the current programs in East Alabama, and making a tour of the West Alabama Black Belt area with the Rural Advancement Project Director, Lewis Black.

Associate Director

In the first part of this quarter, the Associate Director concentrated upon school desegregation efforts, particularly with the Birmingham, East Alabama, and Huntsville chapters. The past month has been spent arranging for the move to Auburn. The Associate Director has also been working with the RAP Director on the leadership training proposal to OEO.

Trips include two to Decatur to speak to the Decatur Improvement Association, a few to Birmingham for ACHR meetings and other meetings, one through the Black Belt checking on possible voting irregularities in the May 3 Primary, two to Washington, D. C., for a NAIRO Intern meeting and the White House Conference, one to Atlanta for a Southern Regional Council meeting and a National Sharecroppers Fund meeting, and one to Tuskegee to attend a student conference.

Rural Advancement Project Director

The RAP Director has concentrated upon establishing and working with already established credit unions in the Black Belt. Applications for credit union charters have been made in Wilcox and Sumter Counties; a charter has been approved for Marengo County; attempts to organize a credit union are being made in Greene and Monroe Counties. Efforts have been started to begin a farm cooperative and some market development efforts have been made for a co-op in Greensboro.

The RAP Director also helped write proposals for five counties for funds from the Southern Regional Council's Voter Education Project. Two were funded. He was also active in voter registration activities, liaison with the Justice Department and political education programs.

The Director has been instrumental in writing and helping to get funded a $79,000 surplus food commodities program for Hale and Perry Counties. The program will probably be funded shortly.

Another program which the Director has been working with is a proposal to the Office of Economic Opportunity for a leadership training program, which will be funded through Miles College.

Trips of the RAP Director include many through the Black Belt, a number to Birmingham for ACHR meetings and meetings at Miles College, two to Atlanta for SRC and NSF meetings, a few to Montgomery on OEO business, one to Jackson, Mississippi, for a meeting on co-operatives and one to Washington, D. C. to attend the White House Conference.

Ala - QUARTERLY REPORTS

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
A PARTIAL QUARTERLY REPORT
July, August, and September, 1966

Note to Board Members: After promising the quarterly report in the agenda, I have decided against giving it to you in full now--principally because the quarter is not yet complete and because we will know the outcome of the ASCS elections next week. The final quarterly report should properly inform you of the results of the tremendous effort exerted by Bob Valder, Lewis Black, and others working with them on this vital project. May I also request that you encourage your chapters back home to send in resumes of their summer's work for this report, if they have not done so already. We stand at about 50% on comprehensive chapter reports for this period.

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL--MEMBERSHIP ANALYSIS

The membership summary in the financial report shows that we had at the end of August a paid up membership of 1,110. Our membership at the same time last year was 1,019. We are still ahead of last year's record but are falling back in the margin of superiority over last year. During August, 1965, we gained 23 new members--13 coming from the East Alabama Chapter, 5 from Huntsville, and 3 from out of state. This year we gained only 6 new members during August--5 from East Alabama and 1 from out of state.

Membership isn't everything by far. In one sense, programs are much more important--as the agenda for today indicates. But how in the world can we carry out all those vital programs if we don't get more members to work and contribute?

DON'T FORGET THAT WE ARE NOW IN THE HALF-PRICE MEMBERSHIP PERIOD. YOUR FRIENDS WHO HAVEN'T JOINED CAN GIVE US A TRIAL ON A BARGAIN BASIS. (Commercial style employed here by courtesy of Madison Avenue and the Hootin Holler Gazette.)

THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR

Moving the state office from Huntsville to Auburn required several days of the executive director's time during July (although the heaviest burden of this effort fell upon the associate director). Other activities during July included: (1) a meeting with the Huntsville Chapter executive committee. (2) A trip to Washington with Rural Advancement Director Lewis Black to confer with United States Department of Agriculture and Office of Economic Opportunity officials at the policy making level in an effort to break the log-jam on the distribution of surplus food to the poor in counties where local officials aren't interested--We received some golden promises, which the poor haven't been able to cash yet; the burden of the failure to date appears to rest on the USDA and not OEO. (3) A visit to the Alabama Technical Assistance Corporation offices in Montgomery to establish a working relationship between this office and the ACHR state office.

THE EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR (Continued)

(4) Visits to Tuskegee to confer with State President Charles G. Gomillion, and with American Ethical Union and East Alabama Council personnel engaged in a series of jointly sponsored projects. (5) A survey visit of Lee County Head Start. (6) A visit to the Muscle Shoals Chapter meeting. (7) Attendance of a community leadership conference at Emory University--where he had the privilege of meeting Council directors from other states in the Southeast.

The executive director spent a goodly portion of August in the state office in what might be termed administrative work, but perhaps should be more accurately described as simply learning to feel his way around the established ropes of state office procedures with the assistance of the associate director and state office secretary. Other activities included: (1) Meeting with Mobile Chapter's executive committee. (2) Working with East Alabama Chapter to set up a meeting and plan for developing new chapters--Montgomery Chapter leaders were also involved in this meeting and the final planning. (3) Four speaking engagments to groups interested in establishing a credit union under the auspices of the East Alabama Chapter. (4) Attendance at meeting of Council directors with SRC staff in Atlanta.

September activities to date include: (1) Paper work and planning for the Board of Directors meeting in Birmingham, (2) Continued efforts with EACHR on credit union project. (3) Attendance of a meeting in Selma on ASCS elections--the meeting included Rural Advancement Director Lewis Black, representatives of SCLC and others working on this special voter education project, and ASCS officials.

THE ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR

The associate director spent a large portion of July in arranging for the state office move, moving office and family to Auburn, and handling related administrative details. (By common consent, the director and associate director decided that it would be more efficient for the associate director to handle the heaviest burden of such detail until the office moved.) In addition during the first half of July, the associate director set up a meeting with Rural Advancement Director Lewis Black, SRC's Al Ulmer, and a Huntsville group interested in forming a credit union, possibly under the aegis of the Huntsville Chapter; conferred with the Huntsville Chapter leaders on a number of other problems, particularly school desegregation plans.

During the latter part of July, all of August, and September to date, the associate director has worked almost full time on the Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Service elections. Along with Rural Advancement Director Lewis Black, he drafted a proposal for obtaining a $1,650 grant from SRC to support a special Voter Education effort prior to the ASCS elections and has worked closely with RAP Director Black in coordinating this multi-county program. In addition to his efforts with the overall ASCS election program, Associate Director Valder has worked intensively in Macon County in organizing and educating the people about their ASCS voting and election rights and how to exercise them.

Other activities during August and September include a meeting with the executive committee of the Tuscaloosa Chapter, work along with the director on efforts to establish a credit union in Lee County, and a talk to Lee County Head Start parents on minimum wages.

THE RURAL ADVANCEMENT DIRECTOR

During the first half of July, the rural advancement director made an intensive effort to get a surplus food program into Hale and Perry Counties. His efforts during this time included endless negotiations with local officials, numerous meetings with the people of his area, and a trip to Washington, D.C.. Since those intensive efforts produced a lot of promises but no food for the needy, RAP Director Black has continued and is continuing efforts to break through the prejudices and governmental red tape that leave people hungry in a land of surplus.

Throughout this quarter Mr. Black has been working further with credit union development in Monroe, Sumter, Marengo, Clarke, and Tuscaloosa Counties; has served as speaker and consultant on credit union development to a group in Huntsville; and has conferred with the director, associate director, and EACHR President Nancy Spears on credit union development in East Alabama.

He has also worked with people to initiate the establishment of a promising cooperative in Perry County and has conferred with people in Tuscaloosa seeking to reinstate the Head Start Program there.

Like Associate Director Bob Valder, he has devoted his major energies during the latter part of July, all of August, and September to date to providing leadership and direction to the Voter Education Project on ASCS elections. Mr. Black has served as field director for ACHR in this project and has become in effect a leader for various groups working on the same project.

During this quarter, Mr. Black has also continued to work as a leader in an effort to secure a grant for a community leadership training program at Miles College. (And, also like Associate Director Bob Valder, he has upon rare occasion spoken to his family and slept a full night's sleep.)

Ala - QUARTERLY REPORTS

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
QUARTERLY REPORT
October, November, and December, 1966

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL

The main effort of the past quarter has been planning and executing preliminary steps for the 1967 Membership and Financial Drive. Included as part of this effort was a "Training Session" for local leaders of each chapter in a meeting in Birmingham on November 19. Since then every chapter but one has had one or more meetings of their financial and membership committees to develop and execute plans for their particular campaign; the Assocaite Director has attended at least one of these meeting with each chapter.

During almost the entire month of October, the state staff concentrated upon the Agricultural Stablization and Conservation Service (ASCS) re-elections in Macon County which were invalidated in September. Although the Macon County election effort was primarily the responsibility of the Associate Director, the RAP Director also rendered time and service to it.

ACHR, the Southern Regional Council and the Fellowship of the Concerned co-sponsored a workshop on the courts in Montgomery on November 22. Nearly forty persons from about six counties were in attendance.

Part of December was taken up with plans for ACHR's Annual Meeting in Birmingham on February 3 and 4, 1967.

During this quarter, two ACHR monthly Bulletins were published.

THE LOCAL COUNCILS

Almost every chapter has been putting in a great deal of time and effort on their plans for the 1967 Membership and Financial Drive.

Birmingham. The Birmingham chapter's monthly programs have been as follows: October--Mr. Harold Wershow, sociology professor at the University of Alabama, Birmingham Extension, summarized his detailed study of the social and economic needs of Jefferson County--a study prepared for the Jefferson County Committee on Economic Opportunity. An up-to-date report on school desegregation progress was made and the chapter also decided to ask the American Friends Service Committee to consider Birmingham as an area to place a field worker if the AFSC should decide to have such persons available; November--Mr. John Beecher, author of To Live and Die in Dixie and Visiting Professor at Miles College, presented and interpreted some of his recent poetry. The BCHR Committee on Desegregating Local TV Programs reported on their progress to date and following this meeting, the Executive Committee sent telegrams to Acting Attorney General Ramsey Clark and to Alabama Attorney General Richmond Flowers, asking for public information which might be available concerning the death of Mr. James Earl Motley in Wetumpka on November 20; December--Mr. Lewis Black, RAP Director, presented an account on his work in the Black Belt.

East Alabama. The main effort of the East Alabama chapter has been a continuing one of Project Headstart. During the past quarter, Headstart has been conducting the Lee County Follow Through Program (this is for children who have already been through a regular Headstart Program) and it has also been busy getting a new eight month proposal funded by OEO. Speakers at its monthly meetings were ACHR RAP Director, Black, and ACHR Associate Director, Valder. Of continuing interest has been the attempt to begin a credit union charted by the East Alabama chapter--we should know about this sometime during the present quarter. In Tuskegee, an exploration is currently underway of whether or not to form a type of Community Coordinating Council the purpose of which would be to act as a clearinghouse of information to all interested agencies, public and private, concerning what types of resources are or could be available for such things as job training, better education, civil rights problems, etc.

Huntsville. Huntsville's November meeting was a panel of speakers from the Association of Huntsville Area Contractors explaining a program called Community Resources Development. The panel came to explain the program and to ask for the chapter's participation in it. The chapter decided to participate and so one of it's programs now is to prepare a presentation to be given to delegations from various cities who are taking part in the program. December was the annual Christmas party. One other project to which various chapter members are giving considerable time is assisting the Sisters of Concern Club (a service organization for domestics), particularly in helping to begin a credit union which would be charted by SOCC.

Mobile. The Mobile chapter's monthly meeting topics and speakers have been as follows: October--Dr. Cranford Burns, Superintendent of Mobile County's School System, spoke about the Alabama School System as the first of a two-part series on the public school system; November--Mr. William B. Crane, Mobile County School Board member, spoke about the Mobile County School System; December--a general discussion followed by discussion groups planned the chapter's school desegregation program for 1967. Other concerns of the Mobile chapter have been: sponsoring an exhibition and sale of the products of the Freedom Quilting Bee (a cooperative composed of poor people from Wilcox County) at Mobile's Annual Art Fair; sponsoring a series of six weekly meeting on Negro History and Culture--over 100 persons attended the programs and average attendance was about 45 for each meeting--and the chapter is prepared to sponsor another series if the demand should arise; applied for and received shipments of paperback books for the Mobile Council on Human Relations Library from the Southern Regional Council; sponsoring a continuing program of 8 to 10 study halls for children living in various neighborhoods.

Montgomery. In October, a committee was appointed to call on the proper officals in an attempt to obtain some Negro poll watchers--Montgomery County has none. This committee has spoken to the chairman of the Montgomery County Democratic Committee and hopes to see his Republican counterpart soon. Elections for the three-man city commission will be held in March of 1967 so the Montgomery chapter hopes to have some results on the poll watchers issue by then.

The chapter has also begun a series of political education programs. Their last three meetings have been addressed by persons explaining how various levels of government work. City Commissioner for Public Affairs, Mr. L. B. Sullivan, spoke to the December meeting explaning how the city commission form of government works in Montgomery.

Muscle Shoals. If our reports are correct (of which we have received none this quarter) the Muscle Shoals chapter has been relatively inactive. However, we do know that they are planning a very big Challenge Meeting this month.

Tuscaloosa. Although we've experienced no inundation of reports here either, we do know that the Tuscaloosa chapter has been active in helping the Tuscaloosa Citizens for Action Committee (a local civil rights group) receive approval from the Tuscaloosa Opportunity Program (the local anti-poverty program) to apply for and conduct a Headstart Program--the TCAC won approval over a last minute application by the Tuscaloosa City School System. The chapter has also established a legal defense fund for helping persons arrested in civil rights incidents.

Talladega. The Talladega chapter has had no official programs as such due to the fact that all of its leaders are members of other organizations which do have programs going.

THE STAFF

The Associate Director

As reported above, the ASCS elections in Macon County was an almost full-time project during all of October. Since then, a major portion of his time has been taken up in preparing for the 1967 Membership and Financial campaign; efforts here include making preparations for the "Training Session" and traveling to each chapter during December to meet with their 1967 campaign committees. Other program concerns have been helping organize and moderating the workshop on the courts in Montgomery, attending the annual meeting of the state's NAACP, making a presentation to the Alabama Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, a talk to the East Alabama chapter, appearing, with two Birmingham chapter members, on a radio interview program in Birmingham, and efforts to help in organizing farmers' cooperatives in the Black Belt.

Trips have included many to Tuskegee, Montgomery and Birmingham, two to Huntsville, one each to Mobile, Tuscaloosa, Talladega, and Atlanta, the latter to attend the Annual Meeting of the Southern Regional Council. Most of the trips were to attend either a monthly meeting of the chapters, or a meeting of their financial committee. The trips to Huntsville were to provide assistance in the presentation they will be making to the above mentioned city delegations.

The Rural Advancement Project Director

As reported above, the RAP Director worked in Macon County on the ASCS elections in October; he also attended two meetings in Selma on matters related to the ASCS elections. Much of his time has been occupied with attempting to obtain funding for both a surplus commodities program and a Community Action Program in Hale County (both unsuccessful to date), with establishing or working with already established credit unions and with working on efforts to organize some farmers' cooperatives. He has spoken to the Birmingham and

East Alabama chapters, to many groups and organizations throughout most of the Western Black Belt, and he has made a presentation to the Alabama Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission Civil Rights.

Trips included those to Birmingham, Auburn, Macon County, Selma (many times) every county in the Western Black Belt and one to Atlanta for a three-day meeting of other RAP directors and staff members of the National Sharecroppers Fund.

11 Ala - QUARTERLY REPORTS

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS INC.

1966 FACT SHEET

This is a brief summary of some of the more significant activities which the state council and the state staff participated in during 1966.

RURAL ADVANCEMENT PROJECT:

Our Rural Advancement Project was started in February with Mr. Lewis Black from Greensboro, Alabama as its Director. A partial list of his activities and accomplishments includes: (1) extensive work in voter registration activities prior to the May primaries. This work included drafting proposals in five counties for financial grants for voter registration programs--two programs were funded; (2) extensive work in organizing credit unions for poor people. To date he has been able to get two Federal credit union charters approved in Demopolis and York and charters have been applied for in Tuscaloosa, Wilcox County and Clarke County. He has also made trips to Huntsville and Auburn to help organize credit unions there; (3) work on school desegregation in the Black Belt; (4) helping with a crisis in Monroe County resulting from a severe beating inflicted upon a Negro resident by the mayor of a town there; (5) extensive involvement in Hale and Perry Counties in attempts to obtain anti-poverty programs. He has been instrumental in forming a Community Action Program in Hale County and also in attempting to obtain a surplus commodities program in Hale County; (6) talks to a number of different groups including ACHR chapters, civil rights groups and numerous other meetings across the Black Belt; (7) extensive travel throughout the Black Belt and many out-of-state trips including two to Washington (one to attend the White House Conference and one to see anti-poverty officials); (8) full-time work for almost three months in 12 Black Belt counties as the "coordinator" of an effort to obtain Negro representation in a very important election conducted by the U. S. Department of Agriculture--the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) elections. He and the Associate Director of ACHR were responsible for obtaining a grant of $1,650.00 for this effort; (9) efforts have been started to begin a farm cooperative and some market development efforts have been made for a co-op in Hale and Perry Counties; (10) working on a $250,000.00 proposal to the Office of Economic Opportunity for a leadership training program for persons from the ten poorest counties in Alabama, which will be funded through Miles College.

THE STATE COUNCIL OFFICE AND STAFF:

Activities and accomplishments of the state council staff (excluding those of the Rural Advancement Project) during the past year include: (1) sponsoring a student conference on human relations which attracted about 80 students and faculty members from 12 different colleges and universities; (2) our annual meeting which was attended by over 200 persons from 40 cities in Alabama. Mrs. Frankie M. Freeman of the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights was the featured speaker and Assistant Attorney General John Doar was present to receive a statement of appreciation from ACHR; (3) monthly newsletters have been sent to all members of ACHR; (4) co-sponsoring two state-wide conferences on school desegregation which were well attended; (5) moving the state office from Huntsville to Auburn in order to have a more central location in the state; (6) helping 1,128 members contribute to a better Alabama; (7) attempting to assist two local chapters in starting credit unions; (8) extensive staff work on the ASCS elections, particularly in Macon County. This work included distributing funds from a $1,650 grant to ASCS workers in eight Black Belt counties; (9) helping the Freedom Quilting Bee, a cooperative composed of poor people in Wilcox County, with organizational matters; (10) representing ACHR at various meetings including the White House Conference, school desegregation conferences, conferences of other organizations and meetings of the Southern Regional Council and the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights and (11) working with local chapters on local activities.

Associate Director
March 29, 1967

but... you will recall that the December Bulletin announced that the 1967 Membership and Financial Drive was then beginning. Since that time all chapters have had challenge meetings. And some of them were very good ones--lots of food, good speakers and, in at least two cases, more pledged contributions than ever before. But it must also be noted that in general both contributions and memberships expecially are not what everyone hoped they would be. Listed below are membership figures by chapter as of March 20--a few memberships have come in since then, so these figures are not absolutely correct. But they do give a pretty good indication of where each chapter stands as of mid-March and of where ACHR's overall membership campaign stands. Lest anyone rise up in arms let us hasten to explain that the figures below indicate only those persons who have paid something. That is, if someone has already pledged a contribution or a membership, but has not yet paid anything on that pledge, that person is not recorded below. But even in view of all that, we're still forced to observe that all is not well with our membership campaign. Not only are we short in the most important category--people; but this shortage also causes financial problems.

So we are making a special appeal right now to all of you who have not yet renewed your 1967 membership and to you who have never joined ACHR, to please do so. If you want to give more than the membership fee, that's great!! But why not at least join up?? We need you, we need your active participation and, frankly, we need your money too. As the figures below indicate, if we reach our membership goal, aside from contributions and other pledges, that in itself will assure us of about $4,300.00 more than we are assured of right now. Naturally we hope that all of our out of state friends and our Alabama friends who live where there is no local ACHR chapter will become members if they haven't already done so.

But we are especially hopeful that all of you who receive this bulletin will send us your membership if you have not already done so. Please fill out the application blank on page 4 and send it to us. We appreciate that. And we think you will too.

ACHR'S OFFICERS AND BOARD

At ACHR's Annual Meeting in February, new officers were elected for 1967. They are as follows: President--Dr. C. G. Gomillion of Tuskegee Institute; Vice-Presidents--Dr. Ray Fowler of Tuscaloosa, Dr. Everett McNair of Talladega and Dr. George H. DeBoer of Florence; Secretary--Mrs. Paul McCoy of Huntsville; Treasurer--Rev. Joseph Ellwanger of Birmingham. At large members of the Executive Committee are Mr. Allen Black, Jr. of Florence, Rev. V. A. Edwards of Tuskegee, Mr. Earl Pippin of Montgomery and Mrs. Bill Reed of Huntsville.

ACHR's Board of Directors is as follows: Class of 1968--Mrs. John Cashin of Huntsville, Mrs. John Drew of Birmingham, Mrs. Grace Hooks of Tuskegee Institute, Rev. Phillip Huckaby of Birmingham, Rev. Duncan Hunter of Florence, Mr. James Kidd of Birmingham, Mr. Allen Parker of Tuskegee, Mrs. Dorothy Raine of Mobile, Mr. Stanley Rosenbaum of Florence, and Mr. S. C. Watkins of Tuscumbia. Class of 1969--Dr. Joseph Bettis of Tuscaloosa, Mr. Allen Black, Jr. of Florence, Dr. L. H. Foster of Tuskegee Institute, Rev. Otis Kirby of Decatur, Dr. Frederick Kraus of Birmingham, Mr. J. E. Pierce of Montgomery, Mr. Earl Pippin of Montgomery, Mrs. Bill Reed of Huntsville, Mr. Don Ring of Huntsville and Mr. Louis Sheffield of Florence; Class of 1970--Mr. Ross Bonner of Tuscaloosa, Dr. George DeBoer of Florence, Mrs. Clifford Durr of Montgomery, Rev. V. A. Edwards of Tuskegee, Mrs. Willie King of Auburn, Mrs. George Lamb of Mobile, Mrs. William Spears of Auburn, Mrs. James Walbert of Birmingham, Mrs. Joe Wilson of Huntsville and Mr. Paul Woolley, Jr. of Montgomery.

IDEAS FOR LOCAL CHAPTERS

Editors note: Mr. Allen Black, Jr., a member of ACHR's executive committee, an executive of the Legal Defense Fund, Inc. and a resident of Florence, Alabama recently outlined to the executive committee of the Muscle Shoals chapter a suggested plan of committee organization in order to activite that chapter. In the belief that this plan has some ideas in it which other chapters might want to adopt, we are summarizing its main features.

1. NEWSLETTER: The first responsibility for a chapter is the preparation of a newsletter relating information about the community in general and chapter activities in particular. It is important that a systematic method for publishing the newsletter be formulated.

2. VOTER REGISTRATION AND EDUCATION: If voter registration programs are adequately executed by other organizations, then the council should conduct clinics on the operation of voting machines, the responsibilities of citizenship and the like.

3. EMPLOYMENT: The council can undertake a statistical survey of the industrial potential in the area. This would involve determining what jobs are available, what training is necessary to attain these jobs, where such training can be acquired and how prospects of the future stability of whatever jobs are available, projections of future indistrail expansion, stated and real polices of companies, unions, and employment agencies, specifics about on the job training or apprenticeship programs, salary breakdowns, opportunities for advancement and instancies of reported discrimination by employers, unions and employment agencies an assessment of the needs and skills of the labor market, securing personnel tests and training people in how to take them, encouraging local citizens to apply for employment and training, sponsoring a career conference between the employers, unions, employment agencies, training agencies and federal fair employment practice enforcement officials.

4. EDUCATION: "Surely our organization should have put forth more diligent efforts to encourage minority transfers, but it is also ture that the whole idea of eliminating the dual system by freedom of choice plan is impractical to say the least. Our responsibility is now to take affirmative action to stimulate our cooperative school boards. The committee (Education Committee) should also attempt to devise alternate methods of achieving the goal of the unified system and to present such schemes to both school officials and federal officials. The committee would also concern itself with the matter of text books being used in our schools." Tutorial programs can also be established. Efforts should be made to insure Negro representation on school boards.

5. TITLE VI: A Title VI committee could concern itself with a number of things (Title VI is that part of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which forbids the use of Federal funds in a discriminatory manner). As reported on these pages earlier,

WANTED: MANAGER FOR COOP

The Rev'd Francis X. Walter, Chariman of the Advisory Committee to the Freedom Quilting Bee, has told us that this cooperative is very much in the market for a manager. We are passing this on to our readers in hopes that they might know someone qualified and interested in such a position. Anyone interested, should write to Rev. Francis Walter at 810-29th Avenue, Tuscaloosa, Alabama-35401. The information below summarizes what the coop is, what kind of job it would be and what kind of person they are looking for.

This person should be willing to serve for at least one year as the supervisor of a cooperative association of Negro women in rural Black Belt Alabama. The coop is now producing quilts, sun bonnets, baskets, pot holders, and other small cloth items. There are currently 150 members residing in Dallas, Marengo, Monroe and Wilcox counties. The center of the coop is in Alberta, Alabama, about 40 miles southwest of Selma. However, on the basis of unsolicited inquiries from Alabama women they feel they could expand throughout central Alabama with the help of a full time Manager. The coop was organized in March 1965 with the help of the Selma Interreligious Project, an ecumenical ministry in Alabama stemming out of the Selma march. The chief sponsor of the Project is the Commission on Religion and Race of the National Council of Churches of Christ.

The following is a description of the person they are looking for. Sex--they think a woman would be better for this job although they would consider a male applicant. Education--a college degree is preferable with a major in design or art. Ability or Experience--any applicant should have some background in design, arts and crafts, needlework or related work. An applicant should also have the ability to the Federal government has done some compliance work with hospitals and nursing homes. In general, however, the government has not yet begun to establish affirmative programs of Title VI compliance with most projects receiving Federal financial assistance. For example, the following projects all receive Federal assistance, but to our knowledge the government has not tapped their Title VI potential: Educational Television, highway construction, airport construction, street construction, sewage installation and services, city water boards, public health departments, public recreation programs, public housing programs and many, many others. Local chapters might look into a few of these programs in their area and communicate their findings to the government, in which case the government would have to investigate.

6. ANTI-POVERTY PROGRAMS: The appropriate committee should attend meetings of the boards governing the use of these funds. The committee should also study news media for reports of new funds and determine their equitable use. A major task would be to assure that the agencies distributing federal funds are themselves not discriminating.

keep a simple set of books and handle business correspondence. Personal characteristics--the members of the coop are all poor people. A manager suited to the coop's needs would of necessity have a great deal more education and sophistication than the members for whom she worked. Such a person would need the patience and humility necessary to live and work among the poor. The members of the coop feel they can work with such a person, though the burden of adaptation would lie more heavily on the manager.

The manager would live in a rural community in Wilcox County. She would have to travel a good bit between the above counties. Her essential job would be to control the quality of the products and to strive to develop markets for those products. She would supervise the filling of orders, shipping of products and the distributing and picking-up of materials among members. She would be expected to be responsible to designers, interior decorators, and others to develop products.

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
QUARTERLY REPORT
April, May and June of 1967

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL

The main projects of the state office during the past quarter have been efforts to desegregate the state mental health facilities and the state industrial schools, limited work with the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association, testimony to the Alabama State Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights about ASCS matters, assisting Attorney Donald Jelinek with planning for a comprehensive research project involving Federal programs in rural areas in four Southern states, assisting the East Alabama chapter with the formation of the newly chartered credit union, efforts in locating an Associate Director, organizing a meeting of ACHR's executive committee and preliminary planning for the 1968 Annual Meeting.

During the past quarter, memorandums about the following topics have been mailed to local chapter presidents: Encouraging them to inform the House Judiciary Subcommittee on Civil Rights that they should consider holding their planned hearing on the school desegregation guidelines in Alabama and the availability of a consultant for planning tutorial programs. Program materials sent to local chapters included: consumer education leaflets; a list of multi-ethnic textbooks and readers; a minimum wage campaign kit; the booklet Know Your Rights; a welfare questionnaire provided by the Georgia Council and a Handbook for local Councils on Human Relations provided by the Arkansas Council.

ACHR continued to receive contributions for the Freedom Quilting Bee. We were also able to secure a foundation grant of $1,000.00 which will be used by The Southern Courier to train human relations interns in journalism. During this quarter, two ACHR Bulletins were published.

THE LOCAL COUNCILS

Birmingham: The April meeting featured a talk by Attorney Demetrius Newton entitled School Desegregation--Answers Now--Problems Later. He discussed the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals school desegregation decision. In April the executive committee nominated Mr. Newton to the Young Men's Business Club as their selection for Man-of-the-Year. However, due to a mix-up on dates, the nomination was delivered too late for consideration this year. The Birmingham chapter's May newsletter dovoted a full page to discussing the various aspects of Equal Employment Opportunities. Their May meeting was devoted to The Employment Situation in Jefferson County and was addressed by two Urban League representatives. During the past quarter, this chapter's main program emphasis has been school desegregation and quality education programs.

East Alabama: Project Headstart is a continuing project of this chapter. The main project this quarter has been the newly chartered Federal credit union--the East Alabama Federal Credit Union. The major attention in the past few weeks has been intensive work in preparation for the organizational meeting, which will be held in mid-July. Headstart employees are informing Headstart parents about the credit union and a nominating committee is now concentrating on preparing a list of nominees for the Board of Directors, the Credit Committee and the Supervisory Committee. The chapter is currently co-sponsoring with the American Ethical Union a tutorial program in Lee and Macon Counties. In May, the chapter sponsored a Voter Education Forum which included panelists from Tuskegee Institute, the Tuskegee Civic Association, Auburn University and the Auburn League of Women Voters. A chapter ad hoc committee is currently investigating and publicizing its findings about recent police harassment and brutality.

Huntsville: This chapter is continuing with its study hall project they will be operated through the summer. The main project this quatrer has been intensive door-to-door school desegregation project. The April meeting featured a panel duscussion with representativies from the Community Service Committee, the NAACP, the Sisters of Concern Club, the Madison County Voters League and the League of Women Voters. Each representative discussed their own organization's goals, special interests, projects and methods of operation. Information on the Job Corps has been disseminated through the April Bulletin and by chapter members. In May, the monthly meeting was addressed by Anthony Rachal, Jr., who is the Special Assistant for Equal Employment Opportunity for the Civil Service Commission. The June meeting heard George Brakefield of the Huntsville Housing Authority talk about the status of low income housing in Huntsville. Huntsville's June bulletin says "an assessment of our family visitation project reveals worthwhile results--the most concrete of which are 673 requests for transfer to integrated schools so far received.. Approximately 60 people have taken part so far." The chapter is now finishing a similar project in the Madison County School System.

Mobile: This chapter's April meeting was addressed by the Rev. William Aldering, SSJ and the Rev. Brett Smith, who spoke about The Ecumenical Institute: You Can Bend History. The Ecumenical Institute is an organization of men and women of all faiths who believe that the mission of the church is to achieve a better life for people by removing the barriers of poor education, segregation, and unemployment. On April 3, an ad appeared in the Mobile Press-Register written by the Rev. John Thompson and signed by thirty Mobilians, many of them Council members. It stated in part "We the undersigned members of the Mobile community, express our dismay at the speech of Gov. Lurleen Wallace, delivered to the Legislature on Thursday evening, March 30. Though not surprised, we are nonetheless heartsick that once again our state administration has led us down the dead-end path of defiance." On April 11, a similar ad was run with 489 signatures. Much of this was coordinated by Mobile chapter members. In April, the chapter also distributed a questionnaire designed to find out the extent to which children are bussed to maintain segregated schools. At the May meeting, three representatives of the Mobile Housing Board spoke about Urban Renewal and Low-Cost Housing in Mobile. In june the annual chapter picnic was held.

Montgomery: Although we have no definite information about the Montgomery chapter's monthly meeting this quarter, we do know that they have been held.

Muscle Shoals: This chapter has become quite active during the past quarter. They have begun a monthly newsletter and they have activated their committee system. In their May meeting, the Alabama school system was discussed by a panel of persons from the U.S. Office of Education, the Legal Defense Fund, the Probate Judge's office, and Florence State College. At this time, the Housing Committee became active and remains so. The Federal Programs Committee decided to place primary emphasis on implementing Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964. The June meeting was addressed by Judge Emmett Roden, who talked about the U.S. Fifth Circuit Court of Appeals' school desegregation decision. The Employment committee began working in May on a survey to determine the availability of jobs in the Muscle Shoals area, to register qualified people now unemployed and to locate opportunities for training for jobs available. They have also planned a detailed job-readiness program which will help job seekers prepare for employment tests and interviews and will acquaint them with opportunities.

Tuscaloosa: The May meeting was devoted to forming task forces in the areas of headstart, employment and housing. The June meeting was about Urban Renewal. The Tuscaloosa chapter has a committee working with the Community Interest Corps in contacting employers, finding employment opportunities and they may get involved in union hiring practices. They have also helped obtain volunteer drivers and other volunteers for the Headstart program.

Talladega: Talladega chapter members were instrumental in helping obtain a Voter Education Project grant of over $2,300.00 from the Southern Regional Council. The grant was sent to the Talladega Improvement Association.

THE STAFF

The Director

The three major program interests this quarter have been agricultural projects and research concerning the white boy's and white girls' industrial schools located in Birmingham and research concerning the State Board of Mental Health.

The agricultural projects were (1) researching and testifing about ASCS matters in Alabama to the Alabama Advisory Committee to the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights and (2) helping Attorney Donald Jelinek prepare an extensive questionnaire concerning the programs, benefits and services of the various agencies within the U.S. Department of Agriculture. The research mentioned above concerning various state insitutions was forwarded to the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc. They will use this and other information in desegregation suits.

Trips included a few to Selma, one to Jackson, Mississippi, some to Montgomery to meet with HEW and Department of Justice representatives, to make preliminary plans for the Annual Meeting, to act as a resource person at a meeting of the Alabama State Teachers Association, to meet with state ASCS officials and to meet with the Montgomery chapter president; to Tuscaloosa to meet with that chapter's executive committee; to Tuskegee to meet with the West Macon Parents Association and to speak to a meeting of the American Ethical Union; to Birmingham to attend one of that chapter's monthly meetings, to obtain information about the industrial schools and the mental health system, to appear on radio station WATV for a two hour discussion; to Huntsville to attend two monthly meetings and one executive committee meeting and to help plan their school desegregation project; to Florence to meet with local chapter representatives; and two trips to Atlanta to meet with other state council directors and for a meeting of the National Sharecroppers Fund.

THE RURAL ADVANCEMENT PROJECT DIRECTOR

As noted in the previous quarterly report, the RAP Director was then and continues to work full-time with the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association. This work has included helping them get badly needed loans, and markets and also helping to sell seed and fertilizer to SWAFCA members. He has also done a great deal of work now that SWAFCA is purchasing cucumbers and other produce from its members.

During the past quarter, he has been all over the Black Belt, to Gasden, Montgomery, Florence (to speak to an ACHR meeting), to Birmingham a few times for co-op or ACHR business, to Atlanta for a meeting with the National Sharecroppers Fund and to Virginia where he spoke to a seminar about credit unions.

Although SWAFCA has taken almost all of his time, he has done limited work on credit union business. He is also helping to organize a sewing club in Greene County.

Ala- QUARTERLY REPORTS

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
QUARTERLY REPORT
July, August and September of 1967

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL

The main projects of the state office during the past quarter have been primarily of an administrative, rather than program, nature.

The office was moved to a different location in Auburn on August 1. Mr. William Harrison assumed the position of Associate Director on August 15. 185 personal letters were mailed to persons who had not renewed their 1967 memberships and to date, 95 personal letters have been mailed to persons who are delinquent on their 1967 pledges (these letters remind persons of their pledge and inquire about whether or not the pledge will be payed). During the past quarter one newsletter was published.

Additional office work was required in preparation for (1) the seminar for local chapter presidents held in Birmingham on September 27 and (2) the semi-annual Board of Directors meeting held in Birmingham on September 30, 1967 (minutes enclosed).

Since August 1, the East Alabama Federal Credit Union has been sharing the state office thereby requiring some additional time and effort on the part of the state staff.

ACHR continued to receive contributions for the Freedom Quilting Bee. We have also received one contribution from the Southern Regional Council for the Green-Hale Sewing Center--a newly organized sewing cooperative (see below for details).

THE LOCAL COUNCILS

Birmingham: The June meeting featured a discussion by Mr. Ted Seaver who resides in Jackson, Mississippi. His topic was welfare rights; his main point was that persons need to learn how to use the welfare regulations in order to obtain for clients the rights and benefits to which they are entitled. In July, the chapter heard Capt. Glenn V. Evans of the Birmingham Police Department, Police-Community Relations Division. This is a new division of the Police Department and its purpose is to establish communications, confidence and understanding between the community and the law. The September meeting was addressed by a panel of attorneys, students and parents; the topic was "Progress and Action in (School) Desegregation".

The Birmingham chapter's main program concerns the past quarter have been (1) cooperating in a four week basic skills program intended especially for junior high students who are attending desegregated schools this fall; (2) helping to organize a Job Corps Support Project which is an organization to work with returnees from Job Corps centers and (3) hosting the September 29 meeting of local chapter president. The Rev. Joseph Ellwanger, a long time supporter and current president of the Birmingham chapter has moved to Milwaukee--a testimonial dinner was given for him by the chapter in August. During this quarter, the Birmingham chapter became one of two chapters in the state to exceed their 1967 financial quota.

East Alabama: During the summer months this chapter does not hold monthly meetings. Project Headstart is a continuing project of this chapter. During the past quarter, much time has been spent with the newly organized East Alabama Federal Credit Union. This chapter concluded a tutorial project in Shorter, Alabama, Tuskegee and Auburn and a playschool project in Tuskegee and Shorter, both of which were cosponsored with the American Ethical Union. The chapter also cosponsored with the American Ethical Union a trip for five children to two summer camps in New York. Also concluded was an investigation of the Lee County Sherrif's Department--the issue was alleged brutality; after the investigation was completed, the victim refused to press the case so it has been tentatively dropped.

Huntsville: The July meeting featured a talk by Mr. Lloyd Christopher of the U.S. Department of Labor; Wage, Hour & Public Contracts Division. He talked about the new wage and hour legislation and answered a number of questions. The employment committee presented its plans for action to the Council at this time. August was the time for the chapter's annual picnic. In September, Captain Barney Harding discussed the problems, policies and practices of the Huntsville Police Department.

Program emphasis during the past quarter has been (1) helping to obtain funds for and to execute a Voter Registration project and (2) continuing the study hall project--this year there are three centers which meet a total of three nights a week.

Mobile: The July meeting was about "Human Relations: Where Are We Going From Here?" Mr. Numa Rousseve, Director of Project Headstart at St. Vincent's Center was the discussion leader. Program emphasis during the past quarter has been voter registration, a continuation of the study hall project and establishing a welfare committee which will concentrate on helping persons appeal who have been denied welfare.

Montgomery: The September meeting was devoted to organizational purposes. This chapter is currently looking into a non-profit housing program. And a number of persons, both "old" members and new prospects, are currently being recruited with an active year envisioned. The Montgomery chapter is the second chapter to pass its financial quota.

Muscle Shoals: In July, Mr. Michael Rosenbaum told of his experiences at Friends World College. The Annual Picnic was held in August. And in September Father Brice Joyce returned as that meeting's speaker. Also at the September meeting, committee chairmanships were assigned.

The main program this quarter has been extensive activity on the part of the employment committee. The housing committee has also become quite active in recent months.

Tuscaloosa: The subject for the August meeting was a discussion of employment opportunities in Tuscaloosa. In July, candidates for a special election for state representative attended a meeting to explain their views and platforms. In the September meeting, three committees were established and the chairmen appointed. These committees are Credit Union, Urban Renewal and School Desegregation.

THE STAFF

The Director

The main program concern this quarter has been the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service elections in Macon County. Much time was spent in helping to organize and carry out an election campaign with the goal of getting a Negro elected to the County ASCS Committee. (It should be noted that this ASCS effort lost again this year--but this time by the margin of 35 votes out of over 1,000 votes cast. And the entire election is now under appeal becaus of alleged irregularities). It is hoped that the work put into this effort by the state staff will result in a strengthening of the East Alabama chapter because of the increased involvement in the ASCS project on the part of Tuskegee persons who in the past have had no contact with the Council.

Trips included: (1) three to Birmingham to attend the testimonial dinner for Rev. Ellwanger, to attend a meeting of the local executive committee and to attend the seminar for local presidents and the Board of Directors meeting; (2) one to Lanett, Alabama to check out the possibility of finding persons to testify in court about that school system's freedom of choice plan; (3) one to Tuscaloosa to attend a local executive committee meeting and to conclude research on the Alabama Board of Mental Health and to meet with a Freedom Quilting Bee representative; (4) one to Lowndes County to gather information about that county's school system; (5) one to Selma to meet with the executive committee of the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association; (6) one to Atlanta to meet with representative of HEW and the Legal Defense Fund to discuss problems concerning school desegregation in Alabama and (7) one to Gatlinburg, Tennessee for a three day "retreat" attended by the staffs of the Southern Regional Council and the state councils on human relation.

The Associate Director

The Associate Director, while in Auburn, has spent a good deal of time becoming acquainted with the operation of the state office, of Lee County Headstart and of the local chapter and its members. He also spent much time in Macon County working on the ASCS elections.

The Associate Director is a member of the executive committee and Board of Directors of the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association and also of the Advisory Committee of the Southern Federation of Cooperatives. These positions have required many trips to Selma to attend SWAFCA meeting and trips to Jackson and McComb, Mississippi to attend Federation meetings. One result of the Federation meetings has been that seven persons have been hired by the Federation to work with SWAFCA and the Southeast Alabama Self-Help Association (SEASHA)--twelve county association recently organized.

Other trips include: One to Tuscaloosa to meet with that chapter's September meeting, one to Birmingham to attend the seminar for local presidents and the Board of Directors, and several to Choctaw County which were made in an effort to help solve several school problems in that County (A direct result of that work was a court ruling updating that school system's school desegregation plan) and one trip to Gatlinburg, Tennessee to attend the "retreat" mentioned above.

The Rural Advancement Project Director

During the past quarter the main emphasis of the RAP has been the establishment of a Green-Hale Sewing Cooperative. This is a new coop which the RAP Director has helped organize and to which he has given a great deal of time and effort. It is now a going concern. The Southern Regional Council has made a grant of $500 to the coop. As in the past, another continuing RAP program has been working with SWAFCA--the need for assistance is not as great as it once was, but the need is still definitely there.

As with the Associate Director, another area of continuing attention has been the Federation of Coops. The RAP Director has been to Jackson, Mississippi and to Louisiana in connection with this project due to the fact that he is on the executive committee of the Federation.

Trips this quarter include: (1) one to Columbia, South Carolina to attend a Credit Union meeting; (2) many to all counties in the West Black Belt area--primarily on SWAFCA business; (3) a few to Tuskegee to get help for the sewing coop from Tuskegee Mills; (4) a few to Birmingham one of which was to attend the ACHR Board of Directors meeting; (5) one to Atlanta to attend a meeting of the National Sharecroppers Fund and (6) one to Gatlinburg, Tennessee to attend the above mentioned "retreat."

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS

QUARTERLY REPORT

October, November and December of 1967

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL

The main projects of the state office during the past quarter have been threefold: (1) Programmatic; (2) Preparations and meetings concerning the 1968 Membership and Financial Campaign and (3) Preparations for the 1968 Annual Meeting.

Programs: The main program concerns have been the following (see below for additional details about some of these programs): (1) Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) elections in Macon County. The August and September effort to elect a Negro to this county committee failed. But after examining the election returns everyone involved in the effort was convinced that fraud and incompetency on the part of ASCS election officials was responsible for the defeat. So the election was appealed to the State ASC Committee. The State Committee heard the appeal on November 8 and 9 and denied the appeal on December 14. The election is now under appeal to ASCS in Washington, D. C.: (2) Voter Registration in Lee County. ACHR's staff was responsible for getting about 700 Lee County residents registered to vote in a four-week period in October and November; (3) we continue to work with the East Alabama Federal Credit Union: (4) the staff worked closely with the Citizens Crusade Against Poverty's Board of Inquiry on Hunger and Malnutrition. Much of our time was spent in locating persons to go to a hearing held by the Board of Inquiry in Birmingham in November; (5) the staff worked with a CBS television crew by directing them to persons (mainly white) for purposes of interviewing them and filming some of them for a documentary program on Hunger and Malnutrition; (6) the entire staff, particulary the Associate Director and RAP Director, worked closely with the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association; (7) much time was spent in working with three or four of the local chapter's presidents and executive committees. This work was oriented primarily towards selected local chapter projects and the 1968 Financial campaign; (8) some time was spent working with the Southern Regional Council and other State Council Directors in attempting to contribute to solving mutual problems.

1968 Membership and Financial Campaign: Preparations for 1968's Campaign have been slightly different than in previous years. The main difference has been that this year the Director has met with nearly every chapter's executive committee / financial committee and planned the campaign with them (in previous years this has been done mainly through the mail). However, the same basic plan--advance gifts, personal solicitations, Annual Dinners and follow-up visits--is still emphasized. The State Office also spent more time this year in helping chapters obtain Annual Dinner speakers. And the State President and staff are working to establish--for the first time--a state-wide Special Gifts Committee which will work on a year-to-year basis rather than only in December, January and February. Also for the first time the executive committee appointed a three-person 1968 Budget Committee which will submit a recommended budget to the Board of Directors and which has already determined the 1968 Membership and Financial quotas for each chapter (see attached list).

Preparations for the 1968 Annual Meeting: Much time has been spent in an attempt to obtain Sen. Eugene McCarthy as the Annual Meeting speaker on February (even at this late date we still have no definite committment or refusal); arrangements with the Stafford Hotel in Tuscalloosa have been made; the Director, as ex officio chairman of the 1968 Nominations Committee, has been working,as instructed by the committee, on putting together a slate of nominees for ACHR's 1968 Officers and Board Members; a panel to present a "seminar" or "think-session" on the morning of Saturday, February 3 has been selected--the panel will consist of Mr. Paul Anthony, Mr. Allen Black, Jr., Mr. Joe L. Reed and Rev. T. Y. Rogers.

ACHR's Executive Committee met in November. ACHR continued to receive contributions for the Freedom Quilting Bee. During the past quarter one issue of the ACHR Bulletin was published.

THE LOCAL COUNCILS

Birmingham: The October meeting featured a panel of persons discussing the employment situation in Birmingham. The panelists represented the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, the Alabama Employment Service, the Jefferson County OEO, the Birmingham Opportunity Industrialization Center, the Urban League and the Birmingham Council. In November the Rev. Francis X. Walter, Director of the Selma Inter-Religious Project, spoke at the monthly meeting. He discussed his work and some of the self-help efforts with which he is associated in the Black Belt. This chapter continues its study halls for students who need academic assistence. This chapter has recently started holding its meetings at different places in the city, rather than at the same place each time.

EAST ALABAMA: The October meeting featured summary reports of the progress and problems of the Credit Union, and a report about the September State Board of Directors meeting and a report on the Lee County Headstart Project which is a continuing project of this chapter. In November a panel of persons who were active in the ASCS election efforts in Macon County talked about ASCS matters. An ASCS committee was established and a committee chairman was appointed to serve as a regular chapter committee.

Huntsville: The main projects of this chapter during the past quarters have been (1) co-sponsoring a voter registration campaign, (2) continuing the study hall project and (3) recruiting for Job Corps Women. In November, William Starnes, the new Director of City Planning, spoke to the chapter. In December the Annual Christmas Party was held.

MOBILE: In October Mr. Norman Davis, Director of the Mobile Area Community Action Committee, spoke to the Council about the structure and functions of MACAC. This chapter has also been working on improving the services and benefits of the Food Stamp program once it becomes operative (in the near future) in Mobile County.

Montgomery: During the past quarter this chapter has been quite successful in its efforts to build a stronger base of members and finances; this has been its major emphasis for some months. They have also held monthly meetings one of which was addressed by ACHR's Director. The main program interests have been housing and political education.

Muscle Shoals: This chapter's housing and employment committees continue to be quite active on a day-to day basis. Meetings have been held monthly but our files contain no information about specific topics.

Tuscaloosa: This chapter sponsored two meetings in October. The first was addressed by Mr. Hal McCall of the Tuscaloosa Housing Authority--he spoke about Urban Development Plans and Relocation Problems in Tuscaloosa. The second meeting, which was about credit unions, featured a panel composed of the U. S. Examiner of Federal Credit Unions for Central Alabama, a representative of the Alabama Credit Union League, and the President of the Tuscaloosa Chapter of the Alabama Credit Union League.

Note : It should be noted that every chapter, with no exceptions, has spent a good deal of time and effort, especially in December, in planning for and actively working on the 1968 Membership and Financial Campaign.

THE STAFF

The Director

Much of the Director's time was spent working with projects mentioned above. Other items included attending meetings in Atlanta of the Advisory Committee to the Southern Rural Research Project and attending the Annual Meeting of the Southern Regional Council; in Nashville, Tennessee of some of the State Directors; in Montgomery of the Southern Federation of Cooperatives, and a meeting of a team of officials of the Office of Civil Rights of HEW in Selma for SWAFCA'S Open House; and in Birmingham of ACHR's Executive Committee. During the past three months the Director met with the Executive Committees of Birmingham's chapter twice, East Alabama's twice, Huntsville's once, Mobile's twice, Muscle Shoals' once and Tuscaloosa's once.

The Associate Director

Much of the Associate Director's time was spent working with projects mentioned above. Other items included many trips to and meetings in Black Belt Counties and one to Chicago as a result of his membership on the Executive Board of SWAFCA; a few trips to Montgomery and Tuskegee with projects connected with the Southern Federation of Cooperatives; a trip to Jackson, Mississippi to testify to a hearing held by the National Education Association concerning school desegregation; several trips to Choctaw and Marengo Counties to obtain complaints and signatures of persons who believe they have been discriminated against by certain pulp and paper industries--these complaints have been forwarded to the Legal Defense Fund, Inc. which is currently contemplating additional steps against the companies. He also attended the meeting of ACHR's executive committee in Birmingham.

The Associate Director, working full-time for a four week period, was directly responsible for the success of the above mentioned Voter Registration project in Lee County.

The Rural Advancement Project Director

As with the Associate Director the Director of RAP has continued to work very closely with SWAFCA and with the Southern Federation of Cooperatives. He has made many trips and attended countless meetings in all of the SWAFCA counties. He also continues to spend much time with the Green-Hale Sewing Cooperative. He has also spoken to a mass meeting about voter registration in Lee County, attended and spoken to meetings in Tuskegee of the Southeast Alabama Self-help Association (SEASHA), and he has attended meetings in Montgomery and Tuskegee of the Southern Federation of Cooperatives.

Ala - REPORTS

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS, INC.

PROGRESS REPORT

JANUARY 1967 to JANUARY 1968

INTRODUCTION

On the next three pages you will read about some of the projects which the State Office and Staff of the Alabama Council on Human Relations have been involved with during the past year.

We think we have reasons to be proud of what we have done during the past twelve months. This is particularly true in view of the fact that, although we have a limited budget and a limited staff, we still manage to conduct a state-wide program. And we are convinced that this program has contributed to a different and better Alabama.

But, at at the same time, we realize that we have not done nearly enough.

The problems of poverty and hunger and alienation and racism still run rampant throughout our state, our region and the nation. Justice, freedom and decent behaviour to everyone are the exception rather than the rule.

However, in spite of the sad state of human relations in Alabama, we need to continue our efforts. We hope you will help us, both financially and by personal involvement, to achieve a just and free society.

LOCAL CHAPTERS

The main value and the most important strength of the Council is that it enables local people to work together in an attempt to educate their own community--local chapters educate the community in their monthly meetings; they also "educate" by means of committees which work on community problems on a permanent basis.

The State Council survives only because local Councils survive: and the Local Councils survive because of assistance rendered them by the State Office.

Local chapters work on a wide variety of problems. Some work on School desegregation and quality education, others on fair employment, most work with local anti-poverty programs, one is working on ASCS elections, some work on fair housing or voter registration or political education, some are concerned with food stamp and surplus commodities projects, one is engaged with a "model neighborhoods" program.

There are many other local chapter activities--the above list gives some examples. But the most important fact is that local chapters exist; they do work on projects; they are concerned about problems; communities are not allowed to ignore their problems.

At the present time, there are eight local chapters in Alabama. We hope to establish three or four more before January of 1969.

There can be no question but that all chapters could do more things and could do them better. This is where you come in--only by the active involvement and assistance of more persons will it be possible for local Councils on Human Relations to more closely realize their potential.

THE STATE COUNCIL

1967's Major Projects

Some of the more important items which ACHR worked on in 1967 represented major contributions in solving some of Alabama's problems.

(1) ACHR's staff, in close cooperation with the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., conducted in-depth studies of certain public agencies. This information was used to take these institutions to court in order to desegregate and equalize them. Studies were made of The Alabama State Blind and Deaf Schools, the Alabama Mental Health Hospitals, the three Alabama Industrial Schools, and the Barbour and Bullock County School Systems.

(2) ACHR's staff assisted residents of Macon County, for the second consecutive year, in their effort to elect a Negro to the powerful and vital County Committee of the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service. 36 votes (out of over 1,000 cast) prevented this effort from succeeding.

(3) All three of ACHR's staff members spent many months of work with the newly organized Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association--a vegetable producing and marketing low-income coop in twelve of Alabama's poorest counties . One staff member is on SWAFCA's Executive Committee and another is a full-time "coordinator" with SWAFCA.

(4) ACHR sponsored its Annual Meeting in Birmingham in February, 1967. The State Office helped all local councils to sponsor their Annual Dinners in January, 1967.

(5) Two of ACHR's staff members are working closely with the Southern Federation of Cooperatives--a South wide organization of low-income cooperatives. This work includes supervising six full-time field workers.

(6) ACHR received contributions during most of 1967 for the Freedom Quilting Bee--a low-income coop in the Wilcox County area,

(7) One of ACHR's staff members has been responsible for the formation and maintenance of the Greene-Hale Sewing Center.

(8) ACHR's staff continues to work closely with the credit union movement in Hale, Lee, Marengo, Monroe, Sumter and Wilcox counties.

(9) ACHR's staff has been instrumental in a successful voter registration campaign in Lee County; we also worked closely with the ACHR sponsored Lee County Headstart Project,

(10) In addition to the above, ACHR during the past year has also worked with the American Friends Service Committee, the U.S.Commission on Civil Rights, the Columbia Broadcasting System, the Equal Educational Opportunities Program, the Southeast Alabama Self-help Association and the Southern Regional Council.

SPEAKER IS BROOKS HAYS

The final plans for the Annual Meeting of the Alabama Council on Human Relations have now been made!! We think we have put together a most stimulating and interesting program for this year's meeting. We hope that you will be able to attend and bring interested friends.

The meeting will be held in Tuscaloosa at the Stafford Hotel on Friday and Saturday, February 2 and 3, 1968. The Friday night portion of the Annual Meeting will consist only of a meeting of ACHR's Board of Directors, but that meeting will be open to the public. It will begin at 8:00 p.m. On Saturday, February 3, the first item on the agenda is the seminar described below--it will begin at 9:30 a.m. and will last until 11:30 a.m. The next topic on the agenda is the speech by Mr. Brooks Hays--it will begin at 1:00 p.m. The final topic on the agenda is the Annual Business Session, which will begin immediately after the speaker finishes.

The main speaker for the Annual Dinner will be Brooks Hays. Mr. Hays has both an interesting and provocative background. And, we might observe, his present activities also insure a stimulating talk. For many years, Mr. Hays was a U.S. Representative from the great state of Arkansas. He became nationally known during his years as Congressman as a "moderate" voice--at a time when moderation was all too seldom manifested. His tenure was cut short when he lost his seat in Congress due to the fact that his positions on race and decency were far ahead of the voters.'

MEMBER$, MONEY AND MEETING$

Well, folks, it's that time of year again. This is when we are all able to take one kind of accurate measurement of how folks are thinking in Alabama and elsewhere. Of course, we're talking about the 1968 Membership and Financial Drive and the opportunity provided by it to allow people to indicate their concern about questions of justice, dignity and community.

By this time all chapters have made final plans for their 1968 campaign. They have all finished or are in the process of finishing their advanced gifts drive, some have already had their Annual Dinners and others will have their's later this month.

On January 4, the Muscle Shoals Chapter held their Annual Dinner. Mr. John Lewis, former head of the Student Non-violent Coordinating Committee and currently with the Southern Regional Council was the main speaker. Approximately 80 persons were in attendance and over $1,600 were pledged or paid at that dinner. The East Alabama Council had its dinner on January 11. State Senator Tom Radney was the main speaker. There were over 70 persons in attendance and about $1,500 were pledged or paid.

At the present time, Mr. Hays is a lecturer at Rutgers University, a founder and moving spirit of the newly organized Southern Committee on Politic Ethics, and he is also head of the Southern Baptist Convention. While all of these things indicate that Mr. Hays will have a message for us, one other thing needs to be observed--not only is he know as an excellent and thoughtful speaker, but one of his strengths is his ability to sprinkle throughout his speeches a good bit of humor, political anecdotes, and just plain old common sense. We know you will enjoy hearing him.

As if the speech by Hays is not enough, we are doing something different this year to further the effort to "take stock of where we are" in the latter part of the 1960's. Everyone is aware of the fact that things in this country are not like they used to be back in the good ole days of 1964 or '65 or'66. The nation's mood, its priorities, its concern about our concerns, the U.S. Congress, the urban rebellions, national polls, this state's administration and many other factors all thoroughly demonstrate that attitudes and concerns are changing fast and polarizing. It is with this in mind that we are having a seminar or "think session" as a major part of this year's Annual Meeting. Most of you will recall that for the past few years, we have had workshops on the Saturday morning of each Annual Meeting--they were held at the same time and usually concerned employment, education, voting, housing, health and welfare and other similar items. This year we are not going to have workshops mainly because we feel at this time a serious need for taking stock of where we are and the relevancy of all of this to the Council and to other organizations.

So, this year, Saturday morning's session will consist of a two-hour seminar. The main speaker will be Dr. Paul Anthony, Executive Director of the Atlanta based Southern Regional Council. Other participants on the panel will be the Rev. T. Y. Rogers, Director of Affiliates for the Southern Christian Leadership Conference (SCLC) and also pastor of the First African Baptist Church in Tuscaloosa, Alabama; Mr. Allen Black, Jr., Regional Director, Division of Information, NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., Memphis, Tennessee; Attorney Donald A. Jelinek, Director of the Southern Rural Research Project, Selma, Alabama. The panel will be chaired by Dr. Ray Fowler, head of the Department of Psychology, University of Alabama.

At this writing, the exact topic and subject at the seminar are uncertain. But we can tell you two things: (1) we promise that the above mentioned panel members--each of them well qualified to discuss various aspects of the current scene, will present a most worthwhile seminar and (2) you may be assured that an integral part of this session will be that of participation on the part of everyone present. Each speaker will devote only a small amount of time to addressing the audience--the bulk of the seminar will be devoted to dialogue between the panel members and the audience. A splendid time is guaranteed for all.

Although we don't know at this time what other persons of varying degrees of fame will be in attendance at this meeting, we do know that there will be some. The presence of Mr. Hays will probably attract certain political and educational leaders from around the state; the presence of the above mentioned panel members will attract similar and other persons. Viewing the various speakers as a group, it is obvious that there are many differences in both their background, their philosophy and their overall orientation. One is engaged in politics, two in civil rights, one in law and one heads up the foremost, largest and oldest civil rights human/relations agency in the South.

Unlike previous Annual Meetings, there will be no luncheon session this year. This is primary for three reasons: (1) it is difficult to estimate the number of persons who will be eating; (2) Mr. Hays' schedule is such that he will be unable to get to Tuscaloosa by lunch time and (3) we hope that by not having a luncheon session some persons who may not otherwise attend the main address will do so.

Immediately following Mr. Hays' address, the regular business session of the Alabama Council on Human Relations will take place. The highlights of this sessic will be an address by Dr. C. G. Gomillion, out-going and twice president of the Council; a report of the 1968 Budget Committee, a report of the 1968 Nominations Committee and the subsequent election of 1968 officers.

For those of you who will be arriving in Tuscaloosa on Friday night, please be advised that the ACHR Board of Directors will be having its regular semi-annual meeting at the Stafford Hotel, beginning at 8:00 p.m., and each of you are invited to attend this meeting. Also be advised that for early arrivals on Friday night, there will be a reception immediately following the Board of Directors meeting (consult the hotel bulletin board for the exact room number of both of these functions).

The Birmingham Council will have their Annual Dinner on January 30 and their speaker will be Mr. Joe Reed, Executive Director of the Alabama State Teachers Association. The Talladega Council will have their Annual Meeting on Wednesday, January 24. Mr. Ed Stanfield, former Director of the Alabama Council and now Field Director of the Southern Regional Council will be the main speaker. The Huntsville Council's Annual Dinner will be held on January 31. The Rev. Ralph Abernathy of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference will be the speaker. Mr. David Vann, a Birmingham lawyer and chairman of the newly organized Alabama Independent Democratic Party (AIDP) will address the Annual Dinner of the Montgomery Council on January 25. The date for the Mobile Council's dinner and their speaker are uncertain at this writing. The Tuscaloosa Council will have their dinner sometime in February.

The two charts below should give our readers an accurate picture of the success of the 1967 campaign and of the goals of the 1968 campaign. It should be noted that our present rebate system calls for each local chapter to receive back 10% of all they have helped raise. And after their goal is reached, they will receive back 75%. Both the Birmingham and the Montgomery Chapters surpassed their 1967 goals. We liked that. And so did the chapters 'cause their treasuries are now bulging ready to do great things.

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS

QUARTERLY REPORT

January, February and March of 1968

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL

I. INTRODUCTION:

Listed below are the three general areas of concern with which the state office has been concerned during the past quarter.

II. ANNUAL MEETINGS AND FUND RAISING:

A. During January all but one local chapter held their Annual Dinner and initiated and continued their 1968 membership and fund raising campaign. The Muscle Shoals, Huntsville, Birmingham and Montgomery Dinners were particularly well attended. Due to the difference in approach by local chapters there were varying degrees of success with regard to membership and fund raising results.

B. At the ACHR Executive Committee meeting in Birmingham on March 9, the Committee established, provided guidelines to and appointed the Chairman for the Special Gifts Committee. At that same meeting the Committee did the same for a Finances Committee.

C. On February 2 & 3 ACHR's annual meeting was held in Tuscaloosa, Ala. Approximately 200-250 persons from most areas of the state attended this meeting.

III. COOPERATIVE EFFORTS WITH OTHER ORGANIZATIONS:

A. We continue to work with the East Alabama Federal Credit Union.

B. The entire staff, particulary the Associate Director, continues to work closely with the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association.

C. The entire staff is working closely with the Regional Office of the Legal Defense Fund in its newly initiated Pulp & Paper Project. This project has as its goals the elimination of segregation and discriminatory practices in some ten (10) pulp & paper plants in the state.

D. ACHR's Director has helped formed an Association of State Council Directors and has been named treasurer of that Association. The purpose of forming this group is primarily one of attempting to attract foundation support for the state councils.

E. The state office has worked closely with Atty. Donald A. Jelinek making preparations for the suit which he recently brought in Washington, D. C. against the U. S. Department of Agriculture concerning inadequacies in that Department's food policies and programs.

F. The staff has worked with Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr.'s Poor Peoples Campaign, primarily in the area of fund raising.

G. We have provided to the Penn Community Center of Frogmore, South Carolina a comprehensive list of community contacts. The Penn Community Center is conducting a ten week training session in community organization and local leadership development; our list was one of possible trainees.

H. ACHR continued to receive contributions for the Freedom Quilting Bee during the past quarter. ACHR's associate director and RAP director continue to work closely with the Federation of Southern Cooperatives and the Southern Cooperative Development Program.

IV. INTERNAL OPERATIONS:

A. On February 2 ACHR's Board of Directors held its semi-annual meeting in Tuscaloosa, Alabama.

B. ACHR's Executive Committee met in Birmingham on March 9, 1968.

C. On March 8 most local chapter presidents met with ACHR's staff in Birmingham.

D. In early March ACHR's director submitted his resignation to the Board of Directors, effective May 1, 1968.

E. During the past quarter ACHR has employed a new Office Secretary.

F. The Personnel Selection Committee, appointed by the Executive Committee, has been authorized to locate, interview and hire a new director.

G. During the past quarter one issue of the ACHR's Bulletin was published.

THE LOCAL COUNCILS:

Birmingham: In January this chapter held its Annual Dinner. The main speaker was Mr. Joe L. Reed, executive secretary of the Alabama State Teachers Association. Over 200 persons attended this dinner. The March meeting was devoted to a speech by Mr. B. L. Chaney who works for JACS (a project to support returning Job Corps Trainees) from Atlanta, Georgia. 1968 officers were also elected at this meeting.

In January the executive committee of the Birmingham chapter agreed that they would undertake one major project for the year. This project is devoted to an across the board effort to have an significant impact upon the employment policies of major employers in the Birmingham area.

EAST ALABAMA: This chapter's January Challenge Dinner was addressed by State Senator Tom Radney. Over 80 persons were in attendance. The March meeting heard a discussion on problems of education, local taxation and other matters related to state and local financing of the public school system. During this quarter this chapter has been spending some time in attempting to get its Executive Committee organized and effective.

HUNTSVILLE: The January Dinner was addressed by Rev. Ralph Abernathy from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference. Approximately 150 persons were in attendance. In February White Power was the subject of a talk by Miss Winifred Green of the American Friends Service Committee, Atlanta, Georgia. In March the Rev. Francis X. Walter, director of the Selma Inter-Religious Project, was the main speaker. This chapter continues to support the Sister of Concern Domestic Service, both financially and organizationally. Their study hall project continues.

MUSCLE SHOALS: On January 4, Mr. John Lewis from the Southern Regional Council addressed the Annual Dinner. In the March meeting the membership discussed matters relative to the chapter's program, including the role which they might play in possible litigation against the Florence Housing Authority. This chapter continues to have a very active Executive Committee, Employment Committee and Housing Committee.

MOBILE: Mr. Bobby Doctor from the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, Memphis, Tennessee, spoke to the Mobile Chapter's January Dinner. In February the film "Lay My Burden Down" was shown. In March the chapter has been primairly concerned with organizing a comprehensive Pulp & Paper Project to attempt to change the employment patterns in the five Pulp & Paper plants located in or near Mobile.

MONTGOMERY: Mr. David Vann, chairman of the newly formed Alabama Independent Democratic Party, addressed this chapter's Annual Meeting. During the past quarter this chapter has been primarily involved in a Housing Project whose purpose it is to both attempt to find out what's going on and also how to change some urban re development and associated problems caused by the construction of a complex inter-state highway system in the center of Montgomery and some new urban re-newal construction.

TALLADEGA: In January Mr. J. Edwin Stanfield of the Southern Regional Council, Atlanta, Georgia, was the main speaker. About 40 persons attended this meeting. In February the chapter met and established a committee to look into the new proposed Urban Renewal program in Talladega.

TUSCALOOSA: Tuscaloosa was the host chapter for the state Annual Meeting. During this quarter members of the chapter have worked with the local Anti-Poverty Agency and have been instrumental in initiating a Pulp & Paper committee which will work on employment policies at a paper plant located in Tuscaloosa.

THE STAFF

The Director

Much of the Director's time was spent working with projects mentioned above. He attended each of the local annual dinners. He made necessary preparations and arrangements for the annual meeting. The major programs with which he has been concerned during the past quarter has been the Pulp & Paper project, the Poor People's Campaign and litigation by the Southern Rural Research Project against the U. S. Department of Agriculture. He has met often with the President of SWAFCA. The director attended two meetings in Atlanta--one sponsored by the A. Phillip Randolph Institute and the Southern Regional Council while the other was a meeting of the staff of the Department of Health, Education and Welfare's Office of Civil Rights. Other trips during the past quarter have included one to Memphis, three to Tuscaloosa, two to Mobile, five to Birmingham, one to Huntsville, two to Atlanta and a number of them to Montgomery and Tuskegee.

The Associate Director

The Associate Director is a member of the Board of Directors of Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association and also of the Advisory Board of the Southern Federation of Cooperatives. These positions have required three trips to Chicago to secure markets and finances to operate the Coop. He has made many trips to Selma for regular Board Meetings and for meetings with the Farmers Home Administration (Washington) and the Office of Economic Opportunity. As a result of these meetings the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association has received a $852,000.00 Farmers Home Administration loan and a $300,000.00 Office of Economic Opportunity grant, and assurances of individual loans from local Farmers Home Administration officies in each of the ten (10) SWAFCA counties. Other trips were to Jackson, Montgomery, and Edward, Mississippi. Other trips include: one to Tuscaloosa to attend the Annual Meeting; to Tuscaloosa, Mobile, Prattville, Birmingham and Choctaw County to help organize a Pulp and Paper Committee; several trips to Tuscaloosa, Birmingham, Talladega and Tuskegee to meet with the local chapter's executive committee; several trips to Choctaw County which resulted in getting more than 800 Negro children to choose an all white school for 1968 - 69 school year in an effort to force the school board to deal with the school problem; other trips were to recruit people and money for the Poor People's Campaign.

The Rural Advancement Project Director

During this quarter the RAP Director has been working less with SWAFCA than in the past. But he has been spending more time on other projects. Chief among them is the Green - Hale Sewing Cooperative, which has required a good deal of time and which has sold more than 500 dozen garments. He helped start a credit union in Jackson, Alabama during the past quarter; he is also working closely with the Demopolis and Greenala Federal Credit Unions. In March the RAP Director was elected president of the Federation of Southern Cooperatives which is a South-wide organization. He is also involved in the Pulp and Paper Project.

During the quarter he made trips to Louisiana, Mississippi, Atlanta, Memphis, Birmingham and Huntsville. He also made many trips to most Black Belt counties.

Ala.- Q. REPORTS

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS, INC.

QUARTERLY REPORT

April, May, June of 1968

THE ALABAMA COUNCIL

I. INTRODUCTION:

Listed below are the general areas of concern with which the state office has been concerned during the past quarter.

II. COMMITTEE MEETINGS AND DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING MEMORIAL GRANTS AND GUIDELINES:

A. On June 20, 1968 the Special Committee appointed by the Executive Committee met in Birmingham to interview applicants for the position of Executive Director to the Alabama Council on Human Relations left vacant by the resignation of Mr. Bob Valder. Brice Joyce was selected to fill the vacancy. General rules were also set out for the disposition of the Field Foundation Grant to be known as the "Dr. Martin Luther King Memorial Fund".

B. On June 1, 1968 the Executive Committee met together with the Finance Committee in Birmingham to set our guidelines governing the granting of funds from the "Dr. Martin Luther King Memorial Fund." The Finance Committee decided to meet at a later date to be set by the committee jointly with the Special Gifts Committee. Guidelines were formed by the committee. Several grants were made. The guidelines and the grants so far given are listed below under a separate heading.

C. The last week in May the Director attended the meeting of all the southern directors in New York City. The purpose of the meeting was to establish contacts with foundations. All the directors attended the meeting.

III. COOPERATIVE EFFORTS WITH OTHER ORGANIZATIONS:

A. We continue to work with the East Alabama Federal Credit Union.

B. The Associate Director continues to work closely with SWAFCA.

C. The entire staff is working closely with the Regional Office of the Legal Defense Fund in its Pulp & Paper Project.

D. ACHR's director continues to work with the Council of Directors in its efforts for joint meetings and common goals.

E. ACHR's director has accepted a position on the Board established by Rev. Francis X. Walters to seek closer working relations with the various churches and church related groups both local and national churches.

F. The staff has worked with the Dr. Martin Luther King's Poor People Campaign.

G. ACHR's Associate Director and RAP Director continues to work closely with the Federation of Southern Cooperatives and the Southern Cooperative Developemt Program.

H. ACHR has turned the funds of the Freedom Quilting Bee over to the Federation of Southern Cooperatives.

I. ACHR has agreed to handle the Southern Rural Research Project of which Donald A. Jelinek is director.

IV. INTERNAL OPERATIONS:

A. On June 1, 1968 the Executive Committee met at the Bankhead Hotel in Birmingham to set the following "guidelines" to be applied to all applicants from the grant of the Field Foundation known as the Dr. Martin Luther King Memorial Fund:

(1) The objectives of the proposed grant must be within the scope of the Alabama Council on Human Relations.

(2) Monthly reports are required from all the recipients of grants.

(3) There are to be one or more statewide projects.

(4) Associated organizations are eligible for grants.

(5) a. The president and the staff of the Alabama Council will evaluate future grants and approve such grants.
b. Reports of grants, approvals and rejections are to be sent to the Executive Committee by the office.
c. The president or the executive director will poll the Executive Committee when the pres. and the staff feel the amount of the grant requested is such that consultation of the Executive Committee warrents such action.
d. The president and the staff will consult the committee whenever they feel it is necessary to provide wider discussion of grants or relative matters dealing with the Dr. Martin Luther King Memorial Fund.

(6) In kind contributions are expected from the local chapters of the Council where this is at all possible. This pertains also to other grantees whose membership is structured simular to the Council. These in kind contributions are to be made a part of the monthly report (this does not necessarily mean money but refers to lodging, project services, food, voluntary work efforts, planning, etc.)

B. Funded Projects:

(1) Talladega: $1,500 for Greater Economic Power Project.

(2) Montgomery: $700.00 for Law Student Summer Project.

(3) Southern Rural Research Project: $1,000.00 for summer project SRRP Research: U SDA Programs.

(4) Howard Thorkelson: $150.00 for handbood, "Revision of Alabama State Welfare Department rules and policies simplified".

(5) Muscle Shoals: $1,200.00 for Job Employment. (This is in cooperation with several other groups.)

(6) Selma Inter-Religious Project - Quilting Bee: $2,200.00 for much needed changes in facilities.

(7) Huntsville: $500.00 to test Welfare Rules in court.

(8) Birmingham: $3,016.00 for underprivileged residents project.

There are more proposals to be considered as they arrive. It is the concern of the Committee that the Foundation money be spent and used to the best advantage.

THE LOCAL COUNCILS:

Several of the local chapters have become involved with other organizations for the purpose of Joint Action. All the chapters have continued their regular meetings.

THE STAFF

The Director

The new Director spent the first week in the office getting acquainted with the operations of the Council. In this Miss Boykin, the office secretary, was most helpful as was Bob Valder who remained to help in his spare time.

The Director spent the last week of May and first weeks of June in the following ways: The Auburn chapter was visited and the Ad Hoc Committee of which it is a part met the new director on two different occasions. The last weekend in May was spent in New York City at the State Directors Meeting. All of the southern directors were present and there was a helpful exchange of ideas. It also helped the new director to obtain helpful information and meet with other directors. During the month of June the director met with the Talladega and Muscle Shoals chapters of the Council. There was also a meeting with the Executive Committee of the Huntsville chapter at which time plans were discussed for the Annual Meeting. A visit was also made to Mobile. Members of the Council are cooperating with other groups in an effort to improve conditions in the Negro community. The director has committed himself to help in every way possible to help the Mobile Chapter with this most worthy effort. The Montgomery Chapter also welcomed the new director. They made final plans to receive the law student. The director attended the Annual Conference of the Methodist Church of North Alabama in Birmingham. The conference received the director well. Opportunities to meet with various church groups during the coming months have been arranged. Last but not least several efforts have been made in the implementation of the directives of the committee. The director and the staff attended the Executive Committee on June 1, 1968.

The Associate Director

The Associate Director is chairman of the Board of Directors of Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association and also a member of the Advisory Board of the Southern Federation of Cooperatives. These positions have required several trips to Washington to meet with the United States Department of Agriculture to negotiate and remove restrictions that would be harmful to the Co-op. These meetings with Secretary John A. Baker resulted that 95% of the demands were met by FHA including the Co-op working with a Washington representative rather than a local state representative of FHA. To me this was a very impressive move to set the Co-op up as a demonstration project and waiver normal restrictions that FHA usually require of borrowers. Other trips and activities include the work with local people in Montgomery as co-ordinator of the Poor People's Campaign. The Associated Director also worked as an assistant to Albert Turner on the Southern Leg of the Poor People's Campaign, conducting non-violent workshops and finally in charge of the Southern Caravan until it arrived in Washington, D. C.

The Rural Advancement Project Director

During this quarter the RAP director has been occupied with four different credit unions. He started the Poor People's Campaign in Marion, Alabama and transported people to Birmingham to join the Caravan. He has made two trips to Washington, D. C. since the campaign centered there. There he helped in the work. His activities also include a trip to New York City to make a contract for the Green-Hale Co-op. He has worked closely with the ladies in the Co-op also.

The RAP director is helping in an effort to purchase 901 acres in Sumter County for low income farmers. An effort is being made to organize these farmers into a Co-op. He has also been working to persuade people to seek employment at the Gulf States Paper Mill at Demopolis, Alabama. The RAP director has been elected the new president of the Board of the Co-op Southern Federation. He also supervises the major works of five employees of the CO-OP. The RAP director is involved in both Education and Registration throughout Alabama. He serves as a consultant for the Head Start Program in Troy, Alabama. The RAP director also attended local chapter meetings, board meetings and committee meetings with the other directors.

MEMORANDUM

TO: Local Chapter Presidents
Executive Committee

FROM: Brice Joyce

SUBJECT: Communications

In an effort to further the public image of the Council in Alabama and around the nation, I am asking each local chapter of the Council:

(1) To send a rough draft of the monthly meetings to the office so that we may use them in a bulletin to all other local chapters. So much goes un-noticed on a state wide level. My secretary will mimeograph them and send each chapter the minutes in a complete fashion. This will help all of us understand the problems facing us here in Alabama. It will also help every Chapter to get a better understanding of the progress and plans of the several chapters.

(2) We ask each chapter to establish a way of communicating with the local press. Perhaps we could suggest a notice of the monthly meeting in the paper.

(3) Where it seems reasonable to put an add, however small, in a local paper simular to the one carried in the Southern Courier. It is time we surfaced here in Alabama. Everyone seems to agree that the Council isn't well enough known.

(4) Most towns announce meetings on local radio stations. Get in on this too. There was a time in the Council when we were timid out of necessity, but that time has gone. It is time to "dream dreams of things that could be".

In an effort to make our voice clearer we will publish twice a year, winter and spring, a special news letter of a professional nature in which we will detail the happenings of the Alabama Council on Human Relations which we hope to distribute widely in Alabama and elsewhere.

Mr. Paul Wooley has given me his assurance of all the help I will need. If anyone else has any suggestions or help to offer, Please, Please come forward and I will receive you like a brother.

Our image is good where we are known, but each of us has many times been asked just what the Council is. Let's blow our own horn. We have a lot to offer the people of Alabama. Let's really "stand up for Alabama".

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
"RURAL ADVANCEMENT PROJECT"
20 Washington Street
Greensboro, Alabama

REPORT BY Lewis Black

February 1, 1966: I was employed as the director of the Rural Advancement Project by the Alabama Council on Human Relations and also been serving as the representative for the National Sharecroppers Fund throuthout the State of Alabama.

Prior to the time of my employment with the Alabama Council on Human Relations, I was employed as school teacher in Alabama for sixteen years. These sixteen years of experience that I had with working in the rural areas of Alabama gave me a rich experience of the problems that faces the rural people of the State of Alabama, in particular those problems facing the Negroes in Alabama and in the Black Belts thereof.

Realizing some of these problems, we realized that the Negroes are faced with a social problem. We are behind financially, educationally, and politically. It was during the time that I was teaching, I took a keen interest in helping to try to solve some of these problems that made the entire Negro Race deliquent of it's achievement and by for made the progress of this state and nation deliquent of several aspects of it's achievement of progress. I begin working in the interest of people to help to solve some of these problems as I saw fit. During this particular time, it was impossible for me to carry out the things that we felt would be helpful to our people because we were engaged in so many aspects of problems that there were school classroom work and what have you. Therefore, I could spend very little of my time with this.

The time came on February 1, when I was employed by the Alabama Council on Human Relations, for me to make some steps toward the things that I had long wanted to do to help humanity solve some of it's problems. After getting employed by Alabama Council on Human Relations, we set out to look at some of the problems we lacked.

VOTER REGISTRATION

Voter registration problem was one of the major things to be concerned with at that time and we set out to do something about it. Checking in February, 1965, we had in the State of Alabama approximately 216,000 Negroes registered to vote. We knew that achieving the goal of trying to get more Negroes registered to vote, would be impossible without contacting people who were leaders in the communities and also civil rights workers, in trying to get the support from them in helping to get more people registered to vote.

We took the task of going to several counties; Perry County, Hale County, Greene County, Sumter County, Wilcox County, Monroe County, Clarke County, and Tuscaloosa County encouraging people to continue to strive in getting Negroes registered to vote. We also had education classes on registration during this particulat time.

Robert Valder went to Atlanta, Georgia and meet with some officials in the Southern Regional Council at Atlanta, Georgia, namely, Mr. Vernon Jordon, Director of the Voter Education Project, He discussed with us some guidelines by which we could write a proposal. In writing up these proposals we could put in for some grants to get money to hire people do some work in canvassing in getting people to registered to vote and to have these voter education project.

We applied for these project in some 9 or 10 counties in the State of Alabama and we received grants for 3 or 4 of these projects. In these projects that we conducted in the State of Alabama, we had people canvassing by finding the days when registration was going on, hauling people down to registered to vote, setting up classes in the communities, making arrangements with the people to teach the classes, writing up materials for teaching a number of people that were truned down, keeping a record of the people that, the reason for being turned down and following up and seeing that we get some of the people relieved through the parole board that have been turned down because of some crime that they had committed. These are some of the things that we carried out in our VEP Project. By May 3, 1966, we had in the State of Alabama some 228,000 registered voters, by November 1966, we had in the State of Alabama close to 247,000 among the Negroes of Alabama.

From time to time when we go to meetings or visits counties, we still pass out materials to people and also pass out materials to people out of the Rural Advancement Office in Greensboro, related to registering to vote, and what we can do to promote the idea of teaching people the importance of registering in their community.

SURPLUS FOOD COMMODITY PROGRAM

Surplus Food Commodity Program became one of the greatest issues in the State of Alabama. It was one of the things that we initiated for the first time in the State of Alabama, that raised the question about the mal-nutrition and about the enadequacy of food that people have had in the State of Alabama

Do to the power structure keeping food from people in the black belts. The question was raised by us challengeing the judge in Hale County and also the judge in Perry County. We raised the question by asking the judges to help provide food for the people that was needed, the people of low income. This was further challenge by the judges after the judges refused to let the people have the food. We simply demostrated to the public to let the public know that food was being kept, not only the Negros from getting the food, but also keeping the poor White people from receiving food that the Federal Government was giving people in the State of Alabama. They have a scale set up that, if a person making less than $90.00 he is entitle to a certain amount of food to bring his economical status up or his living condition. A person with two people in the family is entitle to $110.00 income before they be above the surplus food level. They have a scale to follow according to their family income and the number of people in the family there above.

This question was first raised by the Rural Advancement Project Office and this has been carried from the local level to the State level and to the national level. We are still working in trying to provide food, not only for Hale and Perry Counties, but for all the counties throughout the blackbelts. We found that in questing this program and seeking into this, we have 67 counties in the State of Alabama. Out of the 67 counties, 37 counties still don't have food program and 30 have the food program. The 30 counties that have the food program are the 30 richest counties and the counties that don't have the food program are the 37 poorest counties.

This has been one of the most chellengeing problems to our work in this area for this year and one of the things that we need to do is continue to work to see if we can foster a program by which we can get the food for these people.

People that we have made contact in connection with this food program were; Clay Carthorn, Ken Berkhead, Neel Freeman, Jac Wasserman, Fay Bennett, Jerry Roden, Robert Valder, Dr. Gomillian, the office of Senator Sparkman, Jim Mays, out of the Regional Office of Economic Opportunity in Atlanta, Georgia, Mr. William Seabern, out of the Agriculture Department in Washington, D. C. Out of all of these people that we hav confornted, we have not been able to receive an adequate answer nor have we been able to receive the food for these people in the State of Alabama. One of the things that we did was to write up a proposal for OEO to finance the distribution of the food.

After the judge of Hale County and the judge of Perry County refused to distribute the food to these two counties, the proposal was turned over to OEO Office in Atlanta, Georgia. The White people of Hale and Perry Counties refused to work with us at first, After there was a threat made to finance these organization that were applied by Negroes to distribute the food, the White people said that they were willing to work with the Negroes in a distribution of the food program, but they mainly was interest in holding off the food program and pretend that they were interested in setting up a Community Action Program with the Negroes and Whites together. This food program could have been funded under a single purpose thing according to Section 7 of the CAP Guide. But after we proceeded to get started on the Community Action Program, we found that this was a thing to turn aside the idea of the food program. Consequently, we still don't have the food program.

The Judge of Hale County is saying that he doesn't have funds to finance this program. Mr. Seabern, of the Agriculture Department, told me that, if our organization would raise $12,000 dollars to sponsor the food program, he will see that we get the food in the next day. I talked with William Seabern and he advised me to raise the $12,000 dollars and give it to the judge; the person who at first and who always have said, he was trying to keep the food program away. However, the federal people claims that the judge has said that he was interested in the food program, but didn't have the money to finance the program. The whole thing is, ~~we intend to keep following up, or~~ the Rural Advancement Project, one of our jobs is to keep following up, on trying to get the food program to working in Hale and Perry Counties.

LEADERSHIP TRAINING PROGRAM

Another one of my jobs has been to help set up a leadership training program. Being one of the persons affiliated with the field of education for 16 years, I realize the importance of education in any endeauvor that a person pursue and particularly is education important in places like the balck belts of Alabama. In the black belts of Alabama, you have anywhere from 60 to 80 percent illiteracy among the adults of the county therein. It is not that these people do not share the leadership ability, but they don't know how to do things and it has been exhibited in the last few years, that people have been striving to get their rights to registered to vote and participate in political affairs in their communities. This ~~is~~ has shown that people are ready now to start their leadership, but we realize one thing that in order to be a leader, people must have some technical training, must have some educational concepts and precepts in order to carry out the leadership of any body and in any area. We have proceeded to try to get a leadership training program started for the purpose of teaching these people who are vitally interested in helping their community grow. This leadership training program is tentative set up to be held at Miles College in Birmingham, Alabama.

The Miles Program is being sponsered by Southern Christian Leadership Cpnference, National Sharecroppers Fund, Southern Regional Council, Alabama Council on Human Relations, Alabama Farmers Council, and the applicant agency is Miles Memorial College, Dr. ~~Lucicus~~ Lucius Pitts, President.

We have been to several conferences discussing means by which this program can be initiated and the funding of this program is the OEO Program out of Washington, D. C. We met on several occassions and drew up proposals at the Miles College and we had several conferences with agencies of the AID, which is the Agency of International Development, repersented by Mr. Murten Peer, the Southern Rural Training Project, which was fostered by the National Sharecroppers Fund. We drew up a proposal and this proposal tas turned in to the training project of the OEO repersentative, Mr. Calab Sandiford.

Mr. Orzell Billingsly ~~said, as~~ was our attorney in connection with the program, was giving us legal council thereof. Mrs. Mu Li, a staff member of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, was responsiable for the ~~financial~~ final drawing up of the OEO proposal for this project. This project is to be directed in this manner: It is proposed that we have 10 or 12 counties involved, with representation of at least 12 people from each of these 10 counties. This would give a total of 120 participants in the program. Of these, 120 participants in the program will go to Miles College for not more than 8 weeks to study leadership training, to go back to their communities and work. 3 out of 12 of these people are to receive stipends and in these stipends, they will be under constance training through the college by which they will go to keep up with what new methods and trends are in connection with what they study. It is proposed that this leadership training will include things like voter registration, community organization, co-operative organization, credit union organization, operating small business and several more things that might go to help organize the community, to fill the gap that causes the lag of the progress of the total society in which these people live.

One of the responsibalities of the Rural Advancement Project is to help recruite people for this program.

Another one of our responsibilities has been, that we have been making some suggestions as well as helping to survey to find facts to place in this proposal for application to the OEO program Co-operative. We have spent a ~~quit of~~ bit of our time trying to help organize co-operatives and educating people on the value of co-operatives. The reason we feel that this is so much of an importance to our people in the State of Alabama, we find that the people that we work with are people of small means, people with limited facilities to do their work and people that have very little or no credit rating. The farmers that we work with are the people who have low acreas and ~~the time~~ is of essential that we do something about it, because their case crops are fading out mainly, that of cotton.

In the early part of 1966, we got in touch with the co-operative League of the USA. This was recommended to us by Mr. Murten Peer, who works with AID in Washington, D. C. He recommended Mr. Jerry Vodius to me and we called him and asked for assistance in connection with organizing co-operatives throughout the South. It was not long before I got a chance to get in contact with them, when I did received some communications, I received it from Mr. Chuck Irving Felt, and also Mr. Curdey. Our first meeting with the co-operative League of the USA was a meeting that we had in Marion, Alabama in the spring. At this meeting Mr. Al Ulmer, from the Southern Regional Council, was there. Our next meeting. we had on co-operative, on a reasonable basic, was the one that we had at Edwards, Mississippi. Of these two meetings, it was concluded, in my mind, that the co-operative was the thing that we needed to bound together the farmers resources in order that one can be helped through the other one. This was the time that I realized so deeply, that our educational progress was one that we would need for management of this co-operative.

There is another thing that I got from this co-operative idea, and this was that the continuance training on technology as it relates to the type of vegetable to be grown in certain area, as it relates to the type of soil that you should have, mineral that you should have in the soil, the different pest that could destory the vegetables and the importance of the market for the vegetables that would pay a person something that could inable him to pay a decent salary.

Another thing that I got from these meetings was that; ~~have~~ the intensive idea of the co-operative is ~~one and another is~~ work from the ground up or from the grass root people up, to get exact representation that would be needed in order to carry on the functioning or the participant of the co-operative idea.

We have been having several meetings in the State of Alabama and we started mainly with 4 counties; Hale County, Greene County, Perry County, and Sumter County, now the idea has grown. We are now working on 10 counties and some more counties have become enthusiastic about the idea of setting up a co-operative.

We arranged, before I started to working for the Alabama Council on Human Relations, to start trying to organize a co-operative and Mr. Carl Jones was the president of the co-operative, and I was (I Lewis Black) was the vice-president, Mr. Charlie Cheaton was the secretary that was supposed to be set up for the black belt area. Now that Mr. Cheaton has gone to Florida and Mr. Carl Jones has gone to Washington, D. C. to be an inhabitant of that particular area at this time, the point looks different. We have continued to try to orga ize the co-operative and the copoperative idea has grown to the point that we will try to enclude Lowdnes County, Wilcox County, Perry County , Dallas County, Hale County, Marango County, Greene County, Sumter County, Chataw County, and Monroe County, in this co-operative idea.

There have been a series of meetings held and we are not too satified at the response that comes from these meetings, mainly because we haven't been able to get the people from the grass root level to be the one responsible for the planning of the meeting. We have held meetings in Hale County, Perry County, held meetings in Wilcox County and Dallas County. Most of the meetings were held in Dallas County.

We have had representatives here from the Co-operative League of the USA. Dr. T. T. Williams was one of the person came in December, to meet with us. James Mays, with the National Sharecroppers Fund, was here in December and also was here the first part of January, 1967, to meet with us. John Zipherman, who is with the Grand Maria Co-operative from Louisiana, was in one of our meetings, to share was a young lady, Carlyn, was from the Southern Consumer Co-operative of which Dr. T, T. Williams also has worked with from Louisiana. ~~In a meeting with us,~~ the idea of this meeting was that, one individual seemd to be working for the power and this person has little or no knowledge of the co-operative idea. This person happens to be Shirley Mesher, who is interested in, primerly in building up a temple for Sherley Mesher in this co-operative idea.

There have been people here from the Migrant Farmers Program to work with us, one of these persons, mainly was Bruce Cashman, who works with us on the co-operative idea. He seems to work more with the idea of having Shirley in charge of the co-operative, but it is a great task and ~~Sherley,~~ we don't feel that this is the responsibity of ony one person who has little or no knowledge about farming. She has only excepted few ideas from a few Negroes in Dallas County on the co-operative idea. I spent three days following Shirley around with Bruce Cashman and Dr. T. T. Williams in the latter part of December. I found that this meeting served as one thing that's not going to be of great success to our farmers unless we can inform our farmers of the things that they need to do and let them decide or make decisions as to how to operate co-operatives. Because ~~of~~ the co-operative idea is a thing that come from the people on the lower epsilon and go up. Not come from the top down.

Surely a co-operative should not be the idea of one individual and knowing the trend of though that is usually penetrated in there by one person, particularly a white person and this being a lady, it is not going to be the right trend as it relates to the problem that's going to be dealt with from the standpoint of the rural farmers. So one of our task as the Rural Advancement Project Director, is to see that we can challenge this program into the hands of the rural farmers and particularly for the interest of low income people that they might be able to elevate his economical life and that he might be able to elevate his trend of farming to some educational degree.

Farming can become an occapation that will cause a person to live and inherit in the south with great prosperity and great initiative on his own, providing that he has thr right facilities in education, and the right machinery to work with through his economic structure and through the proper administration coming from the top down.

The other thing that we are faced with is trying to get a market for ~~people to~~ the farmers proform and sell their vegatables. This is one of the things that we are working with now, trying to find a market, trying to write up a proposal for these 10 counties that we above named in this marketing idea. That means that we will have truck crops being marketing in one lump sum as well as our loans will be made in one lump sum and each person will be participating with the co-operative.

CREDIT UNIONS

It goes without saying that unless people can find some way to save their money, borrow money and to controll their finance, these people will suffer. One of the main reasons that we find that our people suffers in the black belt, is that the poor of the community never handles or controll the finance. It is true that if people don't get a chance to handle any type of revenue, things that we consider high value or liquid assets, then this person does not have any purchasing power. This is one of the reasons that we have been striving since we have been working with the Alabama Council on Human Relations, the Rural Advancement Project to encourage as many people we can to set up their source of controlling the revenue that one or another one is making and has, that they can put together a s a source for property purpose to one another.

One of the things that we set out to do was to go into as many counties as we could and encourage the people about the credit union idea and teach them the value of one putting his dollars together and helping one another to come out of this thing by lifting one another or lifting themselves with their own boot strap.

It was in 1960 that I first had the experience of discussing the credit union idea. When I was teaching school in Hale County, we organized the Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union. six months later we helped the people of Perry County to organize the Marionala Citizens Federal Credit Union of which Mr. James Carter is the Secretary-Treasurer thereof.

We have been enthuasiatic of the idea of the credit union. Knowing the value of it, these credit unions have; build houses, we have helped people to consolidated debts, we have helped people to go to college and we have helped people to buy land. We have also helped people to get themselves out of the troubles that people normally get into in everyday life.

In spreading the credit union idea, when we started working with the Alabama Council we helped people to organize a credit union in Demopolis, Alabama. This credit union has grown to one hundred and twenty something members and has an assets above $900 dollars. Durning the year of 1966, it made loans to some of it's members and at this time it doesn't have any bad loans. We also helped to organize the York Citizens Federal Credit Union at York, Alabama, a credit union which made remarkable progress. It was organized on October 10, 1966 and it has above $1,000 in assets.

We have pending credit unions to be chartered in Wilcox County, Monroe County, Clarke County and Greene County. We had hoped that these credit unions would have been chartered in 1966. But we are still hopeing that they will be chartered during the first part of 1967.

A great degree of my work have been centered around helping these credit unions that have been chartered and educating the people about the credit union idea. In the areas where they have not been chartered, it takes a long period of time to teach people things like bookkeeping and about the different by-laws that is set up in the government as it relates to handleing finance. It takes a long time to get the people mind of shareing their responsibility to the credit union and what it means to their community to be men and women who will handle their financial obligations for their friends.

Another thing we have been discussing with the credit union idea is the idea of financial counseling with our members. This has taken quit of bit of my time. Another thing that I spent a lot of time with;at the end of each month, going back to these credit unions and helping them close out their books for the end of the month. We have also year end reports that has to be sent to Atlanta, Georgia, and we spent some of our time going, since 1967 to check with them and help them to get the year end reports out. We look forward to, in 1967, the credit unions being chartered in the other counties that we named. In counties where we alrdady have credit unions like Perry County, Hale County, Sumter County, and Monroe County, we hope that we can encourage each town to organize it's credit union so that they might have a source of credit for the people that live in and around that particular town. This is a great task. The only thing we don't have is, enough time to go around and work on this, particularly as much as we should to keep the credit union moving and progressing for the people.

SCHOOL DESEGREGATION

We feel that school desegregation is very important to the prosperity of any group of people in America. We now have close to 20 million Negroes. These 20 million people in the United States have been neglected from all walks of life because of the system or systems they have set up called Negro Education and White Education. Surley, by the White People controlling all the revenue, by the White People controll on the public tax money and public funds there is no question that the White People have invested in the for themselves and have neglected the education for the Negroes. Moreover, the education that the Negroes were getting did not teach them the type of education to use the resources of the communities that were around them. This is the reason that Negroes don't have banks and the Negroes don't have hotels and that Negroes don't control other boards and Negroes don't build bridges and highways and the Negroes don't make electric bulbs and other things that is of technical calibers . Because of this, we feel that once we have one system of education, and cut out the duel system of education, the Negroes can stand up and go about their duty to this nation as a citizen and not as a black person.

We feel that the Negro has a right to participate in every category of our society. There is noway of participating in this category or society unless we have the same type of education that everybody else has.

The other thing, there is a social element to this education; the political element. The political element that's being taught in school. then there is the economic side of it that goes alone with it as well as the culture side; learning the fine arts and learning about the great heritage that this great country has offered all it's people. We spent quit of bit of our time encouraging and having conferences with parents and students about desegregating the schools.

We had the opportunity of talking with several superintendents in the black belt about the possibility of desegregation and their plans that they are using in desegregating the schools. However, several superintendents in the black belt of Alabama were very hostile because they didn't feel that we had the right to come in and ask them anything about the system of which they were going to operate in 1966 and 1967.

COMMUNITY ACTION PROGRAM

I have spent a great deal of my time trying to write a proposal to meet the board of the Community Action Program of Hale County. We started to writing a proposal for Hale and Perry Counties group, originally. This was the Hale-Perry Co-Cordinate Committee For Economic Opportunity, It was set up, primarily, of a Negro board. Recently we have gotton another board together which composes of 40 people, 20 Negroes and 20 Whites. We have organized a Community Action Program, Bearing the name; Hale County Community Action Committee, Incorporated.

I am faced with the task of writing the proposal. One time I wrote the proposal and lost it, therefore, I had to go back and write the proposal again. I have almost completed this proposal. We had to go out and make surveys of the areas of the county and find out from the board members their responsibilities and duties in the county, and what have you. This was one thing that took up about 3 or 4 weeks of my work just concentrating on working on this proposal.

WELFARE AID

In all of the black belt areas we have welfare problems and most of our welfare problems are those of the Negroes. Some of our welfare problems are those that deals with husbands being sent off to prison and there is no support for the family.

Another problem might be that some of the people might have children out of wedlock. We had to help see that the welfare people treat these people right in trying to get welfare aid for them.

Another, we have been looking out for the welfare of people by giving them clothing. The National Sharecropper Fund has requested clothing from several sources to be given out to people that are needed in Alabama. We have given out cloths to several people in various counties in Alabama. Namely, Macon County, Lee County, Montgomery County, Wilcox County, Hale County, Perry County, Clarke County, Sumter County, Monroe County, Marango County, and Dallas County.

JUSTICE PROBLEM

We have worked with justice problems inconnection with jury suits, trials for school desegregation cases, keeping up with what happens doing the time of elections and report to the Justice Department, keeping up with the problems that Negro Children have in intergrated schools, and reporting it to the Justice Department.

EQUAL EMPLOYMENT

We have worked on job practices. I know that we have an equal employment practice that is suppose to be handle through the Federal Government. We call it the fair employment practice. We have worked very hard in trying to help people get employment at stores and other places where Negroes work. We worked very little with people trying to organize unions to get the labors the right type of work.

SUMMARY

I spent quit of bit of my time going to meetings. We had meetings in Mississippi on two occasions. One of the occasions was that I attended the Edwards' meeting with the co-operative. On another occasion, I attended the USDA Meeting on Civil Rights Advisory Committee. Other meetings that I have attneded; school desegregation meetings in Birmingham, Alabama, several board meeting in Birmingham of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, board meetings held by the National Sharecroppers Fund at Atlanta, Georgia, the White House Conference that was held back in the spring.

I made several trips to places through the blackbelt and have had the opportunity of discussing several problems with people that we feel would be interested in the program or the progress of the program that is being initiated.

The hardest work now is trying to organize the co-operatives of which we didn't discuss very much. Now I would like to discuss it briefly: In 1967 we look forward to furthing our cause by first, working with co-operatives in setting up this co-operative so that the people can have the conversion from cotton to some other type of crop, mainly truck crops on a co-operative basic. In this co-operative, I look forward to it as a future where the farmers can buy all their fertilize together, buy all their seeds together and do their marketing together.

We can set up a plant where they can can their vegetables and where they can sort their vegetables. We would like for this co-operative to start from the grount work and to go clear to the bargaining table so that they might get the right price for their products. Too long have poor farmers of Alabama lived in this particular rich soil and made the other man rich because they have gotten very little for their product. As a result, these farmers have had long hard days and short lives because they lived off what they barely could get by with.

In 1967 we look forward to a total desegragation of all schools in Alabama. Unless we can total desegregate every school in Alabama and set up one school system, we will not have made the progress in all these other areas that we have. In my opinion, and this is personally my opinion, education comes first in any endeauvor or any aspect a group of people lives.

We look forward to working hard with the ASCS Elections this year. Because more and more we develop these co-operatives the more these people become mindful of the advantages that they have and the more they are going to have to work and strive to become part of the structure that's existing in their community in the idea of this ASCS.

The ASCS Program has a strong holt that rest on the shoulders of the low income farmer or rest on the shoulder of the farmers in the State of Alabama.

We are planning this to set up as many credit unions as possible so that these credit unions will be an institution that these people can have a source of credit. There is an element of insurance in credit unions, the element of one saving for a purpose or the one borrowing for a purpose. The education element of the credit union is one that we are going to push forward for in 1967. We are contenuing to work also on the leadership training program for 1967.

We feel that the leadership training program is one that serves as an educational tool for the people in the community for the people who have not had the opportunity to go to these education institutions for higher learning or the people that don't know how to utilize the services of their community agency that foster through the government. We are going to strive hard that they might be able to attned leadership teaining programs at Miles College. We are going to devote all the time that we can to help in fostering this program.

We look forward to, in 1967, the food commodity program being one that we would look forward to seeing that low income people receiving commodity. Even if it has to be moved out of the USDA Branch of the Government by legislature. It would be a wouldful thing if the food commodity program could be moved out of USDA and put into the Department of Labor or the Department of Migrant or Seasonal Farmer Program so that the food can be gotten over to the people. As long as it is in the hands of the USDA, it's going to always be a problem of going thourgh the power structure and fighting down in order that people get the food program.

Several people suffers from the lack of food, even though they are in rich soil. They are poor because of the system. This thing has been so systematized that the White People, very few of them, control the county. They keep everything out of the hands of the Negroes and brain wash the poor Whites and all the Negroes so that they will not be able to receive the benefit of things that are suppose to get.

Because of the importance of the political structure, in any county and because of the importance of the control of this structure in society, it is going to be very important that we spend some of our time in getting people educated on to voter education as to who represents them, why they represents them, and what they will actually do in the community, learning where they live and what precinct they live in. Therefore, much of my time will be spent on this as I see it . This is what I would record for 1967 which is much of the same thing we did in 1966, but we would like to carry on the program since we have gotten it started to get it off the ground and get it to the people that actually need the service thereof.

Subject: Summary report on an evaluation of the Voter Education Project's citizenship education grant to the Alabama Council on Human Relations for the 1966 Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) elections in Alabama.

BACKGROUND INFORMATION

Contrary to established procedure the state ASC committee decided to hold Alabama's elections in August instead of the usual time of November or December. We did not learn of this decision until mid-June, so by the time we got "organized" and received the VEP grant valuable time had been lost. Thus results from this effort should not necessarily be used to reach conclusions about future citizenship education programs of this nature because we were unable to do much pre-election education and because the program was of necissity organized on a "crash" basis.

The original date for mailing back the ASCS ballots was August 16. However, is federal district court ordered an extension of this deadline to September 15 with ballots to be counted by the county ASC committees on September 20. On the 20th, due to a failure to follow important regulations, the Macon County election was invalidated. The re-election was begun two weeks later and it was completed on October 28, 1966. So this project, which was to be completed by about September 10 lasted almost two months longer than anticipated.

GENERAL SUMMARY OF OVERALL OPERATION

We did not get started at the same time in each county we ended up working in, nor did we spend equal amounts of money and energy in each county. Our general approach was to put one person (the "county coordinator") from that particular county on subsistence of $15.00 a week and to also pay gas expense for him and any volunteers he had working for him. The counties we worked in were Choctaw, Clarke, Dallas, Greene, Hale, Lowndes, Macon, Marengo, Monroe, Perry, Sumter and Wilcox. However, VEP funds were spent only in Dallas, Greene, Hale, Lowndew, Macon, Marengo, Perry, Sumter and Wilcox Counties.

At first we had the full-time help of Mr. Mike Kenney of the National Sharecroppers Fund and then Mr. Lewis Black became the overall "coordinator" of this effort working out of both SCLC's office in Selma and his office in Greensboro. We had full-time "coordinators" in only Greene, Lowndes, Macon, and Wilcox Counties with part-time coordinators in the other five counties.

In addition to working in these counties a number of "staff meeting" were held in Selma--the staff being the persons working in the counties. The two main purposes of these meetings were to determine how the program was going in each county and to offer suggestions and receive ideas from each person present. At the last meeting Mr. John Vance, Southeastern Area Director of ASCS from the Washington Office, was present.

On September 20, the day ballots were counted, Mr. Black was in the Selma office to receive all complaints by telephone from the observers we had stationed in each of the 12 counties (for the first time the public was entitled to have one person sit at the desk where ballots were counted and actually watch each ballot--in the past the public was only allowed to be in the same room). If he thought it appropriate he would forward these complaints immediately by phone to Mr. Vance who was in the state ASC office in Montgomery on that day. Mr. Vance would then contact the appropriate county office. This system resulted in Macon county's election invalidation that day and also proved to be useful in other counties.

In every case the activities of the county coordinator included the following: (1) obtaining a list of all the eligible ASCS voters in that county; (2) obtaining a list of all candidates on each ASCS community ballot; (3) obtaining the boundaries of each of the ASCS communities in each county; (4) organizing community meetings in each ASCS community to (a) explain in detail the importance and power of the county ASC committee and (b) carefully explain the election process and how to properly mark and mail the ballots and (c) endorse a slate of five candidates from among those on the ballot and (d) urge each person at the meeting to contact all voters not present to insure that everyone voted for the same persons and filled out the certification properly; (5) spending many days going door-to-door to as many voters as time permitted to make sure they had voted (if they had not voted they would attempt to persuade the voter to fill out his ballot voting for the same five persons, sign the certification properly and then the worker would either take the completed ballot with him or else the worker would make sure the voter understood that he had to mail it) and (6) personally observing the counting process on the day votes were counted and to keep a record of any violations and of the election results.

In most of these counties the county coordinator was able to get the names of the voters' own choices on the ballot by petition, but lack of time and of community contacts prevented this in Macon County and in some of the ASCS communities in other counties. And in every county leaflets were distributed throughout the communities and announcements were made in the churches to explain what was going on, to call meetings and to inform people of who to vote for and how to sign the certification.

14 See page 15 for footnotes.

1. The figures not in parenthesis indicate the number of alternates who came close to w inning regular positions. The figures in parenthesis indicate how many additional votes the alternate who received the lowest number of votes needed to gain a regular committee position. In most cases where there is more than one alternate who come close to winning the other alternate(s) needed fewer votes than this to win regular positions.

2. These percentages are based in part on the number of votes Negro endorsees received plus a rough approximation based on attendance at meetings, interest and perhaps knowledge generated by word od mouth, notices distributed, knowledge of what kind of activities workers in the counties had going, etc.

3. The figure not in parenthesis indicates the number who won regular positions on community committees; the figure in parenthesis indicates the number who won alternate positions. For our purposes regular members are the important ones since they alone cast votes in the county convention.

4. The figures not in parenthesis represant persons winning regular and alternate positions respectively. The figure in parenthesis represent regular and alternate winners respectively who were placed on the ballot by petition, e.g., 4 (1) 10 (7) would mean there are four Negro regular members and one of them was placed on the ballot by petition and three were nominated to the ballot by the outgoing community committee and of the ten Negroe alternates seven were placed on the ballot by petition and three by nomination. In Macon County one of the three winning regular positions and two of the four winning alternate positions were write-in candidates.

5. By taking the number of communities in a county and multiplying by three (the three regular members from each ASCS community to to the county consevention to elect one ASC county committee members) one can determine how many more Negro regular community committee members would have been needed to have a majority of votes at the county convention and thus elect a Negro to the county ASC committee which is where the power is.

6. These figures are for 1965 respectively. By dividing the number of candidates on the ballots by the number of communities one can obtain a relatively acurate picture of how many Negroes were on each community committee ballot. This illustrates one of our major problems--so many Negroes on the ballots that the Negro vote is easily split.

NOTE: There are no figures avaible giving the number of votes invalidated for lack of proper certification signature for either year. We believe most invalidated votes are Negro votes. If they are then the outcome in some elections would have almost certainly been different if all envelopes had been properly certified. We beleive, however, that more envelopes were properly signed due to this project.

SUMMARY OF EXPENDITURES

The chart below indicates the amount of money from the Voter Education Project grant spent in each county with an account of what it was spend for.

| COUNTY | SUBSISTENCE | GAS | SUPPLIES | TELEPHONE | SECRETARIAL | TOTAL BY COUNTY |
|---|---|---|---|---|---|---|
| Dallas | | $ 3.55 | | | | $ 3.55 |
| Greene | $ 75.00 | 131.53 | $15.10 | | | 221.63 |
| Hale | | 13.50 | | | | 13.50 |
| Lowndes | 45.00 | 100.30 | | | | 145.30 |
| Macon* | 292.00 | 388.32 | 33.03 | | | 713.35 |
| Marengo | 15.00 | 6.97 | 6.67 | | | 28.64 |
| Perry | | 50.00 | 6.00 | $10.00 | | 66.00 |
| Sumter | 55.00 | 72.00 | | 10.00 | | 137.00 |
| Wilcox | 60.00 | 185.34 | 1.00 | 2.50 | | 248.84 |
| General Expenses | | | | 50.00 | $15.00 | 65.00 |
| TOTAL BY CATEGORY | $542.00 | $951.51 | $61.80 | $72.50 | $15.00 | $1,642.81 |

*Macon County's are much gigher than elsewhere because we had three persons on subsistence and working full-time for an additional three weeks.

A check for $7.19 (the unused portion of the grant) is enclosed.

SUMMARY AND EVALUATION

In general everyone was very disappointed and somewhat surprised at the poor showing in this year's ASCS elections in Alabama, particularly in the Black Belt.

The results were somewhat better than last year and we had a late start and did not have adequate financial and human resources and the presence of civil rights organizations has diminished greatly in the past year. We also found that in general most eligible voters who were listed as such had very little knowledge of the importance of ASCS and of the election process. This was also true for the ASCS workers. By the time people began to understand it even a little the election was upon us and finished. Voters had almost no knowledge of how to use the election process to their own advantage, e.g., getting "good" candidates on the ballot by petition, publicly supporting those candidates only, supporting Negro candidates in all cases regardless of how "good" White candidates might be, ect. And everywhere we encountered resistance by many Negro voters to supporting an all-Negro slate.

ASCS regulations also helped contribute to the election results because as a result of these regulations there were many more than five Negroes on every ballot. In most cases there were five or less White persons on the ballot so an al-white vote for the white candidates and a Negro split added to the total votes received by Negro candidates and also subtracted from the total votes received by Negro candidates.

So in view of these facts perhaps we were expecting too much. But even the above facts do not in themselves explain why this effort had such a suprisingly poor result. We were hoping to elect enough Negroes in at some of the counties to have a majority in those county conventions. Obiously we did not come close to accomplishing this anywhere. Wilcox, which needed four more winners, was closest.

On the positive side however, are these observations; (1) as a result of this effort many more persons are aware of the importance and understand the workings of ASCS, essecially the election process and are hopefully looking forward to next year's elections; (2) many persons were trainedd this year in how to conduct a county-wide effort for next year; (3) gains, even if not nearly enough, were made in most of the counties; (4) a similar project next year, started weeks if not months before the election, with more money and more and better informed workers should have much better results. We think that the major benefit of this year's program if indeed there were any major benefits, was that a few thousand persons were educated to the facts of ASCS. Perhaps a few comments about Macon County's elections will substantiate this last observation.

The fact that Macon County had, in effect, two elections this year illustrates what might happen there next year. We started working there after the deadline for placing persons on the ballot by petition had passed so we were "stuck with" those Negroes already on the ballot. In one community of the three we worked in a white candidate was endorsed during the first election, in another five Negroes were endorsed and in the third the people were so dissatisfied with the Negro candidates that they decided to write-in three Negroes and vote for two already nominated. Much work had already been done in the nature of calling community meetings to explain things and in using the month's extension from the federal court to canvass the county talking to and getting the completed ballots from persons who had not yet been contacted. In this extra month we had time to explain things to many persons.

Then on the day ballots were counted, September 20, our observers reported to Mr. Vance that the ASCS ballot boxes were neither sealed nor locked as required by ASCS regulations. So the election was invalidated. (It might be noted in passing that as a result of this the County Office Manager-- a "bad" fellow--was suspended). However, they invalidated only that part of the election having to do with the improper handling of mailed ballots so we were not able to place other candidates on the ballots. So, perhaps unwisely, the communities (with our advice and consent) decided to try a write-in campaign, while endorsing those few "good" Negro candidates already on the ballot. Although the write-in effort, considered in its entirety, failed we believe that the results show that next year when we will be able to place the votors' own candidates on the ballot by petition we will win in each community.

All Negroes who won were those endorsed by the communities. In one community four out of the five winners were Negroes; the chairman of this committee is Negro (he received the most votes and was already on the ballot) and the other three who won were write-in candidates. In the second community one Negro won and only as a second alternate--he was already on the ballot. In the third community two Negroes already on the ballot came in third and fourth. Altogether we supported ten write-in candidates and only three of them won. But if only a few more voters (10 in one community and 15 in the other) had voted for the write-in candidates instead of for for the candidates who did win all the write-in candidates would have won.

So perhaps this narration of what happened in Macon County, with the realization that a write-in is very difficult, plus the rest of this section of the report shows that this type of citizenship education effort can be very valuable but that for it to realize the objective hoped for a good deal of time is needed to educate people. And equally important is the fact that to have any impact on twelve or more counties much more money and many more people are needed.

And of course one can not discount the importance of the "Southern Way of Life" because of which some Negroes feel beholden (whether this is true in reality or not) to white persons and therefore, refuse to vote for Negroes or at least for an all-Negro slate. And this problem is compounded by the fact that some Negroes who do not feel beholden have philosophic reasons for refusing to support an all-Negro slate of candidates.

CAP Report

Report of some of February 2, work

We met at the Jefferson Davis Hotel the first weekend 4-5. Since that time I have been working every day of the week trying to get some programs started.

February 6, I met with a church group to discuss how we could better improve Greensboro, with the aid of the Federal Government.

February 7-9 I was meeting with people in Sumter, Hale, and Greene Counties discussing how we can get started with the community Action and Credit Union Movement started. We had a four county group (Greene, Hale, Perry and Sumter) meeting on February 8, and a copy of the minutes is inclosed.

February 10-11 I went to Huntsville, Alabama. I spent a little time in the home office. Mr. Valder and I had chance to meet with chapter members, and learn somethings about their work. Mr. Valder took some time to explain my work with the Alabama Council. February 12, I went to Birmingham to a meeting that was held by SCLC. February 13, I went to a church and talked about voting in Greensboro.

February 14-18, our office was busy getting out materials on political and voter education. The material was to be passed out to the people in the different communities. I made trips to Perry, Greene and Sumter Counties talking about different programs.

February 17-18 was spent in Atlanta with Mr. Valder who showed me around the two days I was there. We met a number of people that were of great help to us, in the programs we were trying to get started. February 19, I went to Montgomery to a state people meeting, to discuss some ways we can help farms. February 20k 1966 we met in a church in Newbern, Alabama and organized a group to work on voter registration for Hale County, Alabama.

February 21, a committee met with me to draw the proposals. We met that night and approved proposals before the body. We mailed the proposal February 23, 1966.

February 22, I met with a group in Greene County to discuss a proposal with them. We also met with a group in Sumter County to set up a Credit Union, and made proposal. February 23, I went to Wilcox County, Alabama to help them out in some programs, voter education and Credit Union. February 24, I spent some time getting ready for some Credit Union Programs. February 25, we completed the the work, and I went to Wilcox County for a meeting and from there to Monroe County to talk with some of the leaders, as to what can be done to help their problems. February 26, we had our Credit Union Annual meeting, and I went to Selma Alabama to a meeting of SCLC. February 27, we went to a number of Negro churches encouraging Negroes to get registered. February 28, I went to Selma, Alabama to meet some of the people who were having problems in getting qualified, and were able to help many of them.

Since I have been working, I have made trips to Camden, Reed's Bend, Beatrice, Montgomery, Birmingham, Huntsville, Atlanta, Eutaw, Fankland, Marion, Tuscaloosa, Demopolis, and York.

Sincerely,

Charles Gibson

Meeting of the following 4 counties: Hale, Greene, Perry and Sumter Counties.

A motion was made by a representative of Greene County that all 4 counties should work together. These four counties agreed.

Questions and suggestions by the leader, Mr. Lewis Black:

1. Should there be two persons from each county to serve as leaders?

2. Should we work according to the number of precincts or beats?

3. Each county representation should be selected by each individual county.

4. What name should be given to the organization?

5. Each community should find a location for a possible headquater in order to hold meetings and let this be decided in the next meeting.

6. Request for each member to report on what organization of proverty program he is affiliated with.

7. Should there be a president from all 4 counties when they meet together?

Responce from the group:

The group motioned and passed that all four counties will work together. Rev. Gulley of Greene County agreed to work with the organization.

Mrs. Lee stated that each member of the power structure should be represented as well as representation of individuals of the proverty catgory. That is those who earn $1,500 per year, $1,200 and $3,000 respectively. Those individuals should have the privelige of selecting individuals to serve on this program. Mrs. Lee also stated this program is against proverty and not the poor. Mr. Black stated that the most of our people fall within the catagor of $3,000 per year.

The group proposed that each county should elect members of his board, 5, 7, 9, 11, etc. and let each community get together and select persons to serve from precinct or beat. These person duty will be to keep the people informed as to what is going on in their respective counties. Mr. Frank Miller, of Epes, Ala, responced to this and the audience agreed.

The group agreed that each county elect two person to serve as representative.

A name for the organization was suggested as followed: Greene, Hale, Perry and Sumtercoordinating Anti-Proverty Program.

Rev. Nixon suggested that we should be thinking of how many coordinators or assistant coordinators we should have. Mrs. Lee suggested that it should be decided as to how many members will serve on sub-boards in a given county. She also stated that each county should organize a steering community.

It was ruled that each county will have a co-chairman to be responsible to the area or 4-counties chairman.

Mrs Lee. stated that Mr. May of Atlanta could not be with us tonight due to the illness of his wife. Suggested that Mr. May could meet with this group at some other convnient time, his wife's condition pending. She stated that an O. E. O. represnetative will be in Wilcox County (Camdan) monday morning to converse with families who have been evicted due to their having taken part in Civil Rights Programs. This meeting will be at Antioch Baptist Church, Camdan, Ala.

Mr. Lucis Black of Sumter County stated that this organization should be commended and could serve to combat evils that have been done to us over the years.

Dear Lewis:

Thank you for sending me the list of people who registered at the conference at Alabama State College. Is this the complete list of registrants? I know that we had cards for 335 persons who registered on Friday and that there were additional people who registered on Saturday. I would appreciate receiving three (3) additional copies of the mimeographed list.

Bob Valder probably informed you that Ed Stanfield would like to receive a copy of your weekly reports. As I also have to send a copy to Fay Bennett in New York, it would save time if you would mail her a copy directly at the same time that you send a copy to me and Ed Stanfield.

As I have not heard from you in answer to my letter of March 9, 1966 I assume that you will meet me in Montgomery on Monday, March 28th at 11:57 a.m. (Eastern Flight 571). If you have arranged an itinerary for the week I will be with you, it will be helpful if you will send me a copy. If possible, please also inform me where I will be staying each night.

I believe that Bob spoke to you about being a bit more precise in your reports. The kind of information we want would include: (a) purpose of trip, (b) whom you saw, (c) what was discussed, (d) what decisions, if any, were arrived at, (e) your evaluation of the problems and what you are doing or plan to do about them.

Your reports need not be written in that exact order but you should give us enough information so that we can understand the problems in the particular county and community, know something about the groups and individuals with whom you are working, and what projects you are working on with local groups or individuals. I will have the opportunity of discussing this with you at greater length when I see you next week.

Sincerely,

Mr. Robert Valder
Alabama Council on Human Relations
2809 Governors Drive, S. W.
Huntsville, Alabama

Dear Bob:

Thanks for your call yesterday.

I would be interested in hearing more of your adventures with Lewis, as well as your evaluation of how he is doing during this initial period. Is he getting to focus on specific projects in the various counties? I am very much afraid that unless he learns to concentrate his efforts in the counties which show the greatest promise, he will dissipate his time and energy with little to show in the way of concrete achievements at the end of the year.

Look forward to seeing you at the State Directors meeting in Atlanta.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Jac Wasserman

The Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the Alabama Council on Human Relations met on April 2, 1966 in Birmingham with Dr. C. G. Gomillion presiding.

In the Assistant Director's report, Bob Valder explained the expanded grant-in-aid fund of $9,000. This fund is to be used for staff and our membership increase and fund raising will determine whether or not we receive it again another year.

After reading the financial report it was decided that a memorandum be sent each chapter suggesting that replacements be found for those who fomerly contributed $24 but have not again.

Mr. Louis Black of R.A.P. gave a report of a very busy month.

The executive committee authorized a "bonus" to Mrs. Bennie Rogers for her outstanding work in the state office. A check will be given her immediately for $225 and then $37.50 for each of 4 pay periods, totaling $375.

It was announced that Former Director of S.R.C., Dr. Leslie Dunbar, contributed $150 of an honorarium; it will be credited to the East Alabama Council Chapter.

Itwas suggested that a nominal fee be paid to Attorneys Smith & Vann for their services.

The following were suggested for consideration on the September agenda: (1) development of an official file to begin a historical record,

(2) reaffirming the time of chapters' elections of officers prior to the Annual Meeting in order to send memorandums to each chapter,

(3) discussion of a training session for membership campaign chairmen,

(4) election of a board member to S.R.C. in addition to the president,

(5) discussion of amount to be refunded to local chapters on their memberships.

It was proposed that another meeting of the executive committee meet in June. The following were the topics postponed to that meeting:

(1) addition of another member to executive board in place of treasurer,

(2) process of the membership drive,

(3) name of speaker for Annual Meeting,

(4) special fund to chapter with largest membership in state.

June 1 was set as date for meeting our membership quota.

The executive committee agreed to a "recommendation of the Southern Courier" in the forthcoming newsletter.

Mr. Lewis Black
20 Washington Street
Greensboro, Alabama

Dear Lewis:

Everything worked out fine. My wife was only sent to the hospital for some additional tests and they all proved negative. She was given some medication which cleared up her ailment and she seems fine now.

I am very sorry that I had to cut my trip short as I would have liked to meet with some of the other groups and to have had more time to talk to you about our work. I hope that we will have that opportunity when you come here for the meeting of the State Directors. If possible, come a day or so earlier, as you planned, to meet with some of the federal agencies. This will permit us to have some time together prior to our staff meeting.

One of the matters I didn't have the time to discuss with you is the kind of information we would like to see you cover in your reports. It would be extremely helpful to me and the other recipients of your reports if you would try to provide us with the following information, to the extent that you are able to do so.

1. Some background information on the county: number of people; Negro and white; industry, to what extent are Negroes employed in industry, retail trade, county and community government; problems of farmers, tenants and sharecroppers; housing, etc.

2. What organized groups are working in the parish (please provide name of group and names and addresses of officers) and what activities are they engaged in? Also give us your evaluation of the leadership in each county.

3. How have you been able to relate to these groups in their program and projects?

4. What new projects have you been able to (or are planning to) initiate and what have you been able to accomplish to date?

5. What are your plans with regard to your work in each county for the immediate future?

It would also help us to follow developments in each county if you would use a separate sheet for your work in each county. We can then file your reports by county, and be in a better position to follow developments in those counties.

Once we have all the basic background information regarding each of the counties where you are working, your weekly reports will then help us to follow ~~the~~ your progress and to make any suggestions we may have for new projects and increasing your effectiveness and service to the groups with which you are working.

From our conversation with Mr. Sidney Logan of Gardenville (Route 1, Box 140), it appears that many farmers' applications for loans from FHA have not been acted on for three months or more. I believe it would be a good idea for you to find out if this situation is typical in the other counties as well. Once you have compiled this data, including the names of the farmers and when their loan applications were submitted, you should arrange to meet with Mr. Bamberg to see if he is willing to do anything about speeding up action on these applications. Since these are low-income farmers, a delay of several months can cripple their entire farm operation. If Mr. Bamberg is not cooperative and will not do anything about processing these loans in a more reasonable period of time (2 weeks is sufficient time, but no longer than one month if the county office is swamped with loan applications), I will take the matter up with the FHA administrator in Washington. But I must have the facts before I can do so. You will have to furnish me with a list of the farmers in each county who have not had their applications acted on, type of loan requested and when their applications were submitted.

We never did get around to discussing either a state-wide meeting or several multi-county meetings at which we would have Ken Vallis or someone else from his office discuss projects possible under Title 3-B. This would include self-help housing, basic education, day care centers, etc. What is your thinking on this? If we have several multi-county meetings, could they be arranged on successive days so that we can have him cover most of the Black Belt counties in one trip? Please telephone if you want to talk to me about this, if you want to set these meetings up before we meet in Atlanta at the end of the month. We can arrange to meet with Tom Karter while we are in Washington for the CCAP meeting and make all the necessary arrangements for these meetings. Tom Karter is Ken Vallis' boss.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Jac

Mr. Lewis Black
20 Washington Street
Greensboro, Alabama

Dear Lewis:

I was very disappointed that you did not get to Selma either on Sunday or Monday. This is a critical situation and the people there need all the help they can get. It would also have given you the opportunity of meeting with Mays and learning more about ASCS programs, particularly how the cotton diversion program is supposed to operate, and about the rights of tenants and sharecroppers to share in the payments. The people there still need help and guidance in a great many areas and I hope that you will arrange to visit with them at your earliest convenience.

We have also not received any reports from you since March 25th, nor have you answered my letter of April 4th. I am unable to fulfill my responsibilities in providing RAP representatives with information and guidance unless reports are received when due. I hope that this was a temporary lapse and that we may expect to receive your reports regularly hereafter.

I would like you to prepare a report and to talk on credit unions at our staff meeting in Atlanta. You have probably had more experience in this field than any of our other field representatives and it would be extremely helpful if you would tell them what a credit union is, the different types of credit unions, what services it can provide, prerequisitives for organizing a rural credit union, how to get a credit union established, where to get help, etc. Also cite some examples of how some credit unions were established, their grown and service to their members.

The above suggestions are not intended to limit your presentation in any way, but are merely ideas of what you might include. Any other information which will help our field representatives know how to go about forming a credit union will be most welcome. If possible, please also bring about 20 copies each of any printed literature on credit unions you may have (or can get) which you think the men should have.

I will look forward to seeing you next week.

Mr. Robert Valder
Alabama Council on Human Relations
2809 Governors Drive, S.W.

Dear Bob:

I received a call from Rev. Walter on April 8th after he spoke to Fay Bennett re. the situation described in the enclosed correspondence. Rev. Walter said that the people involved were desperately in need of help and requested me either to come to Selma immediately or to send someone who could give these people some guidance. As I could not go, I promised to telephone James Mays, our Mississippi field representative as he has had considerable experience in ASCS matters, and ask him to go to Selma at the earliest opportunity. Mays agreed to contact SCLC and to go there on Saturday or Sunday. I also asked Mays to notify Black when he planned to be in Selma so that Black could be in on the meetings, learn something about the problems and how to handle them, and he would then be in a position to follow up on whatever action was decided on. Black phoned me on Monday, April 11th about the meeting that was originally planned for Washington and I asked him whether he met with Mays. (I hadn't heard from Mays at that time). He told me that he was too tired to go. I then suggested that he telephone Mays in Selma and arrange to meet with him that day (Mays was still there). He promised to do so. I learned subsequently that he did not call again, nor did he go to Selma. I spoke to Shirley Mesher of SCLC yesterday and she said she still had not heard from him. I just cannot understand his lack of cooperation in this very critical matter, particularly since it would have given him the opportunity to learn something about ASCS operations which would have been of value to him in his work with farmers.

Black has also not submitted a report since March 25th nor answered my letter to him dated April 4th. I have no idea what he is doing but hope that you do and approve.

I'll be seeing you next week when we can discuss his work at greater length.

Best regards.

Mr. Lewis Black
20 Washington Street
Greensboro, Alabama

Dear Lewis:

I am enclosing a letter received from ASCS with reference to your complaint. Have you heard anything directly from ASCS? I do not know what they mean when they say that the necessary number of "eligible and authenticated signatures were not on Mr. Black's petition." Were any of the signatures on your ballot challenged as not being "eligible and authenticated" and proven to be so? If you still feel that the signatures on your petition were authentic and that the signers were eligible, I believe that we should demand to know why they were not accepted. You may wish to write ASCS yourself and request them to tell you which of the signers to your petition they found ineligible and for what reason. If you would like to have me pursue the matter further, please furnish me with whatever information I may need to follow up.

Your summary report of February 1-April 26 lists four counties (Wilcox, Marengo, Sumter and Monroe) where you have helped to get credit unions started. Aside from Marengo County which has had its charter approved, have any of the other counties' charters been approved? Please keep us informed as soon as their charters are approved. Also let us know if you are assisting other counties in developing credit unions. You have made a great beginning in helping to establish credit unions in the four counties already mentioned. None of our other field representatives have been able to do so much in so little time and you are to be congratulated on your success.

Your report also mentions that you worked with farmers in getting a farm cooperative started, but you do not mention either the group with whom you have been working or the county.

Also, what kind of cooperative are they trying to start: is it a purchasing or marketing cooperative? If it is a marketing cooperative, what products do they hope to market? Is this group also obtaining assistance from any of the federal or state agencies? If you will send me a detailed report on the efforts of this group to form a cooperative, I may be in a position to be of some assistance.

You refer to "great problems with the Farmers Home Administration" but you do not send any details. It would be helpful if you would provide us with specific information on the problems encountered, and the names and addresses of the people concerned if we are expected to be of assistance in such situations. If you have taken steps to deal with the problem, let us know what you have done so that we can do whatever else may be necessary to back you up.

You also mention a cooperative in Greensboro with which you are working to secure a market for their products. What is the name of the cooperative and what kind of a co-op is it? Are you referring to the co-op store or is it a farmers co-op? Here also you do not provide us with enough information to understand the problems referred to. One of my duties is to try to be helpful to you with the particular problems that you encounter in the state, but I am unable to fulfill this function unless you provide us with more detailed reports of "who, what, where, when and why -- and sometimes how," referred to in Ed Stanfield's letter to you of April 29th.

In my letter to you of April 4th, I requested that you investigate the charges that Mr. Logan and other farmers' applications for FHA loans are being held up for three or more months. Please refer to my letter and see if you can compile the information requested so that I can take the matter up with the FHA Administrator in Washington.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Jac Wasserman
Field Director

Mr. Robert Valder
Alabama Council on Human Relations
2809 Governors Drive
Huntsville, Alabama

Dear Bob:

The enclosed letter to Lewis is self-explanatory. If you would prefer that I write to you in response to Black's reports, I shall be happy to do so in the future.

There are several other matters pertaining to his report that I would like to discuss with you.

1. I will leave it to you to do what you can regarding the spelling and grammatical structure of his reports. I think that Mrs. Black can probably be helpful in the final editing of his reports if you can find a tactful way of broaching the matter to her. His reports can undoubtedly be greatly improved if someone works with him on it. It might also be a good idea for him to first send his reports to you so that you can fill in whatever gaps there are (after discussion with him) and then have your secretary type the final report which comes to me, Ed Stanfield and Fay Bennett, to your officers and into your files. One important thing that Lewis should be taught is to be extremely careful about the correct spelling of names and addresses. You will have noted that Dan Harrell is referred to as "Harrial Daniel", Anne Braxton and "Broxton". It would also be helpful if he provided the addresses of the organizations and individuals referred to in his reports so that we can add their names to our files if it serves our purposes. It will also permit us to write to them directly if we have reason to do so.

2. I am not properly informed, nor do I imagine you are, by such vague statements as: "I have helped people with problems confronted (sic) them in the welfare department, social security office and FHA." I think we both would like to know what some of the problems are, where they are encountered, whether the problems are peculiar to one area or locality or whether they are typical throughout the state. He should also indicate what he has done or is planning to do regarding these problems and what success he has had. It is difficult for us to evaluate his work, offer him guidance and support unless he takes the trouble to give us a more adequate account of what he is doing.

3. Through no fault of his own, Lewis has begun to work without what I would consider adequate training. I do not know how well he understands the programs he is expected to deal with, how well he interprets them to others, or how he is using what knowledge he has in implementing the programs with the groups with whom he is working. He makes no mention of the groups with whom he is working in the various counties, or in what way he is relating to them. I would expect that by this time he would have a pretty good idea of the counties and particular projects on which he is planning to concentrate his activities (in addition to credit unions). It would also help us if he gave us some background information on the particular problems in each gounty, the organized groups working in each county and something about their programs. This kind of information will enable us to spot and remedy whatever gaps there are in his knowledge of particular programs. We hope to improve the effectiveness of RAP and NSF representatives through more frequent staff meetings with resource people from the various agencies who can help to interpret their programs and provide guidelines for their implementation. I also expect to spend more time in the field with each of the RAP representatives as soon as I am able to get some assistance in the office, for which funds have now been budgeted.

4. Nothing has been said about the recently formed Alabama Farmers and Rural Council (AFRC). Has the Council met since our Alabama Conference?

I have great confidence in Lewis and feel that if we can give him close supervision and guidance for the next few months, he will be able to do an outstanding job in Alabama. Most of the matters referred to above and in my letters to him are matters of experience and training. He will have to analyze the problems in each of the counties, choose projects to work on which are best suited and most needed, and set himself definite goals and objectives so that he does not dissipate his energies. I think it is our responsibility to get him to think and plan along these lines and you can count on me to do everything that I can to give him whatever assistance I can.

Best regards.

Sincerely,

Jac Wasserman
Field Director

P. S. Did you have an opportunity to meet with Shirley Mesher of SCLC in Dallas to see what you and Lewis could do to be helpful to them? Lewis can learn a lot about dealing with some of the problems of low-income farmers by seeing how they are coping with the situation in Dallas County.

Mr. Lewis Black
20 Washington Street
Greensboro, Alabama

Dear Lewis:

We would like to have you outline a step-by-step procedure for organizing a credit union at our staff meeting on June 21-23. You will probably be called on to speak for about 20 minutes on either the evening of the 22nd or the morning of the 23rd. While most of the other field representatives understand the basic principles and philospphy of credit unions, they probably do not have a thorough grasp of all the elements that go into building a successful credit union. I would like you to emphasize the kind of educational program that is needed to "sell" the credit union idea to the local community, how to win community support for the idea, and how to go about getting a state or federal charter. I assume that you will also stress the importance of good management. LaVert Taylor informs me that there are two credit unions in Northern Florida that are disintegrating because they have not been able to get adequate community support. I suspect that their problem is that they did not do a good educational job before the credit union was formed and do not have the kind of dedicated and competent management that is needed.

We have not had any report from you since April 25th and I, at least, am completely in the dark as to your activities since that date. You have also not replied to my letter of May 4th in which I commented on your report and requested you to elaborate on some of the activities that you mentioned. I hope that you will send us a report of your activities since April 25th before our staff meeting on the 21st, and that you will also reply to my letter of May 4th so that we will have a better understanding of what you are doing.

Sincerely,

Dear Vernon:

Enclosed is a proposal for a grant from the Voter Education Project for a citizenship education program relative to the 1966 Alabama Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service elections.

As is stated in the proposal the election will be over on August 16, 1966. But the ballots will be mailed to eligible voters on August 6. So there is an urgency about this proposal if we are to conduct a significant campaign. We didn't know until recently, however, that the State ASC Committee had decided to set the date for the election up to August.

If any aspects of the proposal are unclear please call me at 624-8121 or 624-7118 in Greensboro.

Thank you for your consideration of this proposal.

REPORT
July 10-July 23, 1966

FOOD PROGRAM FOR HALE AND PERRY COUNTIES
The food program has become a major problem in Hale and Perry Counties. The situation became of such that Mr. Roden and I went to Washington to meet with USDA July 10, 1966.

The Problem
HALE-PERRY AREA COORDINATING COMMITTEE FOR ECONOMIC OPPORTUNITY, INC. made a proposal to the OEO to fund our group. The funds were to pay for the distribution of food to these two counties. This was done because; (1) the power structure had told us that they were interested in giving the people of these two counties food, (2) the power structure said that they didn't have the money to pay for the food program, and (3) the white community said that they were not going to work with the Negro community.

Discussions
Of the USDA, we talked with Mr. Birkhead, Mr. Nell Freeman, and Mr. Bill Seaborn. Of the OEO we talked with Mr. Bowen.
The OEO agreed to fund our group, if we can get the USDA to give us the food. The USDA agreed to give the food to the two counties even if the power structure didn't agree to the food program coming in the county, (pending a conference with the county officials).

SPEECHES THAT WERE MADE THE LAST TWO WEEKS.
I met with a group in Huntsville, July 11. We discussed credit unions. This group composed of; the Huntsville Chapter of the Alabama Council on Human Relations, the Rural Farmers of Madison County, some of the pastors of local churches, and the CAP group for Madison County. Speaking at the meeting were; Mrs. Lewis Black, Mr. Al Ulmer and I. This was thier first meeting to discuss the credit union movement. It seems to be a great interest for a credit union. There are some local problems, such as; (1) learning more about credit union, (2) who will be the group to sponsor the credit union? and (3) how broad the credit union membership should be in the community?
I spoke to the Huntsville Chapter on Human Relations in the evening, on the problems of the Black-Belt, and how they relate to the rest of the world.
On July 13, I made a speech to a group in Selma, Alabama on some of the USDA programs.
I addressed two graduate classes at the Alabama State College, in Montgomery, July 15. We discussed the; social, political, and economical movement of the Negro in the world today.
I addressed two groups in Hale County. One the Hale-Perry Area

Coordinating Committee For Economic Opportunity, Inc.
The other, were farmers interested in ASCS programs.

ASCS PROGRAM IN ALABAMA

Due to the fact the Negro farmer of the State of Alabama have been deprived the right to participate in the ASCS programs, as well as many other programs. We felt it was wise for us to start helping these farmers learn more about these programs.
We set a meeting to be held at the Jefferson Davis Hotel, July 16. It was at this meeting that we started to working toward an education program, to help these 22,090 Negro farmers, in 26 counties of Ala. learn more about the ASCS programs.

MEETING IN MONTGOMERY

This meeting pointed up the following; (1) the farmers of Alabama had no real help from state, federal people in educating them about the ASCS programs, (2) the Alabama ASCS officials were rushing the election to keep the Negroes out of office, (3) there are twelve (12) counties where non-white farmers out number white, and(4) there are 26 counties where we could win, with the help of some people. I have been spending most of my time working with the people in these counties, trying to get them organized.

TRIP TO AUBURN, ALABAMA

I went to Auburn the weekend, Mr. Valder and I wrote up a proposal to be presented to Southern Regional Council, for a grant of $4,000. to aid us in financing an education program for farmers about the ASCS, of USDA.

Mr. LaVert Taylor
Box 1874
Tallahassee, Florida 32304

Dear LaVert:

I have been in Alabama and South Carolina and so did not have the opportunity to write you sooner to acknowledge your report for June 24-July 5th. I am very pleased that you are digging-in and making yourself known in the North Florida counties, as well as familiarizing yourself with the problems of the people in those counties.

I think your idea for a multi-county organization of rural people is an excellent way to get the leaders of those counties together to discuss their mutual problems and to plan action programs to meet their needs. Have you set a date for the ASCS meeting that you planned to hold during the first week in August? I hope that it is not on the 6th as I have a meeting to attend in South Carolina on that date. If it is on the 6th, I'll try to get Mike Kenney or James Mays to meet with you. I met John Due in South Carolina last week and he mentioned something about a meeting on July 30th. I tried to reach both you and Due on the telephone over the week-end and today, but without success. Will you check with him about the meeting he is planning to be sure that there is no conflict. I would appreciate your advising me as soon as you have a definite time and place for your meeting.

I was interested in what you said about the FHA office in Jefferson county. Do you know if Negro farmers have applied for other types of loans and the reasons they were given for being refused regular loans? The. U. S. Commission on Civil Rights is very much interested in receiving information on discriminatory practices by the State Extension Services as well as by other USDA agencies. Do you think that you can get the Assistant County agent who was formerly in Jefferson county to file a complaint with the Commission?

What is the present status of the plans for forming a cooperative to purchase peanut drying equipment as well as other farm supplies? What is the name of the cooperative and are they already chartered? Please also let me have the names and addresses of the officers of the cooperative. As you work in each of the counties, please send us the names and addresses of the key leaders who you feel should be placed on our mailing list (in N. Y. and Atlanta). Also their organizational affiliation, if any.

Keep up the good work and best regards.

Sincerely,

Jac Wasserman
Field Director

Dear Mr. Valder:

The Voter Education Project has carefully considered the request of the Rural Advancement Project of Alabama Council on Human Relations to conduct a citizenship education program relative to the 1966 Alabama Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service elections for the period of August 6, to September 6, 1966. We are pleased to inform you that we have approved your program in the amount of $1,650.00 for a one month program.

The amount granted is to cover the following:

|---|---|
| Subsistance | |
| (10) People @ $15. per week | $600.00 |
| Secretary @ $25. per week | 100.00 |
| Transportation | 750.00 |
| Office Supplies | 125.00 |
| Telephone | 125.00 |
| | $1,650.00 |

Our check in the amount of $1,650.00 is enclosed. Please sign and return the enclosed receipt carbon immediately.

These funds may not be used to support partisan politics in any manner whatsoever, nor to influence legislation of any kind, nor in behalf of or against any political candidate. You should urge and welcome non-partisan support of your voter registration activities.

Our Research Director, Mr. Marvin Wall, will write you regarding further special reporting requirements.

If you have any questions, please let us hear from you.

Sincerely yours,

Vernon E. Jordan, Jr.

THE ALABAMA FARMERS AND RURAL AREAS COUNCIL
INVITES YOU TO ATTEND A STATE WIDE-MEETING TO HELP ORGANIZE YOUR COMMUNITY FOR PARTICIPATION IN THE 1966 ASCS ELECTIONS TO BE HELD ON AUGUST 16th

**********

Eleven Negro citizens were elected as regular members to ASCS Community Committees in Alabama last year. This is a 100 per cent improvement over the past. But we can do better. There are more than 25 counties where the number of Negro farm operators make it possible to elect Negro representatives to ASCS Community Committees. The purpose of this meeting is to see that each community not only has Negro candidates on the ballot, but that the candidates selected are chosen by the Negro community and not the power structure.

Alabama ASCS election is the first state election to be held in the South this year. We must make this election an example for all other states to follow.

*If you want to have a candidate of your choice on the ballot...

*If you want to know about the new regulations governing this election...

*If you want help in organizing your community...

COME TO THE MEETING:

Saturday, July 16, at 10:00 a.m.

At the Civic Room, Jefferson Davis Hotel, Montgomery Alabama.

Registration $1.00, which will include the cost of your lunch.

We'll be expecting you.

Very truly yours,

Lewis Black

Lewis Black, President
AF Rural Areas Council

p.s. In view of the fact the election will be on August 16, 1966; the petitions to get farmers on the ballot, will have to be mailed to your ASCS Office of your county not later than July 21, 1966. Please start working on your petition for the people you plan to run for committeeman.

Dear Mr. Valder:

One research report for the Voter Education Project will cover our needs. This report should describe your education program in detail. It should describe the number of people reached, the means used to reach these people, the type of instruction provided, and your evaluation of the results. A full and frank report will be of considerable value to us in planning citizenship education programs in the future.

This report should be filed on or about September 10, after your program has been completed. We look forward to hearing from you, and we wish you every success in your program.

Dear Vernon:

Thank you for the grant of $1,650.00 for our ASCS efforts.

As you know, the grant is for August 6 to September 6. In view of the fact that a federal court has set back the deadline for mailing ballots from August 16 to September 15, we would like to have the grant period extended to September 22. This will enable us to continue our efforts through the mailing period and will also enable us to do some post-election work, especially in the area of investigating reprisals, irregularities, etc. Would this be possible?

Sincerely,

REPORT
July 24-September 3, 1966

Credit Union
I have been working with the Credit Union Development in Monroe, Sumter, Wilcox, Marango, Hale, Clarke, and Tuscaloosa Counties.

The Tuscaloosa Citizens For Action Committee had me to come up there to discuss the credit union idea with them. The group seemed to be interested in having a credit union set up in their organization, but seems that this group, led by Rev. T. Y. Rogers, is tired up with so many other things that they are not ready for organization.

The Clarke County group met in Jackson, Alabama. Mr. Jackson and Mr. Frank Deans were the men who helped to get the interest going among these people. We have a good chance of having an organization that will move off and advance.

They have had three meetings and are in the process of electing some people they can trust to carry out the work. I don't think they will have any problem of finding people who will work on this movement.

Hale County, as you know, has the Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union. For the last two months the credit union has made some progress in it's assets. Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union received a Thrift Honor Award from the Brueau of Federal Credit Unions; this was due, enlarge to our working so hard last year to make Greenala the fastest growing credit union in the U. S. of its size.

Marango County has a credit union that we need to put in a little time with to get people moving, in saving, and loaning money to one another. They have more than a hundred members and have made only one loan in four-months.

Wilcox County, is having a time in trying to get charatered. The problem is in the Alabama State League Representative. He is leaving after this month, and suppose things eill be better. He has held up the chartering of credit unions in Monroe and Wilcox Counties.

I think these two counties have good organizations, the problem is getting the credit union chartered.

Food Program For Hale-Perry Counties
Hale and Perry Counties are still having problems with the USDA and OEO, in trying to get the foods going. I have had a number of discussions with the power-structure, USDA and OEO since my last report, but we haven't got any food for the people.

After a deal about Lowdnes and Wilcox Counties and OEO Grant that Governor Wallace held up. Wallace also sent one of his men to Hale and Perry Counties, and got the food program held up from coming to the two counties.

In the meeting in Mississippi tow weeks ago, we were told that the food program would be here by September 1, 1966. Today is September the 3, and the food has not been seen.

The USDA blames OEO and the white power-structure. The OEO blames the USDA and white folks. And Negroes are dying for the lack of food.

Co-Op
I have been working in with a group in Perry County, which shows great promises for co-ops. James Carter is the man who has done more to try and put the peices together for this co-op. Mike Kenney and I went out and Mike wrote up a report on the co-op.

I have had three meeting with the group since that time, and have shown pictures of, how the co-ops idea can work.

Akron, Alabama is a community in Hale County that has shown some interest in co-ops. They seem to need some leadership on managing the business.

The people in Marango County had me to meet with them on the co-op idea. They are only in the talking stage of the co-ops.

Training Program
We had a meeting in Birmingham, Alabama, to continue to make plans for this leadership training program to be held at Miles College. It seems that it will be sometimes in the late fall before we will be able to set up the program in full, provided we are funded. I am not to swear where we stand on this, but we are still working for a ten county training program.

Head Start
We have begin to try and get a Heard-Start Program for Hale County for a 12 month period. We have done very little work on this project.

ASCS Elections

The most of my time has been spent on the ASCS Elections. We have some counties in fairly good shape. We have chances of winning some elections in 11 counties.

The Negroes on the ballot in these counties out number the white.

The election was set to come off on August 16, 1966 and we filed a suite in Washington and we postspond the election until September.

The ballots are to be in September 15, and counted September 20, and the County Convention will be September 29, 1966. We have insisted on all farmers to vote for the farmer of their choice in this election. We have had meetings with these farmers in most of these counties.

The USDA has told us that they will work with us in helping to see that these elections are carried out right this time.

I have personally visited most of these counties, and assisted people in getting out information to the farmers. I have been to meetings, been making house canvassing some areas of the counties.

We have two more weeks of hard work in this effort. Mr. Peter Agee was the only person I know of, had to leave on the account of taking part in the ASCS Election efforts. We are trying to get him to come back home. He has been in Memphis, Tennessee for three weeks. We are in touch with him.

Local Farmer Committeemen Voting Is Ruled Invalid In Macon County

10-21-66 MA AC

The state Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee declared invalid the election of community-level committeemen in Macon County Tuesday, and said the balloting would have to be redone in that county.

B. L. Collins, the state ASCS executive director, said however, that the invalidation of the Macon County returns was the only problem encountered, in statewide counting of ballots for community committees Tuesday.

Collins said late Tuesday afternoon that an observer for the Alabama Council on Human Relations called attention to the fact that the ballots in Macon County had not been kept in a locked box, as required by ASCS rules. After talking to the service's main offices in Washington, Collins said, it was decided to rerun the election in Macon. No date has been set for the new election.

A federal district court in Washington ordered a one-month delay in the ASCS balloting deadline in Alabama, after several Alabama farmers and civil rights groups asked for additional time, claiming that more time was needed to familiarize Negro farmers with balloting procedures.

The court, in an Aug. 10 ruling, moved the deadline for mailing in ballots in the community elections from Aug. 16 to Sept. 16.

(Please See FARM VOTE, P 2)

The community committeemen, who have little power themselves, will select county committee members — one in each county—from among their numbers. Collins said the county committees have "quite a bit of power"—though closely regulated by the state committee—over allotment and support programs.

Lowndes County, unlike the others in the state, is electing all three county committeemen this year, after a long squabble over last year's election culminated in a decision to scrap the whole election and try again this year. Collins said Lowndes was one of four counties in which allegations of irregularities were made last year, but was the only one in which any action was taken.

He said that returns in this year's community elections would probably not all be reported to his office until Friday.

In the past, all three county county committeemen were elected each year, but Collins said those chosen last year were elected to staggered terms, so that only one seat on the county committee comes up for election each year.

The state ASCS director said that several Negro community committeemen were elected in the state last year, and "quite a few" are running in this year's election. He said, however, that no Negro has ever been elected to a county committee.

Dear Vernon:

As you may know the Macon County ASCS election has been invalidated. The enclosed newsclipping from the Montgomery Advertiser explains the matter in sufficent manner. I should have talked to you while at SRC last week, but it never entered my mind to do so.

Lewis Black and I have talked this over and have decided to apply for one more extension of the VEP grant period. As you know we have already received one extension due to the extension of the Alabama ASCS voting deadline. Now, because of the Macon County invalidation we can go to work again on trying to get Negro representation on the County ASCS Committee. However, we will need money to do so.

You may be interested to know that before the vote was invalidated we had counted 5 of the 10 beats and a Negro had won in one of the communities and every indication was that five (5) more were going to win in the community that was being counted when they stopped counting due to the decision to invalidate. And we are quite confident that we can get enough Negroes voted into the community committees ("good" Negroes too- our own choices and those of the community and not of the ASCS committee) to control the county convention and thus insure the election of a "good" Negro to the County Committee.

And since the rest of the elections are done now we are almost positive that we can bring in two or three of our best workers from other counties to work full-time on Macon's election.

It has not yet been announced when the next election will be held. We have been told that it should be announced sometime this week. So we can not ask for a definite extension at this time. In general, what would be best for us would be an extension until the county convention is held. It is our understanding, however, that the election will be held soon--probably in 30-45 days.

And we still have about $650 of the VEP grant left so an extension would provide us with enough money to do a really good, intensive job, especially in view of the fact that the farmers know what's going on now, interest is high, we have access to more experienced workers and we know the county much better now than before. I might add that, although we don't know all of the returns from all of the counties yet things don't look good. It is commonly agreed that Macon County now has the best chance of getting a Negro on the county committee.

Could you let us know about this soon? We need to get organized for this campaign and will have to know how much money we can depend upon in order to organize it.

Thank you very much.

Sincerely,

Bob

MEMO

To: Fay Bennett

From: Jac Wasserman

Subject: Alabama trip, October 19-22, 1966

I drove directly to Greensboro from Atlanta to meet with Lewis Black. My discussion with him confirmed what I already knew -- that he had no organized plan of work and merely reacted to situations as they occured. He is still not able to analyze and evaluate the problems in the various Black Belt counties and to decide on priorities. It was also evident that the main thrust of his activities revolve around the problems in his own county (Hale), and that more than half his time has been spent working in that county. I discovered that he was not too informed about the problems and activities in the other counties. Lewis Black has not established a good working relationship with the leadership of those counties, and has played a very minor role in helping them to develop meaningful programs. He does have a very good personal relationship with the leadership in many counties, but he is looked upon as the "leader" of Hale County, rather than as a state-wide representative of RAP to whom they can turn for assistance and guidance.

You may recall that the people of Alabama formed an Alabama Farmers and Rural Areas Council. Aside from the founding meeting which took place at our conference at Alabama A & M in Montgomery, only one other meeting was held -- to discuss the ASCS elections. When I inquired whether he had any other meetings, plans, or activities scheduled for the Council, he replied that he hadn't thought about it! This was to be the coordinating agency through which we hopefully thought that we would be able to receive and provide information to groups throughout the state, initiate action programs, press for needed legislation, etc.

I was very unhappy about the composition of the Board of the Rural Areas Council as the Board members were not democratically elected by the county groups, but selected by a steering committee which was largely composed of urban middle-class people who were not actively involved in working with farm and rural people. I recommended to Balck and others that the Board be reconstituted with representatives chosen by the local groups in each of the counties, but nothing was done about my recommendation. It goes without saying that no one man can effectively service an entire state and it is therefore necessary to have some such state-wide organization, through which information can be received and disseminated and to pinpoint areas which require the assistance of the RAP representative and/or other outside resources.

There are two projects which at present seem to take up practically all of Mr. Black's time and they are both related to Hale County. The first is his attempt to get surplus food distribution for the county. The second, is the new CAP board recently formed, but not yet funded. The CAA Board is composed of 15 white and 15 Negro members, each chosen by the respective groups. Of the Negroes chosen, I am told that at least five are "toms" so that effective control will always rest with the white group. As a matter of fact, Black lost out being elected Chairman by one vote (of a Negro). He is now vice-chairman of the CAA, and they are working on a proposal for program and development funds in order to set up an office and hire staff. I suggested to him that he should try to get the CAA Board to approve the formation of an advisory committee to be made up of elected representatives of the target areas -- in proportion to their ratio in the population, and that this committee be vested with the authority to approve, reject, modify all proposals of the CAA Board, and to suggest new programs for the consideration of the Board. This would be in line with the OEO legislation and their directives calling for the maximum participation of the poor. This is an issue that the CAA Board will probably not readily accept and which should then be fought out with OEO -- and publicly. I cannot see very much good coming out of the Hale County program otherwise with the present setup.

With regard to the food distribution program, I believe that Black went off half-cocked, without adequate knowledge of how these programs operate and without competent counsel on how to proceed. It was only after Black and Jerry Roden went to Washington that I was consulted. I told Black that he was going about it in the wrong way and that OEO would not even consider financing a food distribution program until they had a definite commitment from the county officials that they would sponsor the program -- or failing that, a commitment from USDA that they would furnish the food to an independent agency. I won't go into all the ramifications of the maneuvering on this project. The present situation is that Bill Seabron, on behalf of the Department, told Black that they would furnish the food if Black would provide $12,000 to cover the costs of distribution.

This didn't sound right, so I asked Black to telephone Seabron in my presence to say that they would agree to raise the $12,000, but that they wanted a letter of intent from USDA stipulating what they were prepared to do. Seabron asked Black whether he was willing to turn the $12,000 over to the Probate Judge (the highest County official). This was a new twist that was not previously mentioned to Black. The Probate Judge doesn't want to have anything to do with the program, is opposed to it, and even if he agreed to run it the Negro community would be in the position of raising the funds which he would then use as he saw fit (in true Alabama segregationist fashion).

Black phoned me yesterday to ask whether, in view of all the complications and difficulties, they shouldn't now try to get the food stamp program in the county instead. I suggested that he wait for Seabron's letter before deciding, as the food distribution program would be preferable since it would reach more people, but if that were out they could then try for the food stamps. I mention these incidents only to show that Black has been wasting considerable time and effort in trying to initiate worthwhile programs, but without adequate knowledge of the complexities of the programs, and without consultation with people who know more than he does and who could be helpful in providing him with advice and guidance.

I decided that it would be best if I went around alone to a few of the counties in the Black Belt to talk to some of the leaders, and to find out more about their problems and to see in what way Black was relating to them (without the possibility of embarrasing them if he were present). Briefly, this is what I found.

He has been instrumental in getting a few credit unions started, but they are floundering because there has been no follow-up and support from him, and there are no other resource people that they know to call on. He also interested other groups in credit unions, but has neglected to put in the necessary time that it takes to get them off the ground. It is true that he has recently been busy with ASCS and with other matters, but I feel that he does not know how to organize his work and establish priorities and that he could have given these groups additional help. He told me that he didn't have time to follow-up with some of these groups, and I inquired why Mrs. Black wasn't used for this purpose as she is supposed to know as much as he does and is considered very reliable. Al Ulmer, through SRC, has been using her as a consultant and may be willing to have her continue helping groups that need her services.

I spoke to the leaders of the new cooperatives in Wilcox, Perry and Dallas counties and discovered that they desperately need help. They have gone through the motions of forming a cooperative, but don't know what to do now, or where they are going. Black does not know enough about cooperatives to be very helpful, but he could have called on us to assist those groups -- which he didn't do. I attended a meeting of the Dallas County group with Shirley Mesher and they pleaded with me for assistance and I promised them that I would be out again shortly, and would also bring in some other people who could help. I plan this for some time next month.

The Wilcox cooperative is dormant now, after experimenting with cucumbers early this year, and they also need help. Ditto for Perry County. All these groups urgently need education in crop diversification, in determining what crops to plant, and in finding a market for their produce -- as well as an educational program for their members. I plan to concentrate on this during the next few months so that they will be in a position to get started when Spring planting time comes. More about my plans in this respect later.

I have a much better idea now of what some of the problems and deficiencies are and I will attempt to work them out with Black over the next few months. I will need to talk to Bob Valder and Jerry Roden to get their support and I plan to do this early next month. I discussed the problem with Ed Stanfield who is in general agreement with my evaluation and will also talk to Valder, Roden, as well as Black. I am planning to spend a week in Alabama every four or five weeks to see if working more closely with Black will help him to learn more about the programs and their implementation so that he can be more effective.

The ASCS evaluation session at Don Jelinek's office proved helpful as we learned about the difficulties experienced and came up with a number of recommendations which I will report on in greater detail when I get the secretary's notes.

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
Washington, D. C.

October 26, 1966

Mr. Lewis Black, Vice Chairman
Hale County Community Action Committee, Inc.
20 Washington Street
Greensboro, Alabama 36744

Dear Mr. Black:

This is in response to your request for an explanation of this Department's position with respect to donated foods for Hale County, Alabama. You explained that it is quite likely that the Hale County Community Action Committee, Inc., could secure funds to defray the local costs of distribution if USDA donations were available.

The United States Department of Agriculture has an agreement with the Alabama Department of Pensions and Security to donate from the quantities of foods available to us, those quantities that can be distributed to low-income families in Alabama. The Alabama Department of Pensions and Security has regularly offered to provide these foods to any county that will make arrangements to distribute them. This local option provision is necessary since there are local costs of distribution that must be met at the county level. The source of funds then, is not important to us or, we think, to the State of Alabama because it in no way relates to the position of the state or USDA.

We understand that the Board of Commissioners of Hale County has offered to accept funds from the Hale County Community Action Committee, Inc., to start a distribution program. We don't think the source of funds you offer is important to the Board of Commissioners either, so long as there are no requirements made on the Board that would be unusual to a grant like the one they discussed from the Office of Economic Opportunity.

We suggest that you discuss this informally with Judge Harold Knight if you need further assurance of the County Board's position before applying for funds. If he thinks formal Board action is necessary and appropriate, we are sure he will take care of this for you.

Please be assured we are vitally interested in seeing a food donation program for the people of Hale County started and are ready and willing to provide extra quantities of the foods now going to the State of Alabama when arrangements have been made with the county to distribute them.

MEMO

To: Lewis Black

From: Jac Wasserman

I have just received a compilation of the total number of applications received for various types of FHA loans during the year 1965. It also includes the total number of loans made during this same period.

I find the statistics almost unbelievable for the sixteen southern states reported on.

The following figures are given for the state of Alabama:

| Applications received from Negroes | | granted |
|---|---|---|
| Operating loans..... | 907 | 638 |
| Farm Ownership loans.... | 93 | 20 |
| Soil and water loans.... | 3 | 3 |
| Rural housing loans..... | 196 | 46 |
| EO loans..... | 225 | 86 |
| Emergency loans..... | 0 | 0 |

There were a total of 20,941 Negro farm operators in Alabama in 1964, of which 10,898 were full and part owners, and 10,043 were tenants. The statistics do not reveal how many of the tenants were sharecroppers. Knowing what we do about the economic plight of most Negro farmers, it is incomprehensible to me that there were so few Negro farmers in Alabama that made applications for the various types of FHA loans.

Two explanations occur to me.

1. Many farmers who inquired about loans were turned away by the FHA County Supervisor without making formal application. We have previously run into this situation, but FHA has issued instructions to its offices that all farmers who apply for a loan should be requested to fill out an application, regardless of whether "there are no funds available at present," or whether the County Supervisor believes "that they are not eligible." It is quite possible that many farmers were discouraged from filing formal application for loans for the above reasons. Naturally, if so few farmers filed applications, and those that did file were screened for eligibility -- that would account for the high percentage of loans granted Negro farmers who filed applications.

2. The other explanation is that there are still a great many Negro farmers who use conventional banking facilities for their operating and other loans, rather than FHA. Or is it that their previous experiences with FHA have discouraged them from applying?

In any case, it would appear to me that it is necessary for us to find out the reason for the small number of applications filed and to intensify our efforts to have Negro farmers apply and file applications to FHA for whatever assistance they require.

If you have any facts or theories to explain this phenomenon, please share them with me.

Dear Bob:

Thank you for the report from you and Lewis Black. It was through and most interesting and informative. I look forward to seeing you again soon.

Sincerely,

As Director of the Rural Advancement Project of the Alabama Council on Human Relations I wish to apply for a Voter Education Project grant from the Southern Regional Council in order to continue and expand the work of various organizations concerning the approaching Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) elections in Alabama. It is our belief that such a grant would be possible under the "citizenship education" aspect of the Voter Education Project.

THE PROBLEM[1]

"The Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service (ASCS) is one of the most important agencies of the Department of Agriculture for those farmers in the South who are concentrated in the allotted crops--cotton, tobacco, and peanuts. This service, with offices in 3,000 counties, administers the crop allotment and price support programs and grants funds to farmers on a cost-share basis for the adoption of agricultural conservation practices. The funds dispersed from these offices are so large that a distinguised commentator has noted 'in many areas county government operations are dwarfed by ASCS programs as measured in dollar expenditures or impact on residents or both.'"(89)

"The virtual exclusion of Negroes from the ASCS structure poses one of the most serious problems with which the Department of Agriculture should be concerned, particularly since this exclusion is compounded by the discriminatory operation of the county committee elections." (96)

"The Commission's study has indicated that the most serious problems of equal protection of the laws in the Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service programs are the exclusion of Negroes from the decision making of State and county committees and from employment in county offices. This is particularly notable since the main crops of the South for which allotments are established--cotton, tobacco, and peanuts--are much more important in the economic life of Negro farmers than of white farmers." (90)

"The real power in the ASCS program...is in the hands of county committees. These committees are usually elected indirectly by the vote of community committeemen who are directly elected in their communities. The ASCS elections for community and county committeemen are entirely under the jurisdiction of the ASCS, are supervised by the State committee, and are conducted in accordance with detailed procedures." (91)

1. The Problem is outlined in excerpts from Equal Opportunity in Farm Programs A report of the United States Commission on Civil Rights--1965. Page numbers follow the excerpts in parentheses.

"(In 1964) out of 37,000 community committeemen and alternates elected to 7,400 community committees in the Deep South States, only about 75 were Negroes. Some of the reasons for the overwhelming disproportion in representation may be gathered from the circumstances surrounding the 1964 committee elections in Mississippi. There for the first time Negroes were elected to community committees in six counties. Prior to this time the only Negro community committeemen elected in Mississippi came from one all-Negro community. The nomination of Negroes in this State came as a result of intensive activity by the Mississippi Summer Project of the Council of Federated Organizations (COFO) which succeeded in having Negroes nominated in nine counties...On the day elections were held, COFO workers who attempted to act as poll-watchers and to observe the counting of ballots were arrested in a few instances and some were assaulted."2 (92)

As a result of these election campaigns in nine counties in Mississippi, in 1965 for the first time Negroes were put on the ballot in all Southern counties by the local (white dominated) committees. But these elections were characterized by systematic fraud and intimidation, as well as by a widespread lack of understanding of the election process by the Negroes newly participating in these elections. The United States Department of Agriculture did not make effective or determined efforts to supervise the elections or to effectively recruit the Negro farmers into the election process by allaying their fears built up over generations of violence and intimidation used to keep them out of "the white man's preserves."

It is significant that there were no Negro County Committeemen elected in the entire South and there were only 54 Negroes elected to the community committees as regular members.

Scores of complaints arising out of the 1965 ASCS elections were made to the Department of Agriculture. Investigations by the Inspector General's office of the USDA generally were whitewash jobs which avoided facing the acts of widespread, systematic, and blatant election irregularities. In the case of Lowndes County, Alabama, the elections were ordered run again because of election irregularities. In order to avoid compliance the Alabama state ASCS committee has advanced the 1965 election date by approximately 4 months. The election in Alabama will be held in mid-August, approximately 2-3 months before the elections in most other Southern states.

THE PROPOSAL

The early elections in Alabama offer an un-paralleled opportunity to train Southern community leaders and field organizers in ASCS election procedures before ASCS elections in their own states.

The PURPOSES of this campaign will be:

1. To win elections.
2. To help the small and less affluent farmers participate in the democratic process at the community level. These elections are open to sharecroppers and tenant farmers as well as landowners. Many white sharecroppers and tenant farmers do not participate in these elections and might be brought in. Negro farmers must be brought in if they are to have any say at all in the economic forces which shape their lives.

2. This paragraph ends the excerpts from the Commission's Report.

3. To aid Negro farmers in putting their own candidates on the ballots by petition instead of having all Negro candidates placed on the ballots by the white committees, thus ensuring competent Negro representation if any Negroes are elected.

4. To offer training and experience to field workers from other states in order that they may return to their states and conduct winning campaigns.

5. To be a pilot program for 1966 which will lay the groundwork for a more comprehensive and effective Regional compaign in 1967.

6. To gather evidence of (1) the systematic fraud and intimidation in the elections, and (2) the ineffectiveness of the USDA's methods for insuring free and equal participation by Negroes in the ASCS elections. This evidence will be used either to build a law suit to force the Department of Agriculture to guarantee equal participation to all groups or to conduct public hearings into the operations of the ASCS which would be designed to force the USDA to administer this program fairly (or in some other way publically focus nationwide attention on the mal-functioning of the ASCS program as it concerns Negro farmers in the South).

ASCS ACTIVITIES TO DATE

On July 16, 1966 thirty-five persons met in Montgomery, Alabama at a meeting sponsored by the Rural Advancement Project of the Alabama Council on Human Relations to discuss the ASCS election in Alabama for the current year. This election is to be held on August 16, 1966. At this meeting we decided to: (1) start organizing people to work on getting eligible voters in the ASCS communities to nominate by petition community committeemen of their choosing; (2) cooperate with the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee in the suit which they are preparing for Federal court (this suit will attempt to defer the ASCS elections until December, 1966--as a result of the Montgomery meeting retainers from 12 counties have already been secured for this suit); (3) begin an education program in selected ASCS communities in order to teach voters and other rural people about ASCS programs, benefits and the election process.

Other organizations who were represented at this meeting and who are working together on the ASCS Election Campaign include the Alabama Farmers and Rural Area Council, the National Sharecroppers Fund, the Southern Christian Leadership Conference and the Student Non-Violent Coordinating Committee.

Since July 16 we have held meetings in eleven counties and have been responsible for getting 212 petitions signed for community committeemen (see attached Map Number 1).

Contacts have also been made in Barbour, Butler, Clarke, Lee, Macon, Montgomery and Russell counties. Indications are that with adequate resources significant progress could be made in informing persons about the ASCS election process and its benefits and programs.

Counties with 30% or more non-white farm operators would also show promise with adequate resources and personnel. These counties are Autauga, Chambers, Conecuh, Elmore, Henry, Pickens, Talladega and Tallapoosa (see attached Map Number 2).

The attached Map Number 3 shows the present status of our ASCS Election Campaign.

Attachments 4, 5, 6, 7 and 8 are instructional material which has been passed out in quantities in those counties indicated in Map Number 1.

DETAILS OF PROGRAM ADMINISTRATION

The proposed funds will be deposited in the Auburn National Bank by the Alabama Council on Human Relations and they will be responsible to the Southern Regional Council for the handling of the funds. The distribution of the funds will be authorized by the Rural Advancement Project Director and all receipts and expense vouchers will be sent to and retained by the Alabama Council on Human Relations. A separate account will be opened in the name of the ACHR Voter Education Project. It is understood that all cancelled checks will be sent by the bank to the Southern Regional Council.

The Director of the Rural Advancement Project will be the Director of the ACHR Voter Education Project. He will act as coordinator and supervisor of the entire ASCS Election Campaign program. Working under him will be two persons, both experienced in ASCS election work. One of these persons will devote full-time through most of August and the other will devote most of his time through most of August.

The proposal also calls for 15 full time persons who will both organize the local communities and instruct persons relative to the ASCS election. These persons will be indigenous to the community and will work with the program for four weeks.

Each cooperating organization will be assigned to certain counties and will be responsible for those counties. Each organization's workers will report regularly to the Rural Advancement Project Director. These reports will in turn be compiled and a copy of that report will be forwarded to all concerned organizations. None of the proposed grant will be used for salary, travel or maintenance expenses of staff members of the cooperating organizations.

The National Sharecroppers Fund has indicated that they will contribute $25 a week toward secretarial assistance and will also contribute toward telephone expenses.

The number of counties in which the election effort is conducted will be determined by the possible forthcoming grant. If the proposed budget is funded we will work in those 26 counties indicated in Map Number 3. It should be noted that according to the 1960 census there were 22,651 non-white farm operators in these 26 counties.

Minutes of January 5, 1967
LCDC Office

The meetingwas presided by Bruce Kashdon from the Migrant Division of the OEO.

People present: Dallas County-two Mr. Berrys, Mrw Berry, Nathern Payne, and Sherily Mesher.
Lowndes County-Mr. Smith and Mr. Billingsely
Hale County-Mr. Lewis Black
Perry County-Mr. Albert Turner, Mr. James Carter and Mr. James Avery.
Wilcox County- Mr. Brooks

Mr, Kashdon opened the meeting by comments of the absentees that were there during the time of this particular meeting. We were expecting two representatives from each of the ten (10) counties to be repersented in this co-operative. But there were only a few counties repersented, namely, Dallas Lowndes, Hale, Perry, and Wilcox Counties.

Mr. Turner suggested getting someone who could go around to get the people together and these should be people who are known in these places. It was stated that Lewis Black program is already geared to this type of work and that theyfelt that he should be the person to get around to do this work. Sherily Mesher suggested that a complete contact list be made up and we get in touch with these people by letter , telegram, or telephone.

Mr. Kashdon, from OEO, was trying to get some people here to work in Selma for a week or two to try to get things arranged in the office, at least two people.

Mr. Turner suggested that we get an advisory committee of three or four people. It was suggested that Lewis Black, Albert Turner, Sherily Mesher and Gordon be the advisors to serve in the capacity to coordinate the activities of the co-operative until the co-operative get off the ground. Mr. Kashdon suggested that we have a board of directors and that each county will have an advisory committee to the board and as a coordi nators.

Extensive discussion was over this problem as to who should serve as a coordernator. The two people they had in mind were Lewis Black and Sherily Mesher. The idea was to have Lewis Black as the field co-ordinator and Sherily Mesher as the office co-ordinator. This was kick about several different ways.

Kashdon suggested that we needed 100 farmers from each of the ten counties named; Wilcox, Lowndes, Perry, Dallas, Hale, Greene, Sumter, Monroe, Chataw, and Marango Counties. The things that we were to do was to get 100 farmers interested in this farm organization from each of the 10 counties. This would make a total of 1,000 farmers .

Initial plans were made to start this crop conversion program so that the farmers can make loan through the FHA to finance the crop program, in that the farmers might have a market that they can sell their products together.

There were some sheets passed out (survey sheets) that had already been used in Dallas County. It was cited that Dallas County had already gotten several of their farmers. These forms were to be completed and turned in. It was also suggested that we ask eacy person to make a donation of $1.00 to the co-operative and give each person a receipt for the $1.00. This dallor was to be used to bear the initial expense of opening up the co-operative and getting it started to operating .

Also we discussed the crops that we were to plant. The plants are to be one that can be sold on the market.

The following was stated:

1. Dallas County has six service testin stations.
2. Co-operatives need markets to be developed.
3. The co-operative need a training program which would train farmers from the ground in co-operative work, etc.
4. The co-operative must provide service for the people.
5. Co-operative gives the person the bargining power that one need.
6. It might be possible that the co-operative will have to buy land for farmers who do not have it.
7. It was stated that there were people who will give money to organize, to use without sny interest rate (especially a co-operative for the help of poor people)

Election of President or Chairman

After a long discussion, it was dicided and voted upon that we have a temporary chairman for the Southwest Alabama Co-operative. Mr. Kashdon made sure that everyone came out of the room during the time of the election for this temporary chairman so that somebody from Dallas County could be elected as temporary chairman. It was more people from Dallas County in the room than it was from any other county. Mr. Johnson was elected as temporary chairman for the Southwest Alabama Co-operative Association.

$500.00, from the Co-operative League of the U.S.A., was sent to the tentative Co-operative Movement to be for organizing. This $500.00 was sent to the Oil for Co-op of which Mr. Payne is the president of this organization. So it was discussed how this $500 was to be divided. Each county was to get a certain position of this $500 as well as part of it is to go for office expense. It was voted that each county get $20 to spend between the time of the January 5 meeting of 1967 through January 14, of 1967. It was voted that up to $50 can be used for office supplies.

Each county representative were to see the following services: The FHS, ASCS, Extension Service and the Soil Conservation before the meeting of January 14, 1967. It was held the following Saturday.

Comments were made on marketing, brokers, credit, buying, distributors, ect., by John Zipherman who were from Grand Marie Co-operative in Louisiana. There were some statements made by James May from the National Sharecroppers Fund in Mississippi. Some information were given about wholesale people and the people that have markets in the local areas, like Montgomery, Birmingham and other places. It was also stated that in Tennessee, they had a co-operative which has a broker on an 8% commission to help co-operatives.

The meeting was adjoined until January 14, 1967. Bob Valder, Assistance Director of the Alabama Council on Human Relations from Auburn, Alabama, act as secretary. Joh Kashdon was the presiding officer over the meeting.

The first speaker for the program was Mr. Myles Hollinster. He spoke about a half an hour giving us some of the high lights on "why it is important that we organize a co-op". He pointed out one of the things in the areas that we representing is the idea of mechanization had about taken over the farm work for small farmers and there is not enough industries moving in these places to fill the gaps. There have been several legislature passed that has not yet fill the gap where it reaches the poor farmers or the low income farmer. OEO along with USDA have not rendered the services to fill the gap that has been left there by the industrialization coming in. Also there was a thing that was important to note; that 30% of the farmers that were in these areas ten years ago have migrated from the farm or those that still lives on the farm are not able to secure jobs adequately to give them a good survival for their livelihood. After his long discussion on this topic there was a period left for representatives to ask questions and make statements. Some of these statements were thrown backward and forward at some of the people who were up from the USDA Department and from OEO and EDA of OEO as well.

Representatives spoke on these particular items and representatives from the United States Departments:

1. Mr. O'Shield made statements that we were going about it right to get the government representatives to be in the planning of the co-operative movement.
2. Also small farmers have a high decrease in rate, about 30%.
3. Industry is not filling the gap for productivite
4. Many farm products go through co-op, but they must have high quality.
5. Strong legislature support for co-operative in the USDA and the OEO Department must be strengthen more.
6. Co-operative is a great instrument or great tools for poor farmers.
7. Co-operative can be supported by co-operative folk or by some folk living within the co-operative services.
8. A co-operative of the nature that we have for the multi-county can have many small associations and by this way they can help one another to make a change in the system of farming. Other counties of co-operatives can be set up in organizing in the south where a few farmers might be organized together to buy a peice of machine that one farmer can't buy. But this type of co-operative will not have the magnitude of service that the large multi-county co-operative would have.

Also it was brought out in this discussion that the south can feed millions of people through the big marketing servi es that is set up in Chicago and New York. Co-operatives help little men in buying tools and avail themselves to the marketing services in making co-operative loans through FHA and there many of them listed; SBA, ADA loans or grants, OEO Loans and grants and FHA loans to help several porposes of which some of them were listed Saturday.

OEO hope to help local folk get attention and federal resource and private resources get coordinated so that they might be helpful to the South. Mr. Hollinster stated that he was a southern and understood the problems of the people.

The house was turned back into the hands of Black. So we changed the agenda a little. The agenda changed and there was comments made by Dr. Mayberry, some questiona were asked Mr. Hollinster. There were some statements made by Dr. Bradford and some questions and statements made by some of the members from the USDA Department.

After this, there was a talk by Albert Turner who is the field secretary for SCLC in the State of Alabama. Mr. Turner explained what happens so far in this 10 multi-county program. He explained some things which was "why co-op's are needed, "the lost of cotton, relocation of farmers, look for the employment of people, this meeting was to see if we could get help from various agencies, explained the organization of the committee. He stated that we were to include the following counties: Lowndes, Dallas, Perry, Marengo, Sumter, Hale, Wilcox, Monroe, and Clarke. He further stat d how each of these counties were organized.

Mr. Irlenfeldt , from the Co-operative League of the USA was also one the quest. Mr. Brooks from Wilcox County and at this particular time Mr. Irlenfeldt asked some questions when Mr. Turner got through with his statements. He made one observation, that in this list of things we were planing that we should look into the possibility of finding out how much fertilize and seed that we are to have. He also mention the fact that in getting this fertilize and seed that we should consider the time of planting and the amount that we are going to plant, the type of market that is to be used and when we were going into the marketing. First he said that we should be considering the cost of buying fertilize so that we might buy it at a low rate. This will give a buying power by all of us buying this fertilize together.

There was long discussion by Dr. Bradford and also by Mr. O'Shield, Mr. Hollinster, etc., involving the FHA and the availibality of borrowing money. questions were asked about the help of technical assistance through the FHA and help farmers set up the co-operative and finding the need for financial assistance. Mr. O'Shield stated that he didn't have enough personal to trun in one person over to giving just co-operative its assistance. Mr. Mayberry have said that there were good evidence that this was a need for firm organization to get help from the Federal Government to help people in these locations. Dr. Bradford seemed to thing that we needed to go back and get the interest of more people in the community before we organize the co-operative.

At this point Lewis Black introduced several people from various counties.

We broke for lunch at 1:00 p.m. and the lunch lasted until 2:00 p.m. which was presided by Lewis Black. We had reports from each county that was represented there. Mr. Avery made a report from Perry County , stating that 125 people had already registered from Perry County. He also stated that we need a market which we need technical assistance and some direction in the way to go about this co-operative. Mr. Payne from Dallas County stated that they had several representatives, about 175 farmers membership. We had a report from Wilcox County. We didn't have any from any other county at this time. Mr. Brooks made the report from Wilcox County and he stated that they had 25 applications. Mr. Thomas Johnson who is temporary chariman for the multi-county board made several remarks about members of this farm program. Mr. Brooks told about he planted cumcumber last year and he had little success in the cumcumber business, the main thing that w as giving him trouble was having a marketing place. He also raised okra and sold it to King Parr. After Mr. Brooks report and after the remarks by Mr. Johnson, Mr. Turner made a presentation of some factors that was involved in setting up this co-operative. One was the name of the organization, which is Southwest Alabama Farmers Co-operative. He spoke about the need for charting it, which has not been done yet. He spoke about the members of each county being organized as a spearate unite. Then he talked about multi-county board which was temporary set up.

Mr. Johnson was temporary chairman for the board, he spoke in turns of the three persons who also served as a banking committee and co-ordinator; Lewis Black, Albert Turner, Sherily Mesher and Mr. Johnson is the temporary chairman. He spoke about we have had some practice in raising some vegatables such as okra, tomatotoes, cumcumber. Okra sold to King Parr, the cucumbers sold to W. W. Pickin Company.

Miss Mesher made some remarks after Mr. Turner got throuth talking. She told some of the purposes of the meeting; were to get representatives there from different counties. She told about some of the problems that were related to the farmers product and she told the approach that were being made to the agriculture department and people who were in various department thereof. She told about readjustment problem that we are trying to set up for the benefit of the rural farmers on a low income. She spoke of the importance of several things. One was we need immediate help, another thing was that all farmers work together and all help out would make a strong group in order that they might be able to sell for the producing, be able to get funds through their organization and have a comperhensive training program, and for the benefit of all the people that is involved in this co-operative movement. Miss Mesher is from the Dallas County 1964 Devemopment Program.

In this program it was outlined there was nothing in there that would help to promote good farmer among the Negro farmers.

After several discussions it was discussed that that private organization would go into a meeting and then the federal organization would go into a meeting to tell us just what they could do to help to eleviate the existing struggle that the farmer are now going through. This was to be at least 5 or 10 minutes brake but it lasted 45 minutes. After this 45 minute brake, there was a report made from Mr. Markinson for all the government official. After this long report from Mr. Markinson it was concluded that the government officials were not ready to help until we go extensive organization and was suggested it would be a year before we could be ready for their help.

Mike Kenney from the Sharecroppers Fund criticize the failure for being so slow and he spoke that there was a contribution for over one million dallors given to help these organizations get further on the way. Mr Irlanfelt from the Co-operative League of USA commented on the south in saying that the south was behind, it seemed to be another country and he never expected things to move right. He made a pledge of a grant to help the south espicially to co-operatives groups. Southern Regional Council Pleged to give a grant to this organization. Mr. Al Ulmer spoke about the chart for the grant for the Southern Regional Council and National Sharedroppers Fund which was a proposal written to Ford Foundation to grant people money to help set these co-operatives up, the meeting is to be held on February 11 and 25. This money will go to low income farmers through weveral states to help people set up co-operative and give co-operative training.

Mr. Box Valder from ACHR pledge the assistance of Lewis Black, the field director for the Rural Advancement Project and also pledge to make a contribution from the organization but didn't say how much. After all the organizations had made their pledges then some of the federal folk made pledges. Mr. Al Ulmer also pledge 5 to 800 dallors. Mr. Blackwell was disappointed at the federal government and remarked that everyone of the federal fellows who do not pledge to do their job should be out at once. After these statements Mr. Mays asked some question to the people , the during the time of some remarks being made some was made by Lewis Black. After this remark by Lewis Black there were several people who made some remarks coming from the FHA as to what they would do in helping to get these program started. So we got several comments from t the Co-operative Extension Service and Osburn stated that they will do all that they can to help us in this program. It was stated that they do not have any money to contribute but their service of education information were available to us at all times. I stated also in my remarks that Dr. Mayberry and Dr. Pott of Tuskegee will be willing to help us in any way that they could in this program that we are trying to foster.

After we had some statements from Mr. O'Shield stating that the FHA was willing to do whatever they could and said that weveral times they have not been able to put over a good program through the FHA, people in the county didn't go out to make the loans, at this point we had several questions and answer coming from different people.

Mr. Markinson from the Co-operative Service of the USA said that his department was willing to make a contribution by sending one representative d down here to stay in the community to work with us. There was remark made by Mr. Gardon; it was our job to go and get better organized so that we can go about making the service whar we desire. There were some more comments made, it was criticizing the federal fellows by Lewis Black who was presiding over the meeting.

The meeting was closed at this point. A small section of the board members and some of the organizations was willing to meet and sum up what the meeting and where to go from here. So we were discussing whether or not we should organize each county as a co-operative unite and then have each association to charter the multi-county group or whether have just one multi-county group and it was dacided at this point that we would have one multi-county charter. We desolved the problem as to whether or not we just have a co-operative for each one of the groups. Whether or not we should have a local charter or should we have one for the federal government, but t ere were weveral things that we suppose to have about the charting of this co-operative.

We adjoined for home. It was announced before our injoinment that we would have a meeting on Tuesday at the Co-operative Extension Service Office and also have one Friday at the Co-operative Service Office. We adjoined for home.

A credit union which had made remarkable progress w as organized on October 10, 1966 and it has brown to above one thousand dallors in asset. We have pending credit unions to be chartered in Wilcox County, Monroe County, Clarke County and Greene County. We had hope that these credit unions would have been chartered in 1966 but are was still hoping that they will be chartered in the first part of 1967

Report by Lewis Black

This report, for the most part will cover what I have been doing the months of January, February, and March of 1967. During these three months I have worked extensively trying to organize this multi-county co-op. This multi-county co-op consist of the follwoing counties: Lowndes, Dallas, Perry, Hale, Wilcox, Marango, Greene, Sumter, Chowta and Monroe Counties.

The purpose of this co-operative is to form a ten (10) county co-operative for the marketing and purchasing of equipments for farmers throughout this area. The way this co-operative is set up, there are ten (10) counties where we have an association set up with the Board of Directors in each county association of the ten (10) counties. Of these ten (10) counties associations, we have elected two people; the people from the county elected two people to serve from their county on the multi-county co-operative board. This board consist of twenty (20) board members with each county having equal representation of members.

In the month of December, on December 21 to be exact, we had our first meeting. It was on January 5, that we organized the complete multi-county board. It worked us very hard trying to go to each of these counties and organizing what was known as a Board of Directors from each county association.

In this organizing stage the Co-operative League of the U. S. A. funished us with some assistance and some of their top men came down to help us in organizing; namely, Mr. Chuck Ihlegfeldt , Mr. Marlon Miller, Dr. Williams, from Southern University and Dr. Sim from Southern University came to help us in our organizing stage. We held a series of meetings with various State and Federal Agencies also in our organizing stage. We had people from the Seasonal and Migrant Farm of Washington, D. C.; the division of OEO. We had people from EDA represented, from the national and regional level, we had people from the Extension Service of Alabama to meet with us and we had people from the FHA to meet with us in our organizing stage. We had organizations such as the National Sharecroppers Fund being repersented, the Southern Regional Council, the Alabama Council on Human Relations and Southern Rural Action Project of which Mr. Blackwell and Mr. Paul Borkalich helped us in organizing, we had representatives from the Southern Christian Leadership Conference to help us in organize and Mr. Albert Turner has worked diligently with us in organizing, from the National Sharecroppers Fund we had Mr. Jac Wasserman helping us and also Mr. Mike Kenney and Mr. James Mays, and from the Southern Regional Council we had help by Mr. and Mrs. Al Ulmer, giving us assistance from the Project Freedom we had Mr. and Mrs. Nelson and any number of other organizations and individuals contributing to make the organization get its form to get started.

Lawyer Eskine Smith wrote our first papers to be recorded in the courthouse in Selma. It was not until March 21, 1967, that we were able to get our papers properly weitten up and recorded in the courthouse in Dallas County.

During these three months we had several interested individuals to come and help us and had some locally to give us assistance. One of the persons that has been giving us assistances, who is not representing any group, was Miss Shirly Mesher. Mr. John Zippert, from the Grand Marie Co-operative, has been coming in and pitching in, giving us help in trying to find markets and helping out in whatever assistance that could be of value to us.

One of our greatest problems has been to find a market to market those vegetables. Some of the places that we have contacted were as following:

GRIDLEY MAXION COMPANY-Mr. Bert Lowry So. Water Market, Chicago

We have been holding meetings in each of the ten counties and also have had meetings for the multi-county area at least once or twice a week; most of our multi-county board meetings have been held in Selma, Alabama. However, the multi-county board meetings have met at Beatrice, Marion, Yantly, Greensboro, and Oilver Alabama. It is our desire to have these meetings in various localities so that the farmers can get acquainted with the difference locals of the multi-county areas as well as meet more of the people in the communities.

At this point of the game, I feel that we have begun to have a pretty strong and dynamic organization. However, at this stage it is easier for the organization to fall apart because of little understanding about its function. We are anticipating having some seminar to teach the board of the organization the responsibilities and how they can function for the well being of all the farmers in this particular ten county group in these multi-county meetings.

We have discussed several points and one of the points that we have discussed was marketing, the other one was purchasing items such as seeds, fertilizer, trucks, trackers, and other equipments that it would take to render these services to one another. In addition, we have discussed shed and how useful these sheds could be to people as a unit of handling the vegetables that are being marketed for the farmers. We have been offered several prices for the commodities; most of them are related.

We have been offered services from several departments namely, the Extension Service, on January 14, in our meeting in Selma. The FHA offered its service, recently we had the opportunity of meeting with FHA in Mr. Bamberg Office in Montgomery, Alabama. At this meeting was Mr. Bamberg, Mr. Nettle Ivery, Mr. O'Shield, Mr. Waldroph, and Mr. Gilford. Persons that made up this committee were Mr. Albert Turner,-SCLC, Miss Shirly Mesher, Mr. Joe Johnson- Chairman of the organization, Miss Rosie Nabors, and myself. In this report you will find the minutes of the meeting that was held in Mongtomery and also the minutes of the meetings held on January 5, and 14.

We have been encouraging farmers to carry out the following exercises in the community with their farming for the year: One is soil test; Dr. Sims from Southern University, Baton Roudge, Louisiana, has been very helpful to us in helping get soil test up in the blackbelts, however, he has done most his work in Dallas County. It is regrettable that he has not been to the other counties to help the people get out the soil test. The other thing that we have been doing was encouraging farmers to recommended standards in utilization of fertilizer and soda and also lime for the soil. We feel that it is necessary to have soil test in this area because there is such a wide variety of types of soil. We have the lime soil, we have the post oak soil, and soil, red clay soil and just about almost any type of soil that might be named. Another thing, with this broad ten county area you have several types of vegetables to be grown in some places that can't be grown in others. For instance, Irish Pototoes can be grown in the lower part of Monroe County, but not so well in the northern part of Monroe County nor can it be grown for the market in places like Dallas, Hale, Perry and what have you, because of the length of time the sun shine each day, where as in places like Hale, Perry, Marango, or Lowndes Counties you can grow okra because of more of the black hard clay soil than you have in Monroe, Wilcox, and Choctaw

The Southwest Alabama Farmer Co-operative has also placed an application with OEO for the purpose of securing a grant to cover some of the expense of technical assistance and implementing the program to get off the ground this year, in that we will not have funds available and we don't have the projective income to barrow the necessary capital to operate and we are operating with poor people that don't have capital to invest in co-op, is going to necessitate our getting a grant from the Federal Government or some other source. For this organization that have already made contributions to this end were:. Alabama Council contributed $200, Co-opitave League of the U. S. A. contributed $500, the Southern Regional Council contributed $450 for the purpose of helping us funish gas to make trips to try to find the capitals necessary to carry on this operation and also help us to secure market in the co-op.

We have had some conversations with the Cotton Producer Co-op in Atlanta, Georgia, which has already said that they will do business with us so far as fertilizer and seeds are concern. It is going to be a problem for us to find capital to carry out our oblibations to the people that is in the co-op for this year since the time so being so late, unless the OEO proposal goes through by the first of April.

The Southwest Alabama Farmer Co-operative, in one of its board meetings in the latter part of March, decided that they would not be able to wait for the OEO grant to begin its operation for the assistance of the farmers in fertilizer, seeds and insecticide. So what was agreed upon in this meeting was that the Southwest Alabama Farmer Co-operative Association would make loans from sources to be able to purchase fertilizer, seeds and insecticide for the services to be render to the farmers of the ten county area. It was agreed upon that the Board of Directors would barrow $5,000 from Operation Freedom for the purpose of helping out in this struggle and Mr. Al Ulmer, who is on of the Field Representatives of the Southern Regional Council, helped the co-op in securing $5,000 from from some person in New York to help SWAFC in carrying out its services.

On March 26, the board meeting of the organization, agreed that we would barrow this $30,000 with $25,000 being barrowed from the International Foundation for Indepence and Mr. Robert Zevon. The way this money is to be loan to the co-op, is that Mr. Al Ulmer will got 25 people from the area in Atlanta, Georgia to sign for $1,000 each, or one person could sign for more than $1,000 to be of security to the note because SWAFC does not have any liquid assest. The Board of Directors of SWAFC has already made votes to sign the affidavit, in that they would be signing for SWAFC in the event something should happen to the present officers, SWAFC would know that whoever the officers might be that they will have this liability to be paid back to the lender of the money within six-months or soon thereafter, with the interest rate of 6% per annum on the funds with the understanding that the interest will terminate as soon as the note is paid, even if it is paid before six-months or at the six-month semi-anniversary payment with the interest thereof.

The co-op will in turn make loans to the farmers who does not have credit nor the money to purchase their fertilizer. The loans to be made to the average farmer that we have, would need only about $50.00 to $100.00 worth of fertilizer. We will have notes made on the produce that they raise. It is understood that the person is suppose to do some business with the co-op in order to purchase fertilizer, so the co-op will take a note on the person's crop in order to let im have fertilizer to operate his crop, not only fertilizer, but insecticide and seeds as well.

Many of the farmers will pay cash for their fertilizer, seeds and insecticide. This will help us out in several ways: (1) It will lesson our bookkeeping system (2) We will have operating capital to operate the purpose of the co-op (3) We will not stand the chance of a loss in our liability of the co-op (4) The farmers would have his crop cleared, in that the co-op will not have assest to his produce that he raises for the co-op and sell to them.

Another thing that was brought out in the March 26 meeting, was that we will order some fertilizer as of March 27 in the amount of 150 tons to be shiped to the Southwest Alabama Farmer Co-operative. We are also ordering seed immediately, which will be on sell for the farmers. We will have this in ample time for the farmers to plant their peas, cucumbers and okras between the dates of April 1 or 15, 1967. This will mark history making for the farmers in the blackbelt area. We have several contacts continuously coming in, in addition to the markets that we have listed in this report, of people who would be interested in pruchasing from the co-op.

Another thing that transpired in the March 26 meeting was that we interviewed the person to hold the position as receiver for the co-op; possible receiver, a nd a marketing man who will be responsible for looking out for the well being of the co-op supplies of goods. The man comes with great experience in the work and with great interest in carrying out a program to better help the farmers raise vegetables to be marketed.

I suppose with all this talk about SWAFC, that the next thing that you probably wonder what do I see in the future for this organization. I see much more promising for the co-op than I did two months ago. I feel that with the wondful progress that it has made, and with the progress that could be made, this co-op possibly will be one of the greatest things that has been ever formed among Negroes in the South. It could be the point to change the history of farming and change the history of the economical struggle for Negroes and could be the thing to deliberare the pressure from Negroes through its econamic stability and their political inspiration in the United States. It also could be the transformation of history, in that we are, for the first time, have Negroes participating in a mass production of something to help themselves and a mass vegetable that Negroes have not been use to raising because they have been tied up with cotton plantations, mainly for the interest of the White people.

Another thing I see coming out of this co-op, with the OEO grant attentively being funded, if they are funded or if they are not, we can see the wide interest of people from the Federal Government of how they have gotton to know the problems of the people in the south and the effects that the political structure has on its economic struggle for people. Not to say that the political structure is a group of people that is interested in poor people, surely this could not be all the way true nor could it all together be said to be false, because yet they have to prove themselves to the group before we can determine their really attitude toward people from an organizational self-help program.

The second phase of the OEO Program is reallt to be the one that will prove what could be done among falks. This second phase of the OEO Program is one that we will get a grant to do whatever is needed to be done and a demonstration to see what people could do other than farming; actually help themselves, these may or may not be related. There could be things like manufactories, could be sewer system, could set up training centers to help people be trained for other jobs or could be political education or could be adult education, health or day-care programs. Whatever it might be, it should be something that the people would be planting themselves in carrying out this demonstration grant. In it I must say that this could be the best thing that happened to the blackbelt of Alabama.

The other things that I have been doing in the last three months, I made two trips to McIntie, Georgia to speak to people in some seminar that was being held with the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, on the promotion of Credit Unions. In these meetings we had people from Mississippe, Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and Texas. We haven't done any work much with Credit Unions in Alabama this year. two or three time, I have visited Credit Unions to check and see how they were getting along. We noticed the one York, Alabama is making wondful progress in their share accounts and also in their loans. The Credit Union in Demopolis, Alabama is still holding on well, it has not made to much progress in making new accounts this year. The Credit Union in Perry County is still moving about the same pace. Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union is making very little progress this year. It has been a great help to a number of low income people who made a number of small loans and very few farm loan loans for this year. We hope that Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union will be in position to funish all the farmers in Hale County that would not have money to purchase fertilizer from this SWAFC Association. In this way they will not have an indebtness with SWAFC, SWAFC could have this money to further its endeavor to render service to the farmers. We are encouraging credit unions to do the same thing.

We still have credit unions pending in Clarke County at Jackson, Alabama, in Wilcox County at Camdom, Alabama, Monroe County at Beatrice, Alabama, Tuscaloosa County at Tuscaloosa, Alabama and some pending commentments from Greene County, namely, either Eutaw or Folklon, Alabama. We have been working so with SWAFC that we have not had the opportunity of working with these credit unions in trying to get them organized as much as we had wanted to do.

On February 27, 1967, I was engaged in making a report to the President's National Advisory Commission on Rural Poverty. This report was delivered out of Memphis, Tennessee. I testified before this commission for fourty-five minutes; thirty minutes were deliverance and fifteen minutes were questioning and answering before the commission. This report was on television and many of the excerpts came in the National News. A copy of the prepared statement that was made will be found with this report.

That week end, we and the Board of Directors meet, for the Alabama Council on Human Relations, in Birmingham, Alabama. We had a very unique program prepared and some very informative speakers spoke at these meetings.

However, they won't as dynamatic as some people had expected. Also in February we had one week conference of the National Sharecroppers Staff and Field Workers in Memphis, Tennessee. It begin about the 7th of February. The conference was originally anticipated to be held in Mississippe so that we could get a chance to take part in knowing more about the co-operative that existed in that state, particularly in Panolar County, Batesville, Mississippi. It was at this conference that we got a chance to go over to Batesville once or twice. We got a chance to meet several board members of the Panolar Co-op and we were able to have the opportunity to take part in a conference that was being held over there, begining that first night following the seminar that we had in Memphis, Tennessee.

One of the most interesting things of this seminar was a discussion by a young man from Texas on self-help housing program, that was being develop by some Mexican-American. It was my hope that several people will know more about this self-help housing program. It would be worth while if we had a simular program in the State of Alabama.

I have also been engaged in going to another board meeting in Birmingham This was since the annual meeting. We had a great speaker at the Mobile Chapter of the Alabama Council on Human Relations. At the Mobile Chapter, I noticed that we have a very unique chapter going down there. The people have great spirit and anxiety to do something about the existing problems around them. I didn't stay in Mobile to actually get a chance to see any of the projects that were being enacted by the chapter of the Mobile group. But I hope to have the opportunity of going back to Mobile to see the projects that they are endeavouring to carry out.

This is just the summary in general of what I have been during for the last three months.

GREENALA CITIZENS FEDERAL CREDIT UNION
20 Washington Street
Greensboro, Alabama

July 15, 1967

The Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union was founded September 18, 1961. We began operating with nine share holders and assets of $42.50. The assets has grown to $71,157.90, and we now have 900 share holders.

The credit union has been a lot of help to people of this low income area.

Since 1961 we have made over 1400 loans and the amount of over $500,000.00 to low income people.

Greenala has been operating on its own for a period of six years without the aid of anyone to give grants to its operation.

For the last six months the members of the credit union have been unable to keep up their loan payments. This is due to so many of our members losing their jobs, and have to move from the farms to relocate themselves, and find homes in which to live.

We are writing to you because we feel that you would be in a position to let us have a grant, or loan to help Greenala to continue to operate. With the amount of loans we have out; our reserve requirements is $6,100.00, and we have only $2,924.69 in reserves. We need more operating capita l to keep the credit union moving.

Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union would need $10,000.00 for a period of one year, in the form of a loan. If we could get a grant from some persons or organizations it would redure the need to borrow. Many of our people will be paying their present loans back in the fall of this year.

I shall be glad to hear from you in this matter.

Memo

To: Field Representatives, CHR Directors, NSF National Office, and Southern Regional Council

From: Leonard E. Smith

The enclosed Guidelines for Descriptive Narrative Monthly Reports is sent to you for your consideration and reactions as to whether or not it merits adoption into our program. Most of you signified general approval when I discussed this idea with you. However, now that you have it in hand, and have a better idea of its purpose and content, you may not want it at all or you may want to make major or minor modification.

No further justification on our part seems indicated since our rationale accompanies the guideline.

I hope that you will give serious thought to this proposal so that we can discuss it thoroughly at our staff meeting, Thursday, July 27th. If you are unable to attend, please let me know what your reactions are either by phone or mail prior to the meeting.

Guidelines for Descriptive Narrative Monthly Report

It is essential to the over-all success of NSF/RAP Field Programs that accurate and detailed information of field activities be maintained. Such records will provide for a continuous evaluation of the programs as well as resource and research materials we are often called upon to produce in support of other programs, activities, and even proposed legislation. In the past, we have relied too heavily and too often on secondary resource information collected and supplied by persons and agencies not as close to the primary sources as our field staff. For example, information received by the U.S. Department of Agriculture is often collected by local agencies who respond to vested interests, local pressures, and often provide inaccurate information on unemployed, labor force, etc.

Many of the reports received from staff personnel in the field will be sent to other individuals and agencies in the form received, so itis important that the reports be done with care. These guidlines for narrative reports should contain information requested but the description should not be "wordy." Only information that is accurate, provides for continuity, and is essential for full understanding is desired.

A major purpose of this format is to provide an outline for reporting information that is essential, factual, and from which progress or failure can be followed. For example, if a field man assists in organizing a new activity or is asked to assist substantially, his report should indicate purpose, how it began, membership, description of community, progress, problems, etc. Subsequent reports should contain "follow-up" information on such new developments. This information will provide knowledge of the activity, its problems, suggested solutions to the problems, its ultimate failure or success.

The reports of all the field representatives will be compiled in the Regional Office, and composite reports will then be sent to all field staff and state directors. It is recognized that the enclosed guidelines in which broad programs are listed, may not cover all of your activities. If not, add yours with a suggested heading and all of us will benefit from your contributions. Do not spend too much time on the report - too much time spent will negate its value.

Report by Lewis Black
July 15, 1967 - July 22, 1967

TRIPS TO S. C. AND MISS.

This week's work took us first to Columbia, S. C.

I had a very interesting talk in route to Atlanta with Rev. T. Y. Rodgers, Jr. We were talking about some of the problems faced with the south as a result of shift of the movement from direct action to the economical development of people.

After leaving Atlanta I met Mr. Martin Miller on the plane, by coinsedence, Mr. Miller was going to S. C. also. We had a long discussion of the condition of SWAFCA, and he was discussing with me the organizing stages of a Co-op that was being organized in three counties of S. C. The part that struck me was that they are to plan thier Co-op to be somewhat like SWAFCA. The good feature of the project is that OEO is going to give them organizing funds, upon which to organize. This, I think, is an important step to take. The Co-op, like ours in that it is design for the purpose of raising vegetables.

When getting to the airport, we met Mr. Ellis James and Mr. Benjamin Mack.

Mr. Mack took me out to his home for lunch and we then went to Shelton, S. C. for the Credit Union meeting.

We discussed the possibility of them setting up a community Credit Union. After talking with these citizens of Shelton and Blair communities; it was very little doubt left in my mind that these people could operate a fairly decent credit Union.

We had an attendance of 18 people in this meeting. We were able to make out the application for the credit Union, but we didn't have the organizational certificate. It was decided that we will fill out the application and get a committee to go to the state league representative to help in filling out the certificate.

After coming back to Alabama, we had a field trip with farmers in Hale County, under the supervision of the extension Department. This was done by the request of the vegetable growers of SWAFCA. We had this field demonstration to show the farmers how to pick the vegetables for the market. This was the first of such demonstrations, and we had 18 farmers to meet.

On Friday July 21, we had a meeting in Jackson, Mississippi. This consist of the Advisory Committee to the Ford Foundation Grant for Ala., La., Miss., and Tenn.

There was another meeting of executive Committee of the Federation for Southern Cooperative. I am serving on both of the committees.

Working on these committees; we discuss some problems, and made some decisions, that I feel could be of real benefit to the whole south, in changing the pattern of poor people's life.

The Advisory Committee elected Father McKnight to the position of Director of the Ford Foundation Grant. John Zipper was elected assistant to Father McKnight.

There was a proposal to get four persons to work in the field for Ala., La., and Miss. One person to work in Tenn. And have two persons to cover the four states.

We are still looking for a person to serve as director for 17 states for the federation.

We heard discussions and the grant from OEO to the Co-op League of SWAFCA for the federation. There were arguments against it, but the board approved it. Our meeting lasted form 10:00 A.M. until 10:00 P.M.

I feel we are making some progress toward helping the south.

Report by Lewis Black
July 24, - 29, 1967

This week's work took me to Selma three times. I went to Selma to take some okra for some of the farmers and to look into some of the problems that SWAFCA was being faced with.

One of the things that faces SWAFCA is that we are spending too much money for labor in having people to grade okra and peas. The only was we can resolve this problem is to hire some field men to go out and teach the people how to grade the food to be marketed. It takes a great profit from the farmer's produce to hire these people to grade their produce.

The other problem that faces us is trying to find people to carry out this responsibility to work for the Co-op. We can't find people who have been trained in this area and will work.

This was discussed at length in our board meeting of SWAFCA Wednesday night.

We have spent a deal of our time in local meetings trying to explain how the Co-op can help people in living better.

Some of my time this week was spent with the Claim Department of Southern RailRoad Compnay in connection with the train killing two of the Bennett family New Year's Day.

I also worked a while on the Sewing Project of Hale and Greene County. We have been able to close the deal on getting a building.

I spent two days in Atlanta, Georgia at the NSF staff meeting which proved to be very helpful to us.

We were all sorry to see Jac leave the fund. Jac stated that he was still around to give any service that he could to the on-going programs of the southern states.

It was decided in the meeting that we would give monthly reports of our work.

Some of my time have been spent in trying to find people to work with Federation of Southern Cooperatives.

We are happy to hear that the Miles College Project had been funded this week. We have been working with this project over a year.

Report by Lewis Black August 1967

This report covers some of the things of which I was engaged in the month of August 1967. The Federation for southern cooperative cover the Southern States of the United States. In this organization we have organized for the purpose of rendering services to cooperative in the seventeen states that's below the Mason Dixie Line of the United States constituting a Board of twenty-two members, representing several of the southern states. These are mainly people of low income cooperative, serving on this board and in this organization. This organization is in the process of starting an educational program which will be in Mississippi, Alabama, Louisana, and Southeast of Tennessee. This program is funded by the Ford Foundation in the amount of one half million dollars. We have started to hiring people as was reported in my last months report, to serve on the staff. In the state of Alabama it was proposed that we would have four people to work. We have strecthed the salary so as to hire six people instead of four. On the third of this month we met in Selma, Alabama to discuss the hiring of these people and also engaged in actual interviewing people in hiring them to serve in the state of Alabama. In Mississippi they were scheduled to hire four people and instead hired somewhere about 12 or 16 people to serve in that state, in the state of Louisana we had to hire four field representatives also. On the 12th of August we went to Atlanta, Georgia where we interviewed some canidate for the position as Director of the Federation to be serving in the 17 states of the South. Of these people we hired Mr. Miller from Georgia to serve as director and ~~sain~~ pay him a salary of twelve thousand dollars a year. The people that we hired in Alabama and was here to be interviewed on August third were two ladies, one from Choctaw County Mrs. Thelma Cregg, Mrs. Mildred Black from Hale County. Mr. Monroe from Macon County to serve in the East Alabama area. Mr. Israll Cunningham from Beatrice, Alabama to serve in the same area as SWAFCA is operating, and Mr. Albert Turner part-time to serve in the SWAFCA area. As you will recall that in my last report we stated that Father McKnight had been elected as the Director of the Federation Project in the four states. Mr. John Zipper had been elected as the assistant director to Father McKnight. In our meeting at McComb, Mississippi on August 26, 1967, we made a choice of a person to serve ad Administrator director to serve in a capacity as person would be in the office to do office work. So we made choice of persons to serve in that capacity on August 26. On August 26, 1967 in McComb, Mississippi we were endevoring to find some people to serve in other capacity and one person we hired was a person to serve in capacity as an advertising advocate for the organization. We are still in the process of getting more field men. It was announced that in this meeting that we didn't have our field men for Louisana at that time. This further announced that the training program for the Federation will start on the 10th of September. As trainee to begin in this project for work. There will be a three week training period and the people who are working in the field will help to decide some of the administrative problems so it will give them the experience of handeling some administrative problems in as much they will be organizers in the field work of this Ford Foundation Project. Those of us who are working with the Federation have seen a great deal of growth among low income people who are working with low income cooperative, we see a great future for this organization as long as we can tie in the resources of experience and the resources of people who have studied intensely in uniting our forces to make this a stronger society for the low income people to live by binding their forced together. In this Federation also we can pick up people who have capability of handeling certain type of situations that might be liked to that of another person in the same state or another state but can help this person to solve many of their problems by uniting their forces together. These are the things that we look forward to in this Federation that we feel will help to strengthen the economical difficulity of which we all exist. In this cooperative too, we can all readily see the working together of men and women not for charity, not for profit, but for the service that they can render to this society.

THE SOUTHWEST ALABAMA FARMERS COOPERATIVE ASSOCIATION

We are still working ocassionaly with SWAFCA and trying to give all the assistance and advice that we might be able to offer. The Board of Directors, the Farmers in the community, and the people who are handeling the accounts for SWAFCA. SWAFCA is still a young organization with great promise and with the right type of leadership we feel that we could be the strongest body of people in ten counties in Alabama that will be just as strong as many of the fine larger and older cooperatives that's in existance in the Western and Mid-West parts of the United States of America. We see for SWAFCA as not only just a group of farmers getting together but we see the economical development among farmers as they be educated on how to raise and market vegetables, how to purchase the equipment together, how to manage their money together, and how to trade and become bargining people at the bargining table. We see growth in these people from a stand-point of a financial situation and also from a social stand-point of view. We see growth in these people from the stand-point of getting along with each other and we see many educational values that they could have when it comes to the fatility of the soil and knowing the proper nutrients that food can have when the soil is fertilized and when the plants are nursed and properly cared for. We see growth in these farmers in learning the type of things that will be marketing for the people to buy. We see growth in these farmers when it comes to learning to choose the good from the bad. We see growth in these people when it comes to learning how to deal with themselves honestly and squarely and when it comes to dealing with everybody else in the same manner. Where they have never had this opportunity to take advantage of the things that exist in business life and in management. Now this is an opportunity for them to have this type of understanding. I thought of these things many times during the last month when I sat in Board meetings with these men, when I went to Selma on several ocassions during the month of August to observe the operation of SWAFCA, when I had the opportunity of talking with the marketing specalist, when I had the opportunity of talking with the mamager of the cooperative and talking with the farmers in all the counties we could see the growth from last year this time when farmers were farming as one induvidual knowing not what they would receive from their market, knowing nothing about the prices per pound that they would receive for their vegetables. Now one year later they are not only knowing what the prices are, but they are helping to employ the people who will be handeling their vegetables , they are helping to see what their prices might be. They are learning the technology in handeling the various things plus the fact they become the owners of the thing that they once supported and had no say so as to how it was to be run. SWAFCA have had great loses this year. It has over-come several obstacles. It had marketing problems, financial problems, working problems, and trucking problems.

In spite of all the problems that SWAFCA have had, SWAFCA is going on, we have been able to hire seven field men, these field men are working in various counties of Alabama to offer technical assistance to the farmers in some of the counties of SWAFCA.

Dr. Simms from Southern University is serving as a counselor in a state of horticulturist. In this program a year training of the field specialist as to their duties and how to perfrom them in the each of the ten counties we are to hire three more men to work as specialist the latest on workers coming from each of the ten counties would be people who live in the county and they will go around with the men who are specialist and learn how to make soil test, learn how to use insectide, learn the proper way of fertilizing, and study the seasons that you plant vegetables, and get the word out to farmers when the vegetables are to be planted so that they might be planted altogether and harvested altogether, in this way they can all go to the market together. The field specialist will be receiving compensation for their work. The latest on workers unlike the field workers will not be receiving anything unless he has travel expense involved in this way he will receive 10¢ a mile. Board members will receive five dollars per Board Meeting that the Board Member attends, However if the Board member does not attend a meeting he is suppose to send to the office a written statement as to why he could not attend.

Where as the Board Members miss 3 concessive board meetings without a written excuse then the Board will have to replace this board member with another person to carry out the board members term.

THE SEWING CENTER

We have been working, trying to develop a sewing center for Greene and Hale county natives to do sewing for commercial purpose. The sewing center is scheduled to began with twenty ladies sewing, and about ten persons working in other areas. Some of the areas that they will be working in will be the shipping department, and there will be supervisors to supervise the floor work for the ladies that work there.

This structure is composed of ladies from Hale and Greene counties and a co-operative idea. The way it will work will be nine ladies from Hale county will serve on the Board of Directors, and nine ladies from Greene county will serve on the Board of Directors. Thus far, we have sent three ladies from Hale county and three from Greene county to Tuskegee Mills to take training with the Tuskegee Mills in order that they might know how to sew on the sewing machines that we are to use. These are the factory-type sewing machines that we are using. We have also sent Mr. Edgar Williams from Greene county to Tuskegee to take two weeks of training in how to adjust sewing machines for the ladies work.

There are several problems that we face in setting up this sewing factory. One of them is a financial problem, as you can might well guess. In this particular area we have made a proposal of $2500 from the Southern Regional Council to be funded to this organization in order that we might be able to start our initial training program for the ladies in this area. The other problem that we have is trying to get the building wired. It is difficult for us to get the people moving to connect the wiring of the building. We have been able to get the sewing machines down here and connect several of them up to get started to work.

My engagement was in helping to get the ladies organized, and we have had several meetings in this area. My other engagement was in helping to physically move the machines from Tuskegee down here. Thus far, we have made three trips to Tuskegee to mobolize this project to the effect that we can get started moving. Within a few days we will be ready to start. As I have stated in a report before now, Mrs. Byrd of Tuskegee is scheduled to come over to help us in getting a training period started for the ladies.

This project is ot be operated under a contract bases. The ladies that will be sewing will be doing piece work. That is they will be paid so much per piece that they sew, and they will be sewing under contracts where they will receive some compensation for their work. This is to be managed by some person that will have an office.

The building that we have rented is an abandoned school owned by the Baptist Association of Hale County. We are paying $100 per month for rent which will be $1200 a year that we will be paying for rent. This building has 6 classrooms, 2 bathrooms, and a large basement where we have already set up the sewing machines to do the work.

We are structuring this project where all of the ladies that will be doing sewing will be a member of the co-operative. Thus, receiving the divided earnings among all the ladies, the Board of Directors will be the ones governing the operation of the sewing factory. It is proposed that each person that is in connection with the sewing factory will have shares in it. There is another proposal that they not have shares, but will only have membership in the organization, and be joint owners of the sewing factory.

We will look forward to the assistance from anybody who will be willing to offer any type of guidance ot us in helping us to set up this factory. Mr. Randolph Blackwell, who is with the Rural Action Project, operating out of Atlanta, Georgia is one of the main persons that is working with us in this connection. Mr. Leonard Smith who works with the National Sharecroppers Fund, in fact, the field representative for this area, has offered his assistance in any way that he can. Mr. John Zipper, who works with the Ford Foundation Development Project out of Louisiana, has offered his assistance in any way that he can through this training project for the sewing center.

I foresee another problem of transportation for the ladies who will be coming in sewing , day by day. We are trying to see what kind of funds we can get to pay gas mileage so that these ladies of low income will not suffer too much in coming to participate in the project.

We have applications for 56 ladies who are interested in the project and they are very enthusiastic over the project getting started. We are hoping that we will be able to start the project not later than the 15th of September.

THE FOOD STAMP PROGRAM

The Food Stamp Program which we worked so hard and deligently with for the last two years got on the way in Hale county on September 1. The Food Distribution Program or Food Commodity Program, for which we worked so hard, got on the way in Marango county the 1st of July. The same program is being fostered and will get started in Perry county the 1st of October. In Hale county there have been complaints tha the Food Stamp Program is one that is denying several people of the right to participate in it because of the minimum $2 that each low income family will have to pay. The problem is that so many people do not have the cash to put up for the stamps. The Stamp Program, to encourage the people of low income to participate in the program, got started with half the minimum. This means that the people that paid the minimum $2 will pay a minimum of $1 and the initial starting of the program. Even at that, this is too high for some of the people of low income. We had proposed to the Agriculture Department and would hope that we can get the people to get the Agriculture Department to pay serious attention to it; that they will be cut to the minimum 50¢, the same as it has been done in the state of Mississippi.

I have worked deligently with the people in trying to explain the Stamp Program to them, so that it will serve as an educational thing. We have worked on a limited bases with some of these people in initiating this program.

THE ASCS PROGRAM

ASCS is one of the programs that we feel that is beneficial to low income people or to all farmers in rural areas. This is one of the agricultural programs that we feel that is more beneficial to farmers than any other program in the rural. It is in this like that we are trying to encourage farmers to vote through this ASCS election which will come up on the 19th of September. We are encouraging all farmers to take part in sharing the vote, as well as participate in trying to run for office, and encourage their fellow man to vote for the candidates of their choice.

THE CLOTHING DISTRIBUTION

The Clothing Distribution Program, which I have been working very deligently with in the state of Alabama, is one that has been fostered mostly by the National Sharecroppes Fund. We have been receiving clothes from all over the United States for people of low income in Alabama. We, in the last year, have given out way above $90,000 worth of clothes to these people.

The American Friends Service Committee sent us $1277 worth of clothes to be distributed to children of low income families. These clothes were taken to Sumter county- Head Start, Macon county- Head Start, some were distributed in Perry county, some were distributed in Hale county, Choctaw county, and some other few places, such as Demopolis, Alabama in Marango county.

The people of Alabama are delighted to have had the Sharecroppers Fund and the American Friends Service Committee to make this distinct contribution to the well-beings of the low income people. I am proud to have been one to take part in helping to distribute these clothings.

TRAVELS

Traveling last month took me into Mississippi twice, where I went to a Federation Meeting, to Atlanta, Georgia twice, where I went to a National Sharecroppers Fund Meeting, and also to the Federation for Southern Co-operatives Meeting. This job has taken me throughout the state of Alabama during the month of August, and most of my travels have been in the swophical area where we have been working with the Southwest Alabama Farmers Co-operative.

We are still making progress, I feel. It is hard to measure it in a report. The only way we can truly measure the progress that we are making is the result of what the people that we are serving receive, and it cannot always be measured in dollars and cents. Sometime measuring the progress that human beings make, it would have to be measured in times of the change of the pattern of the way people think, the change of the way that people live, the change of the way that people get along together and do things together, the change in the system of the way people bargin together and the change of the way people unite their forces in order that they might have a well-rounded society for the betterment of all people concerned. I am delighted to have shared in this, and I look forward to more contributions being made in this life.

Report by Lewis Black

This report will cover the period from September 1, through September 30, 1967. During this period of time we worked with Credit Unions, Sewing Co-op, and kept in touch with the Federations Progress. Distribute clothes to needy people in Hale County, and attended a meeting in Gatlandburg Tennessee, with the Southern Regional Council and State Council Staff Members for a five day period. We went to Auburn Alabama about the first of the month and met with some of the officals of the Council Credit Union, and we noted some of the following things, there were several peoples who were officals in the credit union, but had no membership in the credit union; nor did they have any shares. There was one person who was an officals there who decided to take out a share that day. Another problem they were having was the understanding of Insurance. And we cleared that matter. The Credit union is making a wonderful progress, because the officals are carrying along the Educational idea of the Credit Union, along with its economical assets. However the Credit Union does not have any outstanding loans. We have worked some with Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union in Greensboro in helping them to recover some of the delinquent loans, by members having neglect paying. Some of it is due to low income and people having a readjustment period of their livelihood since the movement was in this area. Another one of the great setback that we are having in this area, this year is because of the shortage of crops, and the cotton production is off. This has greatly affected the progress of Credit Unions, especially those that are not able to survive this crisis. We don't have Stabilization Funds available to help us counter act these types of situations. Greenala is in need of some financial assistance from some source. If at any time, anybody know of some person that could make a small contribution to Greenala, please let us know that we might be able to get in contact with them. We have also been in touch with the credit union in York Alabama, and we note that they are making progress in theirs shares, and making quite a few loans to their members also. They are having some of these same problems that most credit unions and low income groups have; that is getting enough money to survive. The Co-op Sewing Center in Greensboro is moving very slow, however we have been able to almost complete the wiring of the building for this sewing center and we hope to be able to get started to operating soon. In our last report we stated that the Southeren Regional Council had recieve a proposal from the group for $2,500.00. The Southeren Regional Council sent a check for $500 and this will be used to help get the Program started in order that we might have an educational program set up for the ladies. It is proposed that we will have an eight week training program, for the sewing ladies, instead of the three weeks training program as was outlined in our last report. We are very proud that the Southern Regional Council saw fit to contribute $500 to the effort. We also will appericate any contribution that might come from concerned persons in helping to sponsor this program.

The Federations for Southern Co-operative began its training program on the tenth of September, for the purpose of training field people, and other staff members in some of the techniques that would be helpful and necessary in organizing communities and low income Co-operative.

There were approximally 40 people from the states of Alabama, Louisiana, Mississippi, and Tennessee involved in this training program, we are hoping that these people will continue to work with the Federation so that it can be a successfully venture for southern people. As we can remember in our past report that the Federation was an organization, set up to service some seventeen southern states. Foundation Project, is the first among the projects that the Federations, will sponsor to help to improve and service low income co-operative in the south. The Foundation Project was called the Developement Project, was set up to service only fours of the Southern States, Alabama, Mississippi, Louisana and Southeast Tennessee.

We spent a deal of our time distributing clothing to people. We found this neccessary because so many of our peoples have low income this year above all years, so many are unemployed and the crops are very short. We have been able to distribute clothes this month to more than 30 families, reaching more than 250 children who were school age, and desiring clothes to wear to school. These clothes were recieved through the National Sharecroppers Funds. The people are very generious about sending clothes for this effort. We would like to take this opportunity to express our appreciation to the National Sharecroppers Funds for this contribution.

The Southern Regional Council along with the Staff members of the State Council had a meeting in Gatlandburg Tennessee, we spent some four or five days in this meeting. In this meeting we discussed many problems. We had several difference of oppion and we had many type of philosophy explored. We left this meeting with a united effort that we were about to solve some of those problems that existed among us. We also find this meeting to be challeging and fruitful in manyrespect. The scenery about the place where we was having ~~this meeting~~ this meeting was one that we felt was very unique and surely it is an experience that many of us have never had to travel in this area, and see the many exciting things. We left this meeting with the idea that we could come back and offers better services to the people whom we are serving. Because we can understand fully the philosophy of one another, and how our various organization are related to each other, and relative to the whole cramped program that existed for the people in this area. This is about the extent of the things that we have taken part in these last ~~two weeks~~ Month, because there are several people who are working with the Southwest Alabama Farmer Co-operative, and other elements is that one body can do so many things. It is that we work where they have credit unions, to do the same things. We still have credit union pending in Clark County at Jackson Alabama, in Wilcox County at Candon Alabama, in Monroe County at Beatrice Alabama, in Tuscaloosa County, at Tuscaloosa Alabama. And we have some pending commitments from Greene County namely either Eutaw or Forkland Alabama.

Because of being involved with Swafco and other projects I have not had the time to devote to the development of New Credit Unions as I have desired to.

This report covers the work that I have done for the month of October 1967, our work for the month of October, took me to Tuskegee twice, three trips t Atlantic Georgia, and three meetings with the Board of SWAFCA, several meeting in the community, with the farmers, one meeting; with the Board of the Alabama Council On Human Relations. One meeting in Camden Alabama, with some of the City Officals, and SCLC Organization For Action. One meeting with the Federation Of Southern Cooperative, several meeting with Green-Hale Sewing Co-operative and several meetings with Credit Unions, mainly the Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Unions, the York Federal Credit Union.

I made one trip to Crowfordville Georgia, to speak on, Credit Unions, and one of the trips that was made to Tuskegee, and with the SWAFCA Organization was to talk about Credit Unions.

The frist meeting that we had at Tuskegee Institute, was a meeting with Father McKnight from the Southern Consumers Cooperative, and John Zippert from Grande Marie Potato Cooperative, William Harrison from Alabama Council On Human Relations, Mr. John Brown, Dr. Stanly Smith, were representing the SEASHA area, SEASHA, is South East Alabama Self Help House Assoication, in this meeting the group were discussing how the Ford Developement Grant, can help SEASHA in organizing the community, for the Self Help Assoication Idea, it was discussed in this meeting, the SEASHA, had plan to start a Feeder Pig Program, to cover the twelve Counties included in the SEASHA area, our concern over there were to discuss the relationship, of the Ford Developement Grant to the SEASHA Program, in the area. We had a long discussian with the SEASHA people, as to what the duties and the roll that the three men we hired would play in their organization.

Two of the trips that was made to Atlantic Georgia was in the interest of the Greene-Hale Sewing Center. This became necessary for me to make these trips in order to check on outlets for the people to have a sewing, posible in this particular area. As a results of these two trips, and many other meeting th that we have had in these two counties, we have been able to get under way with have twenty-five ladies in this Training Program.

Another trip that was made to Atlantic Georgia, was in the interest of people on Welfare, people who are recieving Food Stramps, and are suffering from the stand point of Malnutrition. We had a very friutful meeting, with the people in Southern Reign Council, who cam from several Communities, in Alabama, Georgia, South Carolina, and one person from Arkansas. There were also in this meeting people from the Stat Council, The National Sharecroppers the NAACP, the American Friends Service Committee, and The Southern Rural Action Project. In the meeting we decided that it was valuable to our various Localatios if we have a hearing, on the service that people were getting from Welfare and the Food Program, these meetings were to be scheduled sometime the early part of November.

I made another trip to Georgia, in a town named Crowfordville, in the interest of people who were about to set up a Community Credit Union, that I feel was a very fruitful trip, the meeting that I had with th South West Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association, were meetings with the Board. One that I met with the Executive Committee and the interveiwing of Dr. Staut. One of the meetings that I attended was in Demopolis Alabama, the other one was in Beatrice Alabama. We noted that there are several thing that will have to be worked out in SWAFCA. One of them was getting people to sign up for Crops to be planted next year. The other one was to collection funds that we have out among farmers.

The last problem was that of discussing the necessary, fertilized and seed that we would need for next year.

The reason for signing up these farmers at this time is to insure the farmers that they will have marketing places for next year, and that we will not be caught in the same jam that we were caught in this year. The other reason it is important, is that we would know what the projected yeild we can have another year, with this projected yeild these farmers can take the same contract that's given to them by SWAFCA, and borrow money against these contrats in order to be able to run their farm.

We also went to Birmingham in the month of October to attend the Alabama Council On Human Relations Board meeting, Dr. Gomellion who is president of the Board of Director of the Alabama Council On Human Relations, was unable to atten the meeting due to the illness of his wife.

We had a very interesting meeting in Camden Alabama during the month of October with the Housing Authority, and the Mayor, Council, we felt that this was a very good meeting, and that we accomplished som real basic problems about housing which we can use in the seventeen States in the South.

The Sewing Cooperative in Hale and Greene Counties have taken a quite a bit of our time. It seem to me that it will continue to take, a deal of our time because of the native of this type of activity in this community.

Rural Advancment Projcet

Report By Lewis Blck

January-Fefruary 1968

For the last two months, like all other months. I have worked almost everyday of the week. We are working with the following projects: (1) The federation of Southern Co-op. (2) Credit Union. (3) SWAFCA. (4) Pulp Wood Program (5) Poor People Program of Ala. (6) Green -Hale Sewing Co-op.

THE FEDERATION :

I have spent a little of my time with the Federation which has caused me to make trips to La. Miss., and Atlanta in the last two months.

We have been able to make progress in the Co-op program in Ala., Miss., La., and Tenn.. By being able to hire field workers, and loan Co-op money in their operations. Alabama was an exception, in that we helped to buy 302 acres of land.

CREDIT UNION:

We are happy to know that a credit union was started in Jackson, Ala. that we had been working at for almost two years. I am spending sometime working with the Demopolis Federal Credit Union, since the treasurer is sick, I am teaching another preson to keep the books in order.

The other work that I have done in the Credit Union, was in helping to collect some loan for Greenala. This is a big job this time of the year.

SOUTHWEST ALABAMA FARMERS CO-OP ASSOCIATION INC.

I have spent a little of my time working with the farmers Co-op. During this time I have attended three meetings, and they were in Montgomery, Selma, and Demopolis. I Personallyfeel that SWAFCA is doing a good job in increasing its membership. One of the big problems will be to give the type of service to members will need to carry out a sound program.

PULP WOOD:

The pulps wood program is new to me, and caused me to make trips to Birmingham, and Tenn. This program aimed at getting fair employment for Negroes in Pulp wood.

POOR PEOPLE PROGRAM OF ALABAMA:

This program is being organized to educate people about the Washington March. I have attended two of such meetings.

GREEN-HALE SEWING CO-OP :

This project has taken much of my time in the last six months. The 25 ladies are sewing with fine quality, but production is far behind that of machine operations in factury sewing business. The ladies have put together, sold more than 500 dozens of garmnts. The Sweing center has caused me to travel over 2,000 miles in the last two months. Other trips that I have made were to. Alabama Council Meetings with the Farmers in Sumster County Alabama.

Dear Friend:

I am enclosing a leaflet to futher explain this letter. As you see, I have entered the Democratic Primary, seeking to be elected to the Board of Education in Hale County. We consider this election to be very important.
Hale County is in the Heart of the Black Belt of Alabama and 71 % of the total population is Negroes. However we do not have a Negro serving on Any of the Local governing boards. Therefore services are denied us because of this fact.

The Negro and a few White people of this country realized this fact and the need of having this segment of the population represented on the Board of Education. Therefore I considered seeking this office.

We have succeded in getting almost all qualified Negroes registered to vote and we have a majority vote in this country.

My opponant is a wealthy plantation owner in this country and controls a large number of people because of his financial status, and will be in position to influence people by furnishing transportation to the voting place and other favors.

All Negroes in Hale County realize the importance of quality education for both races and have pledged their support

My major problem is securing funds to buy gas and oil to bring these people from all areas of the rural into Greensbroro to polling place.

I am appealing to you to help us in this effort.

Thank you

Credit Unions

I have been working with the following Credit Unions, in giving advise on book keeping, office duties and committee duties. York Citizens Federal Credit Union, York, Alabama, Demopolis federal Credit Union, Demopolis, Alabama, and Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union, in Greensboro, Ala.

The Poor Peoples Campaign

I have worked with the poor peoples Campaign, since it's beginni ng in Alabama, we were the ones who started to organizing people in Marion, Alabama for the Campaign. I was with Dr. King every time he came to Ala. to organize the Campaign. I transported people to Birimingham to join the Poor people's Caravan. I worked with the Mule Train in Eutaw, Alabama. I have been to Washington twice since the Poor People have been up there. To see what I can do to help out in the work.

Greene-Hale Sewing Co-op

Part of my work has been that of helping with the Greene -Hale Sewing Cooperative. I made a trip to New York to get a contract for the gruop and have been involde in trying to organize the ladies to carry out the work in Mangement.

Panala Land Buyers Assn.

One of the greatest task that I have taken, was to try to Help buy 901 acres of land in Sumter County for low income farmers. This land is near Panala, Alabama. I have been helping in trying to organize this group into a-Cooperative Farming Group.

Gulf State Paper Co.

I have been active in organizing Community people to seek employment at the Gulf States Paper Mill in Demopolis.

Federal Of Southern Cooperatives

I served the Board and is the nearly elected President of the Federation of Southern Cooperatives. And I supervise a deal of the work of the five employees, in the rural area of albama by Southern Cooperative Development Program.

Voter Education and Voter Registration

I have worked in the area of voter registeration and vo voter Education through out Alabama. I have served as consul consultant with a number of V.E.P. this year.

Head Start

I have served as consultant to the Head Start program in Tray, Alabama.

S W A F C A

Being an advisor to S W A F C A. Its my chance to set in Must Board meetings, and give advise to the members th thereof.

We feel that the advisers have served to help train the board decision making.

Trips

I have to Council Board meetings, and chaper meetings, where I was the speaker in some cases.

TO THE NATIONAL ADVISORY COMMISSION ON RURAL POVERTY

I am delighted to have the opportunity to report to this commission on some of the problems of rural poverty in the State of Alabama.

In the State of Alabama there are 3,372,633 people living and 67.7% of these people live in rural areas. We have in the State of Alabama 793,118 families, 380,988 families making income of less than $3,000 a year. This is 50% of the State of Alabama makes less than $3,000 a year. We have ten counties in the State of Alabama where more than 70% of the families living in the state and makes less than $3,000 a year. We have 1,378,318 families in the State of Alabama making less than $1,000 a year. Of this three million people in the State of Alabama, 971,468 of these people are Negroes. We find the counties that is the poorest in the State of Alabama are the counties that have the majority Negroes. This probaly will tell us that counties that have the majority Negroes, have less financial resource or have less industry by which people can survive.

The other thing in my introduction that I would like to point out is that in the State of Alabama 45% of the people have less than an eithth grade education and in some counties where there is majority Negro, the education is even less than that of some counties. Some counties have an illiteracy rate of about 75 or 80%, again this shows us that education is going to have to be one of the problems to be solved to eliminate poverty among the people in the rural. So much for this introduction remarks.

I would like to spend the rest of my time discussing some of the specific areas that we will tell about.

The first area that I would like to talk about is the United States Department of Agriculture. And for the United States Department of Agriculture, I would like to talk about the food program. (1) housing in rural areas, (2) ASCS (3) Schools and education and (4) employment in the rural.

The United States Department of Agriculture still remaines on of the most segregated department of the Federal Government. It is one of the strongest departments in the Federal Government for rural people and it is one of the slowest departments in the government toward helpong to remove some of the ills that have played upon poor people for so long.

One of the things that we are going to talk about is the food program that is being issued by the USDA. Food has been one of the programs that has been kept out of the State of Alabama. In the entire 67 counties in the State of Alabama, the food have reached only 30 of the counties, leaving 37 of the counties that need food most left out. I would like to recommend that an emergency be delcared from the president commission to get food into all of these poor counties in the State of Alabama at once because we have people suffering and dying from mal-nutrition.

USDA has another department known as the Agriculture Stablization Conservation Service initials ASCS. This ASCS is designed to aid farmers in giving them allotments for crops, giving diversion checks and giving them other services that will be beneficiary to low income farmers . They have assistant in measuring land and assistant in soil test and soil conservation.

In 1965 only eleven Negores were elected to the Alabama regular member of the ASCS Community Committee, although there are more that 25 counties where the number of Negro farm operators makes it possible to elect Negroes to the ASCS Community Committee. In 1966 the same 25 counties, only 18 Negroes were elected to serve on the ASCS Community Committee. There haven't been any Negroes elected to serve on any county committee which has the authority to help poor farmers ~~and~~ getting ~~rescued~~ rid of some of this poverty ~~stricken~~ that he has by offering him service from the service of the committee. I would to recommend that some Negroes be appointed to some of these Committees to serve on these committies in counties in the State of Alabama. We have a state ASCS Committee, the State ASCS Committee is an appointed committee. On this committee, we don't have any Negores, but there is a Negro Advisory committee to the State Committee of the ASCS. We strongly recommend that we get ~~reared~~ rid of the advisory committee to the State Committee and appoint Negroes that are competent to serve on the State ASCS Committee. We will also recommend that Negroes be appointed to work in the county managers office with a full-time job and not temporary as some already have in these offices.

Our next discussion is housing. Housing has become one of greatest problems in rural areas in the black belts of Alabama than any other problem that face us today. In 1960 we had 950,940 housing unites, out of these 950,940 housing unites, 365,628 of these unites were substandard . There were about 52.18 sub-standard housing unites in 1960. It seems at this time in history that we would be closer to leaving the sub-standard housing of our generation, but instead of that the sub-standard housing has become worse . We could name several coutties in the State of Alabama where sub-standard housing rank abour 80 or 85% sub-standard and the fact that so many tenor farmer are evicted day-by-day still making the housing shortage a much more problem. We strongly recommend that to have an emergency loan ~~on~~ or emergency grant given to people to urge them in self-help housing program, especially in the ten black belt counties in the State of Alabama.

Education is the next topic that we will discuss. There is an old saying that "Man don't know what comes first, the chicken or the egg" So when we thing in turns of education poverty, it is hard to determine which comes first, being poor or being uneducated. Education has become one of the main tools that is used to eliminate a person from being in poverty. If people could get an education in the rural area, their economic and social and their spiritual values will readily change.

In the State of Alabama over 80% of the people are totaly illiterate and when you find 80% of the people totaly illiterate it is hard to try to teach them any skills that will cause them make a comfortable living and by some means this great society can furnish the person the skills and techniques to become a good liver. Poverty itself will vanish from those people who have been wealthy with the knowledge of skills and technique of how to master some job to make them a livelihood. I would strongly recommend that grants be given to institutions and non-profiting organizations by which people can obtain an education to intergrate their forces to make this a stronger and healthy country in which to live.

Employment becomes another problem. Employment becomes a problems because of the ~~managerial society~~ Economic System in which we live.

The other problem is that people is not receiving the wages that the law has set up that they might receive. Another problem that is facing the people is the lack of institutions to get employment, the lack of manufactories, and the lack of people ro receive finance to operate the business that they intend to employ people. People have anxiety to do things, they have anxiety where they can't negotiate loans and have the right to take part in society. This makes it very difficulty for them to make perperation for themselves and look out for the welfare of their fellowman.

I would like to conclude this report by giving a summary of what we have talked about. We talked about food, ASCS election. housing, school and education, and employment.

Without food people can't live. Without the service of the ASCS men will not be able to conserve the soin nor cultivate the soil nor will he be able to replinish the soil with what has been taken away from it through the vegetable. Without houses people will be in worse shape than a bird or other animals because a person will not be able to consider himself an inhabitant of a place and without education a person will not have knowledge nc matter how wise he might be. He will not have knowledge enough to preform any skills and without employment he will not have ways to offer a living or a livelihood for his family.

I take great pleasure in submitting this report to the National Advisory Commission on Rural Poverty with hope that this will be more than just a report, that you will do something about it.

Respectfully submitted,

Lewis Black, Project Director

Report by Lewis Black

The Southwest Alabama Farmers Co-op Assn. Inc.

SWAFCA has taken most of my time for the past six or eight months. At the early start of the co-op, we were trying to get organized. All of the organizers can say this was a real problem. We later found out that organizing was simple to some of the problems we have had since that time.

We had problems in several areas, and they are: (1) Marketing, (2) Financing, (3) Transportation, (4) Technical Assistance, (5) Getting workers, and (6) Getting the Grant.

We had some ten companies who said that they would buy the food that SWAFCA was growing, and later changed their minds. This alone caused us to have to make a number of calls and trips. Some trips carried us to Georgia and Mississippi.

The Co-op has been able to market over $30,000.00 gross for its growers. All this marketing started in May 1967, which has been a period of six weeks. Over $25,000.00 of this business was that of cucumbers. We managed to get cucumbers marketed with the help of Mr Fink, who is the marketing man for SWAFCA. The market closed on us the middle of June, this was done because of some of the power structure of Alabama. For one week all of us (who worked with SWAFCA) were running around like a chicken with his head cut off trying to find a market for the Co-op. During this struggle we lost 20 tons of cucumbers.

The first three weeks we were in business, we were selling the farmers cucumbers where they could make $30.00 more per ton than they were making with the other market.

Since that time we have been able to locate two markets for cucumbers.

The farmers as well as the Co-op took a great loss as a result of this one week of the cut off of sales.

We had two types of cucumbers. One was the fresh market, and the other was the pickling. Again we had trouble in trying to sell the fresh market cucumbers. The people that would take our fresh cucumbers said they could only pay for them after they are sold. We shipped the cucumbers and two weeks later the market told us that he was able to use only a few of the cucumbers. For these and many other reasons, we have had great loss in the fresh market cucumbers.

We have had financial problems from the beginning of the Co-op. We tried to get a hundred farmers from each of the ten counties to apply for an OEO loan with FHA. The FHA refused to grant the loan papers, less more the loan.

When the farmers went to the FHA Supervisor in Sumter County and tell him that they were doing business with SWAFCA, he would advise them against the Co-op. Our Farmers were not able to secure a loan from the local bank. The FHA didn't make OEO loans to our Co-op members.

A committee of us went to have a conference with the State Director of FHA in Montgomery. We were unable to get any help from this source. Instead, we were referred back to the local county FHA for Assistance. During this same period of time, we were trying to develope the application for an OEO grant for the ten county areas.

We then turned to asking different people to help the Co-op by the way of grants and loans. Operation Freedom made the first loan of $5,000.00. The International Foundation for Independance Organization made us the second loan in the amount of $25,000.00. We begin to buy seeds and fertilizer for farmers with this money. Mr. Albert Turner and I were working in the daily operation of the fertilizer program.

Mrs. Theara Burroughs, Rev. Percy McShane, Miss Rosie Nabors, and Mrs. Mildred Black helped in selling fertilizer.

We sold 600 tons in nine of the ten counties. We had more financial problems;before we were able to get any side dressing for the farmers.

The Board of Directors asked Miss Mesher and I to start to raising money for the Co-op. We were able to borrow some $10,600.00 and get a grant of $2,900.00. Were it for individuals and organizations helping the Co-op, it would not have been possible for us to operate the Co-op.

After Mr. Freeman's visit to the Blackbelt of Alabama, and seeing some of the problems that we were faced with, Mr. Freeman sent a man down here to represent his office and help the Co-op in getting the services that was needed for the farmers. In the Board meeting Sunday, the board members pointed out the importance of the USDA representive helping us in getting technical assistance and farm financing.

With this type of help, we can see a new hope for SWAFCA. Transportation is another one of the problems that faces the Co-op members. All our grading is done in Selma, Alabama. There are a few farmers who have trucks to carry the food to Selma. Some of the farmers have to carry the produce as far as 90 miles to get it to the grading shed. Some of the produce go bad on the way to shed. Sometimes the produce will have to be carried on an open truck and the sun will effect the marketing of the goods.

It is the thanking of most of the opeople with whom I talked that if we could set up a Shed in each county it would be very helpful to the farmers. The other side of the problem is there is not enough food b being raised in these counties to have shed for the time being.

Technical assistance for the farmers is a problem, and will be a problem for sometime. The farmers of this area have growing cotton for market. It is going to have to require a period of training for the farmers before they can be able to raise peas, okra, and cucumbers for the market. Until recently, we have not been able to get the support of the extension service in the Co-op. Getting people to work has been a problem, because we didn't have the money to pay for the w ork.

When we started to grading cucumbers in Selma, we were able to get a few volunteers to help us with grading. Now that we have the grant from OEO, this picture will no doubt change.

Almost everybody in the U.S. know the problem we have been faced in trying to get the grant for the S.W.A.F.C.A. This alone took us to Wahington on two trips, to Altanta once. We spent a lot of time calling and writing people, and organizations to ask for help.

We would like to take this time to express our thanks to the people who help us in getting the grant.

GREENE-HALE SEWING CO-OP

Some of our time is being spent in trying to sset up a sewing club for Greene and Hale County. This sewing center will be located in Greensboro, Alabama. We have had meetings with ladies of these two counties about ten times, and have looked into finding a building for the sewing center. We have promoted a training program to get started for some of the ladies and one man. This is being done so they they will know how to use the machines and make minor adjustments on the machines. Mr. R. T. Blackwell, with the Southern Rural Action Project, is the person who started this project. I feel that this project will get on the way by August 10, 1967.

CREDIT UNION

I have very little time to w ork with the Credit Union. We are having problems in Greenala. We have a number of loans that got behind with payments, because of the working conditions in this area. We have spent some time in trying to help collect deliquent loans. We have been able to reduce the deliquence about $10,000 in the past two months. The credit union will need some grants from source in order to bill up its reserves to operate. We would be glad for anyone who will help Greenala in building up its reserves. We have spent a great deal of our time trying to help get this Credit Union on the road.

I have made checks with credit unions in Demopolis and York; they are making well on the way. The two credit unions were organized in 1966 and are rendering a gr at service to the people with whom they serve.

Now that SWAFCA has gotten on the road we will start trying to put more time into developing the Credit Union.

TRIPS AND MEETINGS

The past few months have taken me to Georgia, La., Mississippi, Tennessee, South Carolina, Varginia, Washington, D.C., and all parts of Alabama.

I went to speak at meetings in McNitchan Georgia, for SCLC. This was the project education. Two of the trips to Atlanta was for the Federation of Southern Co-op meeting. One of the trips was for NSF meeting.

My trip to La. was for the Federation Meeting. The trip to Mississippi was for N.S.F. Meeting. I was in South Caroling for a Frog-More meeting with SCLC Education Project and Columbia, S.C., for a meeting with a community that was trying to start a Credit Union. I was in Tennessee for two meetings. One with NSF, the same time I was in Mississippt and the other was with President's Advisory Commission on Rural Poverty. The two trips to Washington D. C. was to promote the SWAFCA Project.

I have been to over fifty meeting is Alabama. Some of conferences and some were speaking trips. They were in: Selma, Mobile, Lawerence, Tuskegee, and the ten counties that SEAFCA covers.

We have had meetings with the Alabama Advisory Committee on Civil Rights, Mr Freeman, Secretary of Agricultural, Dr. Martin King, The Board of Directors of Alabama Council on Human Relations, the Citizens Crusade against Poverty, the Southern Research Project, and maybe some more important people and projects.

Ala - REPORTS

ALABAMA COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
Rural Advancement Project
20 Washington Street
Greensboro, Alabama

Annual Report by Lewis Black

This is the second annual report that I have made to the Alabama Council of Human Relations. First, I would like to say that I have enjoyed immensely my working with the Alabama Council on Human Relations, director of the Rural Advancement Project. ~~Here that~~ In that, I have been encouraged to do more by working with people to help in whatever way I can and secure services that would be for the benefit of not only the people in Alabama but for humanity in general.

This report, hopefully, will cover many of the projects that I have worked with and it will cover the progress and problems that we have faced with these programs. During the year of 1967, the program that we worked with for the most part, were programs that were newly developed and very few programs that started this year. So in this sense, my work has been one with the ongoing problem, the ongoing activities and the fostering of betterment among these programs that were started before I began this years work by large. One of the main programs that we worked with this year was that of Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association. As you know SWAFCA includes ten counties and they are as follows; Lowndes, Dallas, Perry, Hale, Marengo, Wilcox, Greene, Sumter, Choctaw, and Monroe. The Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association as you know, is mainly a purchasing and marketing cooperative which produce vegetables for the farmers. It is a producers cooperative in that all these farmers are producing together. It is a pruchasing cooperative in that the farmers purchase for fertilizer and seed and looking to purchase other equipment together. It is a marketing cooperative in that the farmers market the vegetables which they raise together. In 1967, we were able to secure of the services for these farmers in many ways. Really it brought new birth to the lives of many poor low income farmers. We had a new era in that this is the first time in the history of Alabama that so many farmers purchase their fertilizer together. By securing funds through borrowing and gifts that people have given us, namely the Alabama Council on Human Relations, The Southern Regional Council, Cooperative League of USA, International Foundation for Independence, and the services that many organizations render us, such as the National Sharecroppers Fund, Southern Regional Council, Southern Consumer Organization, and finally the big grant that came from the OEO. We could see a new light on the service that people can render to one another by one helping themselved. Some of the people who contributed their time and effort to the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association were Shirley Measer, Albert Turner, Chuck Allenbert, Martin Miller, Dr. TD. Williams from Southern University, Dr. Simms, Mr. Fink, Mr. Paul Blockage, Mr. Mike Kenneth, Mr. Jack Watsman, Mr. James Hayes, Mr. Al Ulmer and to just name few of the people. There were several struggles that we went into and Mr. Randolph Blackwell contributed quite a bit of his time to help us in these struggles of getting out loans and grants approved. There are very few organizations in the United States that can say that they didn't participate in the formation and the organizing and funding of SWAFCA.

The farmers in SWAFCA have received services from the organization throught the purchasing of more that $45,00 worth of fertilizer together and the pruchasing of more than 1,500 acreas of seed together. They have reached the benefit on the sale of produce throughtthe cooperative of over $95,000 of vegetables. They have been able to employ among themselves today more than fifteen full time people through the OEO grant that have been given the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association. My work with SWAFCA was one that serving as a cordinator and giving the cooperation of the people in these ten counties to organize an association and getting a board from this association, comprising of at least two people from each county to serve on this board on multi-county cooperative associations. We had people like John Zipper, Al Ulmer, Robert S. Valder, and many of other people to meet with us and to go into counties to have these county organizations formed so as to do this detail work. We employed Lawyer Erskin Smith to do our legal work and one that we can say has done a very unique job in fixing up all the papers that we have to do legally with the cooperatives. Several trips was made to Washington. I had the opportunity of traveling on at least two or three of these trips to Washington to represent the farmers of Alabama. We have had the experience of meeting with several groups, people that we had never dreamed of contacting in big business. SWAFCA has meant a great deal to Alabama people in that we have brought the light on the society that we live in and we have shown people that farmers can began to work for to an end to help themselves. We have been able to get some commitment from the FHS, ASCAS, the Extension Department of Agriculture and several other agencies that can be of vital help to farm and low income people in the United States. We have drawn the attention of the Secretary of Agriculture in many areas that we have tried to endeavor to get assistance heretofo. This, to me has shown that people together can make a deeper dent into our society than they can one person operating by himself. We spent a deal of our time in going around organizing these farmers, getting these survey sheets fixed out, finding out what the farmers can raise, what are the feedability of raising vegetables and we found that okra, peas and cucumbers could be our main crops to help in this program. We also have found that most of our soil was suitable on the condition that we have soil tests for the vegetables that we had to raise. A deal of our time was spent in getting these soil tests for the farmers. After the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative was funded by OEO, then this gave us the opportunity of getting a staff. Now that we have a staff, we have bagun our operation, we have now spent most of our time with SWAFCA in attending board meetings to see that the formulation of policies we made and see that the things of the board are carried out. SWAFCA now has been able to secure markets for the year 1968. We have made surveys for the year 1968, and we are in the process now of making soil tests. In this way we can find out the kind of fertilization that the soil need and get the line of the land and get the land cultivated for the next year.

The future of SWAFCA is one that lies ahead, we can only predict what the future might bring. In my apprasial I can see as a result of last year that we will be starting off this year with a deliquency of some payments on fertilizer due to shortness of crops, through the changing of staff operations and finally due to the break down in communication from the main office, to so many of the members. This is one thing that could happen in any newly formed organization where you change staff. My personal recommendations to SWAFCA is that it get on a more siner basic in its operation at the present time before branching out into anything else. However, SWAFCA has many possibilities for a setting up of freezing units to freeze fresh vegetables to expand its production in the crops that it is already raising, to set up canaries to utalize the vegetables that can be canned, to set up gas pumps to serve the farmers with low cost of gasoline to manufacture its own fertilizer and make fertilizer to the farmers and finally to set up supermarkets throught the black belt area for farm and farm families to buy vegetables through its own cooperative endeavors.

Another area in which we were in coop with was the Federation of Southern Cooperative. The Federation of Southern Cooperative began its opposition about two years ago, at Mr. Beulah, Mississippi. Since that time it has formulated its organization and I'm for one who served on the Board of Directors and as well served on the Executive Committee of the Board of Directors of the Federation. The Federation of Southern Cooperatives is an organization that's organized hopefully, it will cover seventeen of the Southern states. During this year we have been able to receive $1,500 from the OEO grant that was submitted by the cooperative League of USA. $10,000 from two different foundations and one grant of ½ million dollars from the Ford Foundation. It was submitted by the Southern Consumers Education Foundations of Louisana. This ½ million dollars we were able to employ some forty people to work in four states in the South to help our low-income people and developing skills and techniques and offering technical service to the people. As in connection with cooperatives and forming other cooperatives. In Alabama, we have had some seven of these people to work as field workers to assist in the area of SWAFCA and the area of Sea-Shelf, and as Sea-Shelf is initiated Southeast Alabama. Self-Help Association with its headquarters in Montgomery, Alabama. This has caused me to have to meet in Tuskegee with Sea-Shelf groups, some five or six times this year. I have met in Louisana on several occasions with the group on the project to get funds for people in the state of Alabama. I have met on several occasions in Louisana, Mississippi, Alland, South Carolina with the Federation, and also with the Southrn Consumer Foundation, for the purpose of assisting in some of the rules and regulations as it governs to people that work in these four states. The Ford foundation grant in addition to employing these people in the state of Alabama, we have been able to loan the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative $3,100, we were able to loan 5,000 of this foundation grant to an interesting group in Dallas county who was purchasing some land for twelve families. The Federation has been helpful to people in these four states. In addition we have been able to employ a director to take over the full management of the business of the Federation. That is one of the organizations that we feel can serve as an umbrella to help cooperatives throughout the South get on its feet. We feel gratified in having been able to work with the Federation in our efforts to advance rural people through our various projects. In appraising our scope of workers we found that we have a number of cooperatives in the South that has taken part in sharing with the Federation, namely of a few supermarkets, Credit Unions, Vegetable cooperatives Oil Producer Cooperative and the Bakery Cooperative of Southern Consumers. We have several Credit Union's involved in the work with Federation, we have some seven in Alabama, we have some one or two in other states, we have only one supermarket and that is the one in Greensboro, Alabama, we have one potato cooperative and that is Grant Marie in Louisana, and one Bakery cooperative and That's Southern Consumers. We have two or three oil cooperatives one in Tennessee the other in Louisiana. We have vegetables cooperatives and holesting groups namely from Penola County in Mississippi and SWAFC in Alabama. Mr. Charles Prejean of Louisana has been chosen by the Board of Directors to serve as the Director or Manager of the Federadion staff. He is to carry out the duties set forth by the Board of Directors of the Federation of Southern Cooperative. I forsee the Federation of Southern Consumers as being a prospous organization in that it will make provisions for people to see several service cooperatively. This could be a clearing house for small cooperatives to borrow money and pay back to the Federation. The Federation could serve as a big umbrella to help one cooperative borrow money from the other cooperative to assure the cooperative of its operation. The Federation could also serve as a clearing house for helping low income families and low income co-ops members to receive insurance at low premium rates. The Federation could serve as a market agency to help people get markets for their vegetables of whatever they might produce. These are just a few of the things that the Federation could do. Greatly of all the Federation has in its scope of activities to have an educational program designed primarily to education Board of Directors and the members of the staff of cooperatives to take training in educational program so they can be efficient in carring out the responsibilities that set forth for them as cooperative people.

Credit Unions is the next area in which we worked. We have worked with Credit Unions in Alabama, Mississippi, South Carolina, and Georgia. In Mississippi we made about three trips over there to discuss Credit Unions with people who were trying to organize Credit Unions. In South Carolina we made several trips over there, there were about five trips I made over there to discuss Credit Unions with people. Most of the trips were financed by an interesting community group in South Carolina. The trips that I made to Georgia to discuss Credit Unions were financed by an interesting group also. One of the trips was financed by the National Council on Negro Women In Alabama we worked with Credit Unions in York, Demopolis, Marion and Auburn to discuss Credit Unions, worked very much with the SEASA, talking about the Credit Unions and limited amount with Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperative Association talking about Credit Unions. We worked extensively with Greenala Citizens Federal Credit Union, which during the year of 1967 had quite a bit of deliquency which have to be recovered and still have a great percentage of deliquency.

We feel that Credit Unions are institutions where people can be able to help one another by borrowing, saving, and by learning to do the simple accounting that goes to make up business practices. In the Credit Unions that we have been working, we found that the Credit Unions in 1967 were stalling for the lack of interest. The main thing was the lack of Education on the part of the Board of Directors. The people who were staff in the Credit Unions and this made it be a slow process for the Credit Unions to grow among the members of the Credit Unions. We have endeavored to set up Credit Unions in others areas, namely Wilcox, Monroe, and Clark Counties. We hope that these counties can continue to move forward and setting up this Credit Union idea. It has become necessary for me in 1967 particulary the last part to spend quite a deal of my time workin; with Greenala because of the deliquency that has occured as a result of loans that was made during the movement and some of the people were relocated and therefore had to reestablish themselves. Many of them were evicted, lots of them lost their job because of their participation in the movement. So it has been a little difficult for us to recover the loans. I worked about one half of my time in the month of December trying to work to recover the loans. Since we have been trying to recover the loans we have been able to close out more than 300 loans and have been able to collect above $30,000 to clear up these deliquencies and outstanding loans.

The Sewing Center: The early part of 1967, we started working to help set up a sewing center for the purpose of helping train some ladies to do manufacturing sewing. We sent some ladies to the Tuskegee Mills in Tuskegee, Alabama to take training in sewing. We sent one gentlemen to Tuskegee to take training in repairing machines. Later we have been able to secure nineteen machines for the purpose of sewing garments. We made a proposal to the Southern Council during the year 1967, and the Southern Regional Council gave the sewing plant $500 to help out in getting started. We got started and we hired to world-wide interprise to do a training program for us paying them $500 a week. The ladies who are interested in sewing decided to borrow $2,000 from the Bank of Moundville, Moundville, Alabama to help defray the expense for their training, so when they finish the training they have began to work on some dresses. They made 59 dozen dresses and now they are working on boy's trousers. They have made above 2,000 pairs of boys trousers for the market. These ladies are people who range from the age of 20 to 67 years of age. Many of these ladies have never made over $10 a week, but we are endeavoring to set up a pay schedule where they can have a profitable income. A great deal of my time for the last three months have been spent with this initial training program to help in whatever way I could to see that this project go. To go and help pick up machines when they were needed, to get garments for people to sew, to do various other things. In this project have been rather successful. Our success has been that we have been able to get machines for the ladies to take thr training. We have been able to get a personnel to train the ladies. We have been able to get the material to do the sewing, the thread, zippers and what have up to keep the operation going. The probloms that we have had were mainly finincial problems, fuel problems, when this could happen when setting up any cooperative idea that each member or person plays in the total operation of the cooperative. We feel that this particular element of it has been all worked out. The other problems that we have, the same as with most cooperatives is the marketing problem. We have called for assistance from the Southern Cooperative Foundation, we have called for assistance from the Federation of Southern Cooperative. We have called for assistance from the National Sharecroppers Fund and most that we have ever gotten any of there was criticism, and we haven't gotten any assistance that's going to be of real value to us from it. I think we have gotten more criticism by trying to start a sewing factory than we have any of our endeavors. However, it is my honest opinion and I still believe it that it is one of the most valuable concerns that we have ever worked with. And I really rate it as high as I do with fooling with SWAFCA. The organization of Credut Unions; I rate this just as important to the development of rural areas for low income Negroes and whites alike in the South. The food stamp and food commodities programs as was handeled by USDA. We spent quite a deal of our time in 1967 trying to get people interested in the food programs. That is the stamps and the commodity program. We also kept in touch with the United States Department of Agriculture on these programs. We had discussions with the Secretary of Agriculture concerning how the food program can help low income people in Alabama. We have been successful too in getting some of the things that we felt that was deserved by all low income people. In keepint up with this food program, at yhe end of December 1967, we had been able to encourage people in every county of Alabama to get food except Tuscaloosa, Morgan and Limestone Counties. That is to say that at the beginning of 1967 we had only about half of the counties in the state of Alabama had food programs and as a result of some research do by the Southern Regional Council of the National Sharecroppers Fund and articles written in the paper. The New York Times, Birmingham News, Montgomery Advertiser, and several efforts made by other interested individuals. The people took on to what the program was all about. The Southern Research Project that was organized and administered by attorney Jackernack, had to bring a great deal of light on the subject of the problem of food. So by the beginning of 1967 we had about 50% of the counties in Alabama participating in the food program. With the lowest counties left out for the most part. By the end of 1967 we had all the counties in Alabama participating except the above three that I named. By the middle of 1968 we are hoping that those other three counties will be participating in some food programs, either food stamps or food commodity programs.

THE ASCS PROGRAM

Because of the nature of the ASCA program and what the benefits would be to any low income group of people in any rural area particulary in the farmers. I thought it would be valuable to work with the ASCA and the farmers to see if it was possible that we can utalize as these resources for the betterment of the rural people. In that light, we spent a limited time working trying to educate farmers about the ASCA elections and we spent some time in working with the Southern Research Project and helping to get data and information about the previous elections that has been held. The third thing that we did was testify before the US Civil Rights Commision in respect to the problems that the ASCS program had with trying to get its education program over to the general public. And mainly with the discriminating practicies that has been existing because of segregation in the southern states of the United States. The other project that we have been dealing with was that of clothing distribution. In 1967 we distributed clothing. Some of the clothing were sent directly to the Hale County Progressive Association, some were sent to the National Sharecroppers Fund project to us. Some were sent by the American Fringe Service Committee to us to be distributed. It is hard for me to say exactly how much the worth of the clothing was to the people that we recipitants thereof. But we distributed clothing practically all over the State of Alabama, particulary in the rural areas. We have received an average of 2 boxes per day during the year of 1967. Roughly, an average of 15 pounds of clothes per day. So most any person can imagine that worth of these clothes. The clothing has meant that some children have been able to wear better clothing to go to school, It has meant that some adults have been able to wear better clothing to protect themselves from the weather. It has meant that some people have gained a renewed life in that they were able to wear presentable clothing in the community and last the clothing have meant that it has helped the economical status of people in that they can spend the small amount of money that they were getting for something else, and wear the clothing that was distributed by the project of which we are working.

TRAVELING AND TRIPS

During the year 1967 we traveled to quite a few of the southern states and made these four trips to Washington, D.C. We visited over 25 different board meeting, organization meetings, and made over 15 speeches to various groups on registration voting, Credit Unions, and what have you. These board meetings were with the Southwest Alabama Farmers Cooperatives, Alabama Council on Human Relation, Southern Regional Council, Federation of Southern Cooperatives, Southern Consumers Cooperatives, Bates field Cooperatives, Greenala Citizens Federal Credit board meeting. The C&C Grocery board meetings and we could go on and name several boards that we have met with. Of the speeches that we have made some were with Alabama Council in Mobile, Florance, Auburn, Alabama and any number of other council meetings. Some of the speeches that we made were out of state namely, the National Council on Negro Women in Virginia, Adult training groups that was set up by SCLC.

We made speeches to them in Georgia and also in South Carolina. The National Council on Negro Women invited us to speak in Mississippi, and there were a number of speeches that we made in the state of Alabama. We were asked to testify before some two or three committees, one was the President's National Advisory Commission on rural proverty which met in Tennessee last February. Another one was the United States Civil Rights Commision which met in Selma and had a hearing on the ASCS. I spent a deal of time working with one case in Alabama where a man and his wife was killed on the first day of 1967 for a long time this man wasn't to be found because his body had been washed down the river. It was believed that he was still alive until in the early fall of 1967 his body was found and this solved the death of this person. His name was Bennett, and he and his wife both were killed on the railroad in Selma, Alabama. The child that was with them was terrible injured. As of yet the railroad has not made a settlement to the people for the bureal for either of the bodies, nor have they made and settlement on the injuries that were inflicted to the child. This whole problem has been pesponed in the spring court in Hale County. These are some of the things that we have engaged in in 1967. We look forward to a much brighter year in 1968., hopefully, that the projects with which we have worked this year will continue to progress and the people will become more educated. But more than that we are hoping that the community can utalize the services that the community has to offer and people can become aware of agencies that can be of more service to them in helping to foster more programs and better programs for the well being of all the citizens that exist within their community, and within the nation and world alike.

PRESENT STATUS OF THE ASCS ELECTION CAMPAIGN

THINGS WE NEED FROM THE COUNTIES AND COMMUNITIES IN THE ASCS ELECTION

1. In each county find out if the notices of the election have been mailed.

   a. If they were mailed, find out from about 10 people when they got them.

   b. Make a list of the people who should have got notices of the election, but did not. This list should name the person, his address, phone if he has one, his ASCS community, and his church community.

2. Community meetings are the most democratic way to nominate people for ASCS county committeeman. Meetings should be held this week to nominate people.

   a. It is very important that no more than 5 people are nominated in each community. You can nominate less than five, but if you nominate more than 5 you will split your vote and lose. A community meeting to nominate people will make sure that only 5 are nominated.

   b. Also, a community meeting will make sure that the people in the community will support those people nominated on election day.

   c. It would help if someone could take minutes of the nominating meeting.

   d. A second meeting should be called to hold workshops to train people in how to vote.

3. Someone in the ASCS community should go to the ASCS County office and get a list of all eligible voters in his community. Then he should go back to his community and get some of his friends to help him make a list of all tenants, sharecroppers, and farmers who were left off the list in the ASCS office. This is important because many elections have been lost in the past because too many Negro names were left off the list.

   This list, like all lists, should be printed in ink, with name, address, phone number (if they have one), ASCS Community, church community, and county.

4. A copy of each petition should be printed in ink and returned to the ASCS Election Campaign office in Selma (not to the ASCS county office, but to the National Sharecroppers Fund, SCLC, SNCC office). The original petition signed by the farmers is turned into the ASCS county office in that county. REMEMBER, people who cannot read and write are eligible to vote, and to sign petitions. They make their mark and someone prints their name next to the X and then writes his own name under the printed name of the man who made his mark.

THINGS WE NEED FROM THE COUNTIES AND COMMUNITIES IN THE ASCS ELECTIONS

5. We would like a list of all complaints that people have about ASCS during the year. The complaint only needs to be written in one sentence and someone from the National Sharecroppers Fund will investigate if it looks like we have a chance to do something about the complaint.

6. We would also like a one page report on each county which tells us which ASCS communities

   A. are well organized and do not need much help.

   B. are organized but will need some help.

   C. are not organized and will need extra help.

7. IT IS VERY IMPORTANT that the community leaders who are working on these elections are listed in the central office in Selma. This is the responsibility of the members of the Temporary statewide ASCS Election Committee.

   We need to know the name, address, telephonenumber, County, ASCS community, and church community of each leader. We need this as soon as possible.

It may be possible for someone from the National Sharecroppers Fund or the Temporary ASCS Election Committee to visit in the counties,

People who want help can call to:

James Mays or
Mike Kenney at 872-0927 in Selma

Those in the western part of the state can call

Lewis Black at 624-8121 in Greensboro

Send all lists and reports to:

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE ASCS ELECTIONS IN YOUR COMMUNITY

WHY IS ASCS IMPORTANT?

Because the ASCS gives out your crop allotment.

WHO CAN VOTE IN THE ASCS ELECTION?

Any man or woman who owns or rents a farm, or who is a tenant or sharecropper on someone else's farm can vote.

You do not have to be able to read and write to vote.

You do not have to be registered at the Court House to vote in ASCS.

There is no racial discrimination in this program. You can vote if you are Negro or White or any other race.

IF YOU WORK FARMS IN DIFFERENT COMMUNITIES IN THE COUNTY, CAN YOU VOTE IN BOTH COMMUNITIES?

No. You can only vote one time. You may choose which community you want to vote in if you work two farms.

WHO CAN RUN FOR ASCS COMMITTEE ELECTIONS?

Anybody who can vote in ASCS elections can be a candidate for ASCS committeeman. But, the candidate must live in the community he is a candidate from.

HOW DO YOU RUN FOR THE ASCS COMMITTEE ELECTIONS?

There are two ways for a man or woman to have their name on the ballot:

1. One way is for the man or woman to have their name put on the ballot by the County ASCS Committee. Usually the people put on the ballot by the County committee do not work for you. They work for the other man.

2. You can put your OWN candidates on the ballot by PETITION. That way you can be sure that they will work for you.

HOW DO YOU PUT CANDIDATES ON THE BALLOT BY PETITION?

You can make your own petition or use the one attached to this notice. All you need on the petition is a statement saying that those people who sign the petition want to nominate a person (the petition must have his whole name) as your canidate for the ASCS voters in his ASCS community.

You can sign as many petitions as you want.

Petitions must be turned into the county ASCS office at least 25 days before the day the election ballots are due at the office. In Alabama that is on the 22nd of July.

WHAT IS AN ASCS COMMUNITY?

Each county is divided up by the ASCS County Committee into ASCS communities which are Not the same as the communitie people live in. They are much bigger and will include many rural communities. Sometimes they will cut a rural community in half. The ASCS County Committee is supposed to write you a letter telling you what community you are in. If you have any questions about what community you are in, you should ask at the ASCS County office.

WHAT ARE THE TWO MOST IMPORTANT STEPS TO REMEMBER IN AN ASCS ELECTION?

1. The First important step in an ASCS election is to nominate Your Own friends and leaders by PETITION. The easiest way to do this is by calling a meeting of farmers in your community and let the meeting decide who to nominate by petition. Then, at the meeting have the petitions signed and have someone carry them the next day to the County ASCS office. If you cannot get them signed that night, have someone carry them around the next day until you have 10 or 12 signatures.

2. The SECOND important step to remember in an ASCS election is CANVASSING.

   ASCS voting is new to many people. They will be getting letters in the mail from the ASCS Committee explaining how to vote. But they may not pay any mind to these letters since they have never voted before. It is up to you and your meeting of farmers to go around to every farmer in the ASCS community and explain to him or her how important the ASCS elections are and to see that he votes.

   One of the biggest reasons many ASCS votes are lost is because people do not sign their name correctly on the outside envelope. Your canvasser can help by showing everybody how to vote, (but of course he cannot vote for them) and be the witness who helps the voter who cannot read and write.

   Your canvasser should also explain that if you only like one or two of the men who are running as ASCS committeemen, you do not have to vote for 5 people. You can vote for only those people you trust.

IS THERE ANYTHING ELSE TO REMEMBER IN AN ASCS ELECTION?

Yes. Remember that if anybody tries to keep you from voting or tries to force you to vote for someone, or threatens you with violence or loss of credit if you vote, he is BREAKING THE LAW.

You should report all violations of the law in a simple letter to:

The Secretary of Agriculture
United States Department of Agriculture
Washington, D. C.

And the National Sharecroppers Fund can help if you will send a letter telling about your problems to:

The National Sharecroppers Fund

ASC ELECTIONS

How Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Community Committeemen are Elected

WHO CAN VOTE

You can vote in elections of Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Community Committemen if you are a farm owner, tenant or sharecropper. In community property law States both husband and wife can vote.

To know for sure who can vote ask your ASCS county office manager. He knows the rules and will help you. Here are some of the rules:

You can vote in an ASC election if you are old enough to vote in a State or national election and if you are taking part or are eligible to take part in ASCS farm programs.

If you're not old enough to vote, but you do run an entire farm, you can vote.

WHO CAN BE ELECTED

You could be elected an ASC Committeeman yourself. This would be an honor as well as a responsibility.

Of course there are some limits as to who can be elected. If you already are an elected officer in your county or State, or if you hold a national office you can't be a Committeeman. (However, being a member of a school board or on the board of a soil conservation, irrigation, drainage or weed control district, or similar type board, does not make you ineligible.) If you are an officer, employee or delegate to a convention of any political party or political organization, or if you work full time for the U. S. Department of Agriculture, you can't serve on an ASC Committee.

PUTTING NAMES ON THE BALLOT

Names get on the ballot in three ways. The community committee now in office names at least six persons. The county committee may name others.

---

UNITED STATES DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE
Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Service

PA-676 August 1965

(Minority group farmers will be placed on the ballot in the same proportion as they are to the total number of farmers in the county.) You and your farmer neighbors can also add names to the ballot by sending in a petition naming a person you think would make a good committeeman. The petition must be signed by at least six farmers eligible to vote in the ASC election. You can sign as many petitions as you wish. The community committee will check with each nominee to determine that he is willing to serve. Names of nominees will be placed on the ballot in alphabetical order.

VOTING YOUR BALLOT

Public notice of the election will be in newspapers and on radio and television in your county. In addition a notice of the election and a ballot will be mailed to all eligible voters of record in the county office. If you believe you are eligible to vote and do not receive a ballot, check with your ASCS county office.

When you get your ballot there will be two envelopes with it. One will be plain. The other will have a statement printed on the back. There will also be instructions on how and when to send the ballot back to the county office. Mark your ballot and seal it inside the plain envelope. Put the sealed plain envelope inside the envelope with the statement on the back. This statement is a certification that the ballot was marked by you personally without undue influence by any person. A witnessed mark is O. K.. This statement must be signed or your vote will not be counted. Mail or take your ballot to the ASCS county office.

COUNTING THE VOTES

When the ballot gets back to the county office, the inside envelope with your ballot will be taken out. The outside envelope will be separated from the envelope containing the ballot. This assures that your ballot will be secret. No one can know how you voted unless you tell him.

The county committee will count the votes. They will do this at a place, date and time they announce ahead of the counting. The place where they count the vote will be open to everyone regardless of race, creed or color. You and your friends — or anyone else who wants to — can watch the vote counters open the envelope and count the ballots.

ELECTING FARMER COMMITTEEMEN TO ADMINISTER ASCS PROGRAMS

An explanation prepared especially for the use of ASC County and Community Committeemen

Each year, between July 1 and December 30 — as determined by the appropriate State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee — farmers and ranchers elect new members to represent them on community and county ASC committees.

The locally elected farmers supervise and administer Federal farm programs directly affecting the health, welfare, and economic well-being of every American. These include agricultural conservation, price support, acreage allotment and marketing quota, wool incentive payment, sugar, voluntary wheat and feed grain diversion and various other programs assigned to ASCS by the Secretary of Agriculture or the Congress.

WHO SERVES ON ASC COMMITTEES

ASC committeemen are men and women engaged in the operation of a farm or ranch. They represent various types of farming and agricultural regions in the county or community.

Each community committee consists of a chairman, vice-chairman, regular member, and first and second alternates. All three members are delegates to the county convention which elects the county committee. Alternate committeemen are alternate delegates.

The county committee is made up the same way. The county agricultural extension agent is an ex officio member, but does not vote.

COMMITTEEMAN QUALIFICATIONS

A nominee for ASC committeeman must be eligible to vote in ASCS elections in the county or community where he is elected. He must reside in the county or ASCS community where elected. He must be of good character, not a member of (or candidate for) any Federal, State or county office filled by election pursuant to law. However, members of school boards, soil conservation district boards, irrigation, drainage, weed control or similar boards are not ineligible because of such membership. Officers, employees or delegates to a convention of any political party or political organization are ineligible. So are full-time employees of the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

A nominee for county committeeman or alternate must not: (1) Be a sales agent or employee of Federal Crop Insurance Corporation during his term of office; (2) have passed his 70th birthday by the date the new term of office begins unless this is waived by the State Committee; (3) have served three consecutive terms immediately prior to current elections. (Any term which began on or before January 1, 1965 does not count toward this three-term limitation.)

The community committee checks with each nominee to determine his willingness to serve.

Names of nominees will be placed on the ballot in alphabetical order.

TERMS OF OFFICE

Community committeemen and alternates serve 12 months or until qualified successors are elected. Their term begins on the first day of the month following election.

County committeemen serve 3-year, staggered terms starting in 1966. Alternates serve 1-year terms. Terms begin the first day of the month following election. Committeemen and alternates must sign the prescribed Oath of Office before taking office.

WHO VOTES FOR ASC COMMITTEEMEN

Any person is eligible to vote if he is of legal voting age and has an interest in a farm as owner, tenant or sharecropper. OR

If not of legal voting age, a person is eligible if he supervises and conducts the farming operations on an entire farm where one of the following requirements is met: (1) The farm received or will receive a payment or is carrying out an approved practice under the current agricultural conservation program; (2) the farm has an acreage allotment or marketing quota; (3) the farm is eligible for a cooperator's loan or other price support, OR a sugar program payment, OR a national wool program payment, OR a soil bank payment; (4) the farm is eligible to participate in any farm program administered by the county committee.

WHEN ARE ELECTIONS HELD

County and community elections are held between July 1 and December 30. The State Committee sets the dates. The county committee notifies voters.

Although State Committees may authorize elections by meeting or at a polling place, the trend in recent years has been toward use of mail ballots. Farmers in many States have shown a preference for this method. Since it is more convenient, it has resulted in greater voter participation than either of the other two methods. A step-by-step description of Mail Election follows.

CONDUCTING THE ELECTION

1. At least 40 days prior to the date set for return of ballots by farmers (E-Day), the State Committee approves community boundaries.

2. At least 30 days before E-Day, the county committee publicly notifies farmers that slates of nominees will be selected for each community. This notice, disseminated by newspaper, radio, TV, and public poster, is also sent personally to each eligible voter of record. The county committee may not have a complete list of eligible voters so it is each eligible voter's responsibility to contact the ASCS county office and get on the list. The notice announces the forthcoming election, invites petitions for additional nominees, and prescribes the method of preparing a petition. Any group of six or more eligible voters may submit a petition. A person may sign as many petitions as he desires. The final date for receiving nominating petitions must be at least 20 days prior to E-Day.

3. At least 15 days prior to E-Day, the community committee nominates at least six persons eligible to hold office. The county committee will make sure that qualified minority-race nominees are included in the same proportion as minority-race farmers are to total farm population (owners, tenants and sharecroppers) in the county.

4. At least 10 days before E-Day, the county committee will give public notice of the election including the slate of candidates (failure to give this notice is grounds for invalidating the election), the date ballots will be mailed to eligible voters, instructions for getting ballots in case eligible voters fail to receive them by mail, date by which marked ballots must be mailed or returned, where to send them, invitation to the public to witness the vote counting (including information on date, time and place of counting), and a statement that the county committee will settle questions on election procedures or eligibility to vote or hold office. Appeals from a county committee ruling will be heard by the State Committee.

5. If the certification on the envelope is not signed, the ballot will not be considered as a vote. A witnessed mark will qualify as a signature.

COUNTING THE BALLOTS

The county committee will count the ballots, except that a county committeeman who is a candidate for community committeeman may not count ballots.

The place where ballots are counted will be where facilities are open to all persons without regard to race, color, creed or national origin.

The time and date for counting will allow adequate time for receiving ballots from every community, but cannot be later than 5 days after E-Day.

DECLARING AND NOTIFYING WINNERS

The person receiving the most votes is elected community committee chairman. The second most votes determines the vice-chairman, the third most votes decides the regular member. All three are county convention delegates. The person getting the fourth most votes is first alternate committeeman and first alternate delegate. The fifth most votes determines the second alternate committeeman and second alternate delegate.

The county committee will promptly inform all nominees of election results, and will notify community committeemen and delegates of their election, and of the date, time and place of the county convention.

THE COUNTY CONVENTION

The State Committee will set the date for the convention, designating a convenient place that does not restrict the use of its facilities to any person because of race, color, creed, or national origin.

The county committee will give at least 10 days public notice stating the time, place and date, and declaring the convention open to all who wish to attend.

The incumbent county committee organizes and supervises the convention. A quorum consists of a majority of the delegates or their alternates. After a permanent chairman is elected, all incumbent committeemen retire from the room but remain available for advice or consultation.

The convention will nominate and elect three committeemen and two alternates. In 1965 they will nominate and elect committeemen for specific terms of office as follows: One for a 3-year term; one for a 2-year term; one for a 1-year term. In subsequent years, committeemen will be elected to fill vacancies only, with vacancies occurring in the same order as established in the 1965 elections. Alternates will be elected for 1-year terms only.

RECORDS AND REPORTS

Election records and reports pertaining to community elections will be sealed and kept in the county office for 30 days.

Minutes of all county convention actions and the name of each delegate present will be kept. Ballots will be sealed in containers and kept in the county office for 30 days.

Results of the county convention election will be sent to the ASC State Committee for review and approval.

ASCS ELECTION MANUAL

This pamphlet is a suggested plan for organizing an ASCS election campaign. It is based on experience from 1964 and 1965 in Mississippi, Louisiana, Alabama and North Carolina. You may want to do things differently but these basic ideas should help you to have a WINNING campaign.

FIRST

The first thing to do is form an election committee in your ASCS community. This committee should be made up of farmers in your ASCS community. It is important to remember that ASCS communities are NOT the same as your rural or church communities. Usually the ASCS communities are larger and cover 3 or 4 rural communities. Very often the ASCS community boundary lines cut real communities in half.

THEN

After the election committee is formed, it needs to do three things:

1. The election committee should send a group to the county ASCS office to get a list of the eligible voters in your community from the ASCS rolls.

2. The committee should also ask the county ASCS office for an ASCS county map so they can know which farmers are in what community, at the time of the present election.

3. The election committee should find out when the petitions and ballots must be turned into the ASCS office, and when the ballots and sample ballots will be mailed out.

4. The election committee should also request sample ballots at this time from the ASCS County Office.

THEN

Call your first planning meeting for the whole ASCS community. The first meeting is just to get started. You should plan to hold meetings once a week in each ASCS community until the elections, starting about 6 weeks before the day the ballots are due back at the ASCS office. It is a good idea to hold these weekly meetings in different churches or schools or homes so that more people will hear about them and be able to come.

At the first meeting you should explain how important the ASCS elections are because the ASCS committees give out the extra crop allotments, measures land and determines the soil bank payments. You should explain that they are Federal elections and all farmers, large or small, white or black, owners, renters, tenants or sharecroppers are supposed to vote in these elections.

After people understand the purposes of the elections you should explain that in the past many sharecroppers, tenants, and other small farmers have been left out of the elections. Then read the list of eligible voters in your community that you got from the ASCS office to see if all the people at your meeting have their name on that list. If some people at your meeting are eligible and do not have their names on your community ASCS list, one member of the election committee should write their names down on a separate piece of paper and arrange to go with them to the ASCS County office to get their names on the eligible voters list. People who know sharecroppers and tenants who are not on the list should give their names so an investigation can be started.

Finally, at this first meeting you should ask for volunteers to work as canvassers and precinct Captains for the ASCS elections. Usually it is easiest to ask for one volunteer from each road in a community. He is responsible for contacting all the farmers on his road or on roads near where he lives. Also, it makes it easier on everyone if each Church community has one precinct Captain who helps the canvassers and who the canvassers report to. The Captain is a member of the election committee.

A second meeting should be arranged before you adjourn the first meeting. A subcommittee should be chosen to visit the ASCS County Office Manager to invite him to speak at the next meeting. They should also invite him to show slides which the United States Department of Agriculture has prepared explaining the ASCS elections. If he says he cannot come, this should be reported to the State Director of ASCS and to the National Office of ASCS.

The canvassers should be prepared to canvass each member of their district to make sure that they come to the meeting.

And, IT IS VERY IMPORTANT that the canvassers make a list of each farmer, renter, sharecropper, or tenant in their district so they can find out if people have been left off the ASCS list.

THEN AT THE SECOND MEETING

The ASCS County Office Manager will speak and explain the ASCS election, if he comes. If he does not come, somebody who is familiar with the ASCS elections should explain the elections again because you will have many new people at this second meeting.

After the elections are explained, allow a long period for questions so that everybody gets a chance to ask whatever question he has.

This is now a good time to tell people that they should be thinking about who they want to represent them on the Committee so they can nominate them at the next meeting. (It is always good to plan what you are going to do at the next meeting so people will want to come.)

THEN AT THE THIRD MEETING

You will have to begin by explaining the ASCS elections again. Thi is good because some people do not understand everything after hearing it only once. Everyone should be asked if he has any questions he wants to ask.

Then the group should democratically decide who they want to nominate for the elections. At this time it should be explained again that usually all the names put on the ballot by the ASCS committee were not democratically selected. The only way to make sure people on the committee do what you want is to nominate them yourselves and make sure they are elected. Then it is important to remember that no more than 5 people should be nominated by petitions because you will split your vote with more than 5 people and make sure the other man wins.

After the group has democratically decided who they want to nominate, they should get petitions signed for those people. Each petition must have at least 6 signatures of eligible voters in the ASCS community. But it is a good idea to get 12 signatures because the ASCS offices sometimes refuses to honor all of the signatures. You can make your own petition. It just needs to say something like:

We nominate _____ for ASCS committeeman for the _____ community.

The petition should then be signed with the names and addresses of at least six people from the same community.

THE NEXT MEETINGS ARE VERY IMPORTANT. THIS IS WHEN YOU PLAN YOUR STRATEGY AND PRACTICE VOTING. DEPENDING ON HOW GOOD YOU DO THIS PART OF THE PLAN, YOU WILL WIN OR LOSE THE ELECTION.

AT THE FOURTH MEETING

You must do the following things:

1. Make sure that every voter knows that he should vote only for the people put on the ballot by petition. Each voter should understand that a vote for the other man means that the other man will win. You must vote only for those people nominated by you.

2. Each voter should also understand that if you have less than 5 of your own people on the ballot by petition, you should vote for only your own candidates. You do not have to vote for 5 candidates. If you have only placed 2 candidates on the ballot by petition, you should vote only for them.

3. The best way to make sure that everybody in your community knows exactly how to vote and whom to vote for is to have them practice voting at your 4th meeting with sample ballots which you made up after seeing the sample ballots from the ASCS office.

4. Then your canvassers should be ready to go from house to house to help the people in his district practice if they did not make it to the meeting. People should fill out as many sample ballots as they need to make sure that the people know how to do it.

By now you are probably having your meetings once a week on the same night. People will be used to coming to meetings. You can announce that at the next meeting there will be more time to practice and that the final plans will be made to make sure of VICTORY.

THEN AT THE FIFTH MEETING

Make sure that all of your canvassers have a list of all the voters in their district. This is called a check-list. They should carry this check-list around with them beginning the day the ballots arrive by mail. At each house they should make sure that the farmer or sharecropper has voted. They check off his hame on their check list after he has voted. They must go around every day until each man in their community has been checked off.

The canvassers should be able to read and write so they can help those farmers vote who cannot read and write. They must understand that not only do they have to sign their own name to outside envelope, but that they must print the voter's name next to his "X".

If the area is well organized, people can come to a meeting and mark their ballots at that time.

At this meeting you might want to discuss whether or not it would be best to have people hold their ballots back until the day before they are due so that the other side cannot know how strong your vote will be and have time to run out and scrape up some extra votes to beat you with.

THEN THE SIXTH MEETING SHOULD BE DURING THE VOTING PERIOD

The canvassers should give their reports and plans should be made to have emergency workers canvass to see that late voters vote and carry their own ballots to the office, if necessary, to make sure they are in.

At this meeting you should select a committee who will be at the place the ballots are opened and counted so that you can be sure that the ballots are counted fairly. Announce that any interested person can attend the vote counting. Then encourage everyone to attend. The more people you have there the better chance you have of having an honest election.

BUT BE SURE TO ASSIGN some people to go so that you are sure you are represented at the vote counting.

Then be sure to call a meeting for AFTER the election to review what happened. This will be your VICTORY meeting. If you have to protest you should choose a committee to do the protesting in the name of the community.

NOW THAT WE HAVE FINISHED THE STEP BY STEP SUGGESTIONS FOR THE ELECTION CAMPAIGN WE WOULD LIKE TO REMIND YOU ABOUT THREE VERY IMPORTANT THINGS:

1. You cannot win the election unless all your eligible voters are on the ASCS list. You must begin working on getting all your voters on the eligible voter list at the very beginning of the campaign and you will probably have to work on this problem for the whole 6 weeks.

2. If you have trouble getting your candidates on the ballot by petitinn you can either boycott the election, or you can conduct a write-in campaign. Write-in campaigns are very difficult, but possible. The ballots must have spaces for write-in names. Have your meeting decide which names are written in and then you practice writing those names in just like you practice for the regular voting. Sometimes people spell wrong and it is harder to get them to write in names than it is to have them mark an X on the ballot.

3. Keep a record of everything you do and everything that happens. If you need to protest the election, your case is much stronger if you have a record of everything that happened. For example, it is best to have a written letter inviting the ASCS office manager to your meeting when your committee goes to invite him. If he refuses, you have proof because you kept a copy of that letter.

   You should keep a list of all things done wrong in the election. If the ASCS office manager does not have the slides to show you, you should make a note of that. If you are kept out of watching the voting you should write down who was kept out, at what time they were kept out, who kept them out, and who saw all this happen. You should note any time that any ASCS official is discourteous to you and you should report any acts of discrimination that you might suffer.

   Also you should immediately report any acts of violence or intimidation in connection with the ASCS election to the nearest FBI office and by mail to:

   Secretary of Agriculture
   United States Department of Agriculture
   Washington, D. C.

   and copies of all complaints should be sent to

   The National Sharecroppers Fund
   5 Forsyth Street, N. W.
   Atlanta, Georgia 30303

   so that the National Sharecroppers Fund can follow-up on your complaints.

REMEMBER: You can win this election if you want to.

The only thing which can stop you from winning is not working.

If you work, you will win.

THE RURAL ADVANCEMENT PROJECT

GREENSBORO, ALABAMA
By Lewis Black

This report covers my work for the last two month in some five (5) different areas. They were as follows:

1. Voter registration.
2. Helping candidates, who were running for office.
3. Surplus food commodities program.
4. Leadership Training Program.
5. CO-OP and Credit Union Training Program.

I. VOTER REGISTRATION

We feel that registration of the rural people is important to help advance them in choosing the public leaders of rural. A great deal of my time have been spent in getting information to the people in the Black Belt Counties about the VEP Program, and helping keep in touch with SCLC to get aid in there registration campaign.

We have had, in order to:(1) get the number of Negro and White voters, (2) find out what precinct the voters lived in the county, (3) find out the days the county have for registration, (4) help set up car pool to get people to the polls, and(5) help to keep count of the number of voters went to the polls, by race.

II. HELPING CANDIDATES, WHO WERE RUNNING FOR OFFICE.

It goes without saying to have Negroes by candidates for public office, is one of the greatest political advancements we can make. I spent a lot of time helping organize poll watchers. I also served as a poll offical for May 3, and May 31, elections.

III. SURPLUS FOOD COMMODITIES PROGRAM

We have 10,000 people in Hale County, and 8, 800 people in Perry County, who by reason of low income, or no income need basic foods to eat.

We organized the people to go to the Power Structure of these two counties to ask them to help get food in these two counties. The power structure in each case said that they are not going to get food for these people.

With the aid of our CAP Organization and the State OEO Office we have written up a proposal to get food for these 18,800 people of Hale-Perry Counties in Alabama.

IV. LEADERSHIP TRAINING PROGRAM

The leadership training program is one that we havegiven a lot of our time in the last month or so. The purpose of this proposed program is to train leaders to work in their home county. It is felt that they could do a very find job in community development once they start learning about the different program and going back to their communities and teaching others about them.

The proposal calls for training 130 Black-Belt Leaders.

The cost is about $250,000. The proposal will be sent to the OEO Office in Washington, D. C. this week.

We have had four meetings in Birminghan and one meeting in Washington, D. C. working on this proposal.

V CO-OP AND CREDIT UNION TRAINING PROGRAM

I have arranged one meeting in Marion, Alabama on Credit Union and Co-op development, and I attended a meeting in Mississippi on Co-op and Credit Union.

In Marion we were trying to get the feel of the credit union and Co-op movement among the people. The discussion was set out to define the organizations, and how they operate?

This meeting in Edwards Mississippi was three days long. We were discussing problems, and our resouces in the communities. One of our greatest problems was the lack of training that it would take to operate these co-ops.

We discussed the possibility of setting up training centers for co-ops in the Southern States.

Alabama Council on Human Relations
Report on the Activities of Rural Advancement Director, Lewis Black
June 27 through July 11

(1) Devoted considerable time and energy in further efforts to secure approval of a surplus food program for Hale and Perry Counties. After contacts with the OEO and USDA offices indicated the possibility of establishing the program without approval of Hale County power structure, the RAP Director checked on possible warehouses and assured himself of their immediate availability. Then, upon receiving a call indicating the proposed visit of three USDA representatives to Greensboro, the RAP Director arranged for a mass meeting of Hale County Improvement Association members to receive them. The message brought by the three representatives of USDA was not that anticipated but rather one that filled the audience with anger and despair. The RAP Director endeavored to see that the anger was directed to a useful purpose and the despair alleviated. Consequently, the Hale County Probate Judge, whose refusal to sign authorization papers has prevented establishment of the food program, received upon two occasions masses of hungry people in the Courthouse. Subsequently he called a meeting of the Hale County Board of Revenue to consider the question with a committee from the Hale County Improvement Association--the Board decided to take the problem under advisement. In the meantime, the RAP Director, working in conjunction with Alabama Council Director, Jerry Roden, Jr., arranged under the auspices of Alabama Senator John Sparkman appointments in Washington with USDA and OEO representatives at the policy making level. Drove through to Washington on July 10-11; met with Messrs. Ken Birkhead and Neal Freeman of USDA, and with Messrs. Alfred Corbett, David Bowen, and Joseph Howell of OEO on July 12; and received a firm commitment that the USDA would make immediately one final effort to get Judge Knight to cooperate and then, if that effort failed, would establish the food program anyway in cooperation with OEO.

(2) Continued efforts during this period with the Credit Union program. Specific results include (a) the organization of a committee in Beatrice and a subsequent application for charter, and (b) initiation of operations in proper order by the Demopolis Credit Union.

(3) Met with ATAC representatives, Council Director Roden, and others to discuss plans for bringing Head Start into Hale County.

(4) Began with OEO representatives in Washington and with Council Director Roden the exploration of ways through which a federally-supported basic adult education and vocational training program may be established in the Black Belt where the power structure is antipathetic to improving the Negro's ability to help himself.

Voter Education Program
This Program is designed to teach the farmers;

(a) the value of voting in the farm programs. This will be done by having some people go to the farm communities, and make a house canvass of the people who received letters.

(b) this program is to get farmers who have not received letters and have a farm interest to go to the ASCS Office to get on the list of farmers, so that they share the service of the ASCS Office.

(c) we are having meetings in the communities to get a chance to talk face to face with farmers about their problems and trying to help them find solutions to them.

(d) the groups of communities are divided from the county level. We have people in some counties working to meet with people and these house to house canvass.

The Number of People Reached
We are working with 14,278 farmers in 12 counties, namely: Greene, Hale, Sumter, Perry, Marango, Chactow, Clarke, Wilcox, Monroe, Lowndes, Macon, and Dallas.

The Type of Instruction Provided to Farmers
(1) We are the awareness of the programs that the ASCS have.

IV. Community Action Program

I. ASCS Election

Due to the fact, of the many services a farmer can receive from the USDA, and many of these services are governed by the ASCS Committee, we felt that it was important to devote some time to educating the farmers on the election. Shall I say the Negro Farmers most of all, of their right to take part.

Before I go into what we did, I would like to say some important things about the ASCS Services.

A. The ASCS can render it's services to tenants, farm owners, and share-croppers.

B. The ASCS has an economic advantage for any farmer that have crops which will conserve the sale or price support in marketing quotar.

C. The USDA has this arm of it's department, so that the local group can have some voice in the distribution of funds to farmers who conserve sale in the: (1) seed grain program, (2) Cooperative loan, (3) sugar program, (4) national wool program, (5) sale bank payment, (6) fish and wild production, and (7) corp acerage allotment or marketing quota currently established for the farmers.

In realizing all these services, we felt that if the Negro Farmers could become aware of this, and take a part in the voting, they by the same token could share in the economy that the ASCS Committee has to offer.

We begin our education program by first, finding out the number of people to be educated. Looking at the number of farmers in Alabama, we found that we had twenty-six (26) counties with a great number of Negroe Farmers. These twenty-six (26) counties had, 22,442 Negro farm voters, and 18,566 White Farm voters. After looking into our resource, we found that we could only make a good possible showing 12 of these counties, and they were: Greene, Hale, Sumter, Perry, Marengo, Choctaw, Clarke, Wilcox, Dallas, Monroe, Lowndes, and Macon. In these 12 counties, we have 14,278 Negro Farmers, and 7,029 White Farmers.

During this education period, we called meetings in Montgomery, Selma, Tuscaloosa. In Montgomery, July 16, 1966 at the Jefferson Davis Hotel, we invited 150 people to the meeting and 35 of the group showed up at the meeting. Amoung the people attended were: James Mays, Jac Wasserman, Mike Kenney, Lewis Black, Joseph Searles, Pat Davis, Albert Turner, Lucy Foster, Red Farmer, J. H. Glanton, Mary Ligan, Don Jelinek, Eddie Long, L. A. Lee, P. A. Harris, Eugene People, Willie Ricks, Bob Valder, Bob Smith, S. S. Seay, Alice West, Donald Doss, Lonzie West, Phil Jones, Phil Gosher, Annell Ponder, Annie Louise Hardy, Elex Morris, Cleman Barlow, Oscar Moorer, Walter Blaston, Melvin Myers, New-soong Li, Shirley Mesher, and Hurbert Johnson.

The expense of this meeting was paid by the Alabama Council on Human Relations. It was decided at this meeting that we would file a petition in court to throw out the election. We also made plans for our Alabama Education Program for the ASCS Election. Sunday, July 17, 1966, we met in Selma, Alabama at the SCLC Office, with about 15 people present. We discussed things people should know about their community. (Exhibit A) and (Exhibit B). After the Sunday meeting in Selma, it was decided that we would have a meeting every Friday night until the election was over.

July 23, 1966, Bob Valder and I got together in Auburn, Alabama and wrote a proposal to the Southern Regional Council for a grant of $4,224.00. The Southern Regional Council approved a grant of $1,650.00. This money used in Hale, Perry, Greene, Sumter, Marengo, Macon and Lowndes Counties. In all the counties we worked, we had some volunteer help.

The court hearing was set before we got started on our education program. It was August 9, 1966, and the court ordered the election to be set off until September 15, instead of August 16, 1966.

The ASCS County Committees, "for the most," held meetings with the farmers in Alabama while we were in Washington at the hearing.

In each of the named counties worked, the names of the farmers were listed in the paper, and we had to get the boundaries of the of the communities the best we new how. The county was divided from 5 to 11 communities. The workers were instructed to have community meetings, give lectures of the importance of voting, and ASCS benefits to the farmers. The ASCS Office sent out a new leaflet. (Exhibit C).

The men working in the field made visites to the ASCS Office for information about the election, made house to house calls, helped farmers fill out their forms, turned in complaints, and distributed leaflets to farmers about the program of the ASCS.

II. I am still trying to give some assistance to the Hale-Perry group in getting a farmer's co-op together. Since my last report, we have had two meetings. The first meeting we showed a flim from the consumers co-op association. We discussed ways we can buy seed, fertilizer, Trucks, and trucks, and tractors together. There wwere 15 men at this meeting. The c estion was raised about a market for the produce. After a lond* discussion, the group asked if we could each be looking for market. We did discuss the possibility of having processing plant, to process the food that grow.

Our second meeting was held November 3, 1966. We showed a picture of co-op. At the end of the picture, Mr. Joe Lee Hamilton, President was in *lond – (lŏnd, adj; advord - "londly") Both long and loud, as "a lond burst of machine gun fire."

It was stated in the outset that a number of farmers had lost interest in the co-op, because there were no market for their produce.

Another thing was the management of co-op poorly organized. Its a hard matter to get the Perry-Hale co-op members to meet together.

I had a long talk with one of Mr. Baker's assistants of USDA about the co-op, and got some of their people to come down and offer some support to the nearly formed co-ops of the rural south. I feel this can be a way to get the FHA involved in helping the small farmers. The USDA representative said he would look into coming and let me know.

As I see it, there are three things the co-op needs, (1) organization, (2) management, and (3) marketing.

III. Credit Unions:

I have had little time to work with credit unions. The Demopolis Credit Union is beginning to make some loans to it's members, and is adding to it's shares. The York Credit Union has received it's Charter, and has start it's savings accounts. We have worked a little with them.

We have been to Credit Union Education meetings in Greensboro, Marion, York, and Auburn, Alabama and showed Credit Union Flims at each place.

IV. Community Action Program

We have been working for almost two years trying to get a Community Action Program started in Hale and Perry Counties. It was until the White People figured we were going to get some money, that we could get them to even meet with us. We had a meeting of all Negro, to decide who we were going to have on our committee to represent the Negroes of the county. The White People had a meeting to decide who they were to have on their committee. After this, we had a joint meeting; where 20 Negroes and 20

Whites were elected to serve on the board, and I was elected to serve as vice-chariman of the board.

Our second meeting was held two weeks later to draft the by-laws of the organization charter. Only eleven whites met, and 20 Negroes met. We didn't finish our organization of the Community Action Committee as yet.

WHAT YOU SHOULD KNOW ABOUT THE ASCS* ELECTIONS IN YOUR COMMUNITY

[*Agric. Stabilization and Conservation Service of US Dept. of Agric.]

WHY IS ASCS IMPORTANT?

Because the ASCS gives out your crop allotment.

WHO CAN VOTE IN THE ASCS ELECTION?

Any man or woman who owns or rents a farm, or who is a tenant or sharecropper on someone else's farm can vote.

You do not have to be able to read and write to vote.

You do not have to be registered at the Court House to vote in ASCS.

There is no racial discrimination in this program. You can vote if you are Negro or white or any other race.

IF YOU WORK FARMS IN DIFFERENCT COMMUNITIES IN THE COUNTY, CAN YOU VOTE IN BOTH COMMUNITIES?

No. You can only vote one time. You may choose which community you want to vote in if you work two farms.

WHO CAN RUN FOR ASCS COMMITTEE ELECTIONS?

Anybody who can vote in ASCS elections can be a candidate for ASCS committeeman. But, the candidate must live in the community he is a candidate from.

HOW DO YOU RUN FOR THE ASCS COMMITTEE ELECTIONS?

There are two ways for a man or woman to have their name on the ballot:

1. One way is for the man or woman to have their name put on the ballot by the County ASCS Committee. Usually the people put on the ballot by the County ASCS Committee do not work for you. They work for the other man.

2. You can put your OWN candidates on the ballot by PETITION. That way you can be sure that they will work for you.

HOW DO YOU PUT CANDIDATES ON THE BALLOT BY PETITION?

You can make your own petition or use the one attached to this notice. All you need on the petition is a statement saying that those people who sign the petition want to nominate a person (the petition must have his whole name) as your candidate for the ASCS voters in his ASCS community.

You can sign as many petitions as you want.

Petitions must be turned into the county ASCS office at least 25 days before the day the election ballots are due at the office. In Alabama that is on the 25th of July.

WHAT IS AN ASCS COMMUNITY?

Each county is divided up by the ASCS County Committee into ASCS communities which are NOT the same as the communities people live in. They are much bigger and will include many rural communities. Sometimes they will cut a rural community in half. The ASCS County Committee is supposed to write you a letter telling you what community you are in. If you have any questions about what community you are in, you should ask at the ASCS County office.

WHAT ARE THE TWO MOST IMPORTANT STEPS TO REMEMBER IN AN ASCS ELECTION?

1. The FIRST important step in an ASCS election is to nominate YOUR OWN friends and leaders by PETITION. The easiest way to do this is by calling a meeting of farmers in your community and let the meeting decide who to nominate by petition. Then, at the meeting have the petitions signed and have someone carry them the next day to the County ASCS office. If you cannot get them signed that night, have someone carry them around the next day until you have 10 or 12 signatures.

2. The SECOND important step to remember in an ASCS election is CANVASSING.

   ASCS voting is new to many people. They will be getting letters in the mail from the ASCS Committee explaining how to vote. But they may not pay any mind to these letters since they have never voted before. It is up to you and your meeting of farmers to go around to every farmer in the ASCS community and explain to him or her how important the ASCS elections are and to see that he votes.

   One of the biggest reasons many ASCS votes are lost is because people do not sign their name correctly on the outside envelope. Your canvasser can help by showing everybody how to vote, (but of course he cannot vote for them) and be the witness who helps the voter who cannot read and write.

   Your canvasser should also explain that if you only like one or two of the men who are running as ASCS committeemen, you do not have to vote for 5 people. You can vote for only those people you trust.

IS THERE ANYTHING ELSE TO REMEMBER IN AN ASCS ELECTION?

Yes. Remember that if anybody tries to keep you from voting or tries to force you to vote for someone, or threatens you with violence or loss of credit if you vote, he is BREAKING THE LAW.

You should report all violations of the law in a simple letter to:

The Secretary of Agriculture
United States Department of Agriculture
Washington, D. C.

And the National Sharecroppers Fund can help if you will send a letter telling about your problems to:

Dear Ed:

Good news! We have an Annual Meeting speaker--Frank Smith. Don't know what kind of speaker he is or anything but after all at this date one can't really be worried about such things as that. I'm kind of relieved.

Got a question. I'm trying to decide what to ~~the~~ tell the Board Members with regard to what expenses of theirs are covered for the Board meeting on Feb. 3. I recall you saying something about this last year to the effect (I think) that at the Annual Meeting Board meeting you didn't think they were supposed to get travel since it is assumed they'd be coming to the Annual Meeting anyway. My question is--do you know what expenses they are supposed to get--just Friday meals and Friday night hotel or what? I've asked Dr. Gomillion and he doesn't recall either and I've searched thru the entire memorandum file and elsewhere and can find nothing. Do you recall what kind of meeting this decision was reached at and an approximate date? This might help me locate the information in the files.

All for now. Al's spending last nite, tonite and Thurs. nite with us--we're enjoying it. The Annual Meeting is pretty well shaped up--have all the resource people nailed down.

Are we supposed to submit a new suggested RAP budget for 1967 to SRC; whether or not we are supposed to who should prepare a tentative one and to whom should it be presented at ACHR and who at ACHR is supposed to approve it?

Thanks for letter to Joe Gannon. Great typing, huh??? Mine, that is.

Sincerely,

Bob

Fr. Brice's "deadline" been extended to end of Jan. No other news of the deal. Did SRC do anything on this?

Dear Ed:

Thanks for the short note--glad you like that gold. As long as your gonna intrude on the Annual Meeting why not make it a 100% job and plan to come to the Board meeting too? It will begin at 6:00 p.m., February 3 at the Tutweiler. It will be followed by a talk by Dr. Long of Talladega at 7:30.

We need some infor and I guess you should know this or know who at SRC can get it for us. We would like to have an organizational chart of SRC, if one is available. Also the number of SRC staff members, broken down into professional and secretarial--just the number, not the names or positions or anything else. And we'd also like to have the names of the past presidents of SRC, if such a list is readily available.

This stuff is for the presentation which the H'ville chapter is making to these city delagations who come to H'ville at the invite of AHAC as part of that Stern Family Fund program. We're explaining ACHR and SRC as part of the presentation and would like to know the above things. If the chart and the presidents thing aren't easily available, don't bother with finding out.

and rec a carbon?

And rather than send this stuff to me could you just send it to Joe Gannon, 401 Karter St., N.W., Huntsville, Alabama? Thanks much.

Sincerely,

Bob

MEMORANDUM

TO: ACHR Board of Directors

FROM: Bob Valder

SUBJECT: ACHR's new Executive Director
The Field Foundation Grant

At a meeting in Birmingham on April 20 the full Executive Committee of the Alabama Council on Human Relations interviewed five candidates for the position of Executive Director. Following the interviews with each the committee decided that the person possessing the best combination of qualifications for the directorship was Father Brice Joyce. Many of you know Brice, as he worked in Sheffield, Alabama for many years during which time he was active with both the local and state Council on Human Relations. Brice will assume the position on or near May 1, which is the effective date of my resignation.

Some of you have probably heard by now that on April 5, 1968 the Field Foundation contributed $1 million to " a few organizations which in purpose and method represent Dr. King's own constant and beautiful loyalty to the ideal of a beloved community, united in and by justice, non-violence, and love." The following represents excerpts from a letter from Dr. Leslie W. Dunbar, Executive Director of the Field Foundation.

> Confirming our wire of April 5, I enclose herewith our check for $40,000. This represents a one-time grant to the Alabama Council on Human Relations, in memory of the work and achievement of Martin Luther King, Jr.
> It is part of a larger grant made by the Foundation to this end. We thought the Alabama Council should share in it because it has always embodied and expressed convictions similar to those of Dr. King. We remember too his personal association with the Alabama Council and, of course, his historic work in the state of Alabama.
> In Making this grant, it is the hope and wish of the Foundation that it can be put immediately to use, that it will enable you over the next few critical months to enlarge significantly your efforts. We do not, of course, ask that you act hastily: only that we hope these funds can be thrown as rapidly as good judgment allows into Dr. King's cause.

At the April 20 meeting the Executive Committee decided that this $40,000 grant from the Field Foundation would not be used by the Council for operation expenses, i.e., salary, rent, etc. It was decided that we would immediately place these funds in a special savings account and that the money would be used only for projects, as ideas for projects are developed.

We are now sending to local chapter presidents the notification that local chapters may prepare and send to the state office proposals which they believe merit funding by the State Executive Committee from the $40,000. The notification to local chapter presidents emphasizes that the committee will entertain only "modest" sums of money and that these proposals will be funded on the basis of merit ( the executive committee does not envision that each chapter should expect to receive the same amount of money or even any money just because they are a local chapter--in other words one chapter might get a proposal funded which calls for much more money than a proposal which another chapter might have funded). Those local chapter projects which are funded by the Executive Committee are looked upon primarily as demonstration projects with a view to receiving additional funding from elsewhere once these projects prove their worth.

Another idea which we hope to begin working on soon is the possibility of using a small amount of the grant to hire a consultant whose job would be to write up proposals, particularly to foundations, in hopes of substantially increasing the funding of local chapter projects described in the paragraph above.

Some Race Related Deaths in the United States

(1955-1965)

These are cases involving violent death between the races in the South. The list is of course not complete; it is not restricted to cases involving civil rights. It is compiled from newspaper accounts, and in some instances, where cooperation could be obtained, reports from officials.

A Pastoral Letter
On Race and Conscience

We believe the racial problem is the most serious domestic problem facing our Nation, and it demands the attention of every citizen. The satisfactory solution of this problem rests ultimately on the conscience of the individual. It is a problem which cannot be solved by statutes and laws alone, but which requires mutual respect and cooperation in keeping with the traditions of our civilization which recognize that all men are the children of one God who should follow the great commandment: "Love thy neighbor as thyself."

Every man is our neighbor. We are obliged to love him not only in thought and word, but "in deed and in truth". We do this by trying to help him have not only what is his due from his own efforts but also what he can expect from us as his brother.

We are not obliged to love our neighbor more than ourselves. We do not have to love all men equally. But we are obliged to love everyone enough to try to make it possible for him to have equal opportunities to life, work, and improvement in this world as a preparation for the next.

The divine law to love our neighbor is binding upon all. It binds both white and Negro alike.

This concept is not easy to follow. Prejudice, custom, past injustices, both real and imaginary difficulties, are obstacles to the practice of love of our neighbor. These obstacles can incline us to intolerance and racial hatred.

We must learn to understand before we can advance very far in real charity toward our neighbor. Understanding leads to tolerance which gives us the moral strength to bear patiently those things about our neighbors, real or imaginary, which we do not like. In spite of our disposition to dislike certain things about our neighbor we can and must continually strive to treat him justly and charitably. This is the law of God. This is something we are obliged to do in spite of how we feel.

We appeal to all men of good will to take an active part in solving this moral evil by accepting not only in theory but in practice the application of the Great Commandment of love for our neighbor in our conduct toward all men regardless of race. Each individual person must contribute his share to the solution of this problem by striving for a true conscience and following it in accordance with God's law. If each individual in our area will conscientiously try to act in accordance with such a conscience, we will overcome racial hatred and promote the mutual understanding and cooperation without which little progress can be made.

We, the members of this Conference, composed of men and women of different religious faiths and of different races, pledge ourselves to strive to the best of our abilities to exemplify by our personal conduct and public actions that we believe in the commandment to love our neighbor. We appeal to the members of all congregations to ask their own consciences if there is any other course that they themselves can follow and still be consistent with what they profess.

We respectfully make this appeal that God may be glorified by the living together of all His children in that brotherly love which is the parent of justice, of peace, and of happiness.

This letter was prepared at the request of the Conference on Religion and Human Relations by the following interfaith leaders: The Most Reverend Albert L. Fletcher, Bishop of the Catholic Diocese of Little Rock; The Reverend John D. Bright, Bishop of the African Methodist Episcopal Area of Arkansas-Oklahoma; Dr. Kenneth L. Teegarden, President of the Arkansas Council of Churches; Dr. Ira E. Sanders, Rabbi Emeritus at Temple B'nai Israel.

Arkansas Council on Human Relations Looks Back on Long, Difficult Decade

By BILL LEWIS
Of the Gazette Staff

The Arkansas Council on Human Relations is approaching its 10th anniversary financially and numerically stronger than it has ever been, but faced with a job that is not as dramatic but far more difficult than before.

"The operation now is harder," said Ozell Sutton, associate director. "We have moved from outright defiance to circumvention, which is more difficult to deal with."

Despite difficulties, the Council can look back to a record of achievements — often without fanfare or credit — that probably is unequaled by any other private, non-profit organization with a minimum staff and funds.

The Council came into being as the result of efforts of the Southern Regional Council of Atlanta, which dates from the end of World War I, to stimulate groups in the Southern states that would help prepare the way for desegregation of the schools, which by the early 1950s had begun to appear an inevitability.

1955 Incorporation

The Arkansas Council, then as now affiliated with the Southern Regional Council, organized a Board in December 1954, obtained a staff in April 1955 and set up its office the next month. It was incorporated under Arkansas law as a non-profit organization in July 1955, with Fred K. Darragh Jr., Harry S. Ashmore and Rev. Charles C. Walker as incorporators.

"At that time," recalled Nat R. Griswold, the executive director, "the Council realized that Southern communities, in complying with the Supreme Court's desegregation decree, would need all of the advice they could get." But the feeling generally was that the communities would accept the ruling in good faith and comply.

The byword has long since become "transition without tragedy." In those days, he said, "we didn't think there would be tragedy. And up until 1956, things were pretty relaxed."

In Griswold's retrospective view, the Southern Manifesto quickly changed everything. It seemed to say that "maybe we don't have to desegregate after all." Governor Faubus, in answers to questions by a New York Times reporter in 1956, disclosed his own viewpoint, which essentially was one of local option compliance, and he offered the services of his administration to help carry out that viewpoint.

The fears of desegregation began to evolve, and the Council, which previously had operated quite openly, began to take less direct approaches, even in approaching officials. From that time on through the turbulent crisis years, Griswold said, the Council racked up "a long record of failures" in which many things were attempted with few achieved.

In the summer of 1957, it brought to Arkansas some education consultants from Missouri and Oklahoma to meet the school superintendents at Russellville ("It has just now desegregated," Griswold noted), Clarksville, Danville, Ola and other communities along the Arkansas River.

The object was for the superintendents who had experienced desegregation to tell those facing it what they might expect and how to go about it. As the Little Rock controversy mounted, the upriver superintendents became less willing, and their answer eventually was, "We can do it, but we won't do it without a court order."

Another Try Falis

The Council also tried at Little Rock and North Little Rock to organize conferences of teachers at which staff members from the College of Education at the University of Arkansas or other experts could offer direction on dealing with problems that would accompany the admission of Negroes to white schools. "We were always stopped at the superintendent's office," Griswold said.

While the Council advocated good-faith compliance with school desegregation orders, Griswold said, the Little Rock school administration, personified by the superintendent then, Virgil T. Blossom, was planning minimum compliance.

"Blossom was the author of the doctrine of avoidance of court defiance without the admission of Negro children in any significant numbers," he said.

The Council's most successful early effort was at Hoxie. There, the School Board, motivated more by economics than human concern, desegregated voluntarily, and after a few weeks this stirred up a hornet's nest of segregationist opposition. Board members and school officials were threatened, their homes stoned. The Board was on the verge of resigning under the pressure when the Council moved in.

"We were able also to bolster the resolution of the principal and the School Board members," Griswold said. The Board took the initiative in court and won a federal court ruling that the School Board, which administratively found it possible to desegregate but did not do that, was liable to the parents of children who were damaged by segregation. The court also enjoined the distractors from continued molestation.

Little Rock Effort

The Council was thwarted in its every effort to smooth the school desegregation path at Little Rock, Griswold said. Blossom would attend meetings but always confined his contribution to an explanation of what the Board was doing.

"When we made suggestions, he became very defensive, aggravated and disturbed," said Griswold. "He was the only one allowed to talk on this subject."

Throughout, the Council's "weapon" has been the conference table. "We have been committed from the beginning to the view that the majority and the minority could solve any problems in any community without rancor, and do it fairly," Griswold said.

An example is Pine Bluff, which he said had made considerable progress in desegregating its public accommodations largely through the Council, which established liaison between opposing factions.

At Pine Bluff, Griswold said, the Council has reached the point in public confidence where its staff talks publicly with the police chief.

Explanatory Work

From time to time, the Council also has issued statements it feels are needed to counterbalance or put in perspective pronouncements on court opinions or whatever by various groups and individuals.

Griswold and Sutton say they approach desegregation problems not from the Negro's side alone but from the standpoint of what the South — white and Negro—has lost and is losing through continuance of segregation.

"The Negro has less to lose because he doesn't have anything," said Sutton. "The South itself has everything to gain."

Sutton said the difficulties lie in the fact that Southern — and Little Rock — school and public officials have never accepted desegregation as progress" but only as "something that might have to be done."

"They're always looking for a place to stop," said Griswold.

Both agree that desegregation will come, whether now or tomorrow or another day, and that segregation continues only in the acquiescense of Negroes.

The Council tries to achieve the "transition without tragedy," and also to bring the full community into the realization of the value of harmonious living. It does this now by trying to interpret to the communities in which it operates all developments in the race relations area and to get white and Negro persons involved in projects so that by working together they get to know each other — the most effective way to integration.

Griswold thinks this will come to urban areas much more quickly than to rural communities, but it tries to tackle the rural problems as well, by holding meetings for people from rural crossroads.

What Are Goals?

What is the Council's present goal?

It might be summarized this way: "Opening doors."

The Council particularly is concerned with opening doors for job opportunities for Negroes, including urging industrial plants to declare and publish an "open" policy of employment. It also is finding itself the liaison in efforts to extend Negro opportunities in federal jobs in line with national policy.

Sutton said the Council provided a real service to industrialists who do not know where to start, who to see or what to do when they wish to begin hiring Negroes. It answers employers' questions about employe reaction to Negro co-workers. (Those with federal contracts, for example, stand in threat of losing them—and thus having to lay off white workers —unless they follow a non-discrimination hiring policy.)

Many of the approaches are through the pocketbook.

"It would be good to have the heart converted," said Sutton, "but if that doesn't work, we try something else."

Civil Rights Bill

Another area in which the Council is now at work is on public and business acceptance of the civil rights bill, which it expects to be passed.

"We're doing what we can to see that businesses will not defy the act," said Griswold. Under the law, if passed, Negroes would have a right to go wherever they wished and to be served as whites are, and Griswold said this involved a possibility of trouble.

Both the Council and business leaders want to avoid trouble, he said. Often the Council works indirectly through businessmen, who might be able to approach a small businessman whom the Council staff itself could not.

From whom does the Council draw its strength?

Always interracial, it has a 14-member executive board, with state-wide representation. Its staff includes the director, associate director and secretary. Its membership is at times "pretty low" but now numbers more than 600, and it operates in 24 communities of Arkansas.

"We have not claimed to be a mass movement or force or power and have never attempted to be," Griswold said.

Its funds come from foundation grants and from members and donations. Its budget this year is $26,000. Until last year, Griswold said, only about one-fourth of the budget had been raised locally. This increased last year to 40 per cent, representing, he thinks, a change of climate in the business community of the state.

NEWSLETTER OF THE FORT SMITH COUNCIL HUMAN RELATIONS
January 11, 1965

MEETING TO BE THURSDAY

The First Methodist Church will host this month's Human Relations Council meeting at Roebuck Chapel (200 North 15th Street) at 8:00 p.m. January 14.

Brooks Hayes, Special Advisor to the President, will present an address to the Council on civil rights. A special invitation is submitted to everyone to hear this well known Arkansan.

STATE CIVIL RIGHTS LEADERS HOLD SEMINAR

Civil rights leaders from all over the state numbered approximately 600 at the Marion Hotel in Little Rock where they gathered Dec. 7, 1964, to explore and explain provisions of the Civil Rights Bill.

Sponsored by the Arkansas State Advisory Committee to the United States Commission on Civil Rights, the seminar drew four Ft. Smith city officials: Mr. James S. Yarborough, mayor; Mr. Fred B. Hayes, sheriff; Mr. Carl Atkins, city clerk; and Mr. M. J. Fitzgerald, civil defense director, along with several Human Relations Council members to find out how they could help implementation and acceptance of the Civil Rights Bill.

As expressed by the committee, four main purposes dominated the meeting:

1. to explain the Civil Rights Law and other federal regulations.
2. to explain individual and group rights and responsibilities under the law.
3. to explore experiences of states and communities in achieving voluntary compliance with the law.
4. to explore federal, state, and local public and private programs which are of assistance to communities in prevantion or solutions of related problems.

In the morning division of the programs Mr. Brook Hayes and others were guests speakers. Afternoon workshops covered employment, public accommodations, the government's role, medical services, and education.

SCHOOL SUIT APPEALED

The school suit opposing the step-ladder plan of integrating Fort Smith schools brought to Judge Miller by Mrs. Corine Rogers and her two daughters has now been appealed to the 8th Circuit Court in St. Louis. The Court has not set a date for the hearing.

CHRISTMAS CARPENTERS REBUILD CHURCH

It took a group of college kids, two professors, and several Mississippi Negro families building a church in a muddy field to prove that a true Christmas still lives despite the commericalized one encountered on the streets.

On Christmas morning in the roofless, Ripley Antioch Baptist Church, a dedicated group gathered for prayers; but immediately after the service, Negro and white alike again grabbed saws to complete the rebuilding of the church which had burned shortly after a civil rights rally last October.

This was the present of Ohio, Massachusetts, and South Dakota college students who lived with the local Negro families while spending their holiday vacations as "Carpenters for Christmas".

Through a combination of youth, grit, and love, two races came to know each other as friends and co-workers in Mississippi. It can work in other places.

MORE ON THE CIVIL RIGHTS LAW

Divided into ten sections and a grouping of miscellaneous considerations, the Civil Rights Act of 1964 covers such areas as voting rights, desegregation of public accommodations,nondiscrimination in federally assisted projects and establishment of a community relations service to aid in settling disputes on discriminatory practices.

Most sections provide for court enforcement of their provisions or fines for the abuse of the authority concerned. The section on the Commission on Civil Rights provides for payment of commission members not otherwise on the government payroll.

In general, the bill puts in writing the fact that no person shall be denied individual rights because of his race, color, religion, or national origin. Included in these rights are the use of public facilities such as hotels, restaurants, motion picture houses, gas stations and sports arenas, and the right to attend public schools without discrimination.

Much of the 29-page bill is elaboration on court procedures and discussions in semantics since provisions must be made for many possible irregularities and for constant disagreement on the definition of such terms as "public" and "discrimination."

The longest, and probably the most discussed of the section is that on equal employment opportunity, in which it becomes necessary to define "person," "labor organization" and "commerce." Added to this section is the stipulation that no individual shall be denied right to work on the basis of sex. Again, the overall purpose of the employment section is to prevent any discrimination in hiring, grouping, organizing or classifying workers.

HUMAN RELATIONS COUNCIL MEETS

The Fort Smith Human Relations Council held its monthly meeting Nov. 17 in St. Luke's Lutheran Church. Guest speakers were Mr. Ozell Sutton, associate director of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations; Father John Clancy of St. John's Seminary in Little Rock; and Mr. Nat Griswald, executive director of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations.

Each man directed his discussion to concrete plans which could be introduced into Fort Smith. Mr. Sutton began by speaking on voter registration and the importance of job opportunities. The "separate but not equal" status of education, schools and housing was discussed by Mr. Griswald who was followed by Fr. Clancy's talk on the Church's role in integration and how to implement the public accomodations section of the bill.

HRC MEMBERS SERVE ON PANEL

Hoping to solve the mysteries of the Civil Rights Bill, Members of the Young Christians movement of St. Scholastica battered four members of the Fort Smith Human Relations Council with questions Dec. 8 in an informal panel at the Academy.

Drawing from their personal experiences, Mr. George Tyson, Mr. Carl Shelby, Mr. Speck Reynolds, and Dr. H. P. McDonald discussed all questions thrown out for nearly two hours.

Queries ranging all over the spectrum of civil rights were fired at the panelists proving that the Civil Rights Bill is badly in need of interpretation for the layman.

PANEL OF AMERICANS TO BE ON KFSA

On the following page appears an article from the Ladies Home Journal on the Panel of Americans. Special mention should be made of the Fort Smith Panel which has done outstanding work in breaking down racial barriers here. Mrs. Kenneth Cockram now announces that the Panel will have its first chance at the "television world" to explain their group's objectives and programs.

Four members representing all the women of the Panel will be interviewed on a KFSA program, "Noon on 5." At press time the exact date was not known, but the local papers will carry the news item.

JOURNAL PRESENTS ORIGIN OF PANEL OF AMERICANS

The January edition of the Lady's Home Journal carried an article concerning the origin and progress of the Panel of American Women in various cities of the U.S.

According to Samm Sinclair Baker, author of the article, it all began when Mrs. Paul Brown of Kansas City, Mo.,wanted something more than professional lecturing on local racial and religious prejudice. She wanted some action.

Four average housewives--one Negro, one Jew, one Catholic, and one white Protestant--comprised the first panel. The Panel's acceptance gave rise to a national movement aimed at promoting understanding among people of all races and religions. Members of the Panel cannot be accused of ignorance about special local problems (as many professionals are) when they speak of prejudice because they live there.

The movement has already spread from Kansas City to Little Rock, Des Moines, St. Louis, Omaha, Philadelphia, Topeka and Los Angeles. Women in other cities have asked for help in starting panels of their own.

The Lady's Home Journal article featured the problems and progress of the panel in Little Rock. Mrs. Patrick C. Murphy was the originator of the movement there. She had considerable trouble getting women to speak out, but once they were heard, the results were overwhelming. Invitations to speak at various club, church, and civic meetings came in an avalanche. To meet the demand, twenty panelists were recruited. Mrs. Murphy believes that the gains in Little Rock are definitely very substantial. Once reluctant husbands and the Arkansas Gazette agree with her.

In the opinion of Mrs. Brown, panels are effective where many other organizations fail. Women in the audience can easily identify themselves with the wives and mothers on stage; they know the panelists are not experts talking down to them; they are just neighbors discussing controversial issues. Mrs. Gloria Fleishl, moderator of the Omaha Panel of American Women, summed up the goal of each panelist when she said, "If each of us will try to befriend his neighbor and light one small ray of understanding, all our efforts together can help illuminate the dark corners of our communities, our nation, and the whole troubled world."

CATHOLIC INTERRACIAL COUNCIL ORGANIZED

Thirty Catholics concerned with the teachings of the Church with regard to interracial justice organized the first Fort Smith Catholic Interracial Council recently.

Begun under the auspices of Bishop Albert L. Fletcher, the Council has as its officers Mr. Carl Shelby, president; Mr. Charles S. Nichols, vice-president; and Mrs. Katherine Wanslow, secretary-treasurer.

Dec. 13 Negro and White Catholics were invited to attend a Mass at Immaculate Conception Church at 9:00 a.m. at which CIC members received Communion together in a body for the first time. This month the Council plans to start an exchange of visits between homes, a program to promote better understanding between the two races.

By actions similar to the above the Council strives to fulfill its main objectives: the promotion of the practice of interracial justice in Catholic organizations by familiarizing Catholics with the Church's teachings on matters of human justice and charity, the application of these principles to everyday life, and the cooperation with agencies working to strengthen better human relations.

Anyone 17 years of age or over who is interested in the work of the Interracial Council may join by contacting Sister Sabina at Crawford County Memorial Hospital in Van Buren or any one of the other officers.

KEY SECTION OF CIVIL RIGHT'S BILL DECLARED CONSTITUTIONAL

Public accommodations are without a doubt equally accessible to Negroes and Whites as of last week's Supreme Court decision. According to Time magazine, the court's decision merely reaffirmed a rule of 140 years ago but at this time "its potential impact upon the U.S. race relations was nonetheless momentous." Negroes may now travel anywhere without apprehensions about being served according to law.

KING ACCEPTS NOBEL PEACE PRIZE

"I accept this award today with an abiding faith in America and an sudacious faith in the future of mankind." Read these encouraging words of Rev. Dr. Martin Luther King's quoted from his acceptance speech for the Nobel Peace Prize in the December 18, 1964 issue of Time magazine.

DR. MARTIN LUTHER KING AND THE FBI

Doctor Martin Luther King, Jr. met for 70 minutes with FBI Chief J. Edgar Hoover in an attempt to ease the strain between the civil rights movement and the FBI.

At the outset, King said that his supposed statement warning Negroes not to report civil rights violations to the FBI, whose agents are allegedly unsympathetic to the civil rights cause, was reported inaccurately. This statement was partly the reason for Hoover calling Dr. King a "notorious liar." Hoover did not apologize but he did state that he would take action against any FBI agent who practices discrimination.

Dr. King cited the part many Southern law-enforcement officers take in the process of intimidation and expressed his hope that the civil rights movement remains non-violent.

On this topic Hoover surprised King with his knowledge of the corrupt officers and stated information on cases which were thought to be known only to the Negro leaders.

While neither man retreated, this meeting is said to have eased relations between the Negro movement and the FBI in that it led to a clearer understanding.

NEGRO STUDENTS ATTEND ARKANSAS COLLEGES

Predominantly white state-supported colleges in Arkansas are being attended by an estimated 51 Negro students this year.

Although there are few complaints concerning college acceptance, segregation rules affecting Negro students after enrollment, particularly housing regulations, incited Negro and white students to picket the U of A in December, 1962 to protest dorm segregation. In 1964 a Negro sophomore protested segregated housing and varsity athletics. Soon afterwards, the University Senate went on record for beracial athletics.

However, housing policy was not changed and in August, 1964, two Negroes sued and the University was ordered to integrate dorms.

With one exception, all private colleges in Arkansas accept Negro students if they apply and have desegrated dorms, athletics, and other facilities and activities.

According to the Southern School News, estimated enrollments at the state colleges are: U of A, 25-30; Arkansas State College, 10 or 11; Arkansas Tech, 3; Arkansas State Teachers College, 5; Henderson State Teachers College, 4; Southern State College, 4; and Arkansas A & M, 0.

SCHOOL MEN REACT TO CIVIL RIGHTS ACT

School men are openly discussing ending discrimination (segregation). This hard news is stimulated by the seriousness with which HEW seeks to implement Titles IV and VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

The Pine Bluff Commercial reported on a meeting of Southeast Arkansas school officials at Monticello, March 25, to hear and discuss "Guidelines for Southern School Desegregation" by G.W. Foster, Jr., of the Law School of the University of Wisconsin, native Arkansan and consultant for the U.S. Office of Education. The document of Mr. Foster sets out what federal authorities expect in the schools' plans for ending segregation. Much of it was printed by the Pine Bluff Commercial and was reprinted by ACHR for use of its affiliates and members.

Much of the same material was contained in an 11-page memorandum received the same week by School Superintendent E.F. Dunn of Pulaski County. It came in answer to Mr. Dunn's inquiry as why his "open door" policy was not acceptable to Washington.

Yes, public school men are discussing integration now. We think they will find what others have, that it really goes smoothly when they carefully prepare community, teachers, and students. The Civil Rights Law of 1964 provides significant help in the preparation: informational materials, specialists as consultants to school systems, training for school personnel, grants in aid.

EMPLOYMENT OFFICIAL VISITS

Fort Smith Council on Human Relations had for its meeting, March 16, Mr. Percy Williams, Special Assistant to the Executive Vice Chairman of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunity. At St. Boniface School the session dealt with the federal and national private forces working toward employment opportunities for Negroes.

Enroute Mr. Williams met informally with a group of concerned individuals at lunch at the Albert Pike in Little Rock. The dialogue around the table focussed on getting and keeping the "global" perspective on the inclusion of Negro Americans in the economic life.

NEGROES ASK FOR SCHOOL DESEGREGATION

Negro school patrons also are discussing integration, discussing it with school officials.

North Little Rock Council on Human Relations by letter and in person has urged the school board to end segregation. Pleading before the school board John W. Smith, building contractor chairman of the committee on education, declared "we are here not because we want to be here but because we have to be here...to ask you to declare tonight that these schools are open on a non-discriminatory basis... we can't afford any law suit... We shouldn't spend the tax payers' money on a lawsuit that has already been won."

The Sullivan High School PTA (Negro) at Morrilton has petitioned the school board to open the new high school to all in September. That board has announced it has submitted a plan of compliance with the Civil Rights Act, but would not announce policy changes until it receives approval from Washington for its plan.

The Negro patrons of Pulaski County School District have used a newly formed PTA Council to compile complaints for HEW about continued inequities and discrimination.

Negro patrons of Conway District in a paid advertisement asked the school board to declare its policy about including students of Pine Street School in the new high school now being built. The board has affirmed its intention to comply with the Civil Rights Act but will wait for approval of its plans by Washington before making them public.

Negro patrons and the local council on human relations in Jonesboro are meeting this week (March 16) with the school board there concerning its plans for compliance.

GUIDELINES FOR SOUTHERN SCHOOLS

Attorney William Foster's "Guidelines for Southern School Desegregation" clearly defines the two acceptable approaches to plans, "geographic attendance zones" (non-overlapping) and "freedom of choice." The latter approach is "perhaps no more than a transitional device" that "will give way to unitary (geographic) zoning."

He also emphasizes that at this late date "freedom of choice" cannot be applicable to only one or two grades. The least to be expected is that it will include both the beginning grades and some secondary levels.

Mr. Foster warns of the necessary safeguards of all plans based on either approach. They should plot the timetable for completing the process in cluding integration of faculties.

Mr. Foster's emphasis on speeding up the process of desegregation is underscored by a decision of the Fifth U.S. Circuit Court of Appeals in which it laid down the principle: "The later the start the shorter the time allowed for transition." The court ruled that two Georgia counties must complete desegregation by 1968. This decision ruled against plans of the boards which would have completed the process by 1972.

ARKANSAS' SHARE IN EDUCATION PROGRAM

Education Commissioner A.W. Ford estimates Arkansas will receive two million dollars from the federal education program aimed to help children of families receiving less than $2000 annually. This he said on February 11 is a great incentive for districts to desegregate so they may share in this new aid. Mr. Ford indicated that he believes a majority of the 412 Arkansas school districts will comply this year with the Civil Rights Act.

FEDERAL ASSISTANCE ON DESEGREGATION

"Assistance on Special Education Problems Occasioned by School Desegregation" is the title of a folder distributed by the U.S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare to all school officials. It gives in detail consultant services and grants available to local schools.

ACHR is securing copies for use of local groups and committees who are advising with school officials about programs of preparation for desegregation. Ask for yours.

PULASKI COUNTY COMMUNITY ACTION

Title II of the Economic Opportunity Act of 1964 (Anti-Poverty) concerns "Community Action Programs."

The "Discussion Guide" stresses the "desir ability of broadly based agencies and programs." "...preference will be extended to agencies...providing the wide participation of existing organizations and agencies..."

Pulaski County furnishes a suggestive illustration of this "broadly-based" agency for developing and guiding a program. These were the essential steps and resulting agency:

1. The Health and Welfare Council volunteered as the agency to initiate plans for community action.

2. Little Rock, North Little Rock, Jacksonville and Pulaski County officially designated the Health and Welfare Council as the agency for this purpose.

3. The Board of HWC accepted the proposal that it establish a "division" similar to its other divisions called the Division on Economic Opportunity.

4. This division would have wide representation (actually 70 persons now) with a racial proportion approximating the ratio of Negro to white poor, 40 to 60 per cent in the county.

5. Organizations related to HWC were asked to submit nominees for the Division. Many did so.

6. The 70 persons named have been placed on functioning committees. The chairmen of these form an Executive Committee with the head of the Division named by the Board of HWC.

7. An early act of the Division was application to the OEO for a sizeable study grant for employment of a Director and staff to develop the Community Action Program under the Division.

8. The staff begins work on April 1.

There is reason to believe that Director Sargent Shriver will give ready preference to good action programs that are integrated at every level and in every phase. Effective programs with the poor cannot be otherwise.

STAFF CHANGES

Ruth Arnold, Secretary and Program Assistant, of ACHR, goes to a position in the local Economic Opportunity Program on April 1. Mrs. Carole I. Taylor of Little Rock will become office secretary on April 1.

LEVITTOWN, PA., 1965

The Junior Chamber of Commerce here presented its first distinguished service award to a Negro last night.

Levittown was the scene of nine nights of racial violence when the color barrier fell in 1957.

The thirty-three-year-old recipient, Henry Ford, was chosen outstanding young man of 1964 for his "untiring efforts in working with the children" at the Community Center.

WAR ON CRIME

"The deep lawlessness of the Alabama authorities in Selma has provided a lurid background to the opening of the President's campaign against crime. A society in which the legally constituted authorities use violence to deprive citizens of their lawful rights of assembly and petition is not likely to make much headway against private crime. For the indispensable condition of law and order is that law and order prevail, and in Alabama be restored, within the lawful government."

- from Walter Lippmann

A BAPTIST PASTOR STANDS UP

"According to a Baptist press release a Mississippi pastor, Chester A. Molpus, has resigned after 21 years as pastor of First Church, Belzone, because of friction with members of the church over race attitudes. A proposal from the deacons to the congregation would have made racial segregation the official policy. In his church bulletin the pastor is reported to have stated following this action:

'I have arrived at the place where I, for my part, will not deny to a Negro who desires it the privilege of worshipping in the same church building with me. I cannot, for the life of me, imagine Jesus standing on the church steps and turning a man away because of the color of his skin!"

ACHR PASSES RESOLUTIONS

ACHR's Board on March 6 passed two resolutions in accord with the "Position Paper" adopted at the annual meeting. These recommended (1) That the Arkansas School for the Blind and the Arkansas School for the Deaf "open their facilities to all students with these handicaps" and that the Colored School for the Blind and Deaf be duscontinued; (2) That all patients with tuberculosis be treated at the Arkansas Tuberculosis Sanatorium at Booneville which has adequate space and that the McRae Sanatorium be used for the continued treatment of the severely mentally handicapped.

COMPLAINTS ABOUT DISCRIMINATION

Reports continue to reach ACHR's office of discrimination in public accommodations. Use of our forms for such complaints helps keep the record straight and assures reaching the proper federal officials. Please ask for them.

NEWSLETTER OF THE FORT SMITH
COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
March, 1965

ANNOUNCEMENTS:

Percy Williams, a member of the President's Committee on Equal Employment Opportunities, Washington, D.C., will be the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Human Relations Council for March.
Date: March 16, 1965
Place: St. Boniface Catholic Church Auditorium, 210 N. 18th St.
Hour: 8:00 P.M.

COMPLAINT OF VIOLATION (Civil Rights Act of 1964) forms are now available through our local council; the completed forms will be sent to the Arkansas Council on Human Relations office in Little Rock. The state council will send the original to Washington, will keep a copy on file, and will send another copy back to us for our files. These forms should be utilized; direct redress to Washington is assured by them.

---

Ralph Creger, the author of A Look Down The Lonesome Road, will speak to the Unitarian Fellowship at the Fellowship House, March 21, at 11 A.M.

---

The Panel of Americans will speak to members of several Methodist churches of the Van Buren area at St. John's Methodist Church in Van Buren on Sunday evening, the 21st of March.

CONCERN I

At the February meeting of the Fort Smith Council on Human Relations Steering Committee, an area of vital concern in the coming months was discussed--school desegregation. The Steering Committee suggests the Council ameliorate the dissensions and problems occasioned by a larger scale desegregation in Fort Smith in the following ways:

--assess the experiences of Negro students (and their parents) who are already students in formerly all-white schools.

--promote exchange visits between the parents and children of the white and Negro communities who will actually be involved in desegregated classrooms for the first time this September.

--secure organizations and individuals who will tutor all students who need assistance in making the transition.

--support seminars or an institute for teachers who will be teaching in newly desegregated schools.

If larger-scale desegregation of Fort Smith public schools is to be peaceable an and enduring, reconciliation must be effected before the widely-mentioned "mass movement" to the southside becomes a reality.

CONCERN II

The Catholic Interracial Council, at its March meeting, decided to invite representatives from businesses which have fair employment practices and integrated services to speak on a panel at the April meeting of the council. It is hoped that frank and open discussion will help to allay the fears of Catholic businessmen who will be involved in desegregation, and serve to implement acceptance and compliance with the Civil Rights Act. The Catholic Interracial Council was authorized to write Bishop Fletcher asking him to begin thinking of desegregating St. John's Catholic school here in Fort Smith. Pilot groups of students, both white and Negro, will be started under the Council guidance to work in the areas of creative dramatic and visual arts, summer reading improvement programs, and etiquette training programs for eighth-grade students entering high school this fall. The Catholic schools will be urged by the Catholic Interracial Council to integrate their scouting programs; the children at St. John's school will be encouraged to participate in Girl's Club and Boy's Club and to join the Red Cross Summer Swimming Classes.

CONCERN III

Arkansas college students and other interested persons will spend April 17-24 (Easter vacation time) living with Mississippi families in white communities while helping to rebuild burned Negro churches in Mississippi.

An Arkansas Committee of Concern has been established on the University of Arkansas campus to recruit students and raise about $2000 to finance the project. Members of the committee are Jamie L. Jones, Jr. of the Baptist Student Center; Dr. Gordon P. McNeil, sponsor of the Channing Club; Miss Arla Elston, Disciple campus minister; Rev. Canon George M. Small, Episcopal chaplain of the University; Dr. Jacob Sacks, faculty sponsor of the Hill Club; Rev. Jim Loudermilk, Methodist campus pastor; and Rev. George Gunn, Presbyterian university pastor. A similar committee in Mississippi is contacting families in Mississippi to secure invitations for persons who want to help rebuild a burned church and share in dialogue with Mississippians of good will who live within the white community and may perhaps be encouraged to influence the Mississippi power structure. If you are interested and would like further information, contact the Arkansas Committee of Concern, 814 East Maple Street, Fayetteville, Arkansas

OTHER ANNOUNCEMENTS

In April the Panel of Americans will speak at St. Joseph's School on April 8 (Paris, Arkansas) and to the Women's Society of Christians Service of the 1st Methodist Church of Fort Smith on April 20th.

Mrs. Esther Brown of Kansas City, Mo., who has organized the Panel of American groups all over the nation, will be in Fort Smith March 17 to adress the local Panel of Americans.

---

The Southwest Regional meeting of the United States Commission on Civil Rights will meet in Dallas on March 26. Discussion will be centered on the role of the State Advisory Committees in Implementing the Civil Rights Act; particular attention will be given to Title 6. (Programs Supported by Federal Funds). Efforts will be made to co-ordainte the work of the State Advisory Committees of the several states in the southwest region. Mrs. H. P. McDonald of Fort Smith, a member of the Arkansas Advisory Committee, will attend the conference.

MONEY VS. MORALITY

With school bells in September came a quickened pace of desegregation across our state. All but a handful of our 512 school districts filed desegregation plans acceptable to officials of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare. Again, the almighty dollar of Uncle Sam has spoken with a decisiveness and a result unequalled by arguments of morality.

It is not known at this time just how many Negro students are enrolled in formerly all white schools. No doubt statistics on this will be published later. Many of the desegregation plans approved by H.E.W. are woefully inadequate to the needs of the individual communities. This is to be regretted. However, integration is now an established fact in nearly all our biracial districts. This fact renders invalid forever the contention that first we must change the heart before changing the actions of an individual. No, you cannot legislate the hearts of people, (Christianity has been working at this for 2,000 years.) but you can legislate their action. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 has done that.

WORDS WORTH PONDERING

The philosopher Morris R. Cohen supports the above contention thusly: "There can be no doubt that when men are stimulated by sympathy or intelligent regard for the welfare of their fellowmen, the ugly phases of social conflict recede; and it would be folly to insist that preaching of brotherly love through the ages has had no effect whatsoever. But to rely on this as a complete solution, and not to inquire as to when such teachings are applicable is a form of irresponsible sentimentality."

SALUTE TO MRS. GORDON (JEAN)

The Newsletter salutes Mrs. Frank (Jean) Gordon, Secretary to the Board of ACHR, upon her election to the Little Rock School Board. Jean won the September 28 election with a majority (7,350) over two opponents, Mr. Ed McCuiston and Mr. Ed Riley.

SALUTE TO MRS. GORDON (JEAN) cont'd

John W. Smith, Chairman of the Education Committee of the North Little Rock Council on Human Relations, lost his bid for a position on the North Little Rock School Board.

HERE AND YONDER ON THE EDUCATION FRONT

Although desegregation is reported to have gone smoothly generally over the state, some problems are present in a few areas. Approximately 200 Negro students were jailed recently in Forrest City for demonstrating at the white high school. The students, led by SNCC workers were dramatizing the inequalities existing between the white high school and Lincoln High for Negroes. School officials expelled the demonstrating youngsters, but reinstated them after a conference with some state and community Negro leaders.

A bus load of Negro high school students from Gould demonstrated recently at the Federal Building in Little Rock. They and several adult advisors were protesting HEW's approval of the desegregation plan of this little south Arkansas cotton town. Again, to demonstrate inequalities seemed to be the central point. The W.O. Fields High School for Negroes is in extremely poor condition. Its general setting is not condusive to good education with its "out houses", etc. School officials say the out houses now flush, a noted improvement. This school, by the way, is the alma mater of the Associate Director.

WORDS OF WISDOM

What is required of thee but to do justly, but to love mercy, and to walk humbly before thy God. -- Micah 6:8

Justice and power must be brought together, so that whatever is just may be powerful and whatever is powerful may be just. -- Pascal

The primary duty of organized society is to enlarge the lives and increase the standard of living of all the people. -- Herbert Hoover

HEADSTART

ACHR was sponsor of Headstart programs in three cities this summer. A warm and rewarding experience was reported by all involved in the program. Each city program had a local sponsoring group that administered it. The three cities and their enrollment included: Hot Springs, 94; Conway, 65; and Fort Smith, 115. Headstart was one of the most meaningful programs of ACHR under the supervision of the Executive Director.

S.O.S.

The initials, S.O.S., are recognized throughout the world as signalling conditions of distress. ACHR is distressful because a large number of its members are delinquent in their dues. Dues from our members make up a large portion of the budget. When money from dues is short of expectation, program cut back is the result. You will agree, I am sure, that the time is now ripe for a more meaningful extension of program. So, if you are among those who have not paid dues for 1965, get your check in the mail today.

CONFERENCE OF ARKANSAS CHURCHMEN

ACHR in its continuing effort to inform and commit more people co-sponsored with the Conference on Religion and Race a one day seminar for ministers and lay church leaders. The Conference of Arkansas Churchmen was held at the First Methodist Church and the Albert Pike Hotel, September 30.

Rev. Colbert S. Cartwright was a principal speaker. You remember Bert as a long time ACHR Board member and an organizer of the Conference on Religion and Race. Bert is now minister of the Central Christian Church, Youngstown, Ohio. Also speaking at the Conference was Dr. T. B. Maston, Professor Emeritus of Christian Ethics, Southwestern Baptist Seminary. Dr. Maston is the author of several books including: The Christian in a Modern World; Christianity and World Issues; and The Bible and Race.

HEAR YE THIS!

Last year members of the staff participated in several "cultivation sessions" with our members in a number of cities. Members just invited some of their friends and neighbors to a cup of coffee and a discussion with a staff member about human relations problems in general and the work of

HEAR YE THIS! (cont'd)

ACHR. The staff views these sessions as an excellent way of informing and commiting people. Why don't you get together a group in your community and invite one or both of us to come?

A SUCCESS STORY

Some time ago, ACHR started trying to persuade the officials of the Blind and Deaf schools to the wisd of desegregating. The Negro School for the Blind and Deaf was inferior, without question, to the white Blind and Deaf schools. The opening of school this September brought with it complete integration. All of the Negro children are now attending the formerly all white Blind and Deaf Schools. As an example to the rest of the state, 11 of 14 Negro teachers from the Negro school now hold staff positions in the desegregated schools.

WHITES CONTENT -NEGROES DISCONTENT

Concerned persons in human relations are not the least surprised by a recent Gallup poll's finding that a vast majority of Negroes are dissatisfied with their lot in life. There should be no element of surprise in the fact that whites are generally satisfied with their situation.

Actually, no poll was necessary to reveal Negro dissatisfaction. Selma, Los Angeles and Chicago say it best. However, the Gallup poll findings make interesting reading. The interviewers asked Negroes and whites if they were generally satisfied or dissatisfied with, 1) their family income; 2) housing conditions; 3) education children are receiving; and 4) work they do.

Family income: 69% of whites were satisfied; only 30% of Negroes were satisfied.

Housing: 77% of whites say their housing is satisfactory, while 67% of Negroes are dissatisfied with their housing conditions.

Education: 77% of whites are satisfied with the education their children are receiving today. About one half of the Negroes are satisfied.

Work: Nearly nine whites in ten (87%) say that they are content with their work. Only 48% of Negroes are content with their jobs.

STATISTICAL REASONS FOR DISSATISFACTION

The questions is raised among many well meaning whites as to why so much malcontent among Negroes exists amid genuine progress in Civil Rights. Well, maybe the following statistics will help in understanding: the unemployment rate for adult Negro males is up from 5.9% to 6.5%; for adult females unemployment is up from 7.8% to 8.8%. Nonwhite unemployment (adult male, adult female, and youth) is now 9.1%, more than double that for whites.

Walter Heller, chairman of the President's Council of Economic Advisors, described their plight aptly when he noted that "If a man stands with his left foot on a hot stove and his right foot in a freezer, the statisticians would say that, on an average, he's comfortable."

JUST A JEST OR SO.

The New Order: A mistress engaging a new maid said, "Mary, we have breakfast promptly at 8 a.m." The new maid replied, "All right, m'am. But if I'm not down don't wait!"

ALBERT SCHWEITZER

The following are excerpts from SATURDAY REVIEW editorial, "What Matters about Schweitzer"

The main point about Schweitzer is that he helped make it possible for twentieth-century man to unblock his moral vision. There is a tendency in a relativistic age for man to pursue all sides of a question as an end in itself, finding relief and even refuge in the difficulty of defining good and evil. The result is a clogging of the moral sense, a certain feeling of self-consciousness or even discomfort when questions with ethical content are raised. Schweitzer furnished the nourishing evidence that nothing is more natural in life than a moral response, which exists independently of precise definition, its use leading not to exhaustion, but to new energy.

Thus, Schweitzer's main achievement was a simple one. He was willing to make the ultimate sacrifice for a moral principle. Like Gandhi, the power of his appeal was in renunciation. And because he was able to feel a supreme identification with other human beings he exerted a greater force than armed men on the march.

He reached countless millions who never saw him but who were able to identify themselves with him because of the invisible and splendid fact of his own identification with them.

Schweitzer's aim was not to dazzle an age but to awaken it, to make it comprehend that moral splendor is part of the gift of life, and that each man has unlimited strength to feel human oneness and to act upon it.

Man's resources do not exist outside him. His responses must come from within. A thinking and feeling man is not a helpless man. The sense of paralysis proceeds not so much out of the mammoth size of the problem but out of the puniness of purpose.

KOINONIA FARM, Americus, Ga.
Price list effective Sept. 15, 1965, subject to change without notice.

Here is a list of Koinonia Products for 1965. We have kept the price as low as possible consistent with high quality. We do not go in for fancy packaging. catalogs, etc. Most of you are our personal friends and we don't have the heart to charge you high prices for dime-store tinsel. Nothing is packed in decanters, jewel boxes or shaving mugs. We sell only good products, and that's all we charge you for. The odd weights of some of our items (e.g., fruit cakes, 2 lbs. 13 oz. net weight) is not to mislead you, but is carefully planned that way in order to save on postage. If we had made the cake an even 3 lbs net weight, its shipping weight would have been 3 lbs. 3 oz. and we would have to pay postage on a full four pounds. As it is, we pay on three.

Prices are postpaid except on orders going west of New Mexico, Colorado, Wyoming and the Dakotas. On these, add 10¢ per lb on orders under 25 lbs; 5¢ per lb over 25 lbs. For all foreign orders, add 90¢ for the first two lbs; 35¢ for each additional pound.

Volume 10, No. 5 NEWSLETTER December 1965

SEQUEL TO GOULD STORY

In the last newsletter we reported on a demonstration before the Federal Building in Little Rock of high school students and adults from Gould protesting inequalities in schools. On November 24 before Judge Gordan E. Young at Little Rock Federal Court these facts were made clear:

The PTA of Field High School (Negro) has been ordered by school officials to cease meeting at the school.

The Field High School is unaccredited by any agency.

The Negro teachers' salary scale averages $500 less than the white teachers'.

"There is space for a library at the school," Superintendent Sage.

The students of Field High School have been charged an enrollment fee.

Field School has no vocational agriculture program.

The Negro schools have no hot lunch program.

GAZETTE COMMENTS ON GOULD CASE
(November 27, 1965)

"Nor was any firm evidence adduced even in the court testimony that anybody on the Gould School Board or any of the professionals in the administration of the Gould School District consciously set about to deprive the Negro children of their rightful share of the District's admittedly limited funds. Perhaps somebody did think of it in just those terms, but the likelier explanation is that nobody ... consciously thought about the Negro children of the District, a majority, in any terms." (Emphasis ours)

If we may be permitted to editorialize on an editorial: the affirmative action by school officials required to give Negro children the same opportunity in school as white children will come only when school administrators from the state to the local district level simply see all the children in a given district as their happy responsibility to educate, fully mindful of the exceptional requirements of those crippled by past neglect. With some justification we Southerners claim our disposition is like our climate, warm and outgoing. Now like our climate our warm concern must blanket all our children. Given proximity of teachers and pupils it just might!

TWO SPECIAL REPORTS FROM SRC

Here are some excerpts:

Southern Justice, an Indictment, (31 pages)

"From the sit-in demonstrations of 1960 through the spring of 1965, at least 26 Negro and white civil rights workers died at the hands of racists in the South. Only one of the assailants was sentenced to prison, and he for 10 years. During the same period 'justice' was dispensed in double measure when white men were slain by Negroes. Two white segregationists died in the aftermath of racial demonstrations. Four Negroes went to prison, one of them for life.

"Dual justice survives because Presidents continue to treat federal judgeships as political rewards and pacifiers. It survives because the Justice Department fails to exercise the power that it has to correct abuses. ... It survives through a built-in discrimination in the selection of juries, state and federal, and through the ill-concealed contempt of many courts and police officers for the rights of Negro citizens.

"Despite the fact that more than half of all convicted rapists are white, 87% of all persons executed for rape between 1930 - 1963 were Negroes convicted and sentenced by Southern courts.

"Once the Negro is under arrest, he enters a world that is almost totally white, and every person he encounters could mean trouble.

"Nothing less than a public outcry against dual justice is needed, coupled with a specific program to eliminate some of the most flagrant abuses.

"There is a desperate need for national and Southern bar associations to begin enforcing their ethical codes in a manner which will guarantee that Negroes will be able to choose from a broad range of attorneys."

School Desegregation: Old Problem under New Law:

"The disturbing fact is that the federal government, with all its vast resources, had not obtained the number of Negro children enrolled in formerly white schools by mid-October, 1965.

"At no time since 1954 has less factual information on school desegregation existed.

"The truth is that nearly 95% of the South's Negro pupils still are trapped in segregated and unequal schools.

"The tendency of the Office of Education (U.S.) to assume otherwise -- to expect normal forthrightness and good faith in the 'voluntary' compliance -- is perhaps its largest strategic error so far.

"There would have been no need for Congress to enact legislation if there had been any validity to the highly desirable premise that most school systems would (or could) act in good faith.

"When it became clear, for example, that 'freedom of choice' plans would be acceptable, most school systems took this plan.

"Contrary to the goals of the guidelines, choice of schools was not free for most Negroes. To many school officials, it seems to have meant a free choice to exclude Negro pupils for specious reasons, including 'bad manners,' 'bad character,' 'poor record,', etc.

"The 'freedom of choice' concept (as practiced) should not be accepted on face value as a method of achieving desegregation in the South.

"School Superintendents, if placed in the position of demonstrating to the satisfaction of federal agencies that funds are being spent without regard to race, would be found encouraging Negroes to attend formerly white schools in many instances.

"The responsibility to eliminate segregation rests with the school authorities and is not satisfied by rules and practices which shift the burden of removing discrimination to the class or classes of persons previously discriminated against."

MISTAKEN IDENTITY

Ozell Sutton, coming out last behind Dr. Townsend and Nat Griswold from the jet in Memphis, received a courteous go-first bow from a white passenger, who added: "How are you, Dr. King?" "Just fine," replied the confused Sutton.

HIGHLIGHTS ON LOCAL COUNCILS

North Little Rock. Mr. W. H. Williams was elected President of the Council succeeding the Rev. Donald Lightfoot who is working full-time with the Arkansas Youth Opportunity Center.

The Council is seeing favorable results from its activities in the recent school election, in which it supported millage increase but advocated spending the money for a new high school and making Jones a junior high school. Now two board members actively support this position and Superintendent Wright released a letter from Peabody Research Center to the effect that a new high school would be recommended. Much credit for the brighter outlook is due Mr. John W. Smith, Chairman of the Education Committee of the Council and recent candidate for the School Board.

Monticello. Dr. W. H. Townsend, vice chairman of ACHR, was guest speaker at an informal conference of citizens on November 10. His topic was ACHR, its work and the value of membership in it. The group decided to investigate and encourage formation of a Community Action Program against poverty. Director Nat Griswold accompanied Dr. Townsend in Mrs. Townsend's car!

Fort Smith. On October 19 Fort Smith formally reorganized its Council. Some 35 citizens including the city's mayor made it a broadly representative group which adopted a constitution and elected officers. George Tyson presided for his last time since he has gone to Baltimore with the Social Security Administration. The wrong people leave the state!

Fayetteville. A very successful Annual Meeting on October 20 focused on poverty in Washington County.

LOCAL COUNCILS (Cont'd)

The panel arranged and chaired by Edwin Greenebaum included the County School Supervisor and Fayetteville's Assistant Superintendent, in addition to Mrs. Lona Benedict, Mr. Bobby Lee Morgan, and Nat Griswold.

The subsequent newsletter from Fayetteville reports affirmative steps by county and city, public and private groups, to establish a Community Action Committee against poverty -- steps prompted by the Fayetteville Community Relations Association and Mr. Greenebaum's committee.

Jonesboro. The Council has been active on behalf of the school success of the more than 50 Negro students in previously white schools. Members, also, participated in a "first" interracial and interchurch Thanksgiving community service.

Colleges. The University Council on Human Relations is organized and sent sixteen memberships to ACHR. David Lyon, President, and Ann Valliant, Vice President, were at the Annual Meeting of the Fayetteville Community Relations Association. Keith Petersen is the advisor to the Council, by appointment of ACHR's Board. Ann Valliant has had responsibility in planning for the holiday "Conference on Meaningful Democracy" at Fayetteville. Sponsors were "Students for a University" and the Southern Student Organizing Committee.

Students at Little Rock University have organized a Council and have received press notice for their work on behalf of a fair deal for Brent Davis, dismissed professor of speech at A & M College. The members are also active in the sponsorship of a series of public lectures dealing with current issues.

ANNUAL ROUND-UP AT SRC

Arkansas had outstanding representation at the Annual Meeting of SRC, November 14-15: James E. Youngdahl, Dr. W. H. Townsend, Fr. Walter Clancy, Ozell Sutton, and Nat Griswold. Bill Becker, President of the Arkansas Council of AFL-CIO was elected a new member of SRC at this sesssion.

These changes in SRC staff were announced: Ed Stanfield, Presbyterian clergyman and native Arkansan, Executive Director of Alabama Council on Human Relations, will become Director of Field Services on January 1; Ed Lewis, Executive Director of the Florida Council on Human Relations, becomes Executive Assistant to Paul Anthony, with responsibility for raising funds;

SRC ANNUAL MEETING (Cont'd)

Emery Via has joined the staff to carry out a program of education of organized labor; Mr. Morland Smith, distinguished Birmingham architect, will head a new department of Urban Planning. Both the last programs will be funded from a large grant to SRC from the Ford Foundation.

WENDELL PHILLIPS

A recommended book, Wendell Phillips on Civil Rights and Freedom, relates how Phillips once lectured in Cincinnati against slavery at the same time a ministers' convention was in session. The next morning when Phillips boarded a train, an irate clergyman pointed a finger at him and cried in a loud voice:

"Are you trying to free the niggers?"

"Yes sir, I am an abolitionist."

"Well, why do you preach your doctrines up here? Why don't you go there?", pointing toward Kentucky across the river.

"Excuse me," said Wendell Phillips, "are you a preacher?"

"I am,sir."

"Are you trying to save souls from hell?"

"Yes, sir, that is my business."

"Well, sir, why don't you go there?"

OUT OF THE MOUTHS OF BABES...

From A Child's Garden of Misinformation, Harry Fleischman gleaned these juicy samples:

"Armistice is when countries signed a treaty and said they would never fight again, but they did."

"A prejudiced person is one who doesn't believe in the same things we do."

"A person who starts something is called a founder or trouble maker."

F.D.R., JR. OF EEOC

Franklin D. Roosevelt, Jr., chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission said that"EEOC was asking management for more than fair hiring practices; we are suggesting creative recruiting policies that actually seek out qualified employees among minority groups. If they do not come boldly to the table from which they have been barred for so long, then let them be invited and welcomed."

Mr. Harold Howe, II
Commissioner of Education
U.S. Office of Education
Department of Health, Education & Welfare
Washington, D. C. 20202

Dear Mr. Howe:

Attached is a Statement of Position and Concern of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations relative to desegregation in education in Arkansas. The statement is self-explanatory and addressed to you because the responsibility under the Civil Rights Act of 1964 to effectuate genuine and meaningful desegregation rests with the Office of Education.

The Arkansas Council on Human Relations is an interracial organization working in the broad field of equal opportunity. The Statement of Position and Concern was authorized by the Board of Directors in its January 8, 1966 meeting.

Sincerely,

/s/ Ozell Sutton
Associate Director

Enclosure

"No person in the United States shall on the ground of race, color or national origin, be excluded from participation in, be denied the benefits of, or be subjected to discrimination under any program or activity receiving federal financial assistance." These words constitute the heart of Title VI of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 which forbids racial segregation and discrimination in federally financed programs.

With passage of the Civil Rights Act of 1964 came the hope, the expectation that the burden of school desegregation was at last about to be lifted from the shoulders of Negro children and their parents. It was thought that the responsibility for desegregation was about to be placed where it belongs, on the backs of school officials. Negroes in Arkansas were led to hope once again that equality of opportunity in education was within reach.

That hope, that expectation had been visited upon the Negro before. Ten years earlier he won a historic Supreme Court decision which declared "racial segregation in public education unconstitutional." It was thought then that racial segregation in public education had but a short time to live. It was instead the legitimate hopes and aspiration of the Negro for an education free of discrimination that were to be short lived. For Arkansas joined the rest of the South in amassing a campaign against desegregation seldom to be equalled in history. Mass resistance and legal circumvention became the marching orders of all the South. It is important to note here that the official attitude in Arkansas at first was to comply with the court's edict. The then governor of Arkansas,Francis Cherry, made a public statement relative to the decision placing the state on record for compliance. "We in Arkansas are law abiding citizens and we will obey the law," said Cherry. There was little or no opposition in the state at first to "abiding by the law", for officials and laymen resigned themselves to what they thought had to be done.

Later political and legal developments, however, gave encouragement to those forces opposed to desegregation. They soon learned that the "law of the land" was not going to be resolutely enforced. In fact, they discovered that they could disobey the spirit and intent of the 1954 decision with complete impunity. The time the Supreme Court in its 1955 decision had allowed for "good faith compliance" was instead used to devise methods of circumvention and defiance.

I recite this bit of historic insight only to remind those in authority at the Office of Education, Department of Health, Education and Welfare that Arkansas school officials look upon delay as weakness -- a lack of the necessary resolution to insist upon meaningful desegregation. Again, the time is not being used to solve the problem, but to circumvent both the intent of the 1954 Supreme Court decision and the Civil Rights Act of 1964.

School officials in Arkansas have shown no inclination to abandon the dual system. They are not convinced that HEW is going to be resolute in insisting upon this. These officials, under "freedom of choice" will simply allow those Negro children who are brave enough to transfer to white schools to do so. This will leave the segregated structure still intact.

Should this occur, and this can only be the end result of freedom of choice, the legtimate hopes of the Negroes in Arkansas will again be frustrated. That which was conceived in 1954, fed and nurtured in 1964 will be doomed to still birth or miscarriage. History is full of examples of what can be expected when people are led to hope and this hope dies unborn -- when the avenues to fulfillment are closed to their legtimate aspirations.

Pursuant to its longstanding commitment to equality of opportunity in education, the Arkansas Council on Human Relations has sought constantly the elimination of all forms of segregation. Since 1954 ACHR, the only biracial statewide organization in Arkansas, has worked diligently to focus attention on integration as the "most compelling unfinished business in education" Arkansans and Americans face today. We address the officials of the Office of Education now because the issue is critical and you hold the key to its resolution.

Twelve years have passed since the U.S. Supreme Court first held racial segregation in public education unconstitutional. Eleven years has elapsed since the 1955 Supreme Court's decision on the "how" of desegregation. The Civil Rights Act of 1964 is now almost two years in history. Yet only 6,217 Negro children (about 5% of the 110,755 enrolled in Arkansas schools) are reaping the benefits of a desegregated education. Even the 6,217 figure is the most liberal one that can be projected since it represents the total given by superintendents who seek to look as good on paper as possible. How long will HEW allow thousands of Arkansas Negro children to carry into adulthood and careers of work the demoralizing, dehumanizing and debasing consequences and crippling effects of a segregated education?

The Arkansas Council on Human Relations, burdened by its moral responsibility for equal educational opportunity and its commitment to the values of a desegregated education, wishes to make the following urgent plea to the Office of Education of the Department of Health, Education, and Welfare:

1. Abandon "Freedom of Choice" as a Method of Desegregation in Arkansas' Schools.

It is plain for all who would see that freedom of choice is not and cannot become a true instrument through which complete integration can be facilitated. Freedom of choice has failed to bring necessary and desired results in Arkansas, and since freedom of choice places the burden of desegregation on the Negro alone, it cannot be expected to bring more than "token" integration in most school districts. We ask HEW officials to recognize these freedom of choice plans for what they really are -- endless schemes of circumvention. They are vociferous engagements in chicanery, latently and patently designed to reduce to the barest minimum the number of Negro and white students who will come to know each other as fellow human beings.

Racial segregation is antithetical to democracy. To permit its continuation and cultivation under the so-called freedom of choice is a blatant repudiation of the root ideas of democracy -- equality and justice.

Nowhere in our society is racial segregation more destructive in its effects than in public schools. The very object of our public educational system is to lead children to develop their capacities to the highest and most satisfying degree and to prepare them to live harmoniously and effectively in a multi-cultural and multi-color world. The fostering of mutual respect among people of different ethnic and racial backgrounds is best promoted in a culturally and racially integrated setting. Racial integration and quality education are therefore mutually complementary and interdependent. An integrated school system is an essential component of good education.

We know we need not convince you of the logic of this position. We do feel compelled, however, to pass on to you the urgency we feel and experience as we work on the problems of human relations and education across the state. Statistics and observations leave us thoroughly convinced that freedom of choice can never be the instrument of transforming a dual school district, a district with color distincions into a unitary system.

If we were so generous as to give freedom of choice credit for all desegregation in Arkansas (5% of the Negroes in formerly all white schools), it would take 20 years at the present rate to fully desegregate by this method. A woeful situation exists here in Arkansas where thirty-seven districts with heavy Negro enrollment (according to a published survey of the Arkansas Gazette) that filed freedom of choice plans have no Negro students in desegregated schools.

Another 60 or more districts have 10 or less Negroes receiving a desegregated education. Approximately 40 more districts have less than twenty, but more than 10 Negroes enrolled in desegregated schools.

Some woeful examples of desegregation under freedom of choice:

1. Jefferson County, the state's second highest populated county, has 227 of 6,246 Negro children in desegregated schools -- just slightly above 3%.

2. Union County schools have only 28 Negroes out of an enrollment of 4,771, or .5 of one percent.

3. Mississippi County, 229 of 6,382 or 3%
4. Phillips County, 169 of 8,264 or 2%
5. Ouachita County, 50 of 3,672 or 1%
6. Ashley County, 21 of 2,863 or .7 of one percent
7. Bradley County, 11 of 1,405 or .8 of one percent
8. Chicot County, 21 of 3,313 or .6 of one percent
9. Jackson County, 23 of 1,055 or 2%
10. St. Francis County, 98 of 6,318 or .015%

2. Integrate Faculty and Administrative Personnel.

Compelled by the conviction that integration is not only a right but an educational good in itself, an ingredient of quality education and should be persued as such, the Arkansas Council on Human Relations calls upon you and your Department, Commissioner Howe, to include full faculty integration in your guidelines for the school year of 1966-67. ACHR is firm in its belief that there can be no meaningful integration as long as school systems have "Negro" schools and "white" schools. The stigma can only be removed when the faculties in all schools are fully integrated.

If integration is accepted as an educational good, a value to be achieved as quickly as possible rather than resisted as long as possible, then the integration of teachers is a primary prerequisite.

3. Provide Teacher Workshops for School Personnel in Human Relations.

One of the great needs in the school systems of Arkansas is to have administrators, faculty and students come to give proper respect to persons regardless of race, religion, or place of birth. Adequate techniques in human relations are as important to good teaching as knowledge of subject matter. The Commissioner of Education should take full advantage of Title IV of the Civil Rights Act of 1964, missing no opportunity to orient all professional personnel for integrated work experiences. Seminars on college and university campuses as well as inservice institutes and workshops should be used to up grade staff on human relations techniques. This vitally needed orientation should not be left to the discretion of school superintendents, but should be made available to teachers by HEW in cases where local school officials fail to act.

4. Insist on Interracial Advisory Committees.

The Commissioner of Education should give full and weighted consideration to providing for biracial advisory committees in guidelines for 1966-67. The value of such a committee has been demonstrated so many times we need not belabor the point here. An interracial advisory committee could work with the Board and staff on problems related to racial or ethnic groups.

Conclusion.

The time has now come when the Office of Education, Department of Health, Education, and Welfare, must insist that the school districts of Arkansas and the South at large finally lay down the burden of race and move swiftly toward the challenging and noble objective of quality education for all children, free of the eroding effects of segregation. The four recommendations of this paper represent minimum action for the Commissioner of Education charged with the responsibility of effectuating the necessary change in policy and practice so as to give relief to those against whom segregation is perpetrated. "The responsibility to to eliminate segregation," according to HEW guidelines, "rests with the school authorities and is not satisfied by rules and practices which shift the burden of removing discrimination to the class or classes of persons previously discriminated against." This statement is the greatest indictment of all against freedom of choice.

Fort Smith Human Relations Council

JANUARY, 1966

The First Board of Directors meeting was held on November 8, 1965 at Saint Scholastica Academy. It was learned that due to other commitments, Dr. L. E. O'Conner could not accept the Vice-Presidency. After some discussion Rev. Jerry Canada was approached by his fellow Board members to serve as temporary Chairman; a position which he accepted. At the recommendation of the Board of Directors, Rev. Canada later asked Rev. West of Quinn Chapel to take the Vice-Presidency, which he accepted.

The final results of the Fort Smith Human Relations Council election of October 19, 1965, and appointments by the Board of Directors of November 8, 1965 were as follows: Temporary Chairman, Rev. Jerry Canada; Vice-President, Rev. West; Secretary-Treasurer, Mrs. Edwin Falleur. The members of the Board of Directors are Miss Floy Looper, Mr. Charles Nichols, Mr. Robert Cruse, Rev. Henry Tyler, Mr. Carl Shelby, Mr. Arthur Prichard, and Mr. Edwin Falleur. There are two vacancies on the Board which will be filled later this month.

The dues for annual membership were set at $1.00 per person and $2.00 per family. The nominal monetary donation was arrived at with the purpose of increasing each member's commitment to the aims of the Council. We all hope to see fairness and concern emanate from each of us to our fellows--yet not a ray of this can become real in our community without a vastly increased effort on the part of each and all. Dues may be paid at the January 10th organizational meeting.

Churches of the community were selected as places for future meetings, if possible, for it is from them and hopefully from the increasing leadership of our clergy that the truest values of human life can most rapidly embue each of us.

The importance of your participation in our January 10th meeting cannot be stressed too much. This meeting well be held at 7:30 p.m. at Roebuck Chapel, First Methodist Church, 200 North 15th. The election of permanent officers will take place and it is hoped that all members will feel free to nominate those persons they see to be qualified.

Rev. John Guthrie, the head of a team of missionaries in the Congo, will be the evening's speaker. He will relate to us the relationships between American discrimination and his missionary activity in the Congo as well as the way the Congolese view this discrimination.

Rev. Guthrie has been in the Congo, beginning in 1959, for a total of 4 years. He hopes to help us see how the African Christians witness for Christ in that turbulent land.

If you know of anyone else who might be interested, bring them along.

OPERATION FRIENDSHIP

ACHR, as a part of its creative programming in meaningful human relations activities, is promoting "Operation Friendship" on Sunday afternoon, February 13, 1966. All affiliates, associated groups, or interested organizations in Arkansas are invited -- no urged -- to participate.

Dr. Martin Luther King, Jr., in one of his most passionate pleas for interracial communication and understanding said, "One of the reasons Negroes and whites dislike and mistrust each other is that they don't know each other, and they don't know each other because they are separated from each other." Operation Friendship is designed to bridge the isolation of man from man because of race. It is a conversation in a living room setting, a conversation which affords white Arkansans an opportunity to engage in meaningful dialogue with Negro fellow Arkansans.

Mrs. Frank Lambright has accepted the responsibility of chairman of the Steering Committee for the project in Little Rock. Mrs. M. J. Caruth is co-chairman. The committee is now recruiting some 50 or more Negro families who will serve as hosts to approximately 400 whites for coffee, cookies, and conversation. If you are interested (and we hope you are) in promoting "Operation Friendship" in your community and need additional information, just call the office, FR 4-4521 collect, and we will be glad to help you get started.

ACHR MEMBERSHIP DRIVE.

ACHR will make a determined effort to double its membership this year. Mrs. Frank Gordon, secretary to ACHR's Board, has accepted the chairmanship of a membership campaign in Little Rock. Mrs. James Youngdahl and Mrs. Booker Williams are co-chairmen.

ACHR MEMBERSHIP DRIVE (cont'd)

The committee has organized and is planning an extensive campaign in March.

Ozell Sutton has visited the Human Relations groups in Fayetteville, Fort Smith, and North Little Rock. Each pledged to conduct a membership campaign for ACHR. These communities are now in the process of organizing their drives. Other associated groups and individuals are being asked to work.

Your help is badly needed if the goal is to be reached. When we talk to foundations about support for our work, they want to know how well we are supported by the home folks. We know there are hundreds of persons in our state committed to the cause of justice and equal opportunity. We need you to help us get them to join ACHR, where together we might seek the "good society". Here is how you can help as an individual. First mail your dues to the office today -- $5.00 for an individual, or $5.00 per couple. Then solicit dues from among your friends and neighbors. Remember, 1966 is the year of the "big push" for ACHR memberships, and we need the help of each of you.

AUTHOR OF BEST-SELLER COMING

John Howard Griffin, author and lecturer (Devil Rides Outside, Black Like Me) will give an address at the National Investors Building, Broadway at 2nd, on Tuesday, January 25, 8 p.m., sponsored by the Catholic Interracial Council of Little Rock. Tickets are available at ACHR's office and from members of CIC, $2 for adults, $1 for students.

A white native Texan, Griffin to learn what it is like to be Negro in the deep South, asked a physician to darken his skin. Black Like Me is the story of his daring and skillful reporter's travels through four Southern states.

BLACK LIKE ME AUTHOR (cont'd)

The book has been a best-seller.

His lecture has the same title as this book, "Black Like Me". You may call for your tickets at FR 4-4521.

DIAGNOSIS OF SOUTHERN JUSTICE

Charles Morgan, Jr. of Atlanta will be featured at the public meeting of the Little Rock Conference on Religion and Race, Tuesday, February 15, at the Parish House of Trinity Cathedral, 310 W. 17th Street, 7:30 p.m. As Director of the Atlanta Office of the American Civil Liberties Union, Mr. Morgan, an attorney, will analyze "Southern Justice".

A panel of local attorneys will respond to Mr. Morgan's presentation, dealing with the plight of the South as to criminal law enforcement, the constitutional difficulties as between state and nation, and recommended courses of action.

All citizens across Arkansas who cherish law and order should attend. The attorneys will be dealing with such facts as this: Since 1960 at least 26 Negroes or civil rights advocates have been murdered in the South by racists. Only one assailant has been given a prison sentence and that for ten years.

Charles Morgan, a Birmingham attorney, refused to keep silent when the three children were killed in the church bombing. Because he spoke out, he was hounded from Birmingham.

TENTATIVE ACHR 6-MONTH CALENDAR

|---|---|
| February: | 13 Operation Friendship26 Annual Meeting |
| March: | Month long membership campaign |
| April: | Student Conference on Human Relations |
| May: | Workshop on Minority Problems in Housing |

During this time a statewide voter registration campaign must be planned and executid, and "Project Catch-up" pursued. As you can see, your organization has planned some meaningful human relations work. Your cooperation and support is counted upon.

INJUNCTION SOUGHT IN GOULD

On December 16 Attorney John Walker for Gould school patrons filed a brief in federal court asking that the school district be enjoined against building a new high school on the site of Field School.

LRU COUNCIL SPONSORS MEMORIAL SERVICE

The Little Rock University Council on Human Relations sponsored a memorial service for Samuel Younge, murdered in Tuskegee, Alabama, on January 4, and for other martyrs to freedom and justice in the South. Service was held at Pulaski Heights Christian Church, Sunday, January 9, at 3:00 p.m. Between seventy and one hundred citizens participated. Leaders in the order of service were the Reverends Harold Wells, Tom Logue, Henry Parker, and Harold Hurst.

McNEIL TO STUDY ACHR

Elaine (Mrs. Gordon) McNeil, a former member of the Board and long time member of ACHR, plans to analyze ACHR and its membership as part of the requirement for her Ph.D. in sociology.

Little is known of the character of the biracial movement in the South, the character of its white membership, how many persons are involved actively. The present Board of Directors has endorsed Mrs. McNeil's proposed research and its members have been given a "pre-test" of her questionnaire. They took an average of ten minutes to check the questions.

To save time for everyone, Mrs. McNeil will be at the Annual Meeting with copies of her questionnaire and members can check them on the spot. Members not present will be mailed copies to check.

Board members and staff are very interested in this project and assured Mrs. McNeil that everyone would cooperate. Of course, these kinds of studies are done anonymously, that is, no one signs questionnaires. Results are reported statistically and by categories.

"FIXED" I.Q.

Seventy six boys from tough poverty areas constituted the pre-college training by the University of Oregon under an anti-poverty grant. One boy, a slow student in public school, with an established I.Q. score ranging from 80 to 90, was discovered to have a natural and ready ability in mathematics. Before the summer program was half over, he was doing complicated calculus problems, and was helping his fellow students. His I.Q. score jumped more than 30 points!

AS OF FEBRUARY 1, 1966, ACHR'S NEW OFFICE ADDRESS:

1310 WRIGHT AVENUE
LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS.

COMMISSIONER FORD URGES SUMMER PROGRAMS

Mr. Arch W. Ford, Arkansas Commissioner of Education, said that a crash program would be started January 10 to interest local schools in summer programs to help under-achievers in the schools. "A summer program will reduce the gap in the desegregated classrooms this fall," said Ford. Not all Negro children are under-achievers, Ford said, but many are as products of the dual school system. Cost of such programs would be covered by federal funds under Title I of the Secondary and Elementary Education Act.

DOES 2nd SOUTHERN RECONSTRUCTION WAVER?

In April, 1965, C. Vann Woodward wrote a disturbing article in Harper's, "First Reconstruction to the Second." As you know, he is the Sterling Professor of History at Yale, a native Arkansan, and a recognized historian of the South. In this article he wrote:

"The search for a new compromise /by the South in the sixties/ began early and with plausible expectations of success. ... The prospects for an accommodation were not discouraging. In far weaker circumstances, after a crushing defeat, years of military occupation, and extensive disfranchisement, the South /earlier/ had been able to negotiate on favorable terms a compromise that outlasted all the others, the Compromise of 1877. Why not another? Say a Compromise of 1964.

"This one might be known informally and privately as the Compromise of Tokenism. It would assume, in the classical manner, nominal compliance without fundamental change. ... It was an old American tradition to appease reformers with impressive statutes and then neglect or forget about their implementation. After ten years of school desegregation at 'deliberate speed' only 2 percent of the Negro pupils in the old Confederate states were in schools with white children. Yet all these states were now proudly marked on the newspaper maps as 'desegregated'. It was surprising how much approval and congratulation these minimal gestures won from outside. Perhaps token desegregation, Southern style, or perhaps de facto segregation, Northern style, would do. Or perhaps an ingenius blending of the two models. ...

"Had it been left up to the white man, North and South, the Second Reconstruction possibly would have already gone the way of the First /that of 1877/. The way of compromise, conciliation, and appeasement into frustration and failure. It would have been the old story of white men resolving their differences at the expense of black men. The will was present on both sides, and incentive and opportunities abounded. But this time it was not left up to the white man. The Negro himself was the decisive participant, not an instrument of white purpose. ... He was better led and better organized and, what was more important, the leaders and organizations this time were his own."

The above analysis frightens us. In towns and country communities of Arkansas is it true that the Negro himself is the decisive participant? Is he not an instrument of white purpose still? What organizations does he have? What leaders? Only the Negro citizen can answer these questions with reassurance. The burden of initiative is still on him. We are frightened.

CANCELLATIONS AGAINST INTEGRATED TEAM

The Arkansas Gazette reported December first that seven southeast Arkansas schools have cancelled scheduled basketball games with Wilmar which has three Negroes on its starting team. Negro students constitute 58% of the seventy-three students in Wilmar High School. A white player, Jerry McLemore, is quoted as saying: "If it wasn't for them, we wouldn't have a team. Since they are here, I am glad they can play ball. After you play with them a while, they don't seemed colored"

LEAGUE OF WOMEN VOTERS STUDY

On December 16 the Little Rock League of Women Voters released conclusion of a study of school opportunities for Negroes. Among other things it recommends fixed attendance zones or neighborhood schools, compensatory education for Negro children, more faculty integration, extension of extra-curricular programs for Negro children.

UNUSUAL UNICEF VENTURE

Two hundred and seventy-six dollars were collected for UNICEF at Newport on Halloween. The story and picture of the children who did this special "trick or treat" has appeared in the Arkansas Methodist and the Arkansas Christian. The variety of faces in the picture make it appear to be a junior United Nations. This variety is explained by the variety of churches which co-sponsored the project: The First Methodist, First Baptist (Negro), The First Christian, St. Paul's Episcopal, St. Paul's AME, First Presbyterian, Umsted Methodist, First Freewill

Baptist. The story came to us at the Christmas season, long after Halloween; but it was still good news, timely news, and especially appropriate to the Christmas season.

FORT SMITH DESEGREGATION ORDERS

On December 6, the U.S. Supreme Court ordered Fort Smith to integrate its high school. (The district had followed a freedom of choice stair step plan beginning with grade one in 1957 and had reached grade eight.) The Court said, "We have emphasized that delays in desegregating of school systems are no longer tolerable." The suit began on complaint of the mother of two girls in September, 1963.

BOYS', GIRLS' STATES INTEGRATION

ACHR was gratified by the announcement on December 8 by the American Legion officials that Boys' and Girls' States would be integrated next summer. ACHR in May had issued an appeal to the Legion to end segregation in these programs.

This policy paper was reissued in November after Everett A. Tookes, Commander of Stanfield-Grady Post 401 (Negro) moved to have these programs integrated. Mr. Tookes had directed the programs before. He simply resigned as director and called for integration.

DEMOCRATS FOR ARKANSAS

Two state church leaders made public attacks on the state administration, Dr. Erwin L. McDonald, editor of the Arkansas Baptist, and Dr. T. Chalmers Henderson, Executive for the Arkansas Synod of the Presbyterian Church, US. Both men said they spoke as members of the group called "Democrats for Arkansas," a group lead by Dr. Luck of Arkadelphia. On December 13 Mc Donald emphasized 1) the practice of "political favoritism" that has increased each year under the present administration, and 2) economic opportunities for Negro citizens: "It is time for our Democratic Party to make a complete break with bigots and racists"

On December 16 Dr. Henderson, before a civic club, dwelt on the pattern of power in the state government because of the long tenure of the present administration and said change of the administration would be made only if "more and more people became concerned and involved."

Mr. Edwin Stanfield, Field Director
Southern Regional Council
5 Forsyth Street, N.W.
Atlanta, Georgia 30303

Dear Ed:

We are pleased that you are going to be with us at our Annual Meeting, February 26. We want you to speak to members of our Advisory Council and Executive Board at 2 p.m., addressing yourself to local programming -- what is needed and possible. A panel of local citizens will follow you in discussion of what is needed in their individual communities.

February is planning month for our membership campaign which will be conducted during March. I would like you to meet with a membership committee Friday night, February 25, if you could get here in time. Such a meeting with you, I think, would encourage the committee. Drop me a note saying you can get here, and I will set it up.

We will make reservation for you at the Albert Pike Hotel. Send us your arrival time, two glossy prints and your biography.

Sincerely,

Ozell

YOU MISSED IT

To those who were not at the Annual Meeting on February 26, at the Hotel Albert Pike we can only say, "You missed it." No resume will be attempted here. Even if we were so disposed, it is simply not possible to transmit substantively those sessions -- the esprit de corps, the overtones and undertones, the information from the grass roots, the pervasive warning against optimism, the inspiration to "do something," the suggestions on how to do something. How can one transmit the quiet resolution and insights of Reverend Jamison with his cigar from Monticello? Or the dry flat humor of Ferris Baker of Conway? Or the steady words and trembling hands of Mrs. Laird of Jonesboro? Or the cascading speech of Father Clancy? Or the impressive person and sensible eloquence of Vernon Jordan? Or the I've-been-there counsel of Ed Stanfield? Or the dozen other persons and aspects which crowd the memory? It's no use. You should have been there.

One fact of note: new people from new places came -- England, Crossett, Hope, to name a few. One suggestion to interest you: that ACHR have quarterly meetings of its Advisory Council and members at different towns in the state. Sounds good.

THE IMPERATIVE OF NEGRO ARKANSANS

The new guidelines for school desegregation recently released by the U.S. Office of Education leaves intact the freedom-of-choice plan for school officials. Most schools in Arkansas are following this plan. This means the initiative for ending segregation is still the responsibility of Negro leaders, Negro parents, and Negro students ("young heroes").

At its annual meeting in February, ACHR went on record as follows: "That this Council urges, that in school systems in which one or more schools are rated superior and others inferior, any freedom-of-choice plan be abandoned and that pupils be assigned by other criteria which will result in an educationally valid, unified system, since there is no real 'choice' in such a situation."

The Council recognizes that to give Negro parents a "choice" between a white superior school and a Negro inferior school is in itself raw discrimination, given economic and social pressures plus historical residue of ignorance and custom. Nevertheless, for the present Negro parents must act with insight and courage for the good of Southern society as well as for their children.

CHOOSING THE BETTER

In making school choices for their children in many situations parents will find an objective basis for choosing. The Arkansas Department of Education has a school directory which exhibits the rating of all schools in the state.

Below are some better school districts and the choices which Negro parents are required to make. (NC = North Central Association of Secondary Schools and Colleges; A,B,C are ratings given by the Arkansas Department of Education in the absence of any national rating.)

| | Negro | White |
|---|---|---|
| Dermott | A | NC |
| Lake Village | B | NC |

CHOOSING THE BETTER (cont'd)

We urge each parent to learn from local school officials the ratings of the white school and Negro school and make his choice for the superior school. In cases where the official ratings may be the same, still choose the white school for the sake of all children.

School officials and administrators, by their own admission, know something about educating the young not known to Negro parents. They should take initiative in giving handicapped Negro children the best educational opportunities. Their record to date indicate they will continue to do the opposite. It appears, at this moment, that the initiative for sound and adequate education for all Arkansas children must come from Negro parents. If they falter, we all fail. If they act, all Arkansans in retrospect will be grateful.

RECENT HISTORY TEACHES

Harry Fleischman (Let's Be Human) would make Caroline Bird's The Invisible Scar "compulsory reading for everyone under forty, and required reading for everyone older." It deals with what the Great Depression did to American life until now. She describes also how America met the challenge of labor shortage in World War II, lessons which might be useful in retraining and training unskilled workers today.

"War proved," wrote Caroline Bird, "that the poor were willing to work if given a chance. It proved that the uneducated could learn if they were taught. ... But it also proved that it took a lot more spending than the New Deal had ever suggested to get the economy moving."

Fleischman comments: "Miss Bird's prescription is as valid for Watts, Harlem, Rochester, Chicago, and the other centers of frustration and rage in the nation today as it was for the war years. If we could do it then for bombs, tanks and planes, we can -- and we must -- do it for books, hospitals, and homes."

TWO RELEASES FROM SRC

Members may ask ACHR for two research and policy documents from the Southern Regional Council: "Southern Justice, An Indictment" -- a very hard-hitting bundle of facts and interpretations; "School Desegregation -- an Old Problem Under a New Law" compares

SRC's statistics with those of the U.S. Office of Education and makes recommendations. We have a supply of both releases.

ECUMENISM

Is the ecumenical movement going too far? Hyman Goldberg's Our Man in the Kitchen Cookbook features a chapter entitled "Kosher Cooking for Our Catholic Cousins on Friday and Lenten Days".

WORLD'S PEOPLES IN MICROCOSM

If all the people in the world could be reduced proportionately into a theoretical town of 1,000 people, its picture would look like this. There would be 60 Americans and 940 "foreigners". The sixty Americans would have half the income of the entire town. About 330 persons would be classified as Christians; 670 non-Christians. White people would total 303; non-white 697. Since most of the 940 non-Americans in the town would be hungry most of the time, it would create some ill feelings toward the 60 Americans who would seem enormously rich and overfed. Of the 940 non-Americans, 200 would have malaria and three leprosy. None of the sixty Americans will ever get these diseases or probably ever be worried about them.

SOUTHERN JUSTICE

On February 15 at Trinity Cathedral the Little Rock Conference on Religion and Race focussed the minds of some 200 participants (not all from Little Rock) on the injustice for Negro citizens perpetuated by the segregated society, especially in the South where a "double standard of justice" operates.

"In many areas of the South dual justice is a standing abuse to all Negroes. ... It exists from birth to death and the knowledge of it comes so early that a man may think he received it in his genes. ... More than any other factor it is responsible for what the white South views as increasing 'radicalism' and 'anarchy' in the civil rights movement." (From the document mentioned above.)

Charles Morgan, Jr. of Atlanta led four local lawyers (Sid McMath, Gaston Williamson, John Walker, Edward Lester) in exploring this double standard of justice. The enclosed reprint of unpunished crimes were supplied to the audience by ACHR.

NEW NEW SOUTH

With this newsletter comes a flyer describing a new publication from SRC, New South. The first issue we have. This is a magazine of substance, style, and, above all, interest. Please, please send your subscription today. The second "please" is yours: you'll be pleased you did!

NEW CAMPAIGN

A campaign by the Advertising Council of America, "the most important public service campaign every conducted," aims "to draw Negro and other Americans into fuller participation in our economy and our society -- to enable them to share in our abundance and make their contribution to the general good."

The theme of the project, "Things Are Changing", will appear on its posters, advertisements, and bill boards. It underscores the change that means an "equal chance to get a good job -- no matter one's race, color, religion, or country of birth."

The campaign is not government sponsored. It is an effort of American business leaders toward solution of this foremost domestic problem.

AN AD OF OUR OWN

ACHR has a one room RCA Whirlpool air conditioner still at its old office. It has been in service two summers only. Price $55. cash. Call or write FR 6-3541, 1310 Wright Avenue.

TWENTY THOUSAND PER CENT!

Would you send a $5 membership for you and your spouse if it meant $1,000 for ACHR? That is possible. A super-duper drive for members directed by Dr. Townsend and Mr. Sutton aims at winning the George Mitchell Award from SRC, $1,000 for the state council gaining the highest percentage of members. Put your $5 on the line; it could mean $1,000 for ACHR, a 20,000% return on your investment! Join through your local council or use the membership blank below.

MARK YOUR CALENDAR

ACHR has planned a Student Conference on Human Relations Saturday, April 16, at Philander Smith College. Students from all Arkansas colleges are being invited to participate in an all day workshop on problems related to human relations. The Conference will climax with a public address by James Farmer, the former director of the Congress of Racial Equality (CORE) and now Director of the Center for Community Action Education, Inc. Mr. Farmer is one of the "Big Three" leaders in civil rights, and one of the movement's most articulate speakers. Our membership is invited -- no urged -- to come and hear him. His new work as head of the Center of Community Action Education sounds exciting. The agency plans literacy projects, training and retraining for jobs and other creative measures to bring Negroes to actual equality. The Center expects a $900,000 grant from the Office of Economic Opportunity and considerable funds from foundation grants.

We have to confess . . .

. . . this is a commercial, straight and unfiltered. Hard sell they call it on Madison Avenue, we believe.

Maybe you know us already and we surely hope you do. Maybe you have sent in your subscription for the next five or ten years. If so, we're humble and we're grateful and we thank you.

But maybe you've never heard of us. (That's hard to take, but we recognize the possibility) If so, we want to introduce ourselves and in the process tell you about our winter issue, which we modestly admit is penetrating, refreshing, stimulating and provocative.

NEW SOUTH, now issued quarterly by the Southern Regional Council, used to be pretty much of a loner in the South. We stood for (and still stand for) such unique and unpopular notions as equality and brotherhood and against such sacred Old South cows as segregation and racial discrimination. We're not alone anymore. A good portion of the more enlightened Southern press has come to accept the positions we espoused some years ago, and we're frankly delighted.

All of which is by way of leading up to the fact that NEW SOUTH is now shifting focus. We're going in for more in-depth articles now -- the sort of things you might find in The Nation, the New Republic, The Progressive. And, in fact, our winter issue features some of the writers you see in those magazines. Robert Sherrill, for instance, a regular contributor to the Nation, reports in this issue of NEW SOUTH on the HUAC Ku Klux Klan hearings. Pulitizer prize winner Jack Nelson, now head of the Los Angeles Times southern bureau, offers up an incisive view of current Southern viewpoints, both the changing and the unchanged. Margaret Long, SRC staffer, novelist and frequent contributor to the Progressive, reports provocatively on activity within the Movement. James Silver, professor of history at the University of Mississippi for 28 years and author of MISSISSIPPI: THE CLOSED SOCIETY suggests that the door to that society may be opening a bit in excerpts from his new book to be published soon by Harcourt, Brace and World. Leslie Dunbar, former executive director of the Southern Regional Council and now director of the Field Foundation, probes with the philosopher's instinct for the truth behind current, popular concepts toward a realistic solution of America's racial inequities. Jack Patterson, southern correspondent for Business Week, writes a penetrating analysis of the southern businessman's reaction to the Negro Movement. Vincent Harding, chairman of the Department of History and Social Science at Spelman College, author of MUST WALLS DIVIDE? and articles on the southern scene in national magazines, writes eloquently, movingly of the erosion away from redemptive love within the Movement. Dr. Robert Coles, a psychiatrist with the University Health Services of Harvard University and contributor to the Atlantic, Harpers, New Republic, Nation, The New York Times Sunday magazine; author of ''The Desegregation of Public Schools: a Psychiatric Study,'' published by SRC in 1963, evaluates the Southerner and his unique and tragic heritage against the backdrop of today's vast social changes.

Combine these articles with a quarterly state-of-the-southern states round-up of developments and trends in civil rights from the eleven state councils on human relations and it all adds up to the fact that NEW SOUTH is ''must'' reading for all who wish to be informed of what is going on in Southern race relations today.

But don't just take our word for it. Fill out the coupon below and mail it back to us with your 1966 subscription -- and find out for yourself.

QUOTED FROM THE WINTER, 1966 ISSUE, NEW SOUTH

"Perhaps it was all too wild a dream in the first place, this hope of redemption. Perhaps it was a child's fantasy in the sleep of night, or another Negro folk tale dredged up from the long dead age of faith. But if it was, then, who shall preserve us from the day, from this age, from the sudden blaze of fiery light?"—Vincent Harding.

"That Negro girl I heard talking in Harlem was a Southerner, even as Faulkner was, or Ralph Ellison in many ways still is. Their minds have all taken in the region's warmth, openness, and really splendid countryside. Most of all they have all shared the pitiable self-consciousness that allows neither exploiter not exploited whatever sanctuary the one thinks the other has."—Robert Coles.

"The tensions of the early sessions (of the HUAC hearings on the KKK) lasted only until one realized he was watching an encounter, complete with grunts and fierce chattering, analogous to the formalized grimacing and posturing of enemy savages, met in a deep wood, who do not mean to attack but only to save face."—Robert Sherrill

EUNICE GRIER

"Segregated Housing and the Great Society"

New Bethel AME Church
1601 Izard, Little Rock
Thursday, May 12, 7:30 PM

MRS. GRIER VISITS ARKANSAS.

Mrs. Eunice Grier will speak May 11 and 12 in Arkansas. On Wednesday, May eleventh she will be consultant with the Fayetteville Community Relations Association, and on Thursday, May 12, will participate in Little Rock in plans made by a joint committee of the Conference on Religion and Race, the Catholic Interracial Council and ACHR. Her field of special competence is problems of urban housing. She is Director of the Division of Research of the U.S. Commission on Civil Rights, formerly was consultant for the National Commi[redacted]gainst Discrimination in Housing.

In the evening of both days Mrs. Grier will give a public address. In Little Rock this will be at Bethel AME Church, 1601 Izard. During the day she will confer with individuals and committees most concerned with the problem of ghettoizing trends in housing patterns.

With her husband she is the author of a new book, Equality and Beyond, Housing Segregation and the Goals of the Great Society. In describing the task at hand they write:

> "The task of overcoming and reversing the accumulated racial inequities of generations, and of eliminating the growing racial segregation which accompanies and helps perpetuate them, is not yet hopeless. But each year in which effective action is delayed, the task becomes less and less manageable. To eliminate segregation now calls for national resolve and sustained effort of many years. ... Do the American people possess the will and the courage to go beyond nondiscrimination and to move into a realm of positive programs for undoing the harm that segregation has already brought the country? And if they do not, are they prepared to accept the profoundly deleterious consequences that are bound to fall on American society?"

EDITOR'S NOTE

The Arkansas Gazette in its editorial on April 25, brought up to date "the task at hand" in housing at Little Rock. In part it says:

"But there has been a clear trend, a trend toward the concentration of Negroes in one large area centrally located, and of whites in newer residential areas to the west and southwest. The movement is away from the 'pepper and salt' pattern in which Negro and white neighborhoods are interspersed.

"In appraising measures to modify the residential trend, the Arkansas Council on Human Relations is planning to organize a Fair Housing Association to work principally in providing nondiscriminatory residential listings and more opportunity for Negroes to escape the confines imposed by deeply established custom. This is one

EDITOR'S NOTE (cont'd)

"substantial area of action. ... but the directions of residential development in Little Rock suggest forcefully that it is time, or past time, for the work to begin."

JAMES FARMER AND STUDENT CONFERENCE

Our first statewide Student Conference on Human Relations was held on the campus of Philander Smith College on April 16. About 50 students came from seven Arkansas colleges: Arkansas State Teachers College, Hendrix, Little Rock University, Philander Smith, Shorter, State College, and the University of Arkansas.

Nat Griswold, in his "Purview of Problem Areas" challenged the students to more concern and greater effort in the field of human relations. Workshop sessions were conducted by Atty. John W. Walker: Southern Justice; Al Ulmer of the Southern Regional Council: Organizing for Community Action; Miss Joanna Edwards, NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund: School Desegregation; and Ozell Sutton, Voter Registration.

The Conference was climaxed with a literate and moving address by James Farmer, the former national director of CORE, prssently head of the Center for Community Action Education.

MEMBERSHIP RENEWALS

A combined drive for members and contributions for ACHR was in process in March and April. Results are still being totalled.

Have you sent your renewals? Remember: your $5. can mean $1,000 for ACHR. The George Mitchell award for membership increase is $1,000. Send it now.

UNTIMELY DEATH COMES TO TREASURER OF ACHR

On April 20 in the midst of a busy useful life death came to A.M. Roberts, Jr., minister of Allen Temple AME Church in Pine Bluff and treasurer of ACHR. Memorial service at the church was in charge of Bishop Collins.

Father Walter B. Clancy, chairman of the Board of ACHR, gave a tribute on behalf of the organization. Ozell Sutton and Nat Griswold, directors, were present as were John W. Smith and U.S. Brown, both members of the Board.

DEATH OF REV. A.M. ROBERTS, JR.

It seems to us that the many words in tribute to him can be summed up in this: a man of integrity. The Psalmist spoke of such a man who "sweareth to his own hurt and changeth not": makes an agreement, a contract, and stands on it though he is hurt by it. Mr. Roberts long ago made an agreement with himself that he would act first as a human being and a child of God. He stuck by this agreement even to his own hurt.

The presence at the service of the leaders of SNCC testifies to his integrity. His church was used by them for meeting when others refused. Mr. Roberts belonged to the generation that naturally feels uneasy with rambunctious generation of student protestors. Yet he found common cause with these protestors in their deeper purposes which he was alert enough to recognize and courageous enough to pursue.

A man of integrity is hard to find. We have lost one. Many of us are called by him to make new agreements with ourselves as human beings and children of God. Only thus can his loss be restored to the forces for good.

QUOTABLES

"The real value of freedom of speech is not to the minority that wants to talk, but to the majority that does not want to listen." -Zechariah Chafee, Jr.

Gems from children's essays: "One of the rights people enjoy is the right to bare arms." "The Mediterranean and the Red Sea are connected by the Sewage Canal." "The climate is hotter next to the Creator."

UNEMPLOYABLES BECOME EMPLOYABLES

Joseph Ross, President of Federal Department Stores, comments on the company's training program for some applicants who failed standard employment tests: "Yet when these umemployables, as they are called by society are given specially designed counselling and training and placed in an atmosphere of acceptance, they prove to be productive, dependable employees." The basis for his opinion is this: all sixteen had failed standard employment tests and were automatically discarded as unemployables by other employers; but after completing Federal's training and counselling programs 14 of these became permanent employees of the company and two were employed elsewhere.

DEMOCRATIC PRIMARY AND AFTER

We do not care to join the Monday morning quarterbacks on this summer's election. The enveloping gloom over the nomination of Jim Johnson was blown away from us by the gentle breeze of the memory of another year. We had smug satisfaction in 1956 when we decisively defeated the "racist" Jim Johnson and renominated his moderate opponent, Orval E. Faubus. We have second thoughts over this "victory" for progress in race relations. Was that election the shortest path to the promised land?

Another thought bolsters our optimism. What could freshman Governor Jim Johnson do with his new legislature? Many of them will not go along with his pronounced anti-LBJism, his anti-federal aid, his anti-educational progress.

Will Mr. Johnson accommodate his views in the interest of legislative action and economic progress or will we have a legislative impasse? Should we elect Winthrop Rockefeller in the hope he cooperates with the new legislators? Whatever you think, throw your weight around with your vote in November.

NEW ASSOCIATE DIRECTOR

Elijah Coleman, fresh from a summer of study at the University of Oklahoma, reported to ACHR office for duty on August 5 and has been "on the road" or "on the ropes" since. He attended the meeting of all the directors of councils on human relations at Atlanta, August 10-11. He made exploratory trips to Arkadelphia, El Dorado, and Camden. He met with the Fort Smith Council on August 26 and expects to meet with all local councils soon. His trip to Arkadelphia included a session of school administrators.

FROM ELIJAH COLEMAN:

Greetings: It is indeed gratifying to me to become more closely associated with the Arkansas Council on Human Relations.

FROM ELIJAH COLEMAN (cont'd)

During my short time here I have found my work exciting and challenging. I have also found my co-workers and ACHR backers to be more than cooperative and deeply concerned about the problems and goals of the Council. Surely with such support and enthusiasm we can further the progress of the Council.

I hope I will have the opportunity to visit each local chapter in the state in the near future, in order to better acquaint myself with Arkansans who are concerned about improving human relations.

LITTLE ROCK PLANS FOR GREETING COLEMAN

Invitations have been mailed (or will be shortly) in the Little Rock area to the reception for Mr. and Mrs. Elijah Coleman. The event will be at the Loggia Room of the Sam Peck Hotel on Sunday, September 11, 4-6 p.m. Members of ACHR outside Little Rock and North Little Rock are hereby cordially invited to attend.

The following committee planned and arranged the reception: Mrs. Sara Murphy, chairman; T.E. Patterson, Mrs. Catherine Lambright, W.H. Williams, Ozell Sutton, Rev. Walter Clancy, Rev. Harold Jackson, Mrs. David Boswell.

THE FAITH OF A REAL LIBERAL

"All great reforms, great movements, come from the botton and not from the top. ... Wherever there is wrong, point it out to all the world and you can trust the people to change it." John P. Altgeld who as Governor of Illinois risked his political career to free the innocent Haymarket anarchists.

ACHR VEP PROJECT

The ACHR Voter Registration Project has completed eight weeks of work in 14 Arkansas counties. Rev. Ben Grinage, Director, and field workers Jim Jones and Robert Whitfield have registered approximately 2,000 voters thus far. They hope to increase this number to 50,000 before the November general election.

According to Grinage, the difficulties encountered in registration efforts are due mainly to the lack of previous local community organizing. "It is our desire to stimulate the residents to commit themselves to organizing around voter registration and voter education as well as to participate in every election." Grinage has found members of ACHR across the state very useful contacts. He asks that members let him know what is going on in the various parts of the state, and how the ACHR Voter Education Project might be of help.

HOW ABOUT THIS CONSERVATIVE LIBERAL?

James J. Kilpatrick, editor of the Richmond News-Leader, is a segregationist and self-styled conservative. But he has established the Beadle Bumble Fund "devoted to the alleviation of occasional palpable miscarriage of justice and to other imprudent causes." The Hanover County, Va., School Board banned as "immoral" the prize winning novel, To Kill a Mockingbird, the story of a white lawyer's attempt to obtain justice for a Negro client. Kilpatrick offered copies of the book free to the first fifty Hanover High School students requesting them, charging the board with exhibiting "the kind of small-bore stupidity that deserves to be roughly condemned." The author of the book sent ten dollars saying, "I feel the problem is one of illiteracy. Therefore I enclose a small contribution to the Bumble Fund that I hope will be used to enroll the Hanover County School Board in any first grade of its choice."

BUILDERS PUBLICATION ON OPEN HOUSING

In a full page editorial in House and Home (July, 1966) published for building industry, Richard O'Niell says that without new legislation immediate progress can be made toward eliminating housing segregation. He declares: "Integrated housing is as sure as death and taxes, but hardly in the same unpleasant category." He makes this point: "Aside from the obvious moral issue, as a practical matter the housing industry's business could almost double if housing were freely available on equal terms to everyone able to pay for it. There is a potential market right now among minorities and lower income families for 12 million homes. By 1970 the industry should be producing 3 million homes annually." Experiences of builders selling on an open basis should reassure those who have not. He lists four pieces of good news from such experiences:

"1. Honestly offered open housing has not resulted in overwhelming number of sales to Negroes.
2. Sales to Negroes do not end sales to whites.
3. Upper middle and high income groups are the strongest non-white housing market.
4. When a fair housing law affects all builders equally, there is no problem in open housing."

"THE ACCIDENTAL CENTURY"

Michael Harrington's newest book, like his first, The Other America, makes real the hazards hanging over Western man and the alternatives now open to him. It is another either/or dilemma. Either man becomes conscious of the revolution (accidental), already achieved by the new technology, and restructures institutions in response to it or he must suffer through an "inhuman collectivism without rational human direction; the accidental revolution is not moving toward a rebirth of poetry but toward an inhuman collectivism... In short if the new society is blundered into, then all the decadences described in this book will come roughly true... And yet there is the possibility that the West will freely choose a new society."

The radical nature of the problem must be understood: "It is rather a problem of transforming [not seizing] power, of changing it, of making new institutions. ... to marry engineering and philosophy."

"But if the accidental century were to become conscious of itself, the West would then stand on the eve of its fulfillment and could, humanely and democratically, once more become the promise of the entire world." Most people will wish to do as I did with this book: Begin with the last chapter.

YOUR VOTE DOES COUNT

It is often said by the apathetic and indifferent, "Why should I bother to vote, my vote doesn't count." If you have been one of those citizens who has used this as an excuse for not casting your ballot on election day, you might need to study the election returns for Arkansas of November 8th.

It appears from our observation that your vote did count during this last general election. We have noted that there were a number of local offices that were decided by a very few votes. In fact, we've been told that one majority office was decided by one vote.

For those of you who have been concerned about a two party system for the state of Arkansas, your vote counted, too.

ACHR WINS $1,000 AWARD

At the annual SRC meeting held in Atlanta on November 16-18, it was announced that ACHR had won the $1,000 George Mitchell award for the greatest percentage of increase in memberships. ACHR had a 91% increase over last year.

The staff and Board of Directors thank each of you -- as a renewed or new member -- for making this award possible. This is a tribute to the concerned citizens of Arkansas. There is a great deal of work ahead of us, and we hope to expand our membership even further in 1967.

UP COMING EVENTS

December 3, Saturday. Regular meeting of the ACHR Board, 1:00 p.m., ATA Board Room.

VOTER EDUCATION PROJECT

Rev. Ben Grinage, Director of VEP in Arkansas, recently expressed his thanks to friends of the Project who took interest in its activities.

Because of the interest and support the Project has been funded for continuing work. Rev. Grinage stated that he and the staff will now move toward setting up permanent machinery on the local level.

PRISON REFORM

On Monday, October 24, a group of interested citizens, representing different groups, organizations, and communities, held a meeting on penal reform. Mr. John Boone, Director of the Criminal Rehabilitation and Penal Reform Project of the Southern Regional Council, was present.

During the course of the meeting a number of facts were brought out concerning the situation at the prison farms and the judicial process by which criminals are placed there. A former prison farmchaplin and a former inmate were present.

Up to this time there has been no group acting as a "watchdog" on the state board and penitentiary keeping the public informed and working for improvement and reform.

It was felt that a permanent group was needed to bring about lasting improvement. For this reason the Ad Hoc Committee on Penal Reform in Arkansas was formed with Rev. Walter Clancy as Acting Chairman and Elijah Coleman as Acting Secretary. Officers will be elected at a later date.

A brief report on the state penitentiary was prepared by the ACHR staff for this meeting. The office has a limited number of these reports left. If you would like one, just write.

T.E. PATTERSON ELECTED TO SCHOOL BOARD

On the Sept. 27 School Elections Mr. T.E. Patterson, Executive Secretary of the Arkansas Teachers Association, was elected to the Little Rock School Board. This is less than 10 years after Central High School.

YOUR DUES

Your dues and donations are most important for two reasons:

First, the obvious one: they provide real aid in meeting current expenses (mounting all the time as we expand our work).

Second, they help when we ask for a grant from a private foundation. One question that is almost always asked by foundation boards is, "How much money do your members provide?" It's a basic standard, and it means what it appears to mean: the larger the percentage of members' dues and donations the greater are the Council's chances of securing the foundation grants so necessary to full-scale projects.

So thanks for your support. Keep it up, and next time bring along a friend.

A REVIEW -- by Beverly J. Hart (Neighborhood Youth Corps clerical aid working in the ACHR office.)

"Neighborhood Stabilization: A Program" published by Southern Regional Council

With the aid of recent legislation, increasing education, and greater financial security Negroes are restive at being confined to areas of old and poor housing. They are moving more frequently into formerly all-white neighborhoods.

Community groups formed to articulate these demands or to resist exploitation by unscrupulous real estate speculators have become units with great political potential.

Neighborhoods are particularly apt units in which to foster a strong community voice; common problems create common bonds. Neighborhood associations have developed in neighborhoods facing the fact or possibility of their first Negro family; neighborhoods which have been short-changed or ignored by city governments or federal agencies; neighborhoods which want to expand equal opportunity to include housing in their own area.

Neighborhoods that are cramped are inhabited by Negro citizens, cramped because the city lacks fair housing laws combined with prejudice or governmental inertia which has allowed housing discrimination to operate for years offering Negroes little possibility of escape into more comfortable, less crowded sections of the city.

This neighborhood with its many advantaged is marked. Real estate dealers view it as speculative property; they hope to buy very low and sell high. A middle income Negro family perhaps will purchase one of the houses owned by an old resident who wants to move to an apartment. When this occurs, or simply by suggesting it might occur, real estate speculators "block bust."

REVIEW (cont'd)

Their aim is to change a block from white to Negro within a few weeks and to realize a large profit from the rapid change. So a house properly assessed at $20,000 may be sold for $14,000. This house will be resold at $25,000 to a Negro family desperate for housing.

White property owners have managed to cheat themselves by fright and foolishness. And neither does this aid Negroes, for they are victimized by the real estate brokers. Everyone loses except the speculators.

This is the picture, as dark as it can be made. There is hope, but only if the community will take action itself. No one else is going to save it; no one is directly concerned about stabilizing the neighborhood.

 The Council office has a limited number of this SRC report. If you would like one, just write to the state office.

NEWS FROM OTHER COUNCILS

The Virginia Council on Human Relations, in cooperation with leaders of the statewide religious community is holding a "Conference of People, Religion and a Changing Virginia," November 28-29, at Richmond.

A STUDENT IDEA

A national "Thanksgiving Fast for Freedom" is again being sponsored this year on November 17 by the U.S. National Student Association. It will be the fifth year that college students voluntarily give up their evening meal to help needy Southern Negroes. The money saved is contributed to a central fund which last year went to the Poor Peoples Conference in Mississippi; paid for food distribution programs in 20 South Carolina counties; supported a cement block cooperative in Green County, Ala.; and paid for lunches for over 300 children in preschool centers in Sunflower County, Miss. The students' 1965 fast raised over $26,000, and the goal has been set higher this year.

Mr. A. W. Ford, Commissioner
Arkansas State Department of Education

Little Rock, Arkansas

Dear Secretary Gardner and Commissioner Ford:

The writer of this letter is the Executive Director of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations, a private agency which is a state affiliate of the Southern Regional Council in Atlanta, Georgia. The Arkansas Council on Human Relations (ACHR) has been involved in intergroup relations activities since 1954 and during that time has devoted much attention to the attainment of equal educational opportunities and equal justice for all.

Although significant improvements have been made in the quality of education in Arkansas, by and large we find that Arkansas remains near the bottom on the list of states when a nationwide comparison is made. The disparity still remains between the quality of education afforded white pupils and that afforded Negro pupils throughout most of the state. That this disparity and the economic disparity were sufficiently significant to warrant federal concern has been long manifest, and at last recognized by the United States Congress when it passed the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965. That legislation, as you well know, was designed to upgrade the quality of education for all, but with particular and special emphasis offered to the economically deprived children, many of whom, of course, are Negroes. The hope, therefore, is that at last all children -- Negro and white, poor and rich -- will receive equal educational opportunities.

We understand it to be the function of your offices to implement the Elementary and Secondary Education Act through the various state and local educational agencies and to take necessary steps, in cooperation with these agencies, to insure that inclusive and imaginative plans are submitted by local school districts, and that these school districts carry out their plans in good faith and in the interest of all concerned, keeping in mind the intent of Congress at all times.

We are writing you because it is our belief that at least one school district in Arkansas has not fulfilled its obligation to your offices and more importantly, to the pupils in the district with regard to plans for and use of Public Law 89-10 funds. That district is the Palestine, Arkansas School District #18 in St. Francis County.

The Palestine School District has historically operated and maintained a dual school system for Negro and white pupils and faculty. That pattern continues, to a great extent, dispite an HEW approved "freedom of choice" desegregation plan. Significantly, Negro pupils in grades 9 - 12 continue to be "bussed" into the Negro school in the adjacent Forrest City, Arkansas school district; and those in the elementary grades of the Palestine Negro school receive grossly inferior education. Moreover, as an investigation will reveal, the district is using 89-10 funds not only to perpetuate racial segregation, but to widen the already existing gap between the education afforded Negro pupils and that afforded white pupils.

A group of parents approached our office for advice regarding the situation in Palestine. Because our organization is dedicated to working with state and federal agencies and with local people in helping them amicably and equitably resolve their differences, we are writing to your respective offices.

Several members of my staff investigated the Palestine situation and the following statements are based on their reports and on my general observations and experiences in the field of education in Arkansas.

A. Cafeteria Construction and Food Lunch Program

In 1965 the Arkansas State Department of Education approved a proposal from the Palestine School District #18 for funds under Title one of Public Law 89-10. The proposal included $31,500 ($19,211 from federal funds and $12,289 from school district funds) for the construction and equipping of a cafeteria to be located at 105 E. Wood Street, Palestine, Arkansas, the site of the predominantly white Palestine School. The seating capacity of the cafeteria was planned for 150. A list of moveable equipment for the lunchroom is as follows:

| | Estimated cost |
|---|---|
| Serving counter | $ 1,450. |
| Clean and dirty dish table | 850. |
| Dishwasher | 1,500. |
| Cook table | 445. |
| Baker's table | 600. |
| Mixer | 600. |
| Refrigerator | 1,000. |
| Freezer | 1,500. |
| Oven | 435. |
| Range | 633. |
| Cooling rack | 125. |
| Tables | 650. |
| Chairs | 600. |
| Plates, silverware, glasses | 375. |
| Silverware baskets and dispenser | 75. |
| Pots, pans, cutlery | 350. |
| Dish racks and washing trays | 150. |
| Garbage recepticles | 100. |
| Taxes and freight on the above | 900. |
| | $ 12,338. |

In its proposal the school board maintained that Palestine School was serving hot lunches in a classroom in 5 shifts and that Palestine Training School (Negro) was serving no hot lunches. It further stated that the Negro school had a building used as an auditorium which could be converted into a cafetorium. The School Board proposed that lunchroom facilities be built at Palestine School with a kitchen large enough to cook food for both schools.

Upon inspection, the contrast between the two lunchroom facilities is striking. The Negro cafetorium is a low, wooden structure placed on concrete blocks. It has been recently repainted. Inside there is a small stage at one end of the room; a galvanized sink, a refrigerator, a chest for milk, an unuseable, corroded steam table, and a wooden counter are at the other end. Tables and folding chairs are stacked on either side of the room. Plastic dishes and bowls are placed on shelves under the counter. There are no doors on the low shelves, and the Negro parents state that after sweeping the floor the dust settles on the dishes. They also maintain that the water heating system is inadequate; often the water is not hot enough to effectively rinse off the dishes before serving the children. There are no screens on either the windows or doors. It is alleged that the old dishes, bowls, silverware, tables, chairs, and refrigerator from Palestine School were given to the Negro school.

The low, brick cafeteria at the Palestine (white) School was added on to existing classrooms. A window view of the Palestine School cafeteria revealed a modern, well-equipped kitchen area with a stainless steel serving counter. There were screens on all the windows and doors.

In 1966 the Arkansas State Department of Education approved another proposal for Palestine School District #18 which included $15,700 for a Food Lunch Program. The following is the general description written by the Palestine School Board for this program:

> We propose to feed 100 needy children meals each day; these children otherwise would not be able to eat a hot lunch each day. The amount of money in the Food Lunch Program is large because of the need for equipment for the lunch room which would be a continuation of the 1965-66 project program. There is great need for this equipment because 200 more students would be able to have hot lunches. Under this equipment would be a pick up truck which would allow hot lunches to be carried to 200 students who otherwise would not have hot lunches.
> The Food Lunch Program would affect approximately 400 children 2½ hours each week for 36 weeks.

The Negro parents were told that 90 children would be eligible for free hot lunches, 60 at the Negro school and 30 at Palestine School. Since the first day of school when 60 hot lunches were served, the number of meals served there has varied from 25 to a maximum 54, with approximately half of these lunches served free.

The meals are prepared at Palestine School and taken to the Negro school on the rear of a pick-up truck. The trays of food are covered with a cloth or with waxed paper and are transported approximately three-quarters of a mile across a railroad track and over a dusty, gravel road. One parent stated that she saw an uncovered tray of cupcakes delivered by the truck. Much of the food is spilled during transport. The food served to the Negro children is generally in smaller portions, with "never enough to go around, maybe one tablespoon of vegetable," according to one parent. The food is always cold before all the children are served. The number of meals transported to the Negro school and the number of students anticipating a hot lunch are often unrelated.

The Negro parents are unanimous in their insistence that food transported in this manner is unsanitary and ask that some arrangement be made so that all the children can eat together in the cafeteria built at Palestine School.

B. Section 205(a) (7) of Title I, Public Law 89-10.

The Negro parents are very much interested in a personal services program which would include clothing, textbooks, and eye glasses. However, the Palestine School Board presented as its first priority of the most pressing educational need the statement that "both schools need lunchroom facilities" and that "all students would be involved" by the construction of a new cafeteria. The fact that personal services was listed as third priority seems to point out a lack of communication between the Palestine School Board and the Negro school patrons. The Negro PTA maintains that it has asked to meet with the School Board and superintendent but has been constantly refused. It, therefore, seems that the Palestine School Board did not work with the local community action agency in planning their proposal. However, it was written on the proposal that there is "no CAP in the district." Perhaps the Palestine Board was unaware of it at the time, but there is a CAP which has responsibility for the Palestine area. It is named The Eastern and Central Arkansas Economic Opportunity Council, 320 N. Rosser Street, Forrest City (St. Francis County), Arkansas (some eight miles east of Palestine.)

C. Location of the 1965 summer remedial program.

In the proposal for funds for 1965 a provision was made for an eight week summer remedial program to begin on June 13, 1966. The Palestine School Board wrote that it would "use the existing facilities of the school", implying the white school, to house the summer project. However, the program was conducted at both the Negro school and at Palestine School.

D. Discrepancy in school enrollment figures.

Under "Total School Enrollment" in the 1966 proposal the following figures were listed:

Total School Enrollment: 661

Palestine High School [white] [rated B by the Arkansas State Department of Education]
149 (60 educationally deprived, 40%)

Palestine Elementary [white] [rated B]
233 (98 educationally deprived, 42%)

Palestine Training (7-12) [Negro] [unrated by the Arkansas State Department of Education]
114 (60 educationally deprived, 53%)

Palestine Training [Negro] [unrated]
165 (92 educationally deprived, 56%)

Total for Palestine School (white): 382
Total for Palestine Training (N) : 279

The Arkansas Gazette of December 26, 1966 reported that the total enrollment for Palestine School is 361; and for Palestine Training School, 233; with 21 Negro students in the white school.

Palestine Training School has grades 1 through 8 only and does not offer classes as represented by the 89-10 proposal above the 8th grade level. Each day a bus load of approximately seventy seven Negro junior and senior high school students, grades nine through twelve, are taken to Lincoln High School (Negro), in the Forrest City, Arkansas school district #7.

We have brought the foregoing complaints and observations to your attention in all good faith because we are concerned that effective measures are adopted and taken to insure that all pupils in the Palestine school district receive equal educational opportunities and equal justice under the law. To this end we reiterate our offer to serve in any way to achieve these objectives.

Very truly yours,

Elijah Coleman

MEMBERSHIP AND FINANCE CAMPAIGN

The Executive Board, office staff, and Advisory Council of ACHR would like to express their thanks and appreciation to the more than 1,000 members throughout the state for their support during 1966. It was because of this support that the Council has been able to improve programming in human relations in Arkansas.

Since our membership and financial campaign will get under way in a few days, we thought we should explain some minor changes in procedure made by the Finance Committee and approved by the Board.

One of the most important changes is the setting up of a definite time limit for the purpose of soliciting members and contributions. The Finance Committee has blocked out a time span of 45 days, from February 15 to March 31. If we can reach our budgeted goals during this time, the staff and local councils would be free to get on with the business of organizing and programming.

Another change recommended by the Committee is a new dues category -- Associate membership with dues of $2 a year. It was felt that there are a large number of potential people in the lower income brackets who would like to be involved with the work of the Council.

The staff is asking each member of ACHR to bring in one new member. This way we could easily double our current membership. REMEMBER! EACH ONE BRING ONE!

We would like to urge all those who have received renewal requests to send in your 1967 dues. Because we want to have one annual dues date, that is, in March of every year, we want to encourage the rest of the membership to send in your dues now rather than wait until June when we will have to send out a second batch of renewal requests.

1967 ANNUAL MEETING

We wish that all the ACHR members could have joined us at the well attended and enthusiastic Annual Meeting. At the meeting the theme of more and better jobs for all people was stated by our keynote speaker, Stephen N. Shulman, Chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission. Chairman Shulman termed jobs and better paying jobs for minority group members "a crucial factor not only in the South, but throughout the county," and suggested that ACHR act as a catalyst for a statewide cooperative effort to achieve this objective.

As a beginning to this, but only a beginning, the Council is listing below the names of the Republican committeemen in several counties. Their office will receive applications for state jobs which are vacant.

REPRESENTATIVES OF THE COUNTY REPUBLICAN RECOMMENDATIONS COMMITTEE

ACHR has received a number of requests for information on how to obtain a job with the state government. At the same time we have heard that only a few Negroes are applying for state jobs. The following people can help if contacted.

VOTER EDUCATION PROJECT

Recently, Rev. Ben Grinage, Director of the ACHR Voter Education Project received the following report originally given before the Pine Bluff Council on Human Relations. It is reprinted below at his request. Rev. Grinage hopes that other local groups will be able to use this report as a basis for work in this area. Interested organization may contact Rev. Grinage for further information.

"The Voter Registration Committee realizes that the right to become informed on public issues, the right to discuss those issues in public, and the right to vote are all the very life blood of democracy. These are the great privileges of free men. And of these, voting is most fundamental, for without the right to turn ideas into action, study and discussion become futile. But voting is not a privilege to be exercised only when convenient, as a hat is worn or left off, as the mood suits us. Voting is a solemn obligation.

"In a democracy the people are the rulers through their elected representatives, but if the people give up and refuse to rule, then someone else will step in -- a political boss, a dictator, or an organized, selfish group. The privilege of voting may be compared to a muscle in the human body; if this privilege is not exercised, it may wither away until it finally disappears altogether..

"Therefore, during the next two years, this Committee pledges to devote every effort toward the following objectives:

1) Leadership training
2) Citizenship education
3) voter registration

"Under leadership training we feel the need to develop or encourage a core of people who will take the time to become informed on procedure, on issues, and on candidates, and to prepare themselves to transfer this information to the less informed.

"With citizenship education every effort will be made toward teaching voter education, and first-class citizenship to those who do not know. We would like to somehow make everyone feel the importance of voting. Also, to inform the public through leaflets on the mechanics of voting. In addition, the use of the voting machine will be offered to PTA groups and other organizations (as soon as models or films are available.) We feel that some people are a little afraid of something so complicated looking as a voting machine. They don't understand it and fear that they never will. We feel that it is not too soon to start this training now.

"Under voter registration we plan to make an intensive effort to develop a survey canvass in order to obtain an accurate record on registered persons in each precinct. We intend to keep a card file on every registered voter, and on every eligible unregistered voter.

"We propose to organize streets into areas and have an area leader for each precinct, and captains for each block. Each captain will be responsible for not more than 30 persons. The captains will be responsible to the area leader in reporting every unregistered voter.

"The names of eligible A.M.& N. College students will be obtained through the IBM machine, and these prospective voters will be urged to register. A card file will also be kept on those who are already 21, and those nearing the age of 21.

"This is, of course, a mammoth job for a small committee, and we are in need of many more volunteers.

"These are our objectives. With your approval, we shall strive to accomplish these goals. We may be successful with some of them and fail in others, but we solicit your help and cooperation."

PAMPHLETS AND REPRINTS OF INTEREST

The ACHR office has a number of pamphlets and reprints. Rather than just throwing them out, we thought there might be some members who would like to have copies. True, some are dated,others are very current, but either way, you may find them useful and interesting. They are all free, but should you wish a large number of copies, we would appreciate a small contribution to take care of postage.

MISCELLANEOUS:

A report by the Connecticut Commission on Civil Rights revealed that it investigated 319 new complaints during 1966. Of these 250, or 78%, were of alleged discrimination in employment practices and public accommodations.

Legislation to repeal old Missouri laws that prohibit the marriage of white persons and Negroes or with Mongolians was introduced in the Missouri legislature by Rep. Harold Holliday of Kansas City. A companion measure would repeal felony provisions on miscengenation.

Volume 12, No. 2 NEWSLETTER April 1967

Dear ACHR Members:

Since our last newsletter the staff has divided its time between our annual membership and finance campaign and organizing local councils. Fund raising is a necessary chore, for in order to program effectively we need a sound financial base. The annual membership dues of $5 provide an important portion of these funds. Dues are also essential because large, out of state foundations are insistent on evidences of greater local support before they fund any project.

Last year ACHR won the George Mitchell Award from the Southern Regional Council for the greatest percentage increase in membership. This year we hope to at least double last year's 1,000 membership total. Each of you can help out if you will bring one member to the Council.

Now about local organizing. I was very pleased to find that so many people in Arkansas are interested in the ACHR program and who are concerned about setting up local councils in their communities. El Dorado is our most recent affiliate with about 25 persons who regularly attend the meetings. Rev. Lymell Carter is the temporary chairman and Mrs. Virginia Green is the temporary secretary.

Magnolia, Hot Springs, Camden, and Arkadelphia will soon be ready to organize local affiliates. If you have friends in other cities, especially in eastern Arkansas, who would be interested in organizing local councils in their communities, please let me know.

This year I hope to bring the Council program out into the state, and during my visits I look forward to meeting you.

Sincerely,

Elijah Coleman

WHAT HAPPENS TO 89-10 MONEY IN YOUR LOCAL SCHOOL DISTRICT?

The Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1965 (Public Law 89-10) is potentially one of the most effective tools for closing the educational gap between the culturally advantaged and disadvantaged children. It was the intent of Congress to offer a means by which equal educational opportunities might become a reality. Yet in too many cases funds authorized under Title I of this act have been mishandled, and the educationally deprived children are still hungry, ill-clothed, undereducated, and segregated.

Early this year the Arkansas Council received a letter from a group of parents in Palestine (St. Francis County, 8 miles east of Forrest City) concerning the lunch program in that school district: "The way District 18 is doing the program we feel that it is not right. We do not have a cooking place at our school. The food is cooked at another school about 3/4 miles and brought down about 11:30 o'clock in a truck and most of the children are not fed and they are really in need of food. Could you tell us why. They are not feeding pigs but they are helpless children. I think someone ought to speak out against the way it's done. Will you please send someone to help us, not only my children but the others in our community are in need."

89-10 FUNDS (cont'd)

An investigation by the Council revealed that Title I funds were apparently used by the Palestine District to build a cafeteria at the white school and to purchase a pick-up truck to transport food to the Negro school. The contrast between the two lunchroom facilities was striking: a poorly equipped, unsanitary wooden building and a modern, well-equipped brick cafeteria. The investigation also brought out a variety of other issues in this historically operated dual school system.

The findings were gathered in a seven page letter and sent to John W. Gardner, Secretary of HEW, and to A. W. Ford, Commissioner of the Arkansas State Department of Education, with copies to the appropriate state and federal agencies. Both offices have promised prompt investigations.

The other day the Council received a call from the Office of Equal Educational Opportunities in Washington. The representative assured ACHR that Negro high school students will no longer be bussed into Forrest City in the 1967-68 year (the bussing situation was brought out by our investigation), and that both the Forrest City and Palestine school officials were made aware of the position of the U.S. Office of Education on this matter. Of course, it is up to the Council and its members to maintain a close watch this fall and to see if these students do attend the white high school in Palestine. The portions of our letter dealing with 89-10 funds are still being investigated, and we will keep ACHR members informed about the results.

What about your school district? How are funds being spent there? Did you know that your district's proposal for federal funds are public documents and that you have the right to see them? It is up to the local communities to see that Title I funds are being used to benefit those children who are in great need of personal and academic services.

ARKANSAS COUNCIL WELFARE SURVEY.

In a report issued by the President's Advisory Council on Public Welfare it is stated that "Public assistant payments are so low and so uneven that the Government is, by its own standards and definitions, a major source of the poverty on which it has declared unconditional war ...

"Large numbers of those in desperate need, including many children are excluded even from this level of aid by arbitrary eligibility requirements unrelated to need such as those based on age, family situation, degree of disability, alleged employability, low earnings, unrealistic requirements for family contributions, durational residence, and absence of provisions for emergency assistance ... Neither the war on poverty nor achievement of the long range goals implicit in a Great Society concept can succeed so long as the basic guarantees of a practical minimum level of income and social protection are not assured for all."

The Arkansas Council has recently concluded an eight-week preliminary survey in St. Francis and Phillips counties concerning the public welfare program there. As a result of Howard Himmelbaum's interviews, discussions, and meetings, the Council believes that too many persons are receiving inadequate attention from the county offices of public welfare. Take the case of Mrs. Jones, 60 years old, living in a one room shack with no facilities for running water and no indoor bathroom. She has no source of income and must live off what people give her or what they throw out. Despite her arthritic condition which does not allow her to work, Mrs. Jones has been notified in writing that she does not qualify for welfare assistance on the grounds that she is able-bodied.

We have found that too many people are afraid of the welfare workers, anticipating embarrassment and rejection, and hence do not apply for assistance. Too many are unaware of their rights and responsibilities under the exisitng welfare system. That 6.1% of Arkansans are on public welfare (as compared to 4.4% for the U.S. as a whole) may not reflect the actual number of those who qualify or who are in need. The Council hopes to obtain funds to involve itself more extensively in the area of welfare, and to work with the poor in this state.

ARKANSAS VOTER EDUCATION PROJECT.

Because the Council believes that citizens must not end their participation in democracy with registering and voting, the Council, in cooperation with the Southern Regional Council, will continue to work in the all vital area of citizenship education during 1967. Rev. Ben Grinage is attempting to establish local voter education programs throughout Arkansas in an effort to create a better informed and active citizenery.

On March 28 a statewide meeting of county representatives was held in the conference room of the Arkansas Teachers Association. Thirty one persons, representing 13 counties, attended. The representatives ratified a constitution and adopted the name "The Arkansas Council on County and Community Affairs." One of the main purposes and goals of this organization is to create in every county a council of organizations that would work together in their local counties and across the state.

The Arkansas VEP will lend its support to ACCCA with technical and coordinating assistance in the areas of community organizing, research, and educational information.

SERS REPORT ON DESEGREGATION.

Sixteen percent of the 3 million Negro students in the South are now attending desegregated schools, the Southern Education Reporting Service said Sunday, April 2, 1967. The pace of desegregation was up sharply over last year, when only 6% of the Negro students in the region attended schools with white students. During the current school year 305,665 Negroes were placed in desegregated schools while Negro enrollment increased by 74,790. However, more Negro students are enrolled in all-Negro schools than in 1954 when the Supreme Court handed down its first school desegregation decision. The South now has 2.6 million Negroes in all-Negro schools and less than 500,000 in desegregated schools. In 1954 the 11 Southern states had 2.2 million Negro students enrolled in completely segregated school systems.

UNEMPLOYMENT AND THE NEGRO.

According to the U.S. Department of Labor the 1966 unemployment rate for Negroes of 7.5 percent was the lowest since the Korean war. Still, "there was a slight slowdown in the rate of improvement for Negroes compared with that for whites." The jobless rate of nonwhites has averaged at least twice that of whites during the past decade. Secretary of Labor Wirtz said that reaching the hard core unemployed means "not waiting for the umemployed to come to us, but going out to reach them." Local councils should know what the employment status is in their communities. The council can undertake a statistical survey of the industrial potential in their area. The state office will assist interested local chapters in programming and research in employment.

SUGGESTION FOR LOCAL COUNCIL PROGRAM.

Very often documentary films can be used to motivate a group toward action, or at least discussion. The following may be useful to your chapter:

The Community Relations Service of the Department of Justice has produced and is distributing a 25 minute, 16 mm film titled The Mercer Project: A Path to Peaceful School Desegregation. This film, produced in Macon, Georgia, is the story of the efforts of the Macon Council on Human Relations to organize and conduct a project that would help smooth school desegregation in the city. It is available through Media Relations, Dept. MP, Community Relations Service, Washington, D.C. 20530. Films, which are "issue oriented" can be obtained from the National Education Television Film Service, Indiana University, Audio-Visual Center, Bloomington, Indiana. Ask for a copy of their catalogue.

FROM THE DIRECTOR . . .

Law Enforcement and Community Relations

Several years ago, a well-known and sometimes controversial national organization came up with an often seen and repeated slogan, "Support Your Local Police."

To the average American citizen this slogan is probably all too obvious because it is doubtlessly assumed that we as Americans do, as a whole, support and respect our local law enforcement official. We do not, of course, in the absence of certain research, attempt to validate or invalidate this assumption, but it can be argued that the Negro community would be less likely, because of past experience to have any real concern for the support of local law enforcement officials. This is not to suggest that the Negro community, or the Negro as an individual, does not have respect for law and order, because they do. The difficulty comes, as we see it, from the lack of communication between the Negro community and the local law enforcement agency.

For example, would the local police know that the Negro child has been brought up, if indeed not taught to fear, rather than respect, his patrolman; or does he know that in many Negro communities the local lawman is considered to be an oppressor, and not a community helper as is taught in elementary school. It may be concluded that the Negro child has been taught his attitudes toward all law enforcement officials by his parents. And if he has, it is because they were taught these attitudes by their parents and nothing in terms of communications has changed since their childhood.

The Negro parent would recommend and welcome a change of attitute toward the local law enforcement official, but he has not found a way of successfully communicating with those who are responsible for enforcing the law. Those communities wanting to move forward with a far-reaching program on law enforcement and community relations might well consider a proposal as drawn out by Mr. Harry Fleischman, Race Relations Coordinator for The American Jewish Committee. This proposal is being recommended to our state council for consideration by John Boone of the Southern Regional Council:

"1. Review their community police department budget requests and be represented at municipal hearings in order to support, where indicated, recommendations for salary increases and enlargement of staff to make police work attractive enough to compete with other professions.

2. Meet with police officers to get theri suggestions as to how the intergroup relations agencies can be helpful to them in the overall administration of their responsibilities and particularly in increasing two-way communication between the police officer in the neighborhood and local citizens.

3. Urge all civic-minded groups to aid in recruiting Negroes, Puerto Ricans and Mexican Americans into the police forces so that the latter may adequately represent their total communities.

4. Participate in efforts to secure additional public or private funds for intergroup training of police officers.

5. Work with other community orgainzations to develop support for the above programs.

6. Bring your supportive community position to the attention of the Policemen's Benevolent Assiciation and other organizations of law enforcement officers in the community and offer to work with them to achieve common objectives."

The Arkansas Council would be happy to cooperate with any community desiring to further explore this plan.

STUDENTS IN URBAN AFFAIRS

For ten weeks this summer, June 9 - August 18, there will be a STUDENTS IN URBAN AFFAIRS seminar in Little Rock, Arkansas sponsored jointly by The Arkansas Council of Churches, The Arkansas Council on Human Relations, and The Arkansas Methodist Student Movement. It will attempt to provide 12-15 students with a maximum exposure to the major problems of an urban enviroment. Through an investigation of the local community institutions, the church, and the state and federal government, the participants will try to discover how these problems can be resolved.

To those of us living in an age of tremendous social and technological change, it has become increasingly clear that there is an imperative change, for a new understanding of the responsible stance in our secular age. This project is uniquely designed to provide real-life laboratory experiences in which students can learn to live in response and with responsibility in our urban technological society.

How Does It Work

The project is based on the daily involvement in the community of the participating students. Students will work in a specific area, i.e. public welfare, community service, United Fund, voter education and registration, tutoring, governmental functions, and housing.

Seminars will take place in the evenings with study and discussion. These sessions will include group discussions, lecture, films, and forums. Prominent leaders of the community and state will be resource persons. Most of these sessions will be open to 50 additional persons.

The group will live in cooperative arrangements with room and board provided for each participant.

Finances

A budget of $5,000.00 has been set up for the project. Each student is being provided with room and board. In addition scholarships of up to $300 will be given to each student at the end of the project. Funds will be coming in from a few of the jobs in which students are placed. Several groups and individuals have made pledges or contributions to the project. However a large part of the program remains to be financed in order to assure the students of full scholarships. Contributions are tax deductible and any amount will be greatly appreciated. Make checks payable to Arkansas Council of Churches-SUA.

ACHR ACTIVITIES.

Organizing Local Affiliates.

Organizing activities over the past several months have resulted in the formation of two local affiliates -- Wynne and Forrest City. Rev. C. M. Kennedy is the president of the Wynne Council on Human Relations. Rev. J. F. Cooley and Fr. Joseph Biltz are temporary co-chairmen of the Forrest City Council. We are especially pleased with the results of the ACHR's first move into eastern Arkansas.

On June 20 one of the "best organizational meetings," according to Elijah Coleman, was held in Camden. We hope that the Council will become active very shortly in that part of the state.

News from Local Affiliates.

North Little Rock. The Health and Welfare Committee of the North Little Rock Council will hold the first of a series of panel discussions on "Poverty and Community Affairs" on Thursday, June 29 at 7:30 p.m. at Laman Library, 28th and Orange Streets.

Conway. The Conway Council held its annual banquet in May with 75 members attending. Mrs. Robert Goodloe, Jr., president, presided at the meeting, and Fr. Clancy, chairman of the ACHR Board, was the main speaker.

Fayetteville. The Fayetteville Community Relations Association held its annual pot-luck supper meeting with the Southeast Fayetteville Neighborhood Council and the Community Club on June 1. The Fayetteville Association is currently informing its members about the use of federal funds for housing in the Fayetteville community. FCRA puts out an excellent newsletter which is very informative. We suggest a newsletter to all affiliates interested in broadening their contact within the community and in keeping their own members up to date on activities.

Welfare Project.

With the aid of a grant from the Southern Regional Council, ACHR is currently developing a simplified welfare manual for use by local affiliates and welfare recipients. Howard Himmelbaum is going through the material in the Arkansas Department of Public Welfare Manual gleaning the pertinent information which can then be put into a simplified format. Some interesting statistics which show how much more work and attention have to be focussed on the welfare situation in Arkansas:

1) The average monthly payment for old age assistance for 1965-66 was $64.93; for aid for families with dependent children, $71.87 (with maximum set at $115 a month regardless of the number of children); for the blind, $72.5; and for the disabled, $67.74. These figures reveal that welfare payments keep those in need far below the poverty level as defined by the federal government - $3000 a year for a family of four.

2) As of June, 1965 Arkansas ranked 48th among the states for monthly payment for AFDC (Adi to Families with Dependent Children); in 1966 Arkansas also ranked 48th.

3) In Arkansas 6.1% of the people are dependent on public welfare, while the average for the U.S. as a whole is 4.4%. This figure does not take into account numerous persons who do not qualify, at the present time, because of the stringent interpretation of eligibility rules; or who are fearful of applying for welfare.

ARKANSAS VOTER EDUCATION PROJECT.

In its initial attempt at creating a statewide, nonpartisan organization, the Arkansas VEP met with 30 leaders of statewide groups on May 21 in Little Rock. The conferees supported the plan to establish the AVEP on a permanent, statewide basis.

To further this goal Arkansas VEP, under the directorship of Rev. Ben Grinage and the AVEP temporary steering committee, is planning a statewide conference for Saturday, July 8, in Camden. The keynote speaker will be Wiley Branton, formerly of Pine Bluff, who is Special Assistant to the U.S. Attorney General. Workshops will be held in the three areas of Voter Registration, Citizenship Education, and Leadership Training.

The AVEP steering committee is composed of George Howard, Jr., chairman; Mrs. Maxine Collins, secretary; C.H. Jones; Rev. C.K. Yarber; and F. L. Curry.

On June 10 - 12 Rev. Grinage attended a conference for the advisory committee and staff of the Voter Education Project of SRC at Capahosic, Virginia. In addition to the two-day staff meeting, a meeting of civil rights leaders active in voter registration was held. Bayard Rustin addressed the opening session. Representatives of foundations, labor unions, and both political parties attended the VEP meeting.

RIGHTS OF JUVENILE DEFENDANTS.

On May 15, 1967 the U.S. Supreme Court declared that children are entitled to the basic protections of the Bill of Rights. The decision provides that children must receive proper notice of the charges against them. It further provides that children have the right to have a lawyer. "The child 'requires the guiding hand of counsel at every step in the proceedings against him.'"

The youth also has the right to confront and cross-examine those who have brought the charges against him. The decision also requires that "the child and his parents or guardian be notified, in writing, of the specific charge or factual allegations to be considered at the hearing." The child must receive proper warning that he does not have to say anything that may incriminate him and that he has the right to remain silent.

This important decision means that the U.S. Constitution guarantees the child rights and protections with regard to arrest, search and seizure, and pretrial questioning. He is assured the right to have specific notice of the charges and adequate time to decide his course of action and to prepare his defense. He is entitled to be advised that he can be represented by a lawyer, and if a felony were involved, the state would be required to provide a lawyer if his parents or guardians could not afford one. When a youth confesses to a crime, the court must make sure that the confession was given voluntarily and not through force or suggestion.

If ACHR members know about cases in which a child was not notified of his rights, or who has suffered at the hands of the police or court, please notify a lawyer or contact the office of the Arkansas Council.

THE NEW SOUTH.

We urge the members of ACHR to subscribe to New South magazine, published quarterly by the Southern Regional Council. The New South is a must for those who wish to remain well informed on current affairs in the southern region.

In addition to the regular features, "New South Notes" and "State of the Southern States," the Spring, 1967 issue included an article by Dr. Robert Coles entitled, "The Protesters" -- a sensitve interview study of several young participants of the civil rights movement. A comprehensive article about the Child Development Group of Mississippi, "CDGM: Who really Won?" by Pat Watters, is also in this issue.

Be sure to check the form on the last page of this newsletter if you wish to subscribe to New South.

The Language of Human Relations

By Ozell Sutton

It has never been so urgent for Americans to guard their speech about various religious, racial, and ethnic groups. Too often we give offense in our speech when we intend no ill-will. A conscious bigot uses all sorts of opprobrious expressions and does so deliberately. But many fair minded people of good will are unconsciously offensive. The latter is the group about which we are concerned. To hurt others by careless and unthinking remarks is one of the practices every civilized person seeks to overcome. Good human relations simply means good relating to humans.

AVOID THESE SLURS

People who are chock full of animosity continue to use ugly substitutes like "papist" for Catholic, "Kike" for Jew, "greaser" for Mexican, "nigger" for Negro, "paddy" or "cracker" for Caucasian, "dago" for Italian.

The word Negro often is a tongue twister for those who are inexperienced in intergroup relations. A tip from the Fort Smith Council on Human Relations: Rhyme "Negro" with "hero" and you won't go wrong.

IDIOMS TO AVOID

A treacherous heritage of prejudice is often found in such objectionable phrases as "Indian giver", "Chinaman's chance", "That's the Scotch in him", "Jew him down", "nigger rich" or "nigger in the wood pile".

REFINED SLURS TO AVOID

In addition to vulgar words of contemptuous slang there are expressions which can be called sophisticated slurs. These too are to be avoided. For example, in speaking to or about Negroes, the word "blacks" is entirely unwarranted. Insiduous emphasis on breeding by use of terms with overtones such as "pedigree", "mongrel" and "half-breed" is never in good taste.

Sexual differentiations in labels are absolutely taboo for the intelligent. Nouns like "Jewess" and "Negress" are never to be used. Such distinctions of gender should not occur in English except in reference to poultry or cattle.

INSULTING TERMS

Terms that generalize and stereotype a group of people, unfairly characterizing each individual in that group, are especially harmful. Minorities are never to be referred to as "they". "They want this" or "They want that" implies an isolated group of people, all of whom like or dislike the same things. There are just as many diverse interests among minorities as there are among the majority group. Similarly, bad usage in the racial pronoun: "you people", "your people" or "my people". "You boys" or by just "boy" to a man of a minority group is also detestable. Exceptions exist, of course, among close personal friends.

Likewise, jokes and jests which picture any racial, religious or ethnic group in a derogatory fashion are never to be used, neither in or out of the presence of its members.

SKIP SELECTIVE TRIBUTES

The selective tribute is also out of taste. Negro athletes deserve praise as individuals, not as representatives of their race. Joe Louis was no more a "credit to his race" than was Jack Dempsey to his. This "credit to your race" phrase is at best a thorny bouquet. The speaker who refers to Marian Anderson as a "credit to her race" would never say the same of Lily Pons or Marjorie Lawrence.

THE ARKANSAS COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
1310 WRIGHT AVENUE, LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS
FRANKLIN 6-3541

BE ALERT

The Arkansas Council on Human Relations welcomed enthusiastically the "Revised Policies for School Desegregation Plans", popularly called the "Guidelines", from the U. S. Office of Education. The key provisions for the interest of school patrons are these:

1. The pivotal provision is that the dual school system must disappear. A school will no longer be identifiable as "white" or "Negro", either by the teachers employed or by the proportion of the student body which is white or Negro. In most towns in Arkansas it means only one high school. It means abandonment of obviously inferior buildings rather than rebuilding them.

2. The "free choice plan", so called, actually is not a plan at all but is a method for ending the dual school structure, a means to the desired end. When school officials elect the free choice plan, they supposedly already have accepted the goal – a unitary school system. If the method works the number of Negro children in formerly white schools and the number of Negro and white teachers integrated in the system rapidly change to such proportions that the schools lose their identity as "white" or "Negro".

3. School officials are "responsible for preparing students, teachers and all other personnel, and the community in general" for the changes. School administrators are to use their knowledge of educational methods to plan for their preparation. Title IV in the Civil Rights Act of 1964 provides federal funds for use in these plans. If local school administrators are not asking for and using these funds for preparation of all concerned, their good faith may be questioned.

DO SOMETHING

1. Take a hard look alone or with other associates at what is happening in your school district. Get answers to these questions:

a) Do events indicate officials aim to end the dual school system or to continue schools for Negro children and schools for white children? How many white teachers are in formerly Negro schools? Do these teach full-time? How many Negro teachers are in formerly white schools as full-time teachers?

b) How has the free choice method worked? What per cent of Negro children were and will be in formerly white schools? ?% in 1965? ?% in 1966? Will this procedure ever end the dual school system? How many whites are in formerly Negro schools?

c) Are school buses integrated completely?

d) Have school officials used the help of the U. S. Office of Education in prepartion of teachers, students, and parents for change? Why have they not done so?

e) Do Negro teachers and principal(s) favor the present school system?

2. Get together a group of other school patrons and go over your observations and your concerns. Form a simple organization, if you do not have one, such as a committee for better education.

3. Go with a committee of your group to talk over your concerns with the most sympathetic school officials, superintendent or members of the Board.

You go not simply as a grievance committee, but as a committee for better education for all the children. You are ready to help school officials make the change with a minimum of discord. But you are committed first, last and always to the changes required.

You go with complete assurance that officials need not fear the changes. To date all experience shows that an overall plan for system desegregation put into operation promptly causes fewer headaches and quicker adjustments by the community. Point out that the "bogeys" schoolmen feared in the changes of 1965 vanished when the steps actually were taken. Schoolmen need to be reassured and pressured to do what they must.

4. Have the same committee confer with Negro teachers and principal(s) to get their support for the changes, for the good of children and of the teachers themselves.

If you do not get satisfactory results from your efforts, notify the following giving exact information on the status of local school desegregation:

THE ARKANSAS COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS
1220 WEST CAPITOL, LITTLE ROCK, ARKANSAS
FRanklin 4-4521

"All our studies come out at the same place: We are entering a totally new world and we are not very well prepared for it."

—Robert Hutchins

ACHR would unite the energies of all Arkansans who accept the new day in human relations and would prepare for it, who would walk straight forward into the sixties neither pushed nor dragged by the forces of history.

ACHR would have Arkansas end racism, "our most serious domestic evil," by opening the same opportunities for individual colored citizens as for individual white citizens—in education, in politics, in employment, in housing, in religion, in art, in recreation, in health.

ACHR exerts its energies that citizens committed to new human relations may find united ways of acting, that the aspirations of Negro Americans may become articulate and understood, that the surge toward new freedoms by minorities may be strengthened, that officials may act with knowledge to open opportunities to all.

ACHR works for the new day through public meetings, through speakers and consultants, through conferences, by furnishing facts and interpretations to newsmen and editors, through literature and newsletters.

ACHR needs you to help press toward an Arkansas that emphasizes human resources and human values during its rapid economic growth, "where the measure of a man will be his ability, not his race; where all who labor will be rewarded in proportion to their skill and achievement; where there will be no double standard in housing, in health, in education or other public services; where every individual will enjoy a full share of dignity and respect in recognition of his creation in the image of God."

ACHR urgently needs the help of all who seek new ways for new days. Please join and contribute.

ARKANSAS COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS

An Introduction

What Is ACHR?

The Arkansas Council on Human Relations is a voluntary, non-profit, non-political, and non-sectarian association of Arkansans of all races and creeds who seek equal opportunity for all citizens. It is a private (non-governmental) organization, incorporated under the laws of Arkansas.

What Is The Purpose Of ACHR?

The Council seeks to improve human relations by working to secure equal opportunity for all people. Good human relations simply means relating well to others. ACHR works toward the day "when the measure of a man will be his ability, not his race, when all who labor will be rewarded in proportion to their skill and achievement, when there will be no double standard in housing, in health, in education or other public services, when every individual will enjoy a full share of dignity and respect in recognition of his creation in the image of God."

How Does ACHR Work?

The Council seeks "transition without tragedy" and uses and advocates the conference table and workshop to achieve its purposes. It uses imagination and creativity to bring people together across racial, ethnic, and religious lines in search of answers to the problems which separate them. Its methods are negotiation, mediation, and persuasion.

How Is ACHR Organized And Who Decides Policy?

The Council is an autonomous body governed by a Board of Directors elected by the membership at its annual meeting. The Board meets monthly, sets policy, and generally oversees the work of the staff. Local councils exist in a number of cities through which programs seeking equal opportunities for minorities in housing, employment, education, etc., are carried on.

The Council is associated with the Southern Regional Council headquartered in Atlanta, Georgia. SRC assists ACHR financially through grants-in-aid and in programming through research materials and information.

What Is The History Of ACHR?

The Council was organized in December, 1954, incorporated and staffed in 1955. Its predecessor was the Arkansas Division of the Southern Regional Council. Among ACHR's incorporators were Harry Ashmore, then the Executive Editor of the Arkansas Gazette; the late Reverend Charles C. Walker, and Fred K. Darragh, Jr., a Little Rock businessman.

The Southern Regional Council traces its history back to 1919 when a group of the South's leading churchmen formed the Commission on Interracial Cooperation to encourage the interchange of ideas and mutual understanding between Negroes and whites. The Commission was succeeded in 1944 by the Southern Regional Council, organized by a group of distinguished Southern leaders.

How Is ACHR Financed?

The operating costs of the Council are underwritten primarily by its members and contributors with some assistance from foundation grants and the Southern Regional Council.

Who May Join ACHR?

Persons who believe in ACHR's philosophy and who wish to support its cause of equal opportunity are invited to become members. Simply fill out the application form and mail it to the state office. You may send dues or contributions by check or money order, or be billed later.

Dear Father Clancey:

Les has discussed with me your interests in seeking funds for a special project. If you will send us a brief written proposal we will be happy to rework it and put it in the shape of a foundation request. This we'll return to you along with suggestions of appropriate foundations.

Incidentally, all of us are pleased and grateful that you have taken on the presidency of ACHR. We are eager to be of any possible help.

Best wishes.

Dear Ed.:

This is just a note to thank you personally for your part in our annual meeting last week.

I especially appreciated the opportunity to talk personally with you and to profit from your very considerable experience in the work of human relations. As I remarked to you Saturday, we do tend to feel isolated and far away here in Arkansas. Your being at our meeting and speaking to our concerned people was a big boost to us here, and I just wanted to let you know I appreciate it. I discussed the business with Nat, and I really believe we can work out something here. We still need some help, of course. What about the possibilities of our obtaining an Eleanor Roosevelt Foundation grant for an apprentice staff person? Is there any possibility?

You will be hearing from me from time to time about the ongoing work of the Council here. Again, thank you for your help in coming here to be with us.

With the very kindest of personal regards, I remain

Sincerely,

Walter B. Clancy, jr

The Reverend Walter B. Clancy, Chairman

Dear Father Clancy:

Paul says that no grant-request should be sent to Taconic Foundation. They provide a big part of our regular grant-in-aid money and have specifically said that no requests from individual state councils will be considered.

There can be no harm in asking Field for, say, $3,600 directly. If Les asks Paul about it, as he almost surely would, Paul would give a favorable response. Although he could not honestly give such a project an enthusiastic endorsement, he could point out that it would have some helpful side-effects. Incidentally, Les was sent a copy of Nat's Original letter.

As I said, there is very little likelihood that Field Foundation will buy any of this, but there is always a chance.

There is no chance of getting additional money from SRC for this purpose. Sorry about that. Paul sees no reason why, if local support even continues at the presently-expected level, you cannot set aside $3,300 of the $8,000 Ford grant for Nat, raise Ozell's salary as planned, and, with the remaining $3,000 (approximately), plus Nat's old salary, employ an assistant at a respectable salary. I guess the problem is that you had some additional program

Thank you for your kind letter. I talked to Nat, and he is preparing a proposal to send to the Field Foundation. We will send the first draft to you for comments. Then, as I understand, you want us to apply directly to the Foundation with a copy to you for your endorsement. This is what we will do.

May 4, 1967

The Reverend Walter B. Clancy

Little, Rock, Arkansas

Dear Father Clancy:

This letter is prompted by a general concern, which Paul and I have been discussing from time to time, that the staff of the Arkansas Council may not fully understand the limitations under which the Council must operate under the terms of their charter as a tax-exempt organization. I am writing at Paul's suggestion; we thought it might be best to share this concern with you, as head of the policy board, and leave it to your judgment whether the matter needs further attention and, if so, how best to attend to it.

We understand, of course, from Vernon Jordan, that the specific case of the VEP has been satisfactorily resolved, with a "meeting of minds" all around. Thus we are no longer anxious about that case; it enters in, here, only as one more instance of a general lack of awareness of the rules of the game for an "eleemosynary organization."

Other than the VEP business, a case in point is a bit of lobbying that Elijah did for the human resources bill. Under the circumstances it may not be of any consequence--probably is not. But were the circumstances different, it could be detrimental. Also, once or twice we have noticed phrases in reports like the one in a recent proposal for a welfare project: "We also think that the materials already gathered can be used by civic groups as a basis to propose some liberal legislation in the state legislature."

While those of us who more or less follow these developments aaaaware that such activities of the Arkansas Councill are generally in the nature of providing information when called upon, a hostile interpretation could be that more and more attention is being given to lobbying. The distinction is sometimes difficult to draw. I suppose the point is that it is best not to get too close to the line too often.

Perhaps I could talk to Elijah about this at our next state council directors' meeting, but that will not take place for some time. Paul and I just thought that if, intthe meantime, you should find an appropriate occasion to discuss it with him, it might be helpful.

With all good wishes,

J. Edwin Stanfield

Dear Father Clancy:

We have now completed arrangements for our meeting of the state council chairmen on July 7 and 8. I hope that you are still planning to attend.

We shall begin our meeting in the SRC conference room at approximately 2:00 P.M. on Friday, July 7,1967. We can take care of some of the less important matters at this time and meeting in the SRC office will give you opportunity to meet and consult with various members of our staff.

That portion of the meeting will break up at about 5:00 P.M. and we will go to the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel for a dinner togehher at 6:30. We can continue our discussions for a time after dinner. We plan to reconvene at the Biltmore on Saturday morning and continue our meeting until about 12:30 or 1:00 P.M.

A room reservation has been made for you at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel.

This will be a very important meeting. We shall be discussing matters of viatl interest to both the councils on human relations and the Southern Regional Council. I am looking forward to seeing you.

Dear Father Clancy:

This is to invite you to the Annual Meeting of the Southern Regional Council at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel on November 1, 2, and 3, 1967.

We anticipate that this meeting will be of unusual importance in the formulation of the future program of the SRC and its relationship to the councils on human relations. We think it will be more than ordinarily helpful to have you, as chairman of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations, on hand as the members of the Southern Regional Council consider these matters. Therefore, we are this year making an exception to our usual policy and are able to pay travel and entertainment expenses for state council chairmen and executive directors, as well as for members of the SRC.

Enclosed is a form on which you may indicate your acceptance of this invitation and the accommodations you need.

As last year, the dinner on November 1 will be in honor of the state councils. We want you to sit at a table on the dias, and the program that evening will be devoted to the councils.

With all good wishes,

Dear Elijah:

I want to elaborate a bit about the good report mentioned in my letter transmitting our quarterly-payment check.

Your quarterly report was interesting reading. It is especially encouraging to know that you and Fr. Clancy are actually working on organization of new council affiliates in so many places. Your day-by-day outline of your activities was helpful (not too detailed, which is good) and the brief summary of the more important relevant news items also good. What I liked most of all was the section where you stated a problem, told what action you took (or the council or a member of it took), and what the results were. That really helps us to get the picture, and I hope you will keep it up.

It would be helpful if you would send us two (2) copies of these reports, so that one can go into my files at once and one can circulate to certain staff members here.

If you have not yet sent a financial report and membership report this should be done. You can see about what we want by checking your files there. These statistical reports are supposed to be sent every month. If you mimeograph them and send a copy to each of your Board members, it helps to keep them informed right up to date, too.

Dear Elijah:

You are already aware, I am sure, of the approval by the Board of Directors of the Southern Regional Council of a grant-in-aid of $13,600 to the Arkansas Council on Human Relations for 1967.

The amount combines our regular and expanded grants, which were separate in 1966. As noted in the "Grant-in-Aid Conditions," a copy of which is enclosed, one-fourth of this sum will be remitted, subject to fulfillment of the requirements, on or after the first of each quarter of the calendar year.

Please read carefully the grant conditions, especially the reporting requirements in item 3 and the general purpose stated in item 4, to which they are directed.

We are gratified by the response of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations and of the state councils generally--to the purpose of the expanded grant-in-aid program in 1966, and we are happy to be able to continue our financial support at this high level for another year. We are compelled to reiterate, however, that support of general operations at this level cannot be regarded as likely for more than one additional year.

Be assured of our good wished and all possible assistance for the Arkansas Council in 1967.

About Mr. Paul Williams, he joined the staff on September 26th as Research Assistant. Born and raised in Fort Smith, he recently graduated from Hendrix College in Conway, Arkansas. His major was history and political science. This last summer he was in the Council's student project, Students in Urban Affairs and was very active in the political campaigns. He has done research on The Background Report on Arkansas Prisons and continues to work with our penal reform group. Also, he does student work and local council work.

I hope that this will give you some information on Paul.

Prosecuting Attorney-elect Names Negro as Deputy for Pulaski, Perry

Christopher C. Mercer Jr., 42, of 2200 Rice Street, a Negro lawyer, will be appointed a deputy prosecuting attorney for Pulaski and Perry Counties January 1, Prosecuting Attorney-elect Richard B. Adkisson announced Wednesday.

Adkisson said Mercer would be the first Negro deputy prosecuting attorney in history for the two counties, which comprise the Sixth Judicial District, and that he probably was the first Negro deputy prosecutor in the South in modern times.

Adkisson made the announcement Wednesday night in a speech before the Roundtable Fellowship, an organization of Negro civic leaders in the community, held at the Arkansas Teachers Association building at 1310 Wright Avenue. Mercer also attended.

Mercer, a native of Pine Bluff, was the third Negro to enroll in the University of Arkansas School of Law in 1949, but lack of finances kept him from going through the School without interruption. He was back in the School in 1954, when he passed the state bar examination, making the highest score in the group of 37 students who took it. He was admitted to the bar on May 17, 1954, the day the United States Supreme Court handed down its famous "Brown" decision holding that no child could be denied entrance to a white school because of color.

Staff Photo.

CHRISTOPHER MERCER Jr.

Mercer received his law degree in January 1955 and set up private practice at Pine Bluff. Two years later, he came to Little Rock in an executive job with the Arkansas Council on Human Relations. From November 1957 to June 1958, he was Arkansas state field secretary for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People. After that, he resumed private law practice, staying at Little Rock.

Mercer and his wife, the former Miss Inez Le May of Little Rock, have seven children. Mercer is an elder in Allison Presbyterian Church.

Adkisson said he would announce other deputy prosecuting attorney appointments before January 1. This was his second announcement. A few days ago, he announced that James R. Howard would be his chief deputy.

I have just finished talking with Fr. Clancy concerning our fund raising activities for the 1967 year.

In the past we have not been quite as successful as we would like to have been. It is felt by some members of the Board, and I share this feeling with them, that we have not programmed in such a way as to get the desired results.

Father informed me that you are probably the best source of information on this kind of activity. Could you please forward me any information that you might have that would assist our organization in structuring a more successful fund raising project.

Dear Elijah:

In reply to your letter of December 20 I am enclosing a copy of the mimeographed plan and schedule that we devised for our fund-raising campaign among members and friends of the Alabama Council. Some adaptation of it might serve your needs in Arkansas. The basic scheme is the same, I think, for any similar fund-raising effort by a membership organization.

I would be happy to come to Little Rock to meet with your fund raising committee sometime in January. Unfortunately I am committed to attend the Virginia Council's annual meeting on January 14. The whole week January 16-20 is also filled for me, but other than that my calendar for January is clear at the moment. Let me know as soon as possible if and when you would want me to come.

Dear Elijah:

Thanks for sedding me a copy of "A Handbook for Local Councils on Human Relations." It was an excellent idea to draw the information together in a neat package. Well done.

I assume that you have sent a copy to each of the state councils. If not, please do so. Also, could you send me about a dozen copies to keep on hand here?

You guys are doing a good job.

First, please allow me to express my appreciation to you and Paul for approving our request for funds to do this much needed study in eastern Arkansas.

This office can assure you that we shall do the best possible job of researching conditions there and will keep your office informed as to our progress.

About Mr. Himmelbaum. Howard is not a permanent employee of ACHR, but he has done much free "leg work" for our organization and the NAACP Inc. Fund here in the state. As for his background, he came to the state as a SNCC field worker, and since that time has left the organization but continues to do work when called upon. Howard is a good organizer, and has extensive contacts throughout Arkansas, especially in eastern Arkansas.

Thank you again.

Dear Elijah:

Thank you for the statistical reports for the last quarter of 1966 and congratulations on the growth of the Arkansas Council revealed by them.

A membership exceeding a thousand in Arkansas is indeed amazing. I also note that the total funds raised from local forces in business contributions, individual contributions, and memberships exceeds thirteen thousand dollars. A little more intensive cultivation of individual contributions, together with the normal growth of the council, should put the Arkansas Council well on the way to a basically self-sustaining foundation.

Dear Elijah:

This is in reply to your letter of April 25 concerning the Rural Advancement Project.

The R.A.P. was begun in 1965 and 1966 as a cooperative venture involving the SRC, the National Sharecroppers Fund, and four state councils selected jointly by the two larger organizations. It was limited to four simply because there were not sufficient funds for more. At that time the N.S.F. had no tax-exempt arm, therefore could not receive foundation funds. The arrangement, consequently, was that we would administer the funds and the R.A.P. directors would serve on the staffs of the state councils, while the N.S.F. would provide technical advice and assistance. The Sharecroppers Fund now has a tax exemption, with the result that they are no longer interested in such a joint effort, preferring to use whatever funds can be obtained to employ field men for their own staff and directly under their supervision.

The upshot of this is that we do not anticipate expansion of the Rural Advancement Project, or even continuation of the existing ones after the present three-year grant period runs out. Given the experience of the National Sharecroppers Fund in dealing with the problems of rural poverty, it seems to me that the Arkansas Council might best serve the purpose by presenting to them, or to a similar organization, the need in Arkansas and strongly urging that services be provided as soon as possible.

It would be great if we had enough money to provide each state council with a staffer to work on rural problems, but I suspect that it would be wise for us to use our available funds for other purposes, deferring to the greater experience of other organizations on farm problems.

Best wishes,

This is to inform you that the Voter Education Project of the Southern Regional Council is rescinding the suspension of payments to the Arkansas Voter Education Project and our request that no funds be disbursed from the Arkansas VEP account.

We are rescinding the suspension of payments and disbursements as set forth in our letter of April 20, 1967, as a result of the meeting held on Wednesday, April 26, in the Conference room of the Arkansas Teachers Association. I am confident now that the Arkansas VEP, the Arkansas Council on Human Relations, the persons directly involved in helping to determine the future of the Arkansas VEP, and the Voter Education Project of the Southern Regional Council, have come to a meeting of the minds as to the program objectives and modus operandi of the Arkansas VEP.

Our meeting on Wednesday was a good one. It helped, I think, in effecting accord and satisfaction between all parties concerned. It is my hope that the Arkansas Voter Education Project can now move full-speed ahead to do the job that we all know needs to be done in Arkansas.

Dear Mr. Jordan:

We appreciate your recent visit to Little Rock re the Arkansas Voter Education Project. It was most helpful. I feel certain that we now more clearly understand SRC's concept of the Arkansas VEP as being one of providing technical assistance, coordination, and stimulation to the various Arkansas organizations working to involve citizens in the political process.

In line with your recommendations, we are compiling an inclusive list of leaders of existing Negro organizations throughout the state; and we plan to invite them to a statewide meeting on Sunday, May 21. The initial letter of invitation will be issued from our office with a follow-up letter from your office. Basic costs (meals and travel) of this meeting will be borne by SRC-VEP.

Three areas will be emphasized and discussed at this meeting: voter registration, citizenship education, and leadership training. An objective we hope to achieve at the meeting will be the affiliation of the invitees with Arkansas VEP into an advisory council. It is our hope that the advisory council will evolve into a working group and thereafter, with our assistance, lay the groundwork in each county and community for a statewide meeting from which would come a permanent organization.

While we understand that the advisory council, in its initial stages, may be made up of the established state Negro leadership, Rev. Grinage will work to organize in the counties to insure the maximum participation of grassroots citizens. At the time of our statewide meeting we hope to include the widest possible representation throughout Arkansas in a show of unity of purpose, cohesion, and strength under the leadership of the Arkansas VEP.

Our office will advise you on the progress being made both in terms of the May 21st meeting and the continued organization of county VEP groups. We hope that you can be with us for the May 21st meeting.

The donor of the fund we have for work with students has recently altered the terms under which it may be used, so that it is in effect an "emergency fund" which is not even close to the use you have in mind. Actually, I doubt that this project would have come within the limitations we had before, since the fund was, as we understood it, for the use of student human relations organizations in their projects.

Dear Elijah:

I have read, thought about, and discussed with Paul and others here the Arkansas Council's recent proposal for a 10-week project for the purpose of writing a simplified welfare manual. After mulling it over, we have some apprehensions about it which I would like to share with yourfrankly.

First, we have some doubt that a matter as complicated as welfare policy and administration can be reduced very helpfully to a relatively short, simplified manuel. It could be useful, but after thinking it over, we see its usefulness as quite limited.

Second, some of the staff question whether a person eligible for welfare who has been refused or discriminated against would be very much better armed to do battle, even if he clearly and accurately understands his rights under the law. The deviousness of welfare officials who are so disposed can hardly be overcome by so simple a measure.

Third, the proposal makes no provision for printing the manual. I had indicated to you that we might be able to help with that, but such does not appear to be the case.

Fourth, the proposal states that one purpose of the manual is "to increase the understanding and involvement of the various local councils," but does not give details as to how this is to be done. It seems to us that the best chance to remedy the plight of welfare "victims," given our limited resources, lies in enlisting the aid of others. We would like to see an outline of specific ideas for doing so.

Would it be possible (1) to reduce the time of the project to six weeks, (2) to consult with local councils and persuade them formally to adopt welfare concerns as a major program emphasis for at least a year, (3) to prepare a guide for local groups in mounting such a program, in addition to the simplified manual--including, perhaps, a more detailed mimeographed manual of welfare rules, etc., and (4) to use at least $400.00 of the proposed amount for printing of a couple thousand copies of the simplified manual--with the idea that additional printings would be sold at printing cost?

Admittedly, that is quite an order, but it probably could be done, if you used the materials already prepared by the Georgia and Tennessee Councils.

To sum up, our thinking is that the mere preparation of a simplified manual will have little durable impact on the program and that some such scheme as I have outlined would be of more value in return for the potential investment. One implication of that statement, which it might be well to point out, is that the possibility of cranking up ad hoc welfare rights groups appears to us to be rather slim; if that be true, it would seem best to plan systematically to utilize what forces you already have.

Let me know what you think.

Dear Mr. Coleman:

This is in reply to your May 19 letter to Jac Wasserman telling of the need for a technical assistance field man for the rural areas of Arkansas. We are well aware of the great poverty in your state and the need for programs to help meet the needs of rural people.

One of our contributors is interested also in our placing a field representative in Arkansas and has provided a small sum toward the salary and expenses of such a person, provided we can find matching funds. I wonder if it were possible for the Arkansas Council on Human Relations to share the expenses of having a field person in the state. This would be similar to the arrangement worked out with the South Carolina Council several years ago and which proved to be very successful and led to the development of the Rural Advancement Project. I expect to be in Atlanta early in June and hope to discuss with Paul Anthony concerning the future of the Rural Advancement Project.

Meanwhile, it would help if the Arkansas Council could share in the cost of having a field man in the state who would be jointly sponsored.

Dear Jac:

This is an exploratory letter about the possibility of a National Sharecropper Fund staff man in Arkansas.

We in Arkansas have long lamented the fact that, except for the 1957 Little Rock crisis, the situation here has been generally neglected by the rest of the country. Other Southern states have the services of SCLC, SNCC, the Lawyers Constitutional Defense Committee, the NAACP Legal Defense and Educational Fund, Inc., and various multi-county poverty programs, while the ACHR is the only statewide organization in Arkansas.

As you well know, there is a great need for educational and organizational programs in rural eastern and southern Arkansas. Although the Farmers Home Administration has been active, we know that there remains an important role for non-governmental projects. Last month Governor Rockefeller state that growing numbers of Negro sharecroppers in Arkansas delta counties were being displaced.

I asked Ed Stanfield about the possibility of a Rural Advancement Project; Ed replied that SRC does not anticipate expansion or renewal of R.A.P. As you may know, Howard Himmelbaum has recently concluded an 8-week survey for us and SRC in Phillips and St. Francis counties concerning the welfare situation there. In the past he was director of a 3-county organizational program in Phillips, Lee, and Monroe counties for SNCC. Howard is vitally interested in farm problems -- cooperatives, the effects of the minimum wage law, the unfairness of the present welfare system.

The Arkansas Council does not have the facilities to expand these interests in rural Arkansas; this would require a full-time, experienced staff person. We urge the National Sharecroppers Fund to consider a project here in Arkansas.

Sincerely,

Elijah Coleman

ARKANSAS GAZETTE, Thurs., March 30, 1967.

WR Says Negro Tenants Near Hunger; Asks for Aid

Growing numbers of Negro sharecroppers in Arkansas delta counties are being displaced by the federal minimum wage law and face immediate hunger, Governor Rockefeller said Wednesday.

Mr. Rockefeller decided on two courses of action to deal with this, his first non-legislative significant problem in three months in office. He called on Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman for food for the families. He also asked state agencies for long-range job assistance programs as quickly as possible.

According to a survey by the state Employment Security Division and reports by the state Welfare Department, more than 1,000 families will be unemployed in 12 East Arkansas counties by the end of the year, Mr. Rockefeller said.

Planters and farmers are not hiring family units for cotton chopping because of the minimum wage law. They are placing able-bodied men in these jobs. Also hurting the sharecroppers is a federal law prohibiting youths under 18 years of age from operating hazardous equipment, the governor said. As a result, women over 40 and youpg people under 18 are not being hired.

An ESD survey between February 24 and March 6 in Phillips County is indicative of the situation, the governor said. It showed that about 60 sharecroppers, all Negroes and 46 years of age or older, were released by eight planters. Similar conditions exist in Ashley, Desha, Chicot, Drew, Lee, St. Francis, Poinsett, Mississippi, Crittenden, Craighead and Cross Counties, he added.

"This is a serious situation. The traditional method of farming and the (sharecropper) family unit are disintegrating," Mr. Rockefeller said. He said that food is needed now with job training to follow to keep these families together and off public welfare programs.

The governor asked Freeman to consider providing the unemployed families with free food stamps. The government now requires persons to buy a certain percentage of food stamps and they get the others free. The amount is based on the size of the family unit and income.

If this can't be done, Mr. Rockefeller told Freeman, he wanted more federal surplus commodities sent to the 12 counties. He said that a dual surplus commodities and food stamp program must be considered. Right now the federal government allows either food stamps or surplus commodities in a county, not both.

The governor said that

State Welfare Commissioner A.J. Moss said that the problem was not new but was growing and that he had on at least five occasions asked Freeman to consider the plight of the families. He said he had had no success.

Tenants

housing was not an immediate problem because the plantation owners were allowing the families to stay in their homes. But, Mr. Rockefeller said, the planters did not intend to assume long-range responsibility for these families.

State Welfare Commissioner A. J. Moss said that the problem was not new but was growing and that he had on at least five occasions asked Freeman to consider the plight of the families. He said he had had no success.

Dear Ed:

We greatly appreciated the support of the Southern Regional Council in the continuation of our welfare project. We will comply with your request concerning a progress report at the end of the six week grant period and additional reports covering subsequent local council seminars. Howard Himmelbaum will start work immediately on this program. It it our intention to use this $1,200. grant efficiently and in a manner which will benefit and inform as many people as is feasible.

We wish to notify you of a change in office staff. Paul Williams has taken a position with a Pine Bluff newspaper. Mrs. Carole Taylor has been promoted to Administrative Assistant, and we are presently interviewing for a secretary.

Thank you for your continued interest in the Council.

Enclosed is a copy of the correspondence between Nat Griswold and Fr. Clancy concerning Nat's support by the Council.

Last year Nat received a $500 travel grant from SRC. Of this amount he has spent $188.39, for his trip to confer with C. Vann Woodward, leaving a balance of $311.61. Earlier this year the Board of Directors of ACHR voted to budget $300 for clerical help for his research project. To date he has spent $48, leaving a balance of $252.

I hope this information will clarify the financial aspect of Nat's research project.

Dear Father Clancy:

After some calculations followed by conferences with the Office of Social Security and Mr. Kelly, I believe an arrangement for my subsistence is possible to the advantage of ACHR and us.

I can ask for maximum social security (c.$130) if ACHR pays me only $125 permonth.

OAS of course needs to know what part time work I am being paid for and, therefore, that the pay is legitimate. That my work is to the interest of ACHR.

So, a letter from you such as that enclosed would be needed to satisfy them.

I hope to get the plan confirmed before the end of May. At any rate I feel sure enough to advise you not to pay me more than $125 this month.

Dear Nat Griswold:

As I have indicated to you more than once, the Board of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations wishes to continue some support to enable you to complete your research and writing begun last year. A well-written story based on your experience of ten years as Director of the Council will be of real help to our continued work.

Of course, the substantial support given you for six months ending in February cannot be continued. Our budget simply will not permit it. However, we will undertake to pay you as much as $125 per month beginning in May, 1967 and continuing through this calendar year or until your project is completed, whichever is the shorter period, provided, of course, the funds are available.

We deeply hope this will be enough help to enable you to subsist and to work energetically.

Dear Elijah:

Fay Bennett has shared with me her letter of May 25 to you suggesting a jointly sponsored rural work in Arkansas, somewhat along the lines of the Rural Advancement Projects about which you inquired originally.

As I have indicated, the SRC cannot anticipate funds which would permit us to expand the R.A.P. program -- or even to continue the existing projects beyond the period of the current grants. Therefore the Arkansas Council's portion of the funding of any joint project would have to be from other sources. In considering that possibility I think you would have to give thought to (1) the possibility of unavoidable curtailment of our grant-in-aid program after 1968 and (2) the status of the Arkansas Council's current funding directly from foundations (the "B-Fund"). It was all of these reasons -- together with the newly-inaugurated tax-exempt arm of NSF, their acqaaintance with potential sources of donations to rural work, and their clear competence in this program area -- which prompted me to raise the possibility of their placing one of their field men in Arkansas.

The idea of a jointly-sponsored, R.A.P.-type operation is, of course, the one you had in your original letter to me, and it still seems to me that the Arkansas Council would have to be careful about commiting itself to such a program.

Dear Ed:

Thank you for your letter of June 6 concerning the RAP program and its relation to the Arkansas Council. However, what we really had in mind was trying to match Sharecroppers Funds with local fund raising here in the state. We have found that by presenting a specific program to various donors, the likelihood of generous contributions is greater.

This is why we wanted to find out from Mrs. Bennett the exact sum NSF had in mind. Perhaps a local matching arrangement would not be feasible, but we would like to know the possibility of a direct working arrangement between ACHR and NSF.

Thank you for your May 30th letter. I have just returned from Atlanta where I had a talk with Paul Anthony about the financial problems which do not permit SRC to expand the Rural Advancement Project program. Ed Stanfield's letter to you of June 6, with a copy to me, gives some of these reasons. Apparently it is very difficult for all of us to convince foundations that they ought to support programs which fight poverty at their roots, namely in the rural areas and not concentrate so heavily on the big city problems.

The approximate cost of a full-time field worker including travel expenses, etc., averages about $12,000 in each of the states where we have such a program shared with the State Councils on Human Relations. The breakdown is as follows:

|---|---|
| Field Representative's Salary | $ 7,500 |
| Fringe Benefits at 10% | 750 |
| Travel Expenses at $200/month | 2,400 |
| Administrative Expenses (Shared by State Council and NSF regional office) | 1,000 |
| Miscellaneous | 350 |
| | $12,000 |

We simply do not have the funds to cover this full amount, and we also will have difficulty raising $6,000. However, I do believe that we can raise perhaps $4,500 very shortly, and if the Arkansas Council could raise a similar amount or at least enough to begin the program and ensure its continuance for three or four months, that would give us a chance to get the program rolling and give additional time to raise the required funds for the full year. Does this make sense to you, and do you believe the Arkansas Council can commit itself to such a program? If so, please let me hear from you soon. We would then like to canvass the field for the best possible person to take on this job, and we would of course consider Howard Himmelbaum along with others who may be interested and well qualified.

Dear Mrs. Bennett:

Thank you for your letter of June 8th in which you sketched the approximate cost of a full-time field worker.

At this time we are still trying to raise funds for the Council budget, and we are not yet free to solicit matching funds for a new project. For this reason we would like to wait a few months before giving NSF a definite answer.

Meanwhile, could you clarify one point for us. We feel that, were the Council to provide matching funds, we should participate in the selection of the field person for Arkansas. What would be the administrative relation between the Council, NSF, and the field worker?

We do hope that something can be worked out; however we will have to delay making a decision for awhile.

Dear Elijah:

According to my records, and after checking our files, it appears that we have not yet received a copy of an official audit of the books of the Arkansas Council for 1966. As you will recall, one of the conditions of our grant-in-aid to all state councils, is that a copy of such an audit be placed on file with us.

This is a policy of long standing and one that we consider quite a necessary part of our responsibility to the donors of these funds, as well as essential to fulfillment of the conditions of our charter. Therefore we must suspend payment of the 1967 grant-in-aid until we receive your audit.

Please let me know if you think you have sent the audit and we have somehow failed to receive it.

Did you want us to use the $400 budgeted for printing to be used for a professional job, such as the "Know Your Rights" pamphlet? We thought that a mimeographed booklet would allow us to distribute more copies throughout the state. Let us know how the $400 is to be used.

Dear Elijah:

In reply to your letter of August 9, I don't believe we specified or even had in mind any particular kind of printing job for the manual called for in your welfare project. Personally, I feel that a mimeographed manual, if the mimeographing if well done (and I have to emphasize that condition), can be very effective and certainly, as you say, it is cheaper.

I must say that I am a bit disappointed in the direction that the project has taken. I am at home as I am writing this and I donnot have our correspondence or the proposal, as revised,before me but as I recall we finally agreed that the welfare manual in order to be meaningful would have to be written at a fairly sophisticated level and that for this reason it would not be advisable to attempt a manual in extremely simple language designed for massive distribution. This line of thinking was the reason, as I understood it, for including in the proposal provision for workshops and seminars with local councils and similar groups who might be informed about welfare policy and who might in turn be helpful to individuals in their communities having welfare administration difficulties. Frankly, with $400 or $4,000 for printing, you would not be able to print enough of any manual and conduct enough seminars for recepients of welfare aid to be of direct help to them.

Yet nowhere in any of the reports that you have sent so far is any mention made of any seminars or workshops with your local councils or similar groups already in existence to help them to help others. It seems to me that the enlistment of the interest and concern of such middle-class groups is vital for any attempt to do something about the administration of welfare in Arkansas.

Could you tell me what use is being made of the local councils on human relations in connection with this project or have you possibly dropped this feature of the program entirely?

Best wishes,

J. Edwin Stanfield

Dear Ed:

Howard Himmelbaum and I have discussed, at some length, the points you brought out in your letter of August 16 concerning the writing of a Welfare manual.

We do realize the need to stimulate action on the part of local affiliates to take up the area of Welfare and to make this an on-going project. Howard has been invited to attend a meeting of the Fort Smith Council on Human Relations on Thursday, September 14, to discuss programming in Welfare for that group.

We certainly shall share our findings and our concern with other similarly oriented groups such as the Arkansas Council of Churches and the League of Women Voters. However, most of these groups generally have their own priorities, and we feel strongly that our own affiliates must take the major burden of programming and stimulating statewide interest in Welfare. We have tentatively scheduled a workshop for local affiliates on Saturday, October 14 ( I shall write in more detail shortly.) At this time we will devote a session to progmatic ideas, one of which will be Welfare.

About the format of the manual itself, we still feel that a very simplified manual would be helpful even to middle class, literate persons and groups. From our experience we have learned that all too seldom will people take the time to read anything complex.

OFFICERS — FATHER WALTER B. CLANCY, CHAIRMAN • RICHARD GROEPPER, 1ST VICE-CHAIRMAN

WILLIAM T. KELLY, TREASURER
STAFF — ELIJAH COLEMAN, EXECUTIVE DIRECTOR • MRS. CAROLE TAYLOR, OFFICE SECRETARY

A Council to attain equal opportunity for all peoples

Of course, along with a simplified manual we would provide a forum and more specific plans of action for our affiliates and other group.

As we organize local chapters, we try to keep in mind the need to broaden our base of support to include as many people as possible. In some of our rural areas even the economically middle class persons would benefit from a less sophisticated manual. For example, we have found enthusiastic response to the "Know Your Rights" booklet from the educated as well as the less educated citizens.

We feel that we need some kind of tool which would be useful not only to a structured group, but to scattered rural communities. We strongly contend that the rural poor in Arkansas must be encouraged to form community groups preferably as part of the Arkansas Council or the Arkansas Voter Education Project - and to include Welfare as part of their program.

From the inception of this Welfare project we had envisioned using a simplified manual for both educating our local chapters as well as a tool to aid rural persons. We did not want the manual to be merely another survey or research piece, but an effective and useable tool to stimulate action.

If you do feel that our approach and goals are inconsistent with the stipulations of the SRC grant, we would appreciate your setting down how SRC prefers the grant to be used. We really hope that the above statements will make clearer our reasons for proceding as we have done.

Sincerely,

Elijah

Dear Ed:

It is the thinking of Father Clancy and the ACHR Board that it would be useful and beneficial to call together the Chairman and several representatives from our nine local affiliates for a workshop and conference. The purpose of this meeting would be to discuss the locals' relationship and responsibilities to the State Office, and our in turn to them.

We have enclosed a sketch of the items which need to be discussed. Since ACHR has four recently organized affiliates, this type of meeting would be especially helpful. We plan to meet in Pine Bluff (to break the routine of always meeting in Little Rock) On Saturday, October 14, at A.M. & N. College. The meeting will begin with a luncheon. Through the afternoon the staff, representatives, and Board members who may wish to attend will discuss these items. For specific program ideas we will divide the group so that our staff can present suggestions and information. (Howard Himmelbaum, Welfare: Ben Grinage, Voter Education Project: Carole Taylor, Education.)

We are asking two things from SRC. First, if your schedule permits, we think your presence and ideas would greatly encourage our affiliates, and we would hope that you could join us. Secondly because I, personally, am devoting a large portion of my time to organizing, our travel budget is becoming quite strained. We have outlined below the approximate cost of a roundtrip by car, from the various affiliates to Pine Bluff. We are asking that each community send one car. We have also included the approximate cost of the lunch.

2. Local affiliate dues refund
   $1.00 return for $5.00 membership.
   $1.00 return for $2.00 associate membership.
   No return for contributions or pledges.
3. Importance of sending memberships directly to the State Office; especially to facilitate writing of receipt for total amount contributed.

Board of Directors

1. Suggestion to meet quarterly; make use of the executive committee during periods between scheduled meetings.
2. Expand Board to ~~indluce~~ INCLUDE representative from each affiliate or area in which we are attempting to form an affiliate.

Role of the affiliates

Should not be done - not SRC's position.

1. Discussion of SRC's position paper concerning the relationship between SRC and state councils.
   - mail out a copy of the positionpaper prior to October meeting to all affiliates.

2. Emphasize the importance and necessity of affiliates' responsibility to raise funds locally to strengthen financial base for the state organization.

3. Frank discussion on what each affiliate expects from the state office.
   - what type of service can the state office render in return for financial support from locals.
4. Realization that each affiliate must move at its own pace; at the same time we need to talk about the role of the statewide organization, about the goals and place in society of ACHR.

5. Definite need for better communication between affiliates and state office. - suggestion: assign one person in affiliate to keep state office informed of local projects and plans; this is especially important for newsletter.

Programming

1. We suggest that each affiliate make a survey of its county to determine the major problem areas.

- the state office can help by drawing up a format of a survey.
- we would encourage the local to expand its base from the city to the entire county; in this way local people can help each other or check into various situations.
- need for locals to work on programs pertinent to the needs of their communities.
- ACHR state office to provide a list of members in affiliate county.

2. Welfare
- seminars, workshops to learn about welfare problems and ways to remedy them.
- need to acquaint locals with welfare regulations.

3. Education
- continued watch over progress of student and faculty desegregation.
- need to check rural school districts.
- seminars, workshops to learn about 89-10 programs - rules, regulations, complaint procedures, check list.

4. Employment

5. Voter Education Project.

6. Housing.

Dear Elijah:

We think highly of the idea of a workshop for local council representatives, as outlined in your letter of September 14.

Enclosed is our check in the amount of $210.00, as requested, to cover the costs. Please sign the enclosed receipt copy of this letter and return it for our files.

I have the October 14 date on my calendar and will plan to be there, in Pine Bluff, by noon.

Other than the possibility of your trying to cover too many things in a single afternoon, I have only one suggestion about your agenda. I would prefer that you not send out our draft position paper to local council presidents. For one thing it is not "SRC's position paper." It is a suggested draft -- a proposal for discussion; the SRC has taken no action on it at all. I would not mind using it, however, as a basis for discussion; but I think it would be better to send each chairman a copy of the essay which appeared in New South and use that as the starting point.

I'll look forward to seeing you in October.

Dear Elijah:

This is to invite you to the Annual Meeting of the Southern Regional Council at the Atlanta Biltmore Hotel on November 1, 2, and 3, 1967.

We anticipate that this meeting will be of unusual importance in the formulation of the future program of the SRC and its relationship to the councils on human relations. We think it will be more than ordinarily helpful to have you, as executive director, of the Arkansas Council on Human Relations, on hand as the members of the Southern Regional Council consider these matters. Therefore, we are this year making an exception to our usual policy and are able to pay travel and entertainment expenses for state council chairmen and executive directors, as well as for members of the SRC.

Enclosed is a form on which you may indicate your acceptance of this invitation and the accommodations you need.

As last year, the dinner on November 1 will be in honor of the state councils. We want you to sit at a table on the dais, and the program that evening will be devoted to the councils.

With all good wishes,

Dear Elijah:

The quarterly program report and financial reports for the Arkansas Council have been received. Our check for this quarter's grant payment is being sent under separate cover.

The program report seems to me a little on the sketchy side, and I wonder if it would be possible to make it fuller without its becoming burdensome. For instance, a run-down on the current status and activities of the several local councils would be interesting and helpful. And the note, "met with group of persons interested in forming a local council in Hot Springs," is intriguing; but what folks? how interested? how many? with what results" and what future plans?

I am looking forward to seeing you in Pine Bluff, and promise not to nag.

We were very pleased about the turn-out and response at our affiliate workshop, and we hope that you were too.

Your talk was especially important in setting the tone for the meeting. I feel that we need periodic reminders of the situation throughout the South; it helps to know that problems faced here are not peculiar to Arkansas.

We will send you a report of the meeting, including the names and addresses of those in attendance and an accounting of expenses.

Thanks again.

Dear Elijah:

Yes, I was very pleased with the affiliate workshop in Pine Bluff. To tell you the truth, I was a little surprised at the good turn out of folks and at the number of councils represented. This seems to signify genuine progress and building up organization in addition to all the good program work that you in the Arkansas Council have been doing.

The report on the meeting need not be elaborate. Also, the accounting of the expenses can be quite simple. I would appreciate having the names and addresses of those in attendance just for my own use.

Dear Elijah:

As you already know, the Executive Committee of the Southern Regional Council has approved a grant-in-aid of $13,000 to the Arkansas Council on Human Relations for the calendar year 1968.

Please read the enclosed "1968 Grant-in-Aid Conditions." These are essentially the same as those for 1967.

Item b. under requirement 3 -- a list of the names and addresses of officers and policy board members of the state council and the chairmen of local councils -- has been deleted at the request of the SRC Executive Committee. We simply call your attention to this, instead of reproducing the conditions. As explained to the Executive Committee, the sole purposes of this item were (1) to provide us with a current list of human relations council leaders in the state for use by our staff and to answer requests for contacts from public and private agencies and (2) to enable us to send the Field Activities Newsletter to current state and local council leaders. We still would appreciate having such lists for these purposes, but you should feel no compulsion about it.

Best wishes for a fruitful and satisfying year.

Dear Ed:

I have enclosed our quarterly report and the material for the Ford Foundation review team. Both were typed out in haste; we've been extremely busy preparing for our annual meeting, so I hope you'll understand. (Also, the weather has been incredibly bad for the last few days -- we in Little Rock absolutely fall apart we we get as much as a quarter inch of ice on the streets.)

I did want to explain one item in our quarterly report. Our membership growth reflects only new members added on to our current roster. This is the reason why there is a discrepancy between income shown under membership (taking into account renewal contributions) and the small number shown under growth. Because I enclosed two copies of our 1967 Finance Report, giving final figures in all categories, as well as a 3-months report for the quarter, I did not break down income into quarters. I hope this is sufficient - at least for this quarter; if not, please let me know. Also, we have tried to make the narrative more in line with what I think you want. Let me know if this is o.k., because it's the first time that I've written the narrative part. Again, if you want more please jot down some specific guidelines.

Thank God both these items are out of our hands. Hope they're satisfactory.

Regards,

Carole

Dear Ed:

It gives me no great satisfaction to have to constantly call on you, Paul, and the Southern Regional Council when I find myself with another idea that I think might help us to further the cause of human relations in Arkansas. But here we are again.

As you have probably noticed from our previous reports we are trying to organize several new local councils. We are presently working in Magnolia, Hot Springs, Arkadelphia, Helena, Lafayette County, and Texarkana. It is the opinion of the Director and the Board of Directors that these locations, while they are different in many respects, are of vital pyschological importance to our organizing efforts.

Since some of these communities have not had any kind of meaningful biracial meetings, we thought it would be an excellent idea to invite key persons to our annual meeting on January 27. We are asking that SRC give us a small grant ($188.08) to cover the cost of their travel and meals, as an inducement to attend our meeting. We have enclosed a list of our contacts in these communities. If a grant is possible, we would very much appreciate your calling us so we might write these persons as soon as possible.

Thank you again.

I have your letter of the 19th and the proposal for organizing student human relations groups. As always, your proposal is well thought-out and documented.

As you know, Paul Anthony has to decide about all special grants. He is on vacation this week, but will be back next week. I shall call this matter to his attention, and you should have his answer by about the end of next week.

I don't know what the condition of the "till" is at this date, but I hope we can help on this. The opportunity to carry out such an educational program, in cooperation with the Little Rock School Board, seems to me worth following up.

We have sent the quarterly payment on your grant-in-aid, but I want to add a word of appreciation for the good reports.

Besides their being in the usual good form, the news of your new chapters and the meaningful activity of local councils is encouraging. And, although I am sure you would like to see it improve, ACHR's financial condition appears to be better than average. Congratulations on a job well done.

I was especially intrigued by news of the new chapter in Batesville. I remember Fitzhugh Spragins as the bright young son of the president of Arkansas College when I was a student there, 1949-51. Is AC pretty well desegregated?

Keep up the good work.

A PROPOSAL FOR

PILOT PROGRAM FOR STUDENT HUMAN RELATIONS GROUPS

by

THE ARKANSAS COUNCIL ON HUMAN RELATIONS

1310 Wright Avenue

Little Rock, Arkansas

1968

The purpose of this working paper is to request funds sufficient to develop and implement a program for Student Human Relations Groups in Junior and Senior High Schools for the Little Rock Public School System.

SUGGESTED TITLE OF THE PROPOSAL

Pilot Program for Student Human Relations Groups.

PURPOSE OF PROPOSAL

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| Sponsorship | - | Arkansas Council on Human Relations |
| Funding | - | Southern Regional Council |
| Target Group | - | Student bodies of junior and senior high schools, City of Little Rock, Arkansas |
| Resources | - | Principals, teachers, parents and student organizations, etc. |
| Problem | - | Misunderstandings due to varying ethnic and economic backgrounds |
| Proposed Solution | - | Discussing problems, understanding problems, seeking understanding of each other, perhaps aiming at community problems. |
| Means | - | Group discussions and guest speakers, workshops |
| Short Term Goal | - | Getting students together to discuss community problems of race and poverty |
| Long Term Goal | - | Getting community to change attitudes, at least when these young people become community leaders. |

|---|---|---|
| Other Advantages | - | Release of suppressed and hidden mistrusts. Communication. |
| Why this Group | - | Hope for future lies in getting people to commit themselves to good causes at an age when they are still idealistic before prejudices harden. |

PROCEDURE

A. An agreement has been reached with the superintendent of the Little Rock public schools, Mr. Floyd Parson, and the Little Rock Council on Human Relations that efforts would be made during the 1968-69 school year to organize student human relations groups in all of the junior and senior high schools of the district. These groups would be structured somewhat like the one now in operation at the West Side Junior High School. (See Appendix I.)

B. A special advisory committee composed of members representing the Little Rock School Board (board members, administrators, human relations specialist, and several principals), the Classroom Teachers Association, and the Little Rock Council on Human Relations will be formed. The functions of this advisory committee will be as follows:

1. Consult with principals and teachers of the various schools for the purpose of encouraging student human relations for their school.

2. Identifying problems which have developed attitudes of isolation on the part of some students.
3. Provide for bi-racial activities on and off campus that would involve students, parents and teachers.
4. Planning student workshops for the fall and spring semesters that would bring together representatives from all schools for the purpose of discussing mutual problems.

SUGGESTED BUDGET FOR PILOT GRANT

| | | |
|---|---|---|
| 1. | Travel Expenses for volunteer coordinator 36 weeks | $500.00 |
| 2. | Secretarial help | 300.00 |
| 3. | Student workshop for fall and spring semesters to include conference rooms and food (one meal) | 500.00 |
| 4. | Postage and supplies | 125.00 |
| 5. | Consultant fees and expenses | 400.00 |
| | TOTAL | $1,825.00 |

April 22, 1968

TO: All Teachers (Please read to students in HR)

FROM: Weldon K. Faulk, Principal

SUBJECT: West Side Junior High Bi-racial Committee

Twenty West Side students from each of the three grades have organized the West Side Junior High Bi-racial Committee. The committee has met twice and will meet once each week during the remainder of this school year. One meeting each month will be held in the auditorium and will be open for anyone that would like to attend. All meetings will be held prior to or after school hours. It is likely that the committee will function during the 1968-69 school year and possibly longer.

The purpose of the committee is to foster a better understanding between the two races. Previous, present and future problem areas can be "brought out into the open" and intelligently discussed and a solution found for each.

A box has been placed next to the pay telephone near the office. The committee encourages students and teachers to place any question, comment, or observation dealing with race relations into the box provided. These will provide the committee with topics for discussion at its next meeting. The more significant topics will be used for the "open meetings" that will be held in the auditorium.

Certainly, there are many problems that do not have easy solutions and the committee realizes that it cannot speak for the entire student body. The committee does feel, however, that this is a step in the right direction and with the cooperation, tolerance, and understanding of every person at West Side, we will not only be setting the example for our school system, city, state, and nation, but for generations to come.

NOTE: Our next meeting will be Tuesday, April 23, at 3:30 in the library. Teachers are welcome to attend. We plan eventually to invite parents and involve students, teachers, and parents, in the discussions. This may necessitate having a few night meetings.
